Traffic Signals Must Be Obeyed Say Officers

Despite the many warnings which have been issued by authorities of the Town of Clanton regarding violations of traffic regulations, recently there has been a decided increase in the number of motorists who apparently ignore all safety for themselves and othrs by running red lights and reckless driving, according to officers.

Especially has there been a tendency to ignore traffic regulations at night when traffic is less heavy. according to Officers J. A. Nivens and John Browder.

Both officers stated that a vigorous campaign is being started to break up these violations, and are issuing warnings to all motorists that traffic signals must be respected.

Miss Alice Powell of Turners Station, Ky., who has been spending some time in Clanton as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Ezell, and who has been doing some splendid work in church activities here, returned to her home Friday night.

FOR SALE—One extra good plow mule, weight about 950 pounds. Will trade for car. See Bill Fiquette at Bill's Garage, Clanton Ala. 4-4-1tp.

WARRANTS FOR SCHOOL BONDS

County Superintendent of Education, Luther Little, states that Alabama five per cent refunding bonds have been received, with which to liquidat $36,000 of indebtedness of the Chilton County Board of Education which has been brought forward since 1932.

All holders of conditional warrants issued by the Chilton County Board of Education in 1932 should bring these warrants immediately in person to the office of Superintendent Little, and have them exchanged for State bonds.

PLEASE DON'T GO SO FAST, JIM! WHAT IF WE HAD A BLOW-OUT?
DON'T WORRY! WE'RE RIDING ON SILVERTOWN TIRES WITH THE NEW GOLDEN PLY BLOW-OUT PROTECTION

THIS NEW TIRE MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE, TOO

Amazing Golden Ply Invention Prevents the Great, Unseen Cause of Blow-outs.

When the speedometer reads 40, 50, and 60, mile after mile, the heat generated inside the tire is terrific. Rubber and fabric tend to separate. A tiny blister forms, inside where you can't see it... grows bigger... BIGGER... till suddenly BANG! A blow-out. The car swerves out of control. Your life, and the lives of your passengers, seriously endangered... just for the price of a tire!

Why take this terrible risk when you can now get blow-out-protection at no extra cost? Every new Goodrich Safety Silvertown has the Life-Saver Golden Ply. This amazing invention resists internal heat. Rubber and fabric don't separate. Thus blisters don't form inside the tire. The great, unseen cause of blow-outs is eliminated before it even begins.

And with destructive internal heat overcome, tires last months longer. You get this extra mileage free, for Silvertowns cost not a penny more than other standard tires!

HEAT INSIDE A TIRE CAUSES THIS BANG!

No Extra Cost To Public

Months of extra miles! Freedom from blow-out fears! Priceless protection against serious accidents that yearly kill or injure thousands! In Silvertowns you get all this—at no more cost than standard tires. Look at these prices.

4.50 x 20 $7.60
4.75 x 19 . . $8.40
5.00 x 19 . . $9.00

J. C. BROWN IS CONSIDERING BUSINESS SCHOOL IN CLANTON

Mr. J. C. Brown, who was connected with the Clanton Grammar and High Schools in 1915-16, now doing adult school work at Weogufka, was a very pleasant visitor to the News office last Saturday. Mr. Brown has many years of experience in teaching and at the present time is particularly interested in teaching business subjects. His specialty is Penmanship and Bookkeeping. He holds two diplomas from business colleges, and stated to a representative of the News that when he has completed the work in his present position at Weogufka he would like to begin a school in Clanton. He will be here sometime between May 1 and 15. Anyone interested in enrolling in this school of Penmanship is requested to get in touch with Mr. Brown at Weogufka, Ala., or through this paper.

Plymouth Deliveries Set All-Time Record

Detroit, Mar. 30.—Plymouth Motor Corp. established a new all-time retail delivery record during the week ended March 24, H. G. Moock, general sales manager, announced here today.

Sales to retail buyers totalled 7,845 units during the week, an increase of 3.3 per cent over the 7,594 units delivered during the previous peak week, ended Sept. 2, 1933.

Shipments of new Plymouth cars to dealers also reached new high levels. The corporation shipped 9,899 units during the week. This was a gain of 6.3 per cent over the previous week and was four and one-half times as many units as were shipped in the corresponding week a year ago.

Moock said that the shipments from March 1, through March 27, this year totalled 39,264 units, as compared with 6,454 units shipped during the entire month of March, 1933.

In announcing the new retail delivery record, Moock revealed that Plymouth has received a total of 169,287 orders from dealers since January 1. This figure represents an increase of 398 34 per cent over the 33,970 orders at this time last year.

OLIVER IS PAID HIGH TRIBUTE BY FRIENDS IN WASHINGTON

Cull Your Flocks Now Says Countv Agt. Fant

Dear Poultryman:

At this time of the year when the price of eggs is breaking and the price of hens is rising, it is a good time to cull your flocks and sell the culls. There is no profit in feeding cull hens.

If you are getting less than one egg for every two hens you have, you are feeding some culls. Hens that are beginning to molt should be taken out.

Following are some rules to guide one in culling:

1. Take out hens that are molting. 2. Pullets that have not started producing should be culled. 3. When a hen is producing, her comb is a bright red, warm and large. If the comb is small, hard, scaley and pale, the hen should be culled. 4. If the legs and beak are yellow, usually they are producing. 5. If the pelvic bones and breast bones are close together and the vent puckered, cull the hen. 6. Cull hens that are very small. A good plan is to cull your hens close, take some of the money received for them and purchse a few good baby chicks during the month of April and raise some pullets for next fall and winter laying.

J. W. Fant. County Agent.

Prominent Congressmen And Officials Express Their Opinions of Colleague Who Has Served His District Faithfully

HON. W. B. OLIVER

Newspaperman Is High In His Praise Of Rep. W. B. (Buck) Oliver

Washington, D. C., March 23,1934.

"Mr. Vernie Teel, Editor,
Chilton County News,
Clanton, Alabama.

"Dear Mr. Teel:

"I am enclosing a news story concerning Representative Oliver, which I am sure will interest you. As a correspondent in House and Senate press galleries of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, The Omaha World-Herald, the Mobile Register, and other papers, for a number of years, I have had an opportunity to observe the excellent work of Mr. Oliver and feel these sincere tributes to him are not overstated. Also, as one who was born in the Sixth District and still considers himself a non-resident voting constituent, I have had the same personal pleasure you must feel in knowing that our District is thus ably represented in Washington.

Very truly yours,
RODNEY WOBLEY."

Washington, D. C, March 27th, 1934 -Representative William B. Oliver, Alabama, who is completing 20 years of continuous service in the House, was surprised this week on the Floor when more than a dozen testimonials of admiration and friendship inscribed to him by the highest officials in the Roosevelt Cabinet and leaders of both major parties in both Houses of Congress were placed in the Congressional Record.

After the Alabama Member had sucçessfully brought to conclusion the House debate over a major appropriation bill of which he had charge, Representative Connery, Massachusetts, the fiery veterans' champion rose to offer a brief, sincere speech of congratulations to the veteran member, and asked consent to insert in the Record the list of distinguished names and their statements in comemeration of Oliver's twenty years of service.

The messages of congratulations came from all sides, headed by one from the Secretary of State Cordell Hull, and included the Democratic and Republican leaders in the House. An indication of the Alabamian's popularity lies in the fact that the statements came from prominent members from all sections of the country and advocates of diverse points of view on controversial legislation. On the Senate side, the Democratic floor leader, Senator Robinson, Arkansas, joined with a hearty message.

In the order they were listed in the Record, the messages are as follows:

Secretary of State, Cordell Hull:

"The completion of 20 consecutive years of service in the House of Representatives is an event which calls for congratulations from the friends of the Member who has achieved so long a record. The congratulations, however, which I am offering to my friend, William Bacon Oliver, on this occasion are not so much based on the length of his service, impressive though it is, as upon the scrupulous, conscientious and able manner in which he has discharged the responsibilities entrusted to him.

"During my period of service in the House of Representatives, it was my pleasure to know him as a colleague and as a friend. I had occasion then to become familiar with the high-minded manner in which he represented his District, and with the wisdom which he brought to bear upon our national problems.

"I am happy, therefore, to pay tribute to this prominent citizen of Alabama and leader in our national congress, and to offer to him and to the people of his State my congratulations at this milestone in a record which we hope will reach far into the future."

In a letter addressed to Congressman Oliver by Attorney General Coummings, he said:

"The records disclose that you have served the people of the Sixth Congressional District of Alabama in the House of Representatives for twenty years.

It is, of course, common knowledge that your distinguished service has not been confined to your constituency. As the head of the Department of Justice, whose officers have been in intimate contact with you for many years, permit me to express my appreciation for your sympathetic cooperation and constant interest in the welfare and efficiency of this Department. Law enforcement in the United States owes much to your earnest and sincere work and helpful suggestions.

I congratulate you upon the results of your long service. I congratulate the people of your district for their wisdom in retaining you in their and the country's service."

Secretary of the Navy, Clause Swanson:

"I have known the ability and courage of my old friend from Alabama since my days in the United States Senate. I have always known the responsible position he has held as a leader in the party and in the House since the very first days he entered Congress two decades ago. He has shown the qualities of statesmanship that I am always proud to see in members from the South. Always interested in the welfare of his State and his section. He has always shown that broad-minded nationalism which truly indicates a great American. We are all proud of him."

Secretary of Commerce, Daniel C. Roper:

"I believe he is now rounding out two decades of service in the House of Representatives. It has been my pleasure to observe him intimately these twenty years, and I want to congratulate him on the splendid record which he has made during this time.

Many men are effectively and conscientiously for their districts, but few men serve their districts and the entire country as effectively. The former is a good congressman; the latter is a statesman. These critical times emphasize the importance to the country of the breadth of service which comprehends our entire country. As a friend and as an American citizen, I take pride in his record and in his conscientious and able service on the Appropriations Committee. I hope that he will be able to render many more years of such service, and I trust that many years of service lie before him."

Secretary of Labor, Frances Perkins:

"Congratulations to Representative Oliver in his twenty years of loyal and devoted service to his District, state and nation. It has been marked by courage, intelligence and vision in the performance of tasks performed in the interest of all the people of the Republic. During the past year it has been a source of gratification and pleasure to know him."

Speaker of the House of Representatives, Henry T. Rainey:

"As a Member of the Apppropriations Committee of the House he has handled the bills committed to his care with a wisdom and a thoroughness that has saved thousands of dollars to the taxpayers and to the Treasury. In the momentous days of the past year he has not only given loyal and devoted support to President Roosevelt but he has been a valiant champion of the New Deal program.

"In felicitating him on his twentieth anniversary of service in the House of Representatives, I do so in the belief that he is now at the point of his greatest service to his constituents and to the country. I am confident that my appreciation of him and his services is shared by all of the Members of the House of Representatives, irrespective of party lines, and that his very high standing in the Congress must be a source of gratification to his constituents."

Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic Floor Leader:

"There is no better liked member of the House than Representative Oliver. There is no leader so responsive to a call from his leader at the White House. During the many years I have known him, he has been an effective public servant in his District and State. He has always exhibited those qualities of statesmanship which have marked our most noted members of either body of Congress."

Representative Joseph Byrnes, of Tennessee, Democratic Floor Leader:

"No man in the House has rendered more devoted and faithful life service to his District, State, and nation than Buck Oliver, who has just completed twenty years of service is the House. I served with him for many years on the Appropriations Committee. I know that his influence is felt in all of our legislative deliberations. In addition to that he is one of the most influential and popular members of the House. The People of his District are to be congratulated on their representation here."

Senator McKellar of Tennessee:

I have known Representative Oliver since our days in the University of Alabama and he has always been one of my closest friends. I wish to join with others in congratulating him on his long service as a Member of the House. I know that he has devoted his life to the service of his District and State and it is gratifying to know that this service has been recognized by his fellow Alabamians. He has shown those qualities of statesmanship which have marked the greatest figures in our national history."

Representative Snell of New York, Republican Floor leader.:

"Although on the opposite side of the aisle, I have always admired the ability and courage with which Representative Oliver has handled his appropriation bills whether in the majority or in the minority. He has always been eminently fair to members on both sides. This enabled him to do much effective work for his party. I admire his statesmanlike qualities.

Representative Buchanan of Texas, Chairman of the Appropriations Committee:

"Representative Oliver has been one of the most valuable members of my Committee. He has helped save his country millions of dollars each year. To him has been entrusted some of the most important appropriations bills, including those for the Navy and other large federal departments. He is an expert in fiscal matters and his judgement is trusted by me and every other member of our Committee.'

Mrs. Greenway, Representative from Arizona:

"Some people are truly what the rest of us would like to be, and Congressman Oliver is an example. He possesses self-restraint that bespeaks wisdom and strength, modesty that evidences the habit of power, and a presence that all unconsciously revives and sustains one's faith in the ideal of public service. To hear his least comment is to recognize a statesman."

Representative Connery, Chairman of the Labor Committee. Massachusetts:

"Although I am from the North and Representative Oliver from the South, he is one of my close personal friends. I have always admired him as one of our finest members, courteous, kindly, able and courageous. In those matters in which I have been particularly interested, Mr. Oliver has always exhibited the keenest and most sympathetic interest. He has the courage of his convictions and always votes as he believes is in the best interest of his country. No Member of the House enjoys in larger degree the respect and confidence of his colleagues than Mr. Oliver, on both sides of the aisle. In presenting important appropriation bills assigned to him, he is always informative and his remarks carry conviction. I say is one of the most indispensable Members of the House."

Representative Tabler of New York, Member of the Appropriations Committee:

"For twelve years Representati Oliver and I have been on the Committee together. During that time he and I have been close personal friends. There is no man who gives more of himself to the public service than he does. I am delighted to congratulate him on his 20 years as a member of the Hous"

Representative Cooper of Ohio, Re publican Member of Interstate Commerce Committee:

"Congressman Oliver has been in Congress as long as I have. He has been a worthy foe on the other side of the aisle. We have always seen eye to eye on labor problems. He has always been a friend of organized labor and the working man. I congratulate him on his long service."

Representative Patman of Texas:

"I think Congressman Oliver is one of the most sincere and able men of the House. I think this is particularly i portant in view of the fact that as a Congressman he has two constituen one his District and one the House. A Representative cannot work as effectively for his District unless he is po lar in his House District. I have been most impressed with the efficient and courageous manner Mr. Oliver has been able to handle the important bills signed to him on the floor."

ISABELLA F. F. A. INDORSES THOMAS FOR STATE SEN.

We the members of the Isabella chapter of Future Farmers of America, wish to take this means of recommending Mr. Earle Thomas to the voters of the Fifteenth Senatorial District for the position of state senator from this district.

Associating with Mr. Thomas, as we do, every day, we feel that no one has more authority for heartily recommending him than we have. It is nothing but natural that we should be intimately familiar with every trait of his character. During all the time of our acquaintance with Mr. Thomas, we have found him unfailingly and fearlessly upholding principles of right. Mr. Thomas is a man who lives strictly what he professes, although he is not of the class commonly known as "hard headed." If he can be convinced that h is wrong about a matter, he is read to change. This is the kind of men we need in our lawmaking bodies—men who fearlessly uphold the right, but who still have an open mind and ar capable of weighing matters carefully before coming to a conclusion.

Mr. Thomas is one who believes in being as brief as possible to adequatel settle or arrive at a conclusion regard ing a matter. This is shown by th fact that the boy who most thoroughly explains a matter in the shortest time on examinations under him is th fellow who gets the best grade. W believe that he would show this sam trait as a legislator.

The fact that we are recommendin Mr. Thomas does not in any sense indicate that we would not greatly regret his loss as a vocational instructor at Isabella. On the other hand, w feel that a man of his ideals and ability would be of much greater service to mankind as a legislator than as a vocational teacher. We need more men like him.

Our TAXES and our State School System

APPROXIMATELY $1.00 out of every $20.00 of taxes collected for payment of teachers' salaries and other operating expense of the public and high school systems of the State comes from taxes paid by Alabama Power Company. The Company's contribution to this cause is nearly $1,000,000 annually.

Alabama Power Company believes in the fullest possible support of the State school system and in the law providing that a large percentage of the tax collections go to maintenance of schools, because in our school system lies the greatest hope for Alabama's future.

The $1,000,000 contributed by this Company to the schools of the State will be reduced correspondingly as municipalities indulge in the doubtful experiment of public ownership supplanting taxpaying privately owned systems. Publicly owned plants, although engaged in competitive commercial business, pay no property or school taxes, no license or privilege taxes, no poll tax, or otherwise contribute, as must each citizen, merchant, business man and corporation, to the cost of government.

RE-ROOF for all time

DON'T take chances with an old roof when it is so easy to have Careystone applied right over it. Made of asbestos and cement formed into shingle-shaped units, these roofs have all the advantages of slate or tile without the heavy weight, high cost and tendency to crack.

Permanent and Fireproof

Careystone is a permanent roof—first cost is last cost. And it is as fireproof as stone.

Roof Beauty

Careystone is made in five attractive colors. And at no extra cost you can have the "Weather-Age" finish—made only by Carey.

Low Cost...Free Estimate

Careystone costs much less than many roofs which do not approach it in appearance or durability. Let us give you a free estimate on reroofing your home. Call, phone or write.

Just a word about the SERVICE at the
MOLTON HOTEL
FIFTH AVENUE AND TWENTIETH STREET
THERE'S a pleasant, friendly atmosphere about the Hotel Molton—a delightful informality and unobtrusively efficient service that appeals to discriminating guests. While Molton service is punctilious, it is entirely lacking in that stiff formality one often finds in larger metropolitan hotels. That's why the guests who stop here once, feel like they're coming home when they return to see us.

A. A. Carmichael For State Attorney General

The announcement of Albert A. Carmichael for the position of Attorney General of Alabama is one of the important recent political events. Mr Carmichael has had much experience in legal work and has served the State in the past in many important positions.

He practiced law for 12 years after graduating from the University of Alabama. He was County Solicitor of Geneva County, was State Senator in the Legislature of 1923 and was a member of the Code Commission. For the past three years he has been assistant attorney general. in which position he has handled many of the State's important cases.

Carmichael is an ex-service man, having spent 18 months in service during the world war. He is still a member of the Reserve Corps and is a major in the National Guard. He has taken a prominent part in the work of the American Legion, and has held many official positions in both his local post and in the State Legion organization.

He is a member of the Methodist Church and is connected with many fraternal organizations, including Sigma Nu Fraternity, Knights of Pythias, Elks, and Masons: Blue Lodge, Royal Arch. Knights Templar and Shriner.

Mr. Carmichael's family has played an important part in the life of the State. His maternal grandfather, Dr. O. B. Bowen, practiced medicine in South Alabama for many years. His paternal grandfather, Jesse M. Carmichael, was a Confederate soldier, planter, editor and member of the legislature, and he held the offices of Probate Judge and of Circuit Judge.

Two of his uncles are lawyers. They are A. H. Carmichael, newly elected member of Congress, and Judge Malcolm S. Carmichael, Referee in Bankruptcy at Montgomery.

It is understood that Carmichael will have the active support of a number of prominent Democrats in his campaign for the position of Attorney General.

Silvertown Sales Show Big Increase

Increasing National Demand For Golden Ply Tires, Figures Show

The growing national demand for Silvertown tires with the Life-Saver Golden Ply is indicated by recent preliminary sales figures for 1933 released by the B. F Goodrich Company. according to W. M. Polk of Polk Brothers Motor Co, Inc.

"Unit sales of Silvertowns last year showed more than a ten per cent increase and this excellent showing is generally attributed to the product," Mr. Polk declared.

"Almost everyone who drives a car realizes the potential hazards of blowouts. Statistics prepared by various agencies indicate clearly that thousands of accidents, many of which result in death or serious injury, are caused annually by tire failures.

"Golden Ply tires are engineered to resist heat inside the casings which if sustained will cause ply separation, a major cause of blow-outs.

"The engineering advances made by all automotive manufacturers enabling them to build cars which will easily travel in excess of 70 miles an hour brought new problems for the tire producers.

"Tires were subjected to much higher normal driving speeds than ever before and the problem of heat generated inside the tires became a real concern to rubber engineers.

"After two years of intensive study and thousands of tests, many of which were conducted on the fastest automobile track in America. Goodrich announced its new tire created to meet modern driving conditions.

"At the outset many car owners thought here was simply another tire but the convincing results of hundreds of thousands of driving miles in all parts of the United States has brought the increasing popular demand."

Fascinating Facts of NATURE

Nature created the land you farm, the seed you plant. To make land and seed produce better, she created three natural fertilizer materials—potash, phosphate, and Chilean Natural Nitrate. She stored Chilean in the ground to mature a million years until you should want it to put it back into the ground where you make your crops.

SIX YEARS BEFORE DAVY CROCKETT DIED IN THE ALAMO MASSACRE (1836) THE FIRST SHIPLOAD OF CHILEAN NATURAL NITRATE CAME INTO THE UNITED STATES THROUGH A VIRGINIA PORT (1830) . . . . . .

CHILEAN NITRATE (PERHAPS YOU CALL IT "SODA" OR "SODY") IS THE ONE AND ONLY NITRATE FERTILIZER CREATED BY NATURE. NATURE GAVE IT THOSE VITAL "IMPURITIES" IODINE, CALCIUM, POTASSIUM, SODIUM, MAGNESIUM, BORON ETC., TO INCREASE ITS VALUE TO YOUR CROPS . . . .

Chilean NATURAL NITRATE

The only nitrogen that comes from the ground.

Farmers Are Warned About Buying Seed

Auburn, Ala., —To avoid disappointment in yields of soybeans and other crops, farmers are being advised by J. C. Lower, extension agronomist at Auburn, to specify seed which were grown locally. or certainly souther grown.

Mr. Lowery has received reports that there is a big demand for seeds of such crops as soybeans, cowpeas, and sorghum. This demand probably is the greatest since the World War because of the field crops on lands removed from the production of cotton.

This situation, explained Mr. Lowery, is liable to result in inferior and farddulent seeds being offered. Hence, he is urging farmers to select local seed offered by reputable individuals or seed concerns, and to call upon the seed laboratories of the State Department of Agriculture and Industries, Montgomery, wherever there is doubt.

Concerning soybeans, he said that yellow beans are being offered without designation of variety. There are, he added, a large number of yellow-seeded or straw-colored varieties; hence the necessity for knowing definitely the variety being bought.

Looking to the future, Lowery recommends the farmers start immediately with plans for producing and saving seed. This recommendation is for all crops where it is feasible to produce and save seed. This proceedure will save money and it will also improve results. Farmers who produce seeds for themselves and continue to improve them know that they are good and well adapted to their farms.

New CCC Camp Will Work On Soil Erosion

Located Near Gainesville, Sumter County, Alabama

It was learned today that a CCC Camp will be located at or near Gainesville in Sumter and Green Counties, Alabama for the purpose of beginning work on the serious erosion problem affecting much sloping land in that region. The work in the beginning will largely be concerned with the control of destructive gullies. Dams will be built across many of these and plantings will be made in others. Later on the work of erosion control may be expanded throughout much of the eroding country in this and other sections of the state. The field work is to be carried out under the direction of the soil erosion service of the Department of the Interior, which organization has recently announced the early beginning of an erosion control project in Tallapoosa County, Alabama.

The problem of erosion has come to be recognized as so exceedingly serious in Alabama that the specialists say steps must be taken to combat it on a widespread scale. Splendid agricultural lands are being stripped of their productive topsoil by every rain heavy enough to cause water to run downhill. especially in fields used continually for the clean-cultivated crops.

The Soil Erosion Service states that large areas of sloping black prairieland, one time representing one of the richest upland soils of eastern United States, have been stripped of all or most of the top layer because too little attention has been paid to the matter of controlling erosion. It has been found that the washing does not stop with the removal of the more productive surface covering, but keeps on, eventually developing gullies that eventually destroy land. The work of the CCC erosion camps has proved so efficacious in many parts of the country, that the demand for these has greatly exceeded the supply. The Gainesville community has been very fortunate in being able to get one of these located in its vicinity. Representative William B Oliver has worked diligently to secure this camp.

in most counties, then there will be no changes after a referendum indicates their desire for a continuance of this form of govenrment, he stated. Asserting that this campaign is a fight between ideas and not men—a fight between the old and the new—the "New Deal" candidate said that men are little things, but the welfare of the great State of Alabama is an issue of vast importance and should stand out above the petty ambitions of any candidate.

Attacking the mud-slinging campaign which he says is being conducted by his opponents, he declared that a candidate should have as high a regard for truth and honesty during a political fight as he would have in his business dealings.

PLAY

popular black-faced comedian stunt will be offered and you will be entertained between acts by an attractive group of talented dancers and singers—a program that will not allow you to spend one moment of regret. Something going on all the time. YOU CAN'T MISS IT-

The admission to this evening of delightful entertainment is fifteen cents for the children and twenty-five cents for the adults.

If you are a henpecked husband come down Friday night and learn what one timid husband did to his not-so-timid wife. Would you give up your best girl to your best friend? See how the hero of the play settles this question. Laugh at the phoney real estate man; laugh at the cumbersome and awkward negro mammy; and along with these forget your troubles for two hours. You can do all of that if you will see "He's My Pal."

The cast of this play which is being coached by Miss Margaret Kendrick, includes: Irby Wood, Philip Nelson, Dorothy Waite, Elizabeth Gragg, Mary Edith Jones, Jack Gillespie, John Thomas Marlar, Alice Petty, Pauline Hogan, Kelley Gillespie, Sidney Reynolds, Helen Roberts.

The two end men for the minstrel stunt are the able laugh makers, Bill Simpson and Cecil Jones. The chorus is composed of Gertiwyl Vinson, Pauline Plyler, Grace Plyler, Frances Davis, Jeanette Tiffin and Ova Lee McCutcheon. A dance duet will be presented by Myrtle Pitts and Sara Elizabeth Venable. The musical voices of Maralyn Hardy and Hilda Hart will be heard on several numbers. Little Eric Hart, Jr. will offer a solo. Pianist for the evening will be Sara Lawrence.

Don't fail to see "He's My Pal" at the C.C.H.S. auditorium tomorrow night at eight o'clock.

INK DROPS FROM C. C. H. S.

By Dan Smith

October 12 was a big day for America; March 4 was an important date for the Roosevelt family; December 25 is a looked forward to day for all kiddies October 31 is the night that witches and goblins long for AND April 6 is the big day for the students of C. C. H.S. and outsiders. For at eight o'clock tomorrow night the jolly Juniors present their annual play. This year they have the King of Comedies with minstrel skits, songs and dance numbers, all princes of their kind, to entertain you with. Oh, boy- aren't we looking forward to Friday night, April 6. The admission is only fifteen and twenty five cents.

You Juniors can count on every student being there, especially the Seniors. They will support your play in typical "Senior Class of 1934" style.

Who will be Miss Chilton County High School? A beauty contest, sponsored by the industrious Junior One class is almost over, only one day more is left for the votes to come in. This beauty contest closes at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon, so the class who wants its representative to win had better hustle. Each vote costs one cent and the proceeds of the contest will go into the library fund that the Junior One class is raising.

Each of the six grades has an entrant. The entrant and the grades they are representing are: Junior One, Theda Wyatt; Junior Two, Rubye Johnson; Junior Three, Geraldine DeLoach; Senior One, Sara Lawrence; Senior Two, Grace Plyler; and Senior Three, Marilyn Hardy.

Everyone is excited over what the outcome will be. The girl who will have the honor of being Miss C. C. H. S. will be announced next week.

Why shouldn't we make this a custom—to select the most beautiful girl in the school?

Another C. C. H. S. graduate shines at Auburn- Herman Harris, who was Valedictorian of his class in 1932, was recently elected the president of his fraternity. This is a double honor, not only to be president of his fraternity but this office is usually held by a senior. We're expecting big things from you, Herman.

The Senior Three class led with the election of their annual Who's Who. Those students who were chosen to be honored this year are; Prettiest girl, Marilyn Hardy; Best all around, Jeanette Tiffin; Cutest, Marilyn Hardy; Most Dignified, Roberta Cochran; Neatest, Ova Lee McCutcheon; Most Popular, Pauline Plyler; Friendliest, Pauline Plyler; Most Original, Mary Charles Cox; Biggest Flirt, Helen Moore; Most Independent, Jeanette Tiffin; and Best Dressed for School, Ova Lee McCutcheon. (The boy's Who's Who is next.) Best Looking, James Arnold; Best all-Round, Joe Moore; Best Athelete, James Tiffin; Most Dignified, Dan Smith; Most Popular, John Ezell; Most Loyal Senior, Dan Smith; Biggest Heartbreaker, Grady Reynolds, Jr.; Laziest, T. H. Walton; Friendliest, Jesse Frank Foshee.

Another step toward graduation exercises has been made by the Senior Class. Last Friday the invitation cards and diplomas were selected and the orders will be sent in soon.

What's the matter with the Who's Who from the other classes?

Chilton's first baseball game did turn out in a big way. Last Friday afternoon Chilton met Marbury High on the local diamond and true to our hopes Chilton won. The final score was 10 to 5. Our next game will be at Marbury, tomorrow. Let's have a larger crowd of students than we did last Friday. Next Wednesday we play Jemison here.

Who Am I???  Pauline Plyler was the Miss last week. Now strain your wits on this one.  I am an entrant in the beauty contest. I have good chances of winning. I have dark hair. Of course I am a girl. I drive a car. I have played basketball. Who Am I???

The Senior Two English class under the direction of Miss Frances Gulledge cannot be too highly complimented on the splendid program in chapel last Friday. The subject of this program was the story of Stephen Colline Foster, the famous composer. He is known for such songs as "Old Black Joe," "Old Folks At Home," "My Old Kentucky Home," and numerous other suthern melodies. Students taking part on the program told of Foster's life and works. As each song was discussed the student body joined in with the class in singing a few verses. The profram wa unique in its subject matter and method of presentation and it was fully enjoyed by all. Foster's song, "Oh, Suzanna," sung by Myrtle Pitts and Sarah Elizabeth Venable, was one of the features of the program. The school was glad to have with them at this time, Mrs. Percy M. Pitts. Mrs. Pitts played the accompaniment for the duet.

afternoon session will be marked by addresses and reports of department chairmen, who will explain the 1934 program of their particular committees. Vice-Commander Gordon will speak at the banquet that evening. A dance, sponsored by the Jefferson County Council, will follow.

In reality, explains Adjutant Jones, this rally is a second commanders' and adjutants' conference, the first having been held in Montgomery early in the year. "It is called at the beginning of the Spring season to put new life and pep into our Legion work," said Jones. Every phase of the department's activity will be discussed and plans made to launch into active campaigns to put the Legion's ideals and program across on every front, Adjutant Jones asserted.

He said the department needs about 2,250 more members to reach the quota set by National Headquarters. "But for this department to pay the obligations placed upon it at the last convention, we will have to get at least 4,000 members between now and convention time. Forty-two posts have already exceeded last year's membership. Every post in the State can beat its 1933 record by a little extra effort."

NEW PROGRAM

Fant, from R. K. Greene, Vice-Chairman of Rural Rehabilitation Program:

Statement of Policy Rural Rehabilitation

To County Farm Agents:

Since we are expecting to cooperate very closely with you in our Rehabilitation Program, we are writing you for an expression of any helpful ideas which you might have. We also know that there is a great deal of misinformation about this program which is probably retarding normal farming operations and causing some demoralization. It would, therefore, seem that a statement of our general policy might help to check these rumors.

Only farm families on relief, who are anxious to become self-sustaining will be considered on this program.

We do not plan to make the position of the relief families more attractive than their neighbors who are self-sustaining.

Help will be given in groceries, feed, fertilizer, etc., and not in money, and the applicant will be required to sign a note for all such assistance.

He will be required to work under the supervision and instructions of a competent Supervisor who will determine the kind and amount of each crop planted.

As mules are high and unobtainable in Alabama, and as feed is also lacking, we favor the use of steers which can be easily obtained in most sections. It is our opinion that on farms of less than 20 acres, the ox is more economical unit of power. Money paid for oxen would also remain in Alabama and help Alabama farmers.

Repayment of advances will be made by crediting accounts as these people are certified and perform work on county projects. Accounts will also be credited with commodities produced on the farm which will be exchanged with urban relief sections for farm tools, equipment, clothing, etc. It is contemplated that this indebtedness can be liquidated in this manner.

We should be glad to have your criticism of these principles and their application to your county.

BIRMINGHAM MINISTER TO VISIT CLANTON CIRCUIT

o

The Rev. C. W. Walton, Birmingham, president of the Alabama Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant church, will visit the Clanton circuit and deliver several sermons Saturday and Sunday, April 7-8, according to an announcement from the Rev. C. M. Nolen, pastor of the Clanton circuit.

The schedule calls for preaching services Saturday at 11 a. m. at Shady Grove and quarterly conference will be held Saturday afternoon; Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock the Reverend Walton will prach at Walnut Creek and again at 11 a. m. Sunday. He will also preach at Cedar Grove Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The public is cordially invited to attend these services, Mr. Nolen stated.

FANT ASKS COUNTY TO GIVE EXTRA OFFICE SPACE

o

County Agent Fant appeared before the county commissioners court at its regular meeting Monday and made request for the construction of an extension to his office, explaining that it is impossible for him to adequately take care of the county agent's business in the limited space afforded in the present quarters.

The commissioners agreed to study the proposed extension for an extra room on the building and determine whether or not to have it constructed.

NUMEROUS APPLICATIONS FOR CROP LOANS TAKEN BY CO. AGT.

o

County Agent J. W. Fant announced this week that his office has taken more than 150 applications for emergency crop loans this year and 13 Montgomery Credit association loans. Applications for these loans will continue to be accepted through April 30, he stated.

Applicants must prove that they are unable to get financial help elsewhere before they are considered eligible for either of these loans, it was explained.

SCHOOLS GIVEN NEW HOPE

So IT SEEMS

By Victor Norris

The CWA in Chilton County is history. Only six persons are on the payroll. They are engaged in making final records and reports of the work in this county. Conceived with the aim of priming industry and laying the tracks for business recovery, the program in this county seems to have reached that high aim. Figures submitted to the local board by Armistead Leake, director, show that approximately $150,000 were distributed among more than 1,300 persons in the county in less than four months. It remains to be seen if private business will continue to hold aloft the torch.

But the people are more concerned right now with the new program which is being formulated. No one seems to know just what it will encompass, but most people are glad the cash relief has been discontinued. It is doubtful if any program was ever subjected to more abuse than the emergncy rlief program. Not only did those on relief take advantage of it in many ways, but landlords encouraged their tenants in many instances, we are told, to "ride" the government, thus placing a primium on shiftlessness. Everyone hopes that the new program will more nearly monform to its high conception of rehabilitation.

Some politicians are losing some votes this week. Four, maybe five, girls in the relief administration are to lose their jobs, we understand, because they happen to be unfortunate enough to be related to candidates for office in the county. This is a Washington regulation, we understand, to avoid getting politics in the operation of relief, but it does seem right tough on the girls.

We've heard lots of fish stories, but Glover McKinney, of Verbena, comes forth with about the best we've heard lately. Glover buttonholed us a few days ago and began telling how a crappie pulled him in the river on a recent fishing excursion. Like us, Red is no heavyweight, but our limited understanding of crappies is that there is absolutely no fight in them. Well, you can figure it out—maybe.

Two weeks more and it'll take a yard stick to measure the faces of some of these candidates. May 1, and the first line soldiers—and some of the colonels—will be selected, preparatory to the last stand.

Seems that schools in Chilton county, and some other counties in Alabama, will be able to operate full length terms, thanks to the Federal Government's redecision. About 90 per cent of the recent slash in the appropriation for Alabama's schools seems likely to be replaced.

Just who is going to claim credit for this new influence on Uncle Sam has not been learned. But judging from the number claiming the honor of putting over the deal in the first place, there should be at least a score of candidates who will come forth and modestly proclaim that they put up a hard fight, against sinister influences, to persuade Uncle Sam not to make the slash quite so deep.

Strange that when the slash came, no candidate in the entire State was anxious to admit even a nodding acquaintance with the boys up in Washington. It might be a good idea to put on a night shift and rush schools through double-time before another reconsideration might bring undesirable results.

Meetings Are Held To Study Relief Here

An important meeting to formulate plans for the operation of the new emergency relief program in Chilton County was scheduled for Wednesday morning, when Miss Virginia Denton and Lewis Ford, of the State Department of Alabama Relief, were expected to meet with the local Child Welfare Board and discuss the program as it can be applied to this county.

Several members of the local organization, including Miss Austin, Armistead Leake, local CWA director, J.W. Fant, county agent, and Miss Ruth Pardue, county demonstration agent, are to attend a district meeting in Sylacauga Thursday to study the program.

Miss Austin stated this week that she believes the county survey will be completed within the next ten or fifteen days, and perhaps the program may be placed in operation by April 15.

Miss Leora Mims, Miss Glennie Mims, Mrs. Claude Goodman and Mrs. Alpha Wyatt spent Tuesday of last week in Birmingham.

OLIVER WILL NOT SPEAK HERE TODAY

Forced To Postpone Dates Also At Isabella And Enterprise

Because of the death of a very dear relative, Virgil Jones, of Tuscaloosa, Rep. W. B. Oliver has been forced to cancel several speaking engagements in Chilton County this week.

News of the death of his relative reached Mr. Oliver late Tuesday and he immediately notified friends in Clanton that he would not be able to fill his schedule in this county.

Mr. Oliver was scheduled to deliver six addresses in Chilton County in behalf of his candidacy. The schedule was: Wednesday, Maplesville, Verbena and Thorsby; Thursday, Enterprise, Isabella and Clanton.

Expressing regret that circumstances prevented him filling his engagements here this week, the venerable statesman promised supporters that he will spend two or three days in the county before the May 1 primary.

TOM THUMB WEDDING HERE

A Tom Thumb Wedding, sponsored by Grammar School will be presented at the court house here Monday, April 16, at 8:00 p.m. Janice Baker will act as bride, and Richard Hugh Lawrence as groom. Admisison 10 and 15 cents.

MANY GIVING APPROVAL ON COTTON PLAN

Approximately $160,000 Will Be Paid For Government Rented Land

The cotton acreage reduction program of the Federal Government has become an outstanding phase of agricultural activity in Chilton County during the past year. In the summer of 1933 when every effort was being bended toward the conception and success of the plow-up campaign, few counties in the State of Alabama gave more whole-hearted support to this program than did Chilton County.

Again this year, the program of production curtailment has received vast endorsement and support from the cotton farmers in this section, according to figures from the office of County Agent, J. W. Fant, which show that the county's cotton acreage has been reduced by about forty per cent through the 1934 program. The approximately normal crop of 42,000 acres has been reduced some 16,800 acres, leaving only 35,200 acres to be cultivated in this staple.

Governmental rentals will pay the farmers of this county approximately $160,000, according to figures compiled by Mr. Fant, compared to $150,000 during 1933. Based on the normal average, the county's production would be 11,000 bales this year, compared to an average 18,000 bale crop.

Democratic Women To Hear Candidates Tues.

Continuing the program of featuring short addresses from candidates, the Chilton County Woman's Democratic club has invited the following candidates to attend the meeting which will be the last before the May primary, Tuesday afternoon:

Arthur D. Martin, H. E. Robinson, J. S. McNeill, A. C. Nelson, Will R. Clements, J. P. Payne, Howard Roper, and Newton A. Popwell.

For the past several meetings, members of the club have heard various candidates discuss briefly their views of county and State government.

CLARK POLK NOW SELLING REFRIGERATORS AND RADIOS

Clark Polk, well-known young man of Clanton, is now selling the famous Atwater Kent radios and Norge refrigerators, with Polk Bros. Motor Co., Inc. Clark most cordially invites his friends to visit him, and let him figure with them on either of these items. Now that summer is almost here the question of refrigeration is an important one, and he believes that one can not make a better selection than a new 1934 Norge.

"THE UNION DEPOT" SPONSORED BY MISSIONARY CIRCLES HERE

Missionary circles of the Clanton Methodist and Baptist churches are sponsoring "The Union Depot," a hilarious comedy, at an early date, according to information given the News. The exact date of the performance, which will feature fifty characters, all played by local talent, has not been set, but it is expected that it will be within the next two weeks. Watch the News for the date and place.

Oliver Given Praise For Work

EDITORIAL

J. B. ATKINSON SHOULD BE OUR NEXT CIRCUIT JUDGE

There are two good men in the race for Judge of the Nineteenth Judicial Circuit. We have no fight to pick with anyone. We have no mud to sling. But we conscientiously believe that J. B. Atkinson should be the man elected to that position.

We believe that he is the type of man needed in an important place like this. He is thoroughly trained to do the work in a thoroughly competent manner. Mr. Atkinson has spent his every effort through a period of years to master the study of law. That he has succeeded well is graphically attested by the splendid private practice he holds and the confidence extended him by those who know him best.

This position will be the realization of a worthy ambition on his part. He has striven earnestly to fit himself to discharge the duties of such a place. He has served his people in public position, and his record has proven his competence. He has neither spared himself nor shirked a duty when the public welfare needed his services. His judgement has been wise, able and just, with ever a deep understanding of the problems of his fellow man.

No better assurance can be given of his every qualification than that those who have lived with him and near him endorse him without reserve. The Democrats of Chilton county—the men and women with whom he has worked for years, the people in position to judge his every characteristic—want him elected. It can mean but one thing—they know he is a good man for the place.

Fiddlers Convention Here Saturday Night

Next Saturday night, April 14, is the time heretofore set for the Fiddlers Convention at the court house. The committee of the American Legion sponsoring this entertainment say they are working out details of the program and have assurance of a fine program to present.

All fiddlers, musicians and entertainers are invited to come and participate. There will be prizes for everyone.

While the price of admission is not yet announced, it is certain that it will be small enough to permit any and every one to see the show. Everybody come and have a big time.

County Sends 12 More Lads To Forest Camps

Twelve more Chilton County youths left Clanton Wednesday morning for Montgomery to become members of the reforestration forces. They were: Earl Hayes, Maplesville; Howard Boles, Jemison; Houston Little, Jemison; Anglis Moore, Maplesville; John Causey, Maplesville; William Hucks, Thorsby; Charlie Miskelley, Jemison; Jewell Glenn, Verbena; Franklin Tate, Verbena; John Freeman, Calera; Grady Maulding, Clanton; and N. J. Pruitt, Mt. Creek.

This brings the total of enlistments from this county to 60 white boys and 12 negroes. Many of the Chilton County boys have won desirable promotions and it is expected that several will be retained to train recruits after July 1, when those in camps will not be allowed to re-enlist except for the purpose of training others.

Friends of W. H. Sartor, who has recently been ill with flu, are glad to see him back at his regular place of business, the Fair Store, again.

Dr. Carson At Baptist Church Friday Night

Dr. W. H. Carson, Southern Baptists Missionary to Africa, will lecture and show moving pictures at the Baptist church Friday night at 7:30. Dr. Carson has been in Africa fourteen years, and is an unusually fine talker. His pictures are African scenes along with scenes of missionary work done by the churches. He is an old Seminary friend of mine, and I am anxious that the public hear him about his great work that he is doing fo rthe Master. Everybody is invited. Tell your friends. This s something worth hearing and seeing. No admission charges. Come, you are wanted.

Kiwanians To Hear Address Thurs. Night

Sam Helburn, of Montgomery, Lieutenant Governor of the Third Alabama District of Kiwanis, will make his annual official visit to the Clanton Kiwanis club Thursday night, when he will deliver an address regarding Kiwanis activities, according to an announcement Tuesday morning by Luther E. Little, president of the local club.

Mr. Helburn is a forceful speaker and all Clanton members of the organization are urged by Mr. Little to be present at the regular weekly meeting Thursday night to hear Mr. Helburn. Mr. Helburn is past President of the Montgomery club.

It was announced that the program will feature several other features by local talent.

Mr. J. E. Lett was in town last Saturday, and while here was a very pleasant caller at the News office.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Watts and son, John W., of Birmingham spent the week end in Clanton with the latter's mother.

CWA CLOSES PAYROLL IN CHILTON COUNTY TODAY SAYS MANAGER

Cecil Stokes Expresses Appreciation Of Cooperation From Local People; More Than $150,000.00 Spent Under Democratic Administration

With the CWA history in Chilton County, preparations are being made this week to close both the CWA and the National Re-employment offices.

Only six persons are on the CWA payrolls in the admisistrative capacity. They are engaged in making records of the work accomplished in the county during the four months in which more than $150,000 was spent in Chilton County, and more than 1,400 persons were given employment.

The National Re-employment offices are to be closed April 12, according to a statement from Cecil G. Stokes, manager, who is being transferred to Taladega, where he will assume the managership of that office. In closing out the work here Mr. Stokes issued the following statement of appreciation to the people of Chilton County for their cooperation during his stay here:

Mr. Billy Smith, publisher
Chilton County News,
Clanton, Alabama.

Dear Billy:

I desire to express through your paper my sincere appreciation for the cooperation given me by the good people of Chilton County. My transfer is effective April 13th., but I expect to visit the county often.

With the kindest personal regards to you and each reader of the News, I am

Cordially yours,

C. G. STOKES, Manager of the National Re-employment Service for Chilton County.

Mr. Stokes explained that the records of his office here will be transferred to Montgomery district office, which will serve Montgomery, Chilton, Autauga, Elmore, Lowdnes, and Bullock counties.

Mr. Leake will be here for sometime, it is understood, and will be engaged in helping to get the new emergency relief program into operation.

The News hopes to carry a complete story of the CWA work in the county in an early issue.

M'CORD SPEAKS TO THOUSANDS IN MAGIC CITY

Outlines His Plans For The Raising Of Revenue For Alabama

Birmingham, Ala.—The greatest crowd ever assembled in the city auditorium for a rally of supporters of one individual candidate Friday night heard Judge Leon McCord, democratic national committeeman and candidate for governor, outline his program for revenue with which to send Alabama the Roosevelt way during the next four years.

Newspapers estimated the crowd at 5,000. Persons connected with the municipal auditorium, which is the largest hall in Alabama, confirmed newspaper reports and said no candidate had ever before gotten together as many persons in a rally in the building.

More than 200 automobiles carrying citizens of Sand Mountain, where Judge McCord grew to manhood, came into Birmingham for the rally. They paraded through the streets headed by motorcycle scouts and a band. Citizens of every county, from the Tennessee line to the gulf, were present. Leaders of other candidates attempted to persuade the people not to hear Judge McCord.

Judge McCord's supporters from all sections held a meeting prior to the ral-

Luther Patrick To Speak At Fairview

Chilton County supporters of Judge Leon McCord for Governor, and others interested in the gubernatorial campaign, have a treat in store for Saturday night, April 14, when Luther Patrick, one of Alabama's outstanding orators, will speak at Fairview, west of Clanton, in behalf of Judge McCord's candidacy.

Friends of Judge McCord declare that his support in Chilton County is rapidly increasing, and they are forecasting a large and enthusiastic audience to hear Mr. Patrick. The speaking will begin at 7:30 o'clock, according to an announcement from local McCord supporters. Both Judge McCord and Mr. Patrick are well known in this county and both have a large following here.

E. L. KLINNER FURNITURE CO. HAS NEW MANAGER HERE

According to announcement given a representative of the News the popular E. L. Klinner Furniture Store here is now under new managemnt. Mr. O. C. Bennett, who has been connected with the store, in charge of sales and collections, since last August, has recently taken charge of the store.

Mr. Bennett has had much experience in the furniture game, having worked with this firm in Birmingham fifteen years, and was with one of the Birmingham stores there prior to his coming to Clanton last year. He most cordially invites those interested in home furnishings to visit him, assuring everyone that a warm welcome awaits them, and a wide assortment of furniture of high quality is there for their selection.

SEVEN AND NINE MONTHS TERMS NOW ASSURED

Democratic Leadership Has Shown Up Splendidly For Alabama Schools

SUPT. LITTLE ELATED OVER THE OUTLOOK

With the Federal appropriation for the continuance of Alabama's schools again placed at 2,290,000, Chilton County's schools are assured of seven and nine month terms, according to an announcement this week by Luther E. Little, county superintendent of education.

Mr. Little stated that he has been advised by Dr. A. F. Harman, State superintendent of education, that information recently received by the State department of Education may be interpreted to mean almost definite assurance that all necessary funds for teachers' salaries will be available. Recently Mr. Little received information that a 60 per cent reduction would be made in the Federal appropriation, but the latest figures again places the amount to be received by the State at $2,290,00 instead of $1,000,000.

The heads of all the schools in the county were advised this week, Mr. Little stated, to make plans for the regular seven and nine months terms.

Following is Dr. Harman's communication to Superintendent Little:

Superintendent Luther E. Little
Chilton County Board of Education
Clanton, Alabama

Dear Superintendent Little:

The telegram sent you on Saturday, March 31, advised you that unofficial reports indicated an additional Federal Relief appropriation of $1,000,000 for payment of salaries of teachers in Alabama for extension of terms and suggested that you plan to keep your schools in session until we could get official confirmation.

I have just had official word through Mr. Thad Hold, Director, Alabama Relief Administration, that Mr. Hopkins has now set aside an additional sum of $1,290,000 for extension of school terms in Alabama, instead of the $1,000,000 as previously reported to us. This appropriation, however, is conditional upon the report of auditors which will show the need for funds to extend terms in this state.

On the strength of this official advice, may I urge you to keep your schools in session during your full normal term. The official communication we have had today may be interpreted to mean almost definite assurance that you will get whatever amount you need for teachers' salaries.

A check for the first million dollars of Federal Relief Funds for payment of salaries of teachers is now in the hands of the Governor. As rapidly as pay rolls are approved for counties and cities eligible to participate in Federal Relief during February and March, they are being sent to the Alabama Relief Administration so that checks for payment of salaries of teachers may be prepared without further delay.

It is my sincere wish that you and your teachers will not let the unexpected interruptions of the last few days interfere in any way with the completion of a highly successful year's work.

Yours very truly,

A. F. HARMAN, Superintendent.

Sam Caver Learns New Lesson In Taxes

Even in this section, taxes is a subject with which most of the population have at least a speaking acquaintance. There's taxes on lands; taxes on cars—in fact taxes on everything from tooth brushes to corn cures. Some few are even remotely familiar with the income tax.

But it was something entirely new to this section, when it was made known that an alleged bootlegger had been hustled off to Montgomery to answer charges of removing whiskey from a still on which no taxes had been paid.

This happened Monday, when two Federal agents, Douglas and Rogers, of Montgomery, with Sheriff Gillespie arrested Sam Caver just over the Autauga-Chilton County line and informed him that he was due the government some $406 taxes on 203 gallons of liquor stored in his barn.

Scrap Ford, negro, was also arrested on charges of operating a still and possessing whiskey.

A Goal For Youth

That season of the year has rolled around again when the ambition of youth soars skyward. With graduation season only a few weeks away, seniors, and even juniors, are eagerly planning and talking of the wonderful things they are going to do when they launch out into the world on their own.

It seems sometime that this idea of 'hitching your wagon to a star' is a little overdone. It seems that often a boy's, or girl's, spirit is buoyed just a bit too high. It often slumps far below the normal level when they get out and face the real issues that men and women have to face. Regardless of the amount of optimistic philosophy one might read during his preparatory days, when he hits the open trail he is bound to find, and real soon, that life is no bed of roses.

However, we do not mean to discourage ambition. Far from that. But we sometimes wonder if it wouldn't be better to encourage youth to steer its bark toward something more substantial, instead of trusting a mere pipe dream. It is not at all impossible to succeed in life—we do not mean to leave that impression—but it must be remembered that successes are the results of long, hard, and rugged climbs. One cannot skip and dance up the ladder. The climb requires more serious thought.

Everyone cannot be President, but everyone can lead an honest and useful life; can roll away the stones from the path over which some fellow passerby might stumble. There can be no higher aim.

The epitaph on Thomas Jefferson's tomb, written by himself, was in substance, 'here lies Thomas Jefferson' author of the Declaration of Independence.' No mention was made of the fact that he was twice President of the United States. His own conception of his success placed his contribution to Liberty much higher than being President.

Now That Spring Is Here

Now that spring is here, and summer is just around the corner, the minds of millions are occupied with plans for vacationing.

This is an unusual year for the traveler. The mysterious exigencies of international exchange have made tremendous changes so far as paying for one's wanderlust is concerned. The current rate of exchange with most European currencies, for example, is much less favorable than it was a year ago. That American dollar which used to be so potent has literally shrunk in size. A hundred and fifty or two hundred of them are needed to do the work that a hundred used to do.

The result is that where travelers used to first think of Europe, they are now looking elsewhere. They're going either to countries where the money rate is favorable—or they are going to follow the old adage and really see America.

Seeing America is an especially excellent idea. It's a big country—and very few of its citizens have more than a cursory acquaintance with it. Take, for instance, Alaska, which is attracting a steadily increasing number of people who want a real vacation at a moderate cost. Most of us think of it in terms of ice—not knowing that certain sections produce giant strawberries and flowers. We think of the Artic circle as being as far away as the north pole—yet a little way south of it, at Fairbanks there is a first-class school of mines and an agricultural college. We think of the seas bordering it as being perpetually torn with storms—and the fact is that sailing to Alaska is almost always calm—with dancing on deck in warm evenings.

Yes, it's a fine year to look over your own home—the United States. And you'll find a satisfaction in knowing that the money you spend iwill go to American workmen and industries, and help us toward recovery.

o-o-o-o

Sometimes genius takes the form of being able to cash in on other people's ideas.

We imagine that St. Peter, too, has some difficulty in thwarting the gate crashers.

Flappers of the future will need parachutes when they feel the urge to walk back.

Hit Depression On The Chin

One reason why revival of the construction industry is regarded as being so vitally important to recovery by most authorities is that the bulk of the employment it would provide is where it is most needed—among skilled and unskilled laborers.

In 1930, 2,500,000 persons were employed by the building industry. About 1,000,000 more were employed in construction work in other industries, bringing the total to 3,600,000. Managerial, professional and office workers constituted less than 12 per cent of these. The ratio was 7 or 8 wage earners to 1 "white-collar" employe.

Again, it is reliably estimated that for every worker actually employed on a building job, another worker is employed behind the line in industries supplying necessary supplies. The upshot is that, in normal times, more than ten per cent of all the workers of the country are directly or indirectly dependent for their livelihood upon the building industry. The terrific drop in construction work that came with the depression was as a result, very possibly the largest single factor in causing unemployment.

Today American industry is expanding as rapidly as it can. And the individual should follow that lead, by building and repairing his own property now, while prices are still down. A national movement among home-owners to renovate their property would be a blow directly to the chin of depression.

Hon. W. B. Oliver's Political Race

This is a political year. Candidates are plentiful everywhere. In many instances it is a battle of personalities, in some races there are issues at stake; but in most cases there is a monotonous similarity about the appeal candidates are making to the voters.

However, we are thinking right now of one refreshing exception to this. That is the race of Congressman W. B. Oliver. Mr. Oliver has not been able to spend much time in his district campaigning due to pressing duties in Washington. And the thing that makes his race seem so pleasing is the manner in which his friends have carried on for him. Never have we known of a candidate who has been endorsed by so many people—people who, of their own free will and accord, have taken the time and trouble to write letters for publication, to go out of their way to speak a word in behalf of Mr. Oliver to their friends.

We have held this able statesman in high regard for a long time. It is pleasing to us to see these sincere expressions of his friends, and we are sure that it is doubly pleasing to Mr. Oliver. Early in the race his friends in his home town, Tuscaloosa, started the ball to rolling with an impressive full-page advertisement of endorsers of Oliver. The movement quickly spread to other parts of the District. Not long ago a similar advertisement appeared in the Chilton County News. Last week we carried a series of statements from his colleagues in Washington endorsing his splendid work there in the past and present. We believe it is a real endorsement when those who have worked side by side with a man year after year voluntarily commend him and express high regard for his ability as a man and as a statesman. In this issue of our paper appears another endorsement of Oliver from Hopson Owen Murfree of Prattville. Mr. Murfree has known Mr. Oliver for forty years. He says, "The present grave crisis of Democracy makes it highly important for the people to be represented in Washington by our wisest and most courageous men . . ."

All of this forcefully indicates two things: First, that W. B. Oliver is qualified for the job he seeks to retain. His past record proves that beyond question. Second, the people of his District want him to keep right on representing them in national affairs, which of course also indicates that he will continue as our representative. And we join with his many other friends in saying that he should.

An Assured Farm Future

The Cooperative Division of the Farm Credit Administration reports that a million more animals were handled by farmers' cooperative sales agencies operating on terminal livestock markets in 1933 than in 1932. The value of the increase is placed at $7,000,000.

That record is similar to those made by other major cooperative groups last year. The cotton producers, the dairymen, the fruit farmers of various sections—all of them showed an increasing faith in the necessity and efficiency of the cooperative plan. And the result was, in a disorganized and chaotic year, that the American agriculturist made genuine progress in building for a prosperous future.

Cooperation is the keystone of agriculture—precisely as it has been the keystone of industry for many years. All the government relief in the world, no matter how well intentioned and how expertly administered, can be of but temporary benefit. It can aid but it cannot cure a problem. It may carry farmers over lean periods but it cannot assure fat ones. The cooperatives are permanent. They are unaffected by political considerations. They do not go out of business with a change of administration. They are here to stay—and their work never stops, never wavers.

Farmers should make 1934 the record "cooperative year." They should loyally support their organizations, and seek to enlist new members. Doing that means money in their pockets— and it means that real farm recovery is on the way.

Chilton County Is Fortunate

Chances are favorable again for the regular seven and nine months school terms in this county. Since the Federal appropriation for the continuance of Alabama schools has been increased to 2,290,000, teachers in the various schools of the county have been advised to make plans for regular length terms.

Chilton County is very fortunate in having at the head of its educational system a man with outstanding vision; a man who can recognize and grasp opportunities for the advancement of his county's schools.

This is no claim, however, that Luther Little is due the credit for securing Federal funds for the relief of Alabama's school dilemma. Too many are intensely interested already in grabbing this honor. But without Federal aid, Luther Little, with the cooperation of the county board of education, had devised a system, making it possible for our schools to operate terms of sufficient length to permit the making of grades. So, again we say, Chilton County is fortunate.

Jefferson's Epitaph

The anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson on April 13, revived many historical anecdotes of the third president of the United States, and serves to remind his countrymen of his brilliant service to the struggling young nation.

Jefferson's dominating trait was his love of liberty, and it was as a champion of human freedom that he desired to be known to posterity. This was illustrated by his epitaph, written by himself for inscription upon his tomb:

"Here is buried Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence; and of the statutes of Virginia for religious freedom; and father of the University of Virginia."

No reference is made to his services as governor of Virginia, member of Congress, minister to France, secretary of state, vice-president and twice president of the United States. In his own estimation his services in the cause of liberty stood above all these.

Freedom of government, freedom of education were the paramount objectives of his life, as epitomized in his epitaph. Born an aristocrat, Thomas Jefferson became the ardent defender of the masses and the greatest exponent of human liberty the warld has ever known.

Most of us believe in pitiless publicity—for the other fellow.

Few monuments are erected to persons who observed all the rules.

Father's most vivid impression of higher education is that it comes higher.

Still, one doesn't get much service out of a spade by merely calling it one.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

A deer that has been shot at will run ten or fifteen miles, but will run in a circle. If dogs are in pursuit the huntsman will remain on his stand, knowing that in a short time the deer will return to his starting point. The only safety for the deer is the scent of the water brooks. The scent of the flowing stream is the same to the deer as the compass is to the huntsman, and the deer have learned that to follow the stream will keep them from returning to the place of danger. In like manner, a man, when he commits one sin, if he is left to himself, will commit another to get out of the first one. One lie makes room for another lie to be told, and on and on goes the way of sin. The sinner is running in a circle. Unless the sinner can find an outside influence to lead him from the old ways of living, he will be hopelessly lost. A vision of God and the call of the Master are the influences that keep men from living in a circle, and that leads them out to safety and life.

In one of the homes where I had a right to call as a pastor, I found a woman polishing a piano. Before my coming, she had applied the polish, and she had already given the musical instrument a session of hard rubbing with a soft cloth. When I appeared on the scene she was rubbing the piano with the palm of her hand. I express astonishment at the polishing process, but she cleared my mind by showing to me that in the use of the human hand, the brightest glow could be brought out on the wood. Work that is done through pay is good work but there is no brighter deeds that shine than the work of the hand. When we serve the sick and help the needy with our own hands, then it is that we bring out the brightest elements of the Christian life. If you want to make your deeds shine, you must serve with your own hands.

A little lad came bouncing into the room and I started to asking him questions. I had not gotten very far before I asked him if he said his prayers. He gave me to understand that he said them at night. Then I inquired if he did not say them in the morning. Here is how he replied: "Why no, I do not pray n the morning, for it is always light when I open my eyes." That little boy felt like that he did not need to pray if he could see. How like children are the grown people of the world. We do not feel the need of prayer when the sun is shining. When the way is dark and we can not see, then we cry mightily unto God, but when the road is clear and the fog has been lifted, we say by our action, "No thank you, God, I do not need you now." We stand in need of prayer morning, noon and night.

In the ailments of the body, one of the most dangerous things to do is to help the part that is afflicted. If the muscles are weak and you call other members of the body to perform the duty that the weak muscles should perform, they will lay down on you altogether. The more you help rheumatism, the more it will cry for help. If you have a sluggish liver, or a sluggish circulation, if you administer stimulants soon you will be dependent on stimulants. Weak muscles and sluggish circulations should be strengthened so as to perform their own tasks without help. In like manner, the most dangerous thing that can be done for any one is to help him when he asks for help. Thousands of people in our day have been helped, and they enjoy it, just like a hog enjoys being scratched. Help people and they will lay down on you. Society today is being afflicted with people who have decided that the government shall help them to a meal ticket. I believe in helping folks, but the only help that is safe is to help them to help themselves. The old negro woman said: "I is decided dat I will die on de cross—de Red Cross."

What is stinginess? A legend tells us that stinginess is like unto a man who saw a lad fall into a swollen stream. The boy was about to drown and he cried to the man on the shore: "Give me your hand." He replied: "I never gave any one anything at any time and I will not do it now." The boy's wits were equal to the man's stinginess and so he replied: "Sir, please take my hand." The man did so, saying that he would take but never give.

INK DROPS FROM C. C. H. S.

By Dan Smith

The writer is more than pleased to be able to make the following announcement. Word has been received from the authorities that the schools will continue for nine months. This not only means that the doors of C. C. H. S. will remain open a month longer but it also means that the students will be given the advantage of nine months of school. They wouldn't leave school "three fourths finished" as they would if we had only eight months. Now the teachers may go straight ahead and carry out their program of instruction without any hindrance. The federal government, aiding Alabama schools, as well as schools in other states, proves our government's interest in her future citizens.

Don't forget the baseball game with Selma tomorrow! It will be one of the best of the season. Two strong teams will "raise the dust" on the diamond. Come on out and boost Chilton.

Ladies and gentlemen, the winner of the beauty contest sponsored by the Junior One Class was Grace Plyler, who represented the Senior Two Class. She led with a total number of over 900 votes. Congratulations Grace!

Chilton's baseball team, in its true form, ventured on the enemy's ground last Friday and came back with a victory of 7 to 6 in their belts. The defeated team was Marbury High.

On Wednesday of this week Jemison challenged us. The game was played here. At the time of this writing the score was not available. So far we have two victories and no defeats. Keep it up.

Our heartiest congratulations go to the Junior Class on the result of their play last Friday night. Never before in the past few years has the auditorium held such a crowd for a play. It would bring a smile on any one's face to see such a response by a community to a school play.

The large crowd was not the only thing, no sir! Equally as noticeable and commendable as the attendance was the play itself. Nothing but praise can be heard for Miss Kendrick and those diligent Juniors who worked hard to turn out a successful play and DID.

We hope and feel sure that the regular Senior Class play will draw as large a crowd.

The Seniors should use Sarah Hollis' medium of advertising. That was fine class spirit, Sarah, and much credit for the successful advertising goes to you.

The P. T. A. of C. C. H. S. observed Parent's Night of Tuesday of this week. A good attendance of parents enjoyed the fine program. Chilton County High School may, and does, boast of her P. T. A.

Charles Foshee, of the Senior Class, represented this school in the visit by boys of C. C. H.S. and other schools to Mitchell Dam as the guest of Mr. John Hollis, superintendent of the dam.

The Senior Class and their sponsor, Miss Frances Gulledge, are busy making preparations for the Commencement exercises which are only five weeks off. They intend to make the Commencement Exercises this year the most beautiful and impressive of any before.

The Senior Class is looking forward with much enthusiasm to the entertainment to be given them by the Juniors. This entertainment, an annual event of much interest, will probably be in the form of a banquet and will be held in a few days.

Who Am I???  Geraldine DeLoach was the one last week. Now worry over this one.  I am full of pep. I love to swim. I am popular. I do not have black hair. My name has nine letters in it, three different vowels. I am a Senior Two.  Who Am I???

Mrs. Percy Pitts, representing the Chilton County post of the American Legion Auxiliary, made a splendid offer Monday to the students in the form of a poster making contest. The subject of the poster is to be about the poppy made by disabled World War Veterans. A local prize and a chance at the national award awaits the winner of the contest here.

The school was delighted to have as their guest last Friday Dr. Cooper, a representative of Southwestern University. Mr. Cooper talked to the boys of the Senior Class and especially interesting was his description of life at Oxford University, in England, of which he is a graduate.

'Shhh, don't tell a soul"  (The following articles are in no way connected with the character of the school, they being written by the editor of this column for the entertainment of the student readers.)  Boy, oboy, what that beauty contest didn't reveal!  I wonder if those "capitalist" received any "interest" on their investments? ' Some say the name of the contest was misleading. It should have been called a popularity contest. Were they right?  The impossible almost happened one night last week, but it didn't, and it won't. Just wait and see.  The new girl last Friday night caused quite a lot of comment. Their leaving early was noticeable. Well, well, well, to bad they went to Birmingham last Saturday night. *****

"I WENT 51% FURTHER ON GULF-LUBE"

"I made your 'two-trip' test," says Mrs. Lee Ketner, 705 Melrose St., Winston-Salem, N. C., "and to say I was surprised would be putting it mildly."

"Gulf-lube outlasted my regular 25c motor oil by 115 miles—it went 51% further before a quart was consumed!"

Thanks, Mrs. Ketner. You're one of thousands of motorists who have cut their oil costs with Gulf-lube—the oil that was tested by the American Automobile Association in 6 average cars—and out-lasted every oil in every car!

Start saving! Switch to Gulf-lube now. You'll buy less oil between fillings. You'll get better, smoother lubrication. At 25c a quart Gulf-lube is America's biggest motor oil value. At all Gulf stations.

Vermont Jr. High School News

Plans are being mapped out to have our school picnic on Saturday, April 21. No place has yet been appointed but this will be given out later. We trust that all who atend school at Vermont this year can go. Two large trucks will convey the band of happy picnickers to some select spot where a day of real pleasantness will be spent. A number of the parents will accompany the merry group.

The Vermont community Baseball team tore loose and bagged another one sided victory last Saturday when they ran rough-shod over the Clanton Cotton Mill team again. Winning by the score of 16 to 7. The Cotton Millers started off like they intended to swamp the boys by driving in a 4 to 0 lead in the first two innings. But alas, their will power broke down the third and fourth frame when Smith, Burnett, Trice, Swansom and in fact, all of 'em commenced wasting everything the pitchers served up to the home plate. We're proud we won, but sorry that one of the Cotton Mill boys was severely hurt by a batted ball. We hope for him a quick recovery.

Our team goes to Plantersville on next Saturday, April 14. Let's hope they can go down there and turn their long range gun's loose on those highly tooted Plantersvill pitchers and come back home with victory number 3 in the bag.

Our final review began last Monday day. Everyone is busy trying to get set for making a high mark during those last four days of school. Exams. should not be so repulsive, as most of us think they are. They are nothing to dread, just a summing up of a few of the principles and concepts which have been established during the days of a regular course.

We are planning to have our graduation exercises on Friday night, April 20. The speaker for this occasion will be announced in our final news write up in next week's paper.

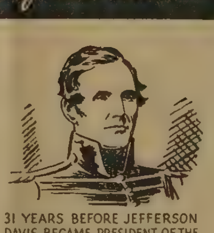
Fascinating Facts of NATURE

This is "caliche", the form in which Chilean Natural Nitrate was created. From this ore two types of Chilean Natural Nitrate are refined—Old Style and granulated Champion Brand. Both are Nature's products, created in the ground to help you produce more profitable crops.



31 YEARS BEFORE JEFFERSON DAVIS BECAME PRESIDENT OF THE SOUTHERN CONFEDERACY (1861) CHILEAN NITRATE WAS FIRST USED TO FERTILIZE SOUTHERN CROPS (1830) "JEFF" DAVIS WAS A YOUNG ARMY OFFICER IN THOSE DAYS.

CHAMPION BRAND CHILEAN NITRATE IS SNOW WHITE ABOUT THE SIZE AND SHAPE OF BIRD SHOT GUARANTEED 19.45% AMMONIA (16% NITROGEN) IT CONTAINS ALL THE NATURAL "IMPURITIES" IODINE, CALCIUM, POTASSIUM, BORON, MAGNESIUM, SODIUM, ETC. WHICH ARE SO VITAL TO YOUR CROPS

News from Thorsby

MISS RACHEL PETERSEN, Correspondent

A very unique entertainment in the form of a silver shower was held in the basement of the Baptist church last Friday night. As the guests arrived, they went through the receiving line, which consisted of the officers of the church. After a delightful social hour, during which punch was served, an interesting program was rendered. Musical numbers were as follows: Piano solos by Misses Jennye Robinson, Marie Jackson, and May Pearl Sorrell; two vocal solos by Mr. Steve Hughes; and three numbers by a quartet consisting of Messrs. Emmitt Billingsley, Akins Collins, Dave Childress, and Mr. Glass of Jemison, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Marvin Davenport. The play, "Thanksgiving Ann" was given by Mrs. E. N. Bentley, Mrs. Tom Robinson and son, Charles, Mr. Donald Merchant and daughter, Annette, and Mr. Hollis Merchant. A pantomine "Way Down Upon the Swanee River" was given by Misses Cordelia Eastburn, Louise Robinson, Edna Childress, and Lola Martin, with musical accompaniment by Messrs. Phares Raybon, Leo Spivey and Hollis Merchant. The shower was a decided success, and over fifty-five dollars was taken in.

Plymouth Production Has Been Speeded Up

Twelve thousand workers, the largest force in Plymouth's history, are now employed in the Plymouth plant to help meet the phenomenal demand for the new merchandise.

The Plymouth factory is operating day and night, six days a week.

Factory output is fast catching up with the deluge of orders which followed the introduction of the new and finer Plymouths.

Shipments to dealers everywhere are being made in constantly increasing volume. More than 10,000 cars were sent to dealers during the week ending March 10, the largest single week's shipments in Plymouth's history.

In the same week, retail deliveries of new Plymouths were 6,614, five times greater than during the same period in 1933. Plymouth sales did not reach this figure last year until June!

Oak Grove News

Here's to a glorious success seventeen scholars enjoyed the past week at Oak Grove. For five consecutive nights, Miss Rosalie Martin stood at the desk drilling on the wonderful principles set forth in that immortal book, "Pilgrim's Progress." We highly recommend to other unions this book as a marvelous example for a study course. We regret that others did not attend, but we are glad that some are interested in the ongoing of God's Kingdom.

Mr. and Mrs .Homer Webb and family of Birmingham were the guests of friends and relatives Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Lessley were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Seay Sunday.

Mr. Forrest Glass of Birmingham was the week end guest of his family at Oak Grove.

We are pleased to announce that Oak Grove B. Y. P. U. will be well represented in the Eastern District B. Y. P. U. Convention which meets in Talladega April 24 and 25. The union is sending two delegates, Charles Nix and Hubbard Watson. The former will appear on program in the afternoon session of the first day. The latter is going for the benefit of the union by getting notes and bringing a report to the union. April 15 and 22nd are set dates for special collections for expenses of one delegate. If anyone can or will give any offering, please act accordingly on the mentioned dates. We trust that this investment will be well worthwhile on everyone's part. This is a challenge to other unions. Let's put a large number of Chilton County B. Y. P. U. delegates in Talladega on these above dates. We can do it, if we only will. The question is, will you make a sacrifice?

Mt. Pleasant School News

The Faculty and Student body are very busy getting ready for final examinations and commencement exercises.

We are happy to state that a large number of our pupils who have had measles are back in school.

Sunday School was re-organized here three weeks ago. The enrollment is approximately thirty five. We wish to invite everyone to attend Sunday School. The Rev. Davis Durban will preach Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Lucille McCain, a sixth grade pupil of Thorsby, visited the sixth grade pupils here Wednesday.

Mr. R. B. Johnson, our former principal, visited friends in this community Saturday afternoon.

Misses Willadean Bean and Myrtle Williams were visitors to our school Tuesday.

Mrs. J. H. Goddard of Thorsby visited Mrs. B. F. Massey last Thursday.

Mr. L. F. Cleckler, who is employed at Coal Creek, Tenn., spent the week end with his wife and children.

Little Eula and Jean Price spent Monday night with their teacher, Mrs. Merchant.

Frances Smith spent Thursday night with Everee Smith.

Oma Lee Pounds spent the week end in Thorsby with her grandmother, Mrs. Pounds.

The pupils are enjoying volley ball, baseball, and play ground games now.

The commencement program will be announced in next week's paper.

The following basketball boys and girls enjoyed a weiner roast in the pine grove below the school building Wednesday night. The pines were lighted with Japanese lanterns. Interesting games were participated in from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock after which everyone enjoyed roasting weiners over the bonfire.

Messrs. Leonard Burnett, Cecil Traywick, Julius Traywick, John E. Childres Earl Melton, Chester Jones, George Chambers and 2 pairs of twins, Dolphin and Delphin Popwell and Wendell and Wilton Massey.

As Miss Hilda Robinson of Richmond, Ind., opened the door to admit James Corsham, a suitor, she collapsed and died in his arms.

Pleasant Valley and Enterprise News

Our Sunday School and B. Y. P. U isn't what it should be, although we can lay most of it to the weather, but the weather is getting pretty now, so folks, let's all start coming back to church, and make our services the best of all.

Several from this community are still suffering with the measles.

This community is very sorry to larn Mr. Turner Griffin underwent an operation for appendicitis at the South Highland Hospital in Birmingham Monday. We hope for him a speedy recovery.

Misses Mary Adams and Lera Mae Williams spent Sunday with Miss Velma Hathcock.

The Junior II and Junior III classes of Baker Junior High School are going to present one of the best plays of the season on Saturday night, April 21st. The title of the play is: "A Fortunate Calamity." The characters are as follows: Mrs. Marian Merkle, a proud mother, Annie Lee Bates; Alta her daughter whose desire is to become rich, Gladys Wyatt; Ruth, just a plain girl, Pauline Sisk; Kate VanTyle, a good-natured cook, Mildred Coe; Dinah Johnsing, a servant, Caudell Chapman; Rastus Johnsing, an honest coon; Vinson Baker; Joe Brown, a revenue officer, Coy Lockhart; Bernard Gullison, a jovial young man, Fonzie Coe; Albert Campbell, who plays a crooked game, Clint Billingsley.

This play is really worth your money at 10 and 15 cents. You will miss half of your life if you don't come.

THIS MIGHT BE A FRIEND OF YOURS

By T. E. Harris, DISTRICT MANAGER
SOUTHERN BELL Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Recently a telephone subscriber, while paying her bill, gave us the name of a former subscriber and asked us to try and induce her to put her telephone back in. "They are friends of ours," she said, "and we and their other friends miss having them at our social gatherings. When they had a telephone we called them frequently but now we can't. If you telephone people," she said, "can make them realize how anxious their friends are for them to have a telephone, I believe they will. I'm sure they can afford one. In fact, I don't think they can afford not to have a telephone."

Telephone users everywhere are anxious for their friends to have telephones, too. Some people doubtless had their telephones removed without stopping to think about what it would mean to their friends. Now they are finding that in doing without their telephones they have been sacrificing too much in happiness in addition to the resultant inconvenience to both them and their friends. They have learned also that being without telephone service isolates them, narrowing the scope of their social activities. Others have had it brought home to them that the lack of a telephone near at hand in emergencies can easily prove to be expensive and even endanger life.

It is not surprising that we are so often told that the pleasure, comfort, convenience and protection that a telephone in the home affords far outweighs the small cost of the service. So much so, in fact, that it really doesn't pay to try to get along without a telephone in the [illegible]

MRS. LAWRENCE F. GERALD ENTERTAINED RECENTLY

Opening the spring season of gaiety for the young society set, Mrs. Lawrence F. Gerald entertained in her most gracious manner at her beautiful home last Saturday evening. The delightful event was a buffet-supper followed with dancing. The evening was in honor of the interesting and charming visitors of Miss Celia Gerald and Lawrence Gerald, Jr. The guests of honor were Misses Frances Ordaway of Birmingham, Kate Crowell and Betty Petrie of Russellville. Also Raymond Callen, Leroy Horn and Bevens Green of Birmingham.

After a delicious supper served in buffet style the guests enjoyed several hours of delightful dancing. The friendliness and charm of the hostess added to the enjoyment of the occasion. Assisting Mrs. Gerald were Mrs. Arthur Johnson and Mrs. Hugh Jones.

Those who shared in this evening of social entertainment were Misses Sara Lawrence, Eloise Rasberry, Ruth Gowan, Mary Courtney Jones, Helen Roberts, Gertiwyl Vinson, Helen Moore, Celia Gerald and the honor guests. Enjoying the occasion also were Hal Broadhead, Joe Moore, Dan Smith, Morgan Reynolds, Grady Reynolds, Jr., Philip Nelson, Sidney Reynolds, Frank Hogan, Joe Hall Johnson, Lawrence Gerald, Jr., and the guests of honor.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR THE REV. JOE W. HOWELL, 79

Funeral services for the Rev. Joe W. Howell, 79, one of Chilton County's most unique and best loved characters, who died Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock at his home, near Verbena, were held Monday morning from the Swamp Creek Primitive Baptist church in Coosa County, near his boyhood home. The Rev J. S. Kelley officiated, and Spigener was in charge of the burial services in the churchyard cemetery. Brief services were held Sunday afternoon at the home.

Born and reared in the hills of Coosa County, the venerable minister was widely known throughout this section of the State. His rare philosophy and keen sense of humor endeared him to those who heard his sermons; and especially were his friends numbered by the hundreds in his native and foster counties of Coosa and Chilton.

Surviving him are: One son, J. A. Howell, Verbena; three daughters, Mrs. M. L. Hemstock, Franklin, N. H., Mrs. W. E. Burkhalter, Verbena, and Mrs. W. E. Holcombe, of Columbiana; one brother, J. G. Howell, of Rockford.

Pleasant Grove Singing

The singing at this place on Sunday, April the 8th, was quite a success. A large crowd attended and singing was certainly fine all day, and was enjoyed by all who attended. The chairman, Mr. W. J. Cox, sang one song and prayer was led by Mr. F. I. Popwell. Then the committee made out the program for the day. The following directors sang from one to three songs each:

Messrs. Mack Durbin, Melvin Devaughn, Howard Roper, Miss Jewell Foshee, Mrs. J. D. Scott, Mr. A. H. Glasscock, Mr. Akin Collins, Mr. W. L. Sanders, Mr. E. L. Glasscock, Mr. Ralph Grant, Mr. Amie Boswell, Mr. George Anderson. The Clanton Quartet sang two selections.

This brought us to the noon hour. We spread a public lunch in which we hope all of the singers got lunch. There were not many of the members present. We met back at one-thirty to spend the rest of the afternoon singing. Those directing were:

Mr. I. D. Huett, Mr. Lee Grant, Mr. W. M. Devaughn, Mr. Jesse Jones, Mr. Red Harden, Mr. Floy Devaughn, Mr. O. L. Devaughn, Mr. A. H. Glasscock, Mr. Cornelious Hand, Mr. Olen Williams, Mr. G. C. Weldon, Mr. Barney Culp, Dr. Williams, O. L. Devaughn, Mr. E. L. Glasscock, Rev. Lockhart.

There were several quartets all during the afternoon which were greatly enjoyed. Some of the candidates mad a talk. This brought the singing to a close. Mr. O. L. Devaughn sung the closing song, and we were dismissed by Rev. J. H. Limbrick.

PLEASANT GROVE

Jemison

Surely everybody is enjoying this beautiful spring weather. It's glorious, thanks to the Great and Wise Creator for His goodness to us.

Sunday has passed with services at church as usual.

The sick of this place are not improving so fast. The children who have had the measles are doing fine but there are the older ones who have been sick so long. Mrs. Hermie Hodgens, Mr. Monroe Franklin, are still about the same. Mrs. Betty Merchant is some better and Mrs. Clyde Champion is no better at present.

Mr. Clyde Champion, Mr. and Mrs. Justus Waldrop, Mr. Ben Gibson and Mr. Robert Davenport had a message from Mr. J. A. Champion Wednesday night saying that little Douglas Champion of Baldwin County was not expected to live long. They left here at midnight and arrived there before he died. He died Thursday night at 12 o'clock. They came back Saturday night.

Mrs. Algie and Misses Agnes and Mary Lee Compton were guests of the Misses Champion Monday p. m.

Miss Delia Champion visited Mrs. John Davenport Tuesday a. m.

Miss Mary Clements underwent and operation for Goitre. She is not doing so well.

Mrs. John Clower, Mrs. Jim Miskelley, Mrs. Algie Compton and Misses Mary Lee and Lucile Compton were the guests of the Champions Friday p. m.

Mrs. Jim Miskelley visited her daughter, Mrs. Hermie Hodgens Thursday.

Mrs. E. C. and Mrs. John Davenport visited the Champions Sunday p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. George Spivey and son, Erschel, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Childress and son, Alvin, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Zuber and little daughter, Mary Alice, visited Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Franklin Sunday.

Mr. Albert Jones, Miss Lourene Spivey and Mr. Thurman Childress were guests of Mr. Maurice and Miss Rubye Wright Sunday.

Miss Effie Champion is spending a while with her sister and family, Mrs. Frank Davenport.

Miss Olis Davenport visited her nieces, Misses Alvis, Lucile and Lorene Davenport Sunday.

Candidate For Atty. General Visits Clanton

COLEMAN D. SHEPHERD

Hon. Coleman D. Shepherd, Jasper attorney and candidate for the office of attorney general of Alabama, was a very pleasant visitor to Clanton and Chilton county last week end. Mr. Shepherd is the only North Alabama man seeking this office. He has practiced law for eighteen years, and is a World War veteran. In discussing hie candidacy he said:

"The office of Attorney General is an important one. It is my sincere ambition to serve in this high place. I fully appreciate the responsibility involved in the office I seek. The lawyers and judges of my local bar at Jasper have unanimously endorsed me for the place and are kind enough to say that I am qualified to fill the office creditably. I have been actively engaged in the general practice of law continuously during the last eighteen years, am a graduate of the Law School of the University of Alabama, and believe I am fitted to efficiently fulfill the duties of Attorney General. If elected, it shall be my purpose and endeavor to diligently look after the State's legal business and not to play poltics and seek headline publicity. The people, the departments, and the officials served by this office should, and if I am elected will, receive prompt service from the Attorney General's office. I believe that the work of the office can be organized and performed so as to save the tax payers of the State many thousands of dollars each year, and this I shall try to do.

"For several years the 'ins' at Montgomery have handed the people of Alabama a 'hand picked' Attorney General from the 'in circle' in office. This system of succession to the throne by the 'Crown Prince' is being attempted again so that the 'ins' can keep their jobs. All who are acquainted with the facts know that a change in the administration of this office at Montgomery will be helpful. I do not belong to that 'in' crowd and am not their 'hand picked' candidate. If elected I expect to restore the office of Attorney General of Alabama to the high, dignified and respected status to which it is entitled."

Elmore County Is for McCord

Letters From Prominent Elmore County Citizens State True Facts Of McCord's Support

Wetumpka, Ala., April 3, 1934.

Editor of the Advertiser,
Montgomery, Alabama.
Dear Sir:

This is to call your attention to the fact that your article appearing in last Sunday's paper did not give the true facts as regard to McCord supporters in Elmore County. I wish to state that I am a McCord supporter and selected as one of the co-chairmen. That we have 1800 pledged cards; 200 active members of campaign committees, and according to the best political views in this county, McCord will lead the ticket, Graves second, and Dixon a very poor third. It is extremely doubtful that Dixon will get over 400 votes in Elmore County.

I wish to state that your Mr. Atticus Mullin was informed by one of our commissioners, who is a McCord supporter, that Dixon had practically no strength in Elmore County. Regardless of this fact, he, Atticus Mullin, wrote a very misleading article, and I would appreciate it if you would publish this article in your paper, because it is an injustice to the Advertiser, McCord, and everyone concerned.

Yours very truly,
J. F. SEWELL.

Montgomery, Alabama.
Gentlemen:

Knowing the popularity and wide circulation of your paper, I regret to see that Mr. Atticus Mullin in Sunday's issue of April 1st. made statements contrary to true facts pertaining to the strength of Judge McCord in Elmore County.

I am a McCord supporter and am serving as Co-chairman of the Club for Judge McCord, which numbers 1800. Political observers state that McCord will lead the ticket in this County.

Will you please publish this article in your paper?

Yours very truly,
MRS. GEO. F. SMOOT.

A Perfect

and a careful mother...

THE modern American homemaker has a duel objective in life. She wants to be a perfect hostess. And she wants to be a careful mother. Not so many years ago this would have been virtually impossible; the attainment of one meant the sacrifice of the other. Not so today—thanks to Electric Refrigeration! The woman who equips her home with a new 1934 Kelvinator, or General Electric, automatic electric refrigerator is ready at all times for hungry guests. She is ready, too, for hungry children. She knows she has secured the ultimate protection for her food supplies, and finds exhilarating joy in the freedom this brings to her. Why not be one of these yourself? You can have a new General Electric or Kelvinator electric refrigerator almost for the asking?

$10.00 brings a new "G-E" or Kelvinator to your home. Balance payable as you enjoy it.

ly and exchanged reports on the progress of the campaign. Every prediction was that Judge McCord would get a big plurality in the first primary, while several made the blunt declaration that McCord will be nominated in the first primary.

McCord is growing in every section of the state, they reported. He is taking the votes from Graves. Dixon has never shown any general strength in any county, though he has scattering votes in each county. Judge McCord was assured that 80 per cent of the Dixon vote will go to him in the runoff if one becomes necessary.

The address of Judge McCord in Birmingham was pronounced the best of the campaign. He outlined his revenue program in detail; he promised a school term of not less than seven month and payment of teachers' salaries every month and showed where he will get the money.

He made the pledge that Alabama will reduce the price of school books which were fixed at a high figure by Col. Graves while governor. He held before his audience identical books bought in Alabama and other states, and quoted the prices, which were from five to thirty per cent higher in Alabama than prices in other states.

Judge McCord's revenue program attracted wide attention. Put in a concise way, he showed the following plan, which he said will bring in sufficient money without any increase in taxation:

Making convict department self-sustaining, saving $750,000 a year; legal sale of light wines and beer, $750,000; destroying bootleggers of gasoline and tobacco who compete with Alabama dealers without paying state tax, $750,000; revising law to permit voting on payment of two years' back poll taxes, $150,000; pension fund not needed to pay maximum pensions under present legislation, $750,000.

This will give the next administration revenue of $3,650,000 for public education and other necessary activities, in addition to revenue now accruing for essential departments, without increasing taxation one single dollar, Judge McCord said. He mentioned that the income tax law will bring in more revenue than will be needed to pay interest on the new bond issue, when times get better, but this has not been considered in his revenue program because he does not know how much it will be. Reports, however, show federal income taxes in Alabama this year will be double those of last year.

Judge McCord's address at the Birmingham auditorium was the final speech of a week of intensive campaigning in Jefferson county. He was greeted by large audiences wherever he spoke. While he was talking to 800 or more at Ensley, Dixon was speaking to 77 at West End in his home county.

Precinct reports showed that Judge McCord is far in the lead in Jefferson county. His committee predicted that the intensive campaign which will follow Judge McCord's personal appearance will put Jefferson county in the McCord column by a majority vote.

Judge McCord maintained his lead in North Alabama during the week. His committees reported that he will have a clear majority in that section and will divide the vote in central and south Alabama with the other candidates, which will mean his nomination without a run-off.

MT. PLEASANT JUNIORS ENJOY PARTY LAST THURS.

A very striking event of the school year was a delightful party given by the Faculty and Jr. I and II classes honoring the members of Jr. III class of Mt. Pleasant Jr. High School, at the home of Everee Smith, a popular member of the Jr. II class, on last Thursday evening from 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

The members of the Jr. II class made very attractive hand-painted invitations for each of the ten members of the Jr. III class.

The home was very attractively decorated in beautiful pink rosebuds and white lilies, carrying out the class colors of pink and white.

Delightful games were enjoyed thruout the evening after which a delicious ice course of pink and white was served to over fifty members of the Jr. High School as follows: Misses Gladys Turner, Ertice Riggins, Pauline and Lorene Price, Ruby Melton, Myrtice and Jewell Cost, Marie Melton, Callie Cooper, Julia Cox, Annie Loyd Price, Alcie Lee Price, Frances Smith, Mable Gillespie, Irene Burnett, Loudelia Clackler, Gladys Bell, Mary Will Smith, Mary Frances Bruce, Louise Parker, and Everee Smith.

Messrs. Clifford Traywick, John E. Childress, Cecil and Jelius Traywick, Hubert Duke, Delphin and Dolphin Popwell, Wendell and Wilton Massey, Chester Jones, Jesse Eiland, Gerald Powell, Kinnard Gillespie, Chasteen Duke, Leonard Burnett, Morris Clackler, George Bell, Rennie Baker, Rennie Cayton and Carl Sanders.

MRS. J. W. FOSHEE ENTERTAINED AT MAPLESVILLE, ALA.

Mesdames Sallie Perry, H. J. Foshee and W. E. Cobern entertained Friday afternoon, April 6, at the home of the latter in honor of Mrs. J. W. Foshee, a recent bride. The house was beautifully decorated with pot plants and Spring flowers.

The guests were entertained with piano and vocal solos rendered by Mrs. Floyd Dorsey, and a Spring planting contest, the prize of which was won by Mrs. C. N. Parnell. Each guest wrote her favorite recipe and presented it to the bride.

After the presentation of the recipes a delicious salad course was served to the following: Mesdames P. W. Boykin. F. H. Brown, C. C. Cobern, W. E. Cobern, C. J. Cobern, Jr., A. T. Dawson, Floyd Dorsey, C. M. Foshee, Jennie Foshee, H. J. Foshee, J. W. Foshee, the honoree, J. W. Gwin, J. J. Hayes, S. J. Hayes, Hicks, George Kyser, J. O. Mize, H. M. Nix, C. N. Parnell, Sallie Perry, Bobbie Saportas, F. A. Shanks, Misses Katherine DeRamus and Louise Foshee.

OLIVER IS GIVEN PRAISE FOR WORK

it would be an irreparable loss to the Democratic Party and to this Nation for this venerable statesman's leadership to be withdrawn at this crisis. By seniority and rank, Alabama's representative from the Sixth District now occupies a high position of great responsibility in Congress, and it would be nothing short of a tragic handicap for him not to be returned to this position, declares this friend of forty years standing.

Dr. Murfree has served on the faculties of the University of Virginia, University of Chicago, Marion Institute, University of Alabama, and in other important educational positions.

Following is a letter of endorsement from Dr. Murfree, in which he urges wholehearted support of Mr. Oliver that he may continue to render that efficient service, which has endeared him to the hearts of his constituency for the past twenty years:

The elections of 1934 will determine the fate and future of Democracy in Alabama and America. Under the splendid leadership of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic Party of Thomas Jefferson and Woodrow Wilson has been entrusted with the herculean task of relieving human suffering and of restoring prosperity. The most distinguished and discerning living English philosopher of government has recently declared from London:

"The failure of Mr. Roosevelt means the end of political democracy in America. But if America succeeds, he will write a new page in the history of the world."

President Roosevelt has made an auspicious beginning. This beginning of a noble endeavor for social and economic recovery has been made possible by the loyal support of President Roosevelt in Senate and in House by an overwhelming majority of highly intelligent and patriotic men—noble Democrats and Republicans who place Country above Party. Without such support of wisdom and courage, President Roosevelt could not have begun to fulfill his hopeful promises to the American people.

Among the Members of the present Congress, the Senators and Representatives from Alabama justly hold high place by virtue of eminent ability and distinguished service. Of these Alabama Statesmen of great wisdom and successful experience, Congressman W. B. Oliver of the Sixth District ranks first for ability, character, wisdom, and long faithful service to Democracy. It has been well said:

"Yet one thing which has stood out with distinctness throughout the 20-year congressional career of Mr. Oliver has been the integrity of his loyalty to Democratic leadership in The White House. During the trying days of the World War, Mr. Oliver was the trusted friend and ardent supporter of Woodrow Wilson in his entire program for winning the war and subsequent reconstruction measures. No less loyal has he proved to the present Democratic occupant of The White House. Mr. Oliver believes deeply in the principle of party government, and that party government cannot succeed unless party leadership is sustained and upheld. His loyalties are unswerving.

"Above all stands Mr. Oliver's years of effective and devoted work in Congress and the dependence which the President and Congress place upon him in his position as chairman of one of the most important sub-committees of the House Appropriation Committee. Not so spectacular as some of our Congressmen from the South, Mr. Oliver is the type which does the work in his quiet, studious, able and business-like way. "Alabama needs him, the South needs him, and the Nation needs him to continue the great service he has been rendering in Washington."

I have known Congressman Oliver for forty years. He is the noblest of men and the wisest of statesmen. His exemplary character and eminent ability, his long and faithful service to State and Nation are above praise. It is unnecessary to recall to the people of the Sixth District the eminent qualifications and useful services of Congressman Oliver. His life and work praise him. No Member of the present Congress has won higher place in the esteem of Republicans and Democrats alike for wisdom and statesmanship. He is every inch a Statesman. By virtue of ability and service, he is now the most useful and distinguished Democrat in the Congress. He is not an orator to stir the emotions—he is a statesman to appeal to reason and patriotism. His wisdom and experience is now the richest asset of the Democratic Party in Congress. Why change an asset for a liability?

The appeal to patriotism and party loyalty by Hon. W. B. Oliver of the Sixth Alabama District prior to the recent Bonus Vote, is worthy the mind of Patrick Henry and the soul of Woodrow Wilson. Congressman Oliver said:

"Mr. Chairman, I have no criticism to offer of any Member who differs with me. In my association with my colleagues on this side of the aisle since last March, I have been profoundly impressed with the fact that all of us have seemed to be in agreement that our Country was moving upward out of the sloughs of depression under the leadership of a great Presiednt with a vision, courage, and mind competent to create programs that have recommended and deserved the support of Congress and of the people, and which have resulted in a working Government, not in a house divided. No one can deny that the greatest asset our Nation has today is the widespread confidence which our people have in the President, who in so many ways has shown how willing and ready he is to devote his energy —and life, if need be—to the proposition of helping the common man. Who can doubt that the real reason why he today enjoys so fully the confidence of the Country, irrespective of party lines, is because all classes of our pople have been convinced of his sincerity, his courage, and his sympathy, and recognize how earnestly he desires to be of helpful service to the common man. (Applause.)

"It is unfortunate that today, whether conscious of it or not, large numbers of my colleagues on this side of the aisle seem unwilling to lend him that hearty support which he well deserves and should have in reference to a matter on which he has declared his position in his campaign for the presidency and has repeated only recently in a letter to the Speaker of the House. Remember, we are still in the midst of a national crisis, and the one thing that may have saved us from the dire and bitter experience of other countries has been the confidence that the ordinary common citizen has in our President's matchless leadership. It is a mistake now to refuse to follow that leadership. You thereby detract from the confidence that this side of the aisle has rightly expressed in the President. This country for its task ahead requires a patriotism and loyalty undiminished and constant to our Chieftain, if under his leadership we are to succeed in bringing back a new prosperity—not a prosperity "where the rich are richer and the poor are poorer," but one which every American can share. I plead with you, my colleagues, not to do anything that might tend to minimize or impair the confidence that the American people have in him. No one can tell how far-reaching in its baneful influence would be a vote cast by you today which would be interpreted as a lack of confidence in the leadership of the President in this time of national emergency." (Applause.)

These noble and loyal words of Congressman Oliver are wise words of a great statesman and true patriot. Congressman Oliver is of that shining company of true patriots who have been unfailingly loyal to President and Country from the days of George Washington to the times of Woodrow Wilson.

In this supreme crisis of Democracy, it would be the height of folly for the people of the Sixth District to replace a Statesman of such pre-eminent ability and proven usefulness by any other man. "Alabama needs him, the South needs him, and the Nation needs him." Congresman Oliver has no peer. He is Alabama's most useful, able, and distinguished Member of Congress, now honored by all the Nation as a superb statesman and patriot. His long and faithful services should now again be honored and rewarded by re-election by a magnificent majority on May 1st. As well retire to private life President Roosevelt himself! Congressman Oliver and President Roosevelt are statesmen of like minds and principles. It would be an irrepairable loss to the President and to the Democratic Party to lose the services of Congressman Oliver in the House of Representatives at this time, or at any time. He should die in office, full of years and rich in honors, as Senator John Tyler Morgan. No true Alabamian, no patriotic American will vote against Congressman Oliver in the 1934 elections.

"Alabama needs him, the South needs him, and the Nation needs him to continue the great service he has been rendering in Washington."

So IT SEEMS

By Victor Norris

Four of our best law enforcement officers left for Birmingham last Monday to do special police duty during the mine strike in the vicinity of the Magic City. We don't know just how much of the trouble up there can be attributed directly to the influence of intoxicating drinks, but officers, Deputies Lewis Gillespie, Ellis Ellison, and former Deputies Harvey Foshee and George Murrah, all are noted prohibition officers. The only trouble, we fear the strain may prove a bit too much for the boys and they may have to succumb to a nip occassionally to sort of steady the nerves.

It is to be hoped that Sheriff Gillespie has taken precaution to arrange to have the boys all back in Chilton County by May 1. If some of the political predictions that are being forecast should happen to become realities, the turmoil that will be evident in Chilton County will make that little disturbance sink into insignificance.

J. Mell Martin has been getting some prices on a few new ambulances, April 30th. delivery. Liquor, too, should advance somewhat in price about that date. Winning candidates and their friends will want to drink to victory, and that greater number of disappointed office seekers will need a few quarts to drown their sorrows. Either way, it'll be, "Let's have a shot."

This idea of charging a bootlegger with evasion of the Federal tax laws when he is apprehended with a stock of illicit liquors is likely to do more for the cause of prohibition than any prohibition law on the statutes. Not a very large profit can be figured, even on paper, after paying a two dollar per gallon liquor tax, when the product is being quoted by leading moonshiners at less than three dollars per gallon.

The Selma Times-Journal makes the following observation in regard to mudslinging:

"There is a very curious misconception prevalent regarding what constitutes 'mud-slinging' in a political campaign. If the truth is not perverted and candidate's record is not misrepresented, it is not mud-slinging. A candidate's record is public property and may be exposed and denounced to the limit, and such criticism is always in order, provided the facts are not twisted or misstated. It is also in order to draw reasonable deductions from the facts. Truth-telling is not mud slinging."

There is absolutely no reason why if a candidate has deceived those who elected him to a previous term, or if he is known to be unworthy of a trust, that he should not be denounced. But always heretofore, the truth has been handled in a rather loose manner in political campaign and the public is getting just a bit fed up with so much discussion of the other fellow's shortcomings. We still believe that a candidate should be required by law to give proof of the truth of all accusations he makes against another person, regardless of whether or not that person is an opponent. There's just enough credit given to political charges to get the voters muddled to the extent that it is almost impossible for them to vote intelligently.

There is entirely too much unfounded gossip in every-day life, without licensing political candidates to a free privilege of destroying reputations for a few paltry votes. The public has a right to know the truth—but every precaution should be taken to be assured that they get only the truth.

SPECIAL TERM CIRCUIT COURT TO MEET HERE

Judge Carr Of Anniston Will Preside At Special Two-Weeks Session

In an effort to clear one of the most congested criminal dockets in any rural county in Alabama, a special two-weeks term of circuit court will be convened in Chilton County Monday, May 7, when more than sixty felony and jail cases will be scheduled for hearing, according to information from the office of J. Z. Mims, circuit court clerk.

Because of the indisposition of Judge Tate, who has been in failing health for some months, Chief Justice John C. Anderson of the Alabama Supreme Court, has appointed Judge R. B. Carr, of Anniston, to preside at the special session, it was stated.

Chilton County's criminal docket has gradually grown more congested since the storm in 1932 caused the forced adjournment of a spring session. Too, because of illness during recent months, Judge Tate has been handicapped in clearing the docket without injury to his health. Physicians recently advised him to withdraw from the race for re-election because his health, they said, would not stand a streneous campaign.

The following cases are scheduled

FRIDAY ENDS 7-MONTHS TERM ELEM. SCHOOLS

Boys And Girls Anxious To Bid Goodbye To Books For Vacation

Friday will be a red letter day in the lives of several hundred boys and girls in Chilton County. This date will mark the inauguration of many things. The old swimming hole must be cleaned out and made ready for the hot summer days that will soon be here; asearch must be made to find where the fish are biting best this season; bird traps must be built—and not the least exciting feature that Friday will bring about—lessons will be over for five long blissful months. School wil lbe out.

Supt. Luther E. Little announced Monday that all elementary schools in the county, excepting those that have lost time because of measles, will be closd Friday, ending a seven months term. High schools in the county will continue for the regular nine-months term, ending May 20, he stated.

Several extra workers were busy this week in his office making preparations for the official State examinations to be given grammar schools graduates. These examinations were expected to be given not later than Friday, he said, however, it is understood to be left to the discretion of the teachers.

Pete Jarman Will Speak Here Soon

Pete B. Jarman, candidate for Congress from the Sixth Congressional District, is scheduled to deliver several speeches to the voters of Chilton county this week in behalf of his candidacy, according to local supporters.

Beginning five addresses, Mr. Jarman will speak Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Verbena. Other schedules in the county are: Maplesville, 7:30 p.m.; Saturday, 10:30 a.m. at the courthouse in Clanton; Saturday 2:30 p.m. at Jemison; and Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock at Isabella school house.

Jemison Girls Win In Interstate H.S. Contest

Four girls, students in the economics department of the Jemison High School were paid high homage recently when they were awarded honors in a contest at the interstate high school meet held in Montevallo.

Miss Gladys Cobb and Miss Josephine Adams were awarded first place in group B for the entire State in meal planning and preparation; Miss Frances Killingsworth was awarded honors for afternoon dress planning, and Miss Mildred Caldwell rated high place in school dress planning.

A Correction

The News regrets that through error in ad carried in last week's issue, "Paid political advertising by the Chilton County McCord Campaign Committee" was not printed at bottom of ad captioned "Elmore County for McCord." This was paid political advertising and should have been so marked. The News regrets this error.

Mrs. Joe Mullins, who has been visiting Mrs. J. C. Jones, has returned to her home in Birmingham. Mrs. Jake Shephard accompanied Mrs. Mullins home.

Have You Been Voting Your Full Rights As A Citizen Of Alabama?

(AN EDITORIAL)

This week the News is giving its readers an idea of what the Democratic ticket of Alabama and Chilton County will contain for the Primary election to be held May 1st, which is only a short time off. On this ticket will be found many State offices, from the Governor down, that are to be filled and too much stress cannot be placed on the importance of the people of Alabama selecting the right men for these offices for the next four years, from the list they have on this ticket. The May 1st election is of extreme importance because from this election will come the nominee or the elected candidate in some instances.

Those in Chilton County who vote the Democratic ticket have the privilege of expressing their choice of a man for Governor of Alabama for the next four years, and also a Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, State Auditor, Secretary of State, a State Treasurer, a State Superintendent of Education, a Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries, Members of the Public Service Commission, Judges of the Court of Appeals, their Congressman, Circuit Judge, Solicitor, State Senator and other officers.

To some it possibly has never occurred that only by voting the Democratic ticket do they have a voice in the naming of Alabama's Governors, Senators, Congressmen and other State officers. It is a right that every voter should take advantage of as a citizen of Alabama.

Following the May 1st election and those to follow this year, Alabama will have a new Governor. The question you should ask yourself if you have not been voting the Democratic ticket is "Have I gone to the polls and cast my vote for the man I wanted for Governor? Have I exercised my right as a citizen of my State?"

All these offices are important and Chilton County will have its weight when the votes are counted. Have you had a voice in the naming of your Congressman, your State Senator, those men who help make our laws? Have you expressed your choice of your Circuit Judge, the man who will preside over the Circuit Court of this county?

Voting the Democratic ticket has many advantages, and your vote will count for your candidate. The Democratic ticket also offers a splendid group of candidates who seek to fill county offices. It has been several years since this ticket offered the voters of this county such a large number of candidates to select from. Outstanding citizens of our county are offering themselves as candidates and asking the voters of this county to place them in our offices, promising a square deal and a new deal.

Those citizens of Chilton County who have not heretofore voted the Democratic ticket will do well to seriously consider this now. This is a most important election year. Conditions are changing fast, a new day is dawning, the future looms brighter and the people of Chilton County and Alabama should see that men are placed in these important offices who are capable of meeting these changing conditions and who are determined to see that the future will bring what it should.

Year after year many of our leaders have passed to the Great Beyond, men who have fought the battles of democracy to make this country safe for the people and the younger generations and future leaders, are giving way to younger citizens who must take their places. Chilton County is no exception. It has young men and women who must soon take their places as leaders, replacing those who have served their time and departed. And with the entire country quietly settling down and on the road to Prosperity under Democratic leadership which has absorbed all opposition with a very few small, faintly existing exceptions, it is nothing less than fair and just to our younger generations, and future leaders, that they be taught to follow that leadership and example which is bringing out the best in every man, and opening up new fields for greater accomplishment not only for older citizens but for those young boys and girls who will some day take our places. Truly, the Democratic ticket offers the people of Chilton County many advantages not to be found elsewhere. If you have not been voting the Democratic ticket, then give this some thought. It is most important.

This newspaper invites all who have recently become of voting age to join the Democratic Party, vote in the coming primaries, and lend support to that gigantic Democratic Recovery Program, under which a "new deal" is promised this Nation. And to those voters who heretofore have voted the Republican ticket, and who wish to have a voice in State and National Government, we extend a hearty welcome and invite them to participate in the coming Democratic primaries.

We believe this invitation will meet with the endorsement of the Democratic Executive committees of Chilton County and the State of Alabama.

OLIVER TO SPEAK IN COUNTY SOON

SCHEDULES TO TAKE IN SIX PLACES HERE

Expresses Wish To Meet As Many People As Possible During His Visit

Congressman W. B. Oliver will fill a schedule of six addresses in Chilton County next week in behalf of his candidacy for re-election, according to information received by the News.

The veteran representative of the Sixth District will deliver three speeches each day, Monday and Tuesday, April 23 and 24, it has been announced.

Beginning at Verbena, where he will speak Monday morning at 10 o'clock, he will visit all sections of the county in the two-days schedule; speaking at Thorsby Monday at 3 p.m. and Maplesville at 7:30 p.m.; Tuesday, Isabella at 10 a.m., Enterprise, 3 p.m., and the court house in Clanton at 7:30 p.m.

During this visit to the county, Mr. Oliver hopes to see in person as many voters as is possible and urges everyone interested in the affairs of National Government to come to hear his speeches.

The veteran statesman was scheduled to deliver several speeches in Chilton County last week, but because of the death of a relative in Tuscaloosa was prevented from filling a previously announced schedule. He requested the News to express his regrets at not being able to see his many friends in the county at that time.

Representative Oliver has shown himself to be an asset to the recovery program, lending wholehearted support to every phase of the President's vast program to bring this country back to business normalcy. Learned statesmen and others versed in National affairs, not only in his district, but throughout the Nation, declare that it would be nothing short of tragedy for this staunch aide of President Roosevelt not to be returned to Washington to continue his valuable services to the Sixth Congressional District, and to the entire Nation.

Tiffin-Klinner Pleased With Adverts'g Results

Mr. J. B. Tiffin, of the Tiffin-Klinner Furniture Co., of Clanton is a strong believer in advertising. People of this section have grown accustomed to looking for his ads. in the county papers, because they know he offers real bargains.

During recent weeks this popular store has exceeded its usual advertising space for this season of the year, and Mr. Tiffin stated to a representative of the News that he is more than pleased with the results. He has been stressing bargains of Refrigerators, oil stoves and ranges. That advertising really pays seems well proven by the fact that far more than the usual number of these items have been sold recently, Mr. Tiffin continued.

It was also learned that in the near future there will be featured by this store the Nationally Advertised Sellers Kitchen Cabinets, and also bargains in oil stoves. The public is cordially invited to be on the look-out for this big event.

TWO INJURED IN WEEK END AUTO MISHAPS

John Arant Suffers Broken Right Hip; Wisconsin Woman Injured

Two persons were injured in automobile mishaps in this section during the past week end. They were: John Arant, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Arant, of Wadsworth, who suffered a broken right hip Saturday night when a truck on which he was riding left the road and ran into a ditch near Wadsworth, and Mrs. Otto Jenson, of Kenasha, Wisconsin, who was injured Sunday when the car in which she and several other persons were enroute to Mobile left the road near Thorsby. Both patients are being treated at the Central Alabama hospital.

Young Arant was injured when the truck on which a crowd was enroute to a dance left the road and ran into a ditch. The driver of the machine declared that the accident was caused by the truck being overloaded and when it hit a bump in the road, the fenders struck the wheels causing him to lose control of it. Arant was the only occupant of the machine injured. He was taken to the hospital by a Martin & Sons ambulance.

Mrs. Jenson suffered a slight concussion of the brain and severe cuts about the head. She was accomanied by a nephew and his wife. Mrs. Jen- was taken to the hospital by passing motorists. The other occupants of the car were uninjured.

Col. Graves Will Not Speak In Chilton Co.

Information has been received by the News that Col. Bibb Garves will not be able to fill a speaking schedule, which was being planned, in Chilton County bfore the May 1st. primary.

An X-Ray exmination made of the former governor Monday revealed that he suffered two broken ribs in an automobile accident just north of Clanton several weeks ago and physicians advised him to cancel all speaking engagements for the next few weeks, it is understood.

It is planned by local supporters of the Graves candidacy, it is understood, to have speakers in Chilton County in behalf of Colonel Graves' candidacy before the May 1st. primary, and it is hoped that the former governor will be able to visit this county personally before the June primary, it was explained.

Scores Hear Patrick Speak For McCord

Scores of McCord supporters of the Fairview community were entertained by the inimitable Luther Patrick, of Birmingham, Saturday evening, when he spoke in behalf of the Montgomery Jurist's candidacy.

Declaring that he supported Bibb Graves in his race for governor before, the Birmingham attorney and radio entertainer in his characteristic humorous manner, averred that he is supporting Judge McCord in this campaign in an effort to atone for the errors committed eight years ago.

The speaker was introduced by C. L. Pipes, young Clanton attorney and strong supporter of McCord, who declared that all the seats in the school building were taken and several persons were standing.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Welsh and son of Montgomery are occupying an apartment with Mrs. Glennie Evans. Mr. Welsh is connected with the cotton program in Chilton County.

Gets Promotion By Birmingham Firm

TOM FRANK TEEL

Tom Frank Teel, one of Clanton's most popular young men, is now connected with the Jake H. Wilensky Leather Company, of Birmingham, in the capacity of salesman. Mr. Teel began work with the firm less than a month ago and was promoted to a place on the selling staff this week, and will travel through Mississippi, north Alabama, and a part of Georgia, it is understood.

Young Teel is a native fo Chilton County and a graduate of the Chilton County High School, where his scholastic record was outstanding. He is especially well known over the county because of his black-face ministrel performances.

After leaving school, he was manager for several months of the Clanton store for the Nettles Grocery Company. Later he was transferred to Montgomery. He was also connected for sometime with the James Sign Shop in Clanton; and for the past two years has been employed by the Alabama Harness and Shoe Shop, one of Clanton's popular business firms.

The News joins with his many friends in this section in wishing him success in his new undertaking.

WORLD WAR VETS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL FOR TREATMENT, 16

Two World War veterans, Mancie Jones and Edgar Baker, both of Clanton, were taken by a Martin & Sons ambulance Monday to the Veterans Hospital in Tuscaloosa, where they will undergo medical treatment.

Out of the Darkness A --- Touch

Helen Keller is now a famous personage. The world has recognized her ability. It has also paid tribute to noble courage that developed her talents in spite of handicaps which would overwhelm the average man or woman.

But there was a time when Helen Keller walked the depths of despair. Walking alone in utter silence, blinded forever to beauties of sunsets and flowers; history has recorded few more forlorn pictures than this blind and deaf girl. Then out of this silent darkness there came — not a voice, for she couldn't hear it; not a sunshiny smile, for she couldn't see it—but a touch. And what a magic touch it proved to be. The kindly fingers of Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy showed the world and explained it to Helen Keller. They made possible appreciation of sounds that were not heard and sights that were not seen. We have wondered sometimes why this teacher was so patient and so constant. It certainly was not for monetary reward. Pity doesn't last through the years. Without a doubt there sprang up between these two a deeper bond—love and understanding.

Now, we learn, Mrs. Macy is almost blind. Helen Keller is teaching her the Braille reading system. We can imagine what a patient teacher she is. As Mrs. Macy's fingers move awkwardly along unaccustomed paths we think that her heart must be comforted and her misfortune minimized as she remembers that bread cast upon the waters of human service does often return, even though sometimes along routes we little expected.

Small Town Industry

Many students of the trend of industry believe that as a result of ever-encreasing congestion in the great centers of population, the next few years will witness an increasing movement of factories to less crowded sections.

This movement is, in fact, already going on, and many large manufacturing plants are now located in comparatively small towns. As a complement of this, it is also believed that farmers will gardually come to live more and more in organized communities, when good roads shall make it possible to go to and from their farms with greater facility.

Under such a combination of conditions, agriculture and industry would be brought into closer contact, to the benefit of both. In fact, as has been suggested, with the growing use of machinery and electricity on the farm, less labor will be required, and a part of the farmer's time may be employed in industrial pursuits.

Something of this sort may be the ultimate solution of the farmer's problems, through increasing his earning capacity and consequently his standard of living.

Knowing And Doing

It is mighty fine to know a lot, but it is even better to be able to do things. Many persons who have at their command a considerable assortment of information are unable to put it to very much practical use.

This was neatly illustrated in a sort of "confession" article by a teacher, in the Journal of the National Educational Association. She said:

"I can solve a quadratic equation, but I cannot keep my bank account straight.

"I can name the Kings of England since the War of Roses, but I do not know the qualifications of the candidates in the coming election.

"I know the economic theories of Malthus and Adam Smith, but I cannot live within my income.

"I can explain the principles of hydraulics, but I cannot fix a leak in the kitchen faucet.

"I have studied the psychology of James and Titchener, but I cannot control my temper.

"I can conjugate Latin verbs, but I cannot write legibly."

While this picture may be somewhat overdrawn, it serves to illustrate the futility of much that passes for education, when its acquisition is not accompanied by training which leads to its useful employment in every day life.

"A Thing Of Beauty Is A Joy Forever."

This immortal line from the pen of little John Keats was true centuries ago when he left it a heritage to beauty lovers who would follow. It was true long before the diminutive poet captured the thought—it is equally true today.

Not many people but worship at the shrine of Beauty. Beauty of physical form; beauty of character; beauty of thought; beauty of expression—all these awaken admiration and devotion. How often a touch of beauty lifts the sordiness that is apt to creep into the hum-drum daily existence. Appreciation of beauty is perhaps one of the greatest heritages that men and women can possess. Beauty has a tendency to purify.

That season is here when the whole universe breaks forth in one array of beauty. Much can be done to perpetuate and accentuate this great heritage of mankind.

For little cost, at this season of the year, flowers can be planted—often transforming a mere cottage into a thing of beauty. There's a restfulness about the fragrance of flowers after a long day's work that lends much to the mellowing of character.

Still rings true, "A thing of Beauty is a Joy forever."

A good husband is one who loves and fears his wife.

Teddy, Jr., And His Shirt

The announcement of Teddy Roosevelt, Jr., that he is "ready to take his shirt off" in the effort to recapture the congress in behalf of the Republican party, is thought-prevoking as well as informative.

In the first place, one learns that Teddy, Junior, has a shirt, which fact serves to recall that millions of persons were not so fortunate when the Republicans were in charge of the government a few years ago.

Those who didn't lose their shirts in Wall Street following the wild and sensless boom that had been so vigorously sponsored in administrative circles, suffered such a loss when industry became palsied, unemployment grew to record proportions and conditions generally were at the lowest ebb ever seen in this nation.

Teddy, Junior, as a matter of course, did not feel this pinch of circumstance for the simple reason that he was occupying a federal job where the pay checks came regularly and the menace of want was not present.

However, he will discover, as he goes about sacrificing his shirt to the cause of the G. O. P., that a good many persons who were not on any payroll did feel the pinch and will be disposed to remember it even though remembrance may cost the spellbinder his shirt.—Tuscaloosa News.

Vanity Breeds Suckers

Some time ago a score or more of Washington's social aspirants were induced to pay $100 each in order to be included in a "blue book" to contain the names of the capital's elite. For $200 additional the photograph of the subscriber was also to be inserted in the magic volume.

The promoter of this scheme for glorifying the socially ambitious was 65-year-old Joseph Rheinstrom, who lived in style at a leading hotel and called on his prospective customers in a luxurious limousine after making appointments by telephone.

Police investigated his activities, found that he had no connection with any social register, and put him in jail, charged with fraud. His dupes are naturally much embarrassed and are trying to keep their part of the affair quiet.

This is another illustration of the ease with which swindlers trap their victims through appeals to that vanity described by Browning as "an itch for the praise of fools."

Your Children_And The Future

The birth of every child is accompanied by happy and confident plannning for its future. Parents study every detail of raising, of enviroment, of education.

And education stands out most important of all. The world of today is intensely competitive—both for business and individuals. The place for the untrained and unskilled worker grows steadily smaller. This is the age of the specialist and the expert, whose education has prepared him to do one thing well.

The actual cash value of education was computed some years ago in a thorough-going survey. It was found that the average untrained boy goes to work at the age of14. He reaches his maximum income of about $1,700 at the age of 40. By the time he is sixty he has earned $64,000.

The average high school graduate reaches a maximum income of $2,800 at 50. His total earnings, at sixty, are $88,000.

The average college graduate is earning $6,000 to $8,000 a year at 60. His total earnings are $160,000 to $200,000—three times that of the untrained worker.

Cooperation Must Be complete

"A cooperative succeeds," says a publication of the Washington Cooperative Egg and Poultry Association, "when members can talk as intelligently about the plan and purpose of their organization as they can about the productive operations of their own farms."

That neatly phrases a fundamental truth. The farmer who thinks he is doing enough when he joins a cooperative and pays his dues, is grievously in error. There must be cooperation all along the line, from the officers and employes of the co-op to every producer. There must be unswerving loyalty, interest and support.

The cooperatives which have made progress during the last few trying years are those whose members have been most enthusiastic, and have been undeterred by prejudiced criticism and attempts to destroy the plans and work of the organization. They are those whose members have worked hardest in enlisting new members. In brief, they are the cooperatives whose members have a vision of the future, and work patiently to bring it to realization.

There can be no half-way measures about cooperation. It must go all the way or fail. That's something for farmers to keep in their minds.

Tax Money Is Hard-Earned Money

The money that we pay in as taxes for the support of our government is just as hard to earn as the money we spend for ourselves. It should follow then that we demand of our public officials that they do not waste the money that we pay in as taxes. Just because we pay out a dollar for taxes is no reason for us to feel that it is money lost. It should be money placed into service to work for us, and we can have it so if we will.

We can elect to public office to spend our money only those men whom we know can and will get one hundred cents worth of material or service for every dollar they spend. The right kind of county official will always do that for he will realize that he is spending the people's money, not his own, and that he has no right to waste it. We ought to keep careful check on the way in which our money is spent. We ourselves have no right to be indifferent to even the possibility that county officials are wasting the people's money.—Shelby County Reporter.

It is essential that legislation should be passed to give the railroads a better break in meeting competition. Such a law is in the making now, and will probably appear during this Congress. But the most encouraging of all railroad factors is the constant vision and progressiveness of railroad managements themselves.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

A man stood beside a table on the edge of the sidewalk and a crowd was gathered about him. I stopped long enough to see what he was doing. On the table there were many boxes of cigarettes and he was giving away and selling to all who would try his new brand. A little boy about the age of seven reached his hand into the box for one of the white tubes of death, and the man slapped his hand and told him that he was too young to use cigarettes. The lad was only following the example of older boys and men, and yet he was spoken to like he had been a dog. If a cigarette will injure a boy, it will also injure a man. The policy of the man handling the new brand of cigarets was to wait until they grow up to kill them.

I entered a room at the Hospital to visit a sick patient. A young looking woman had preceded me into the room and was sitting in a chair talking to the patient and smoking a cigarette. When I appeared around the door facing, she literally snatched the cigarette from between her lips and buried her hand holding the burning tube under her arm. I was sure that she was going to set herself on fire, but there were no flames in sight other than the flames of her embarrassment. The cigarette did not burn her while I was in the room, or else she had the courage of the Spartan boy who allowed the stolen fox to eat out his vitals rather than betray his guilt. Why is it that young women will hide out the fact that they smoke? We all know why. It is because they know that they are doing themselves and society a wrong. They know that they are poisioning the unborn babes and digging the graves of innocent children. If some good person should find me doing that kind of work I guess I would try to hide it out also.

I met a man on the road in search of a lost bundle. It had fallen from his car. I asked him about the size of the bundle and his reply was this: "It was a good sized bundle, but not so large as I am." The man was in search of something that was smaller than himself. I looked the man over and from his general actions I had to conclude that he though himself the biggest thing in the world. Listen to me—when a man has an opinion of himself that he is the biggest thing in the world he may search all of his life for things smaller than himself and not find them, but it is no trouble for other folks to see him as the smallest thing in existance. We should learn the art of hunting for things that are bigger than we are. Blessed is the man who is not puffed up over himself.

We were out hunting on the farm and during the search for game we lost our way. about that time the dogs announced that they had something up a tree not far away. We caught the coon and then tried to locate our bearings so that we could find our way out of the woods. It was dark and no direction seemed the way home. We fought our way through the tangled brush and finally came to a road that we recognized, but we were not agreed as to which end we should take. A bright idea struck us and we decided to put our torches close to the ground and see which direction our mules had traveled the evening before. We knew that those mule tracks were going home. There was no further debate. We knew the way home. Our torch was brought low and the truth of the way was revealed. When we are in doubt it pays to bring the light of truth close to our pathway that we may know how to find the way home.

Two little boys located a Yellow Jacket nest near the house. They went to their father and begged the privilege of burning out the nest. The father warned them of the danger into which they were going, but they were quick to inform their dad that they could manage the jackets. No long after the father heard screams of pain and calls for help. He knew what had taken place. The boys had stirred up more than they could handle. May I not say that the wets in our country were just like those two unruly boys. With pride they said, "We can manage the whiskey business." Already they have the jacket nest stirred up and they are screaming with pain and calling for the good people to come and help them. I fear that I am just mean enough to let the jackets sting them awhile before helping.

IN MEMORY OF JOE W. HOWELL

You have left us father, dear,
Why? Because God wanted you there
But, oh, what dreariness is left us here,
Just aching hearts and a vacant chair.
An yet how sweet it is to know,
That you are in His loving care,
And when shall come our time to go,
What joy to know you'll meet us there
Your life grew brighter and brighter,
Like the guiding star,
For the love in you hear reached out,
To your dear ones far and near.
To know you was to love you,
We worshiped at your shrine,
Until an Angel came one April evening
Just as the sun went down,
And carried you to a brighter clime.
Tho your cheerful smile we cannot see,
Your loving presence from us is gone,
What an inspiration your life will be,
As the memory of you lives on and on,
So sleep on sweet father and friend,
Rest, til the dawn is come,
Tho our way seems dark and without end
But as ever, His will be done.
—A friend, J. H. Stange and family.

ENDORSES CHARLIE COX FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Editor, Chilton County News:

Please permit me to express through your columns my approval of the candidacy of Mr. C. B. Cox for Representative in the Legislature.

The writer has known Charlie Cox for a number of years and has always found him to be an upright and an honorable citizen, true to his friends and a true blue Democrat, one who has labored in season and out for its success. His thorough knowledge of affairs and his personal contact with a large number of leading business men of Alabama will stand him in good stead to get results in the Legislature.

While the writer is not a legal resident of Chilton County. I still have an abiding interest in its welfare and it gives me pleasure to recommend Mr. Cox to the voters of the county as a man worthy in all respects to fill the office he seeks.

Respectfully,

CLYDE J. DAVIS,
108 Church St., Montgomery, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Grantham of Troy, Ala. spent last Sunday in Clanton with Mr. and Mrs. Barney Burnette. Mr. Grantham is editor of The Troy Messenger. They weer accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bryan and little Miss Peggy Bryan.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for member of the State Legislature from Chilton County, Ala., subject to the action of the Democratic Primary of May 1, 1934.

I will greatly appreciate your vote and support.

C. B. COX

(Pd. Pol. Adv. by C. B. Cox, Clanton, Ala.)

FOR CONGRESS

I wish to represent YOU in Congress from the Sixth Congressional District, composed of Bibb, Chilton, Greene, Hale, Perry, Shelby, Sumter and Tuscaloosa counties. I pledge my best efforts to serve my district, my party and my nation well. I want your vote and influence. THANK YOU.

PETE B. JARMAN, JR.

Use Spring Greens For Better Health

Auburn, Ala.—Use of spring greens, instead of the old remedy of sulphur and molasses, to furnish needed minerals and vitamins in the diet is advocated by Miss Helen Kennedy, extension nutritionist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

She said that sulphur does not contain the mineral salts needed in the diet and that molasses contains very little of them but that both the minerals and vitamins needed are contained in dandelion greens, beet tops, mustard, spinach, cabbage, and in fact all greens.

"At first it was for their minerals, calcium and iron especially, that greens were considered most valuable," she said. "Now it is for their minerals and also for their vitamins that they are so highly recommended."

These green foods supply most of vitamin A for health and growth, vitamin C to prevent scurvy, but also vitamin B for the nerves and for growth, and vitamin G. which prevents pellegra.

"Since vitamins, especially B and C, are easily destroyed in cooking, raw vegetables should be eaten each day," she said. "This is where raw salads come in—raw cabbage and all salad greens, including lettuce, romaine, endive, water cres, celery and parsley, are good. The green leaves of these are richer in vitamin than the bleached leave. In a good home garden it is possible to have these the year around.

Ye Editor Goes A Visiting

By Vernie Teel

Newspaper work is rather exacting, and the man who follows it seldom has much opportunity to visit his friends. This, however, only made it more pleasant last Friday morning, April 13, when I found time for a few hours visit in Thorsby and Jemison. I have admired these two fine little towns for a number of years, but have never had the pleasure of meeting many of their inhabitants.

Of course I have known of Mr. J. M. Smith of the Thorsby Fruit & Truck Growers Association for some time, and it was a very real pleasure to meet him. Mr. Smith is a man I should have been knowing a long time ago. A most cordial welcome was extended, and after a nice chat with him I think I have a better understanding of one reason why the above mentioned association has proven so helpful to Thorsby people for almost a quarter of a century. Mr. Smith tells me that in two more years he will have rounded out twenty-five years of service in various capacities with this organization—a record of which he may justly feel proud. Mr. M. J. Sober, Mayor of Thorsby, is another man I should have been knowing a long time ago. Then there is Varney Wyatt, who operates an exceptionally nice drug store in Thorsby. A visit with him is a very pleasant experience. I have known Dr. H. G. Franklin, Thorsby's popular young physician, for some time, and he was a very busy man Friday morning. I imagine that, however, is the usual thing for him. A glad hand of welcome also awaited me at Wayside Gardens, Lloyd Howard, prop., and at Pineview Tourist Camp, just north of Thorsby.

No less pleasant was the time I spent in Jemison. A very delightful spirit of friendliness was shown me at Bratton Hardware Store, H. H. Hays, Langston Cast Store and others. These people know how to make one feel at home in their places of business. Then there is Mrs. A. C. Wells, who is very much awake to the interests of her home community, particularly in regard to schools, and a lady whom it is a pleasure to know. I didn't get to see Mr. J. A. Peterson, principal of Jemison High School, but I claim him as an old friend, having been one of his students several years ago, and he, with Mr. J. P. Montgomery, and a fine corps of assistant teachers are doing a good work there.

My time was somewhat limited, and I did not get to visit Thorsby Institute, but as I looked across the well-kept campus to the buildings of this fine school, there flashed through my mind a picture of the interest shown in this worthy institution by the late Rev. Joseph E. Each, S. E. Norton, and Carl Petersen, as well as the Rev. E. W. Butler, Miss Helen Jenkins and others who are carrying the work on at present. I think no nobler monument to citizens of Thorsby could be built than this outstanding school which is reflecting in the lives of the young people the high ideals of the older citizens of this progressive community.

Of course I didn't get to meet anywhere near all the fine people in these two fine little towns, but my visit was a very pleasant one, and I look forward to the privilege of seeing more of the citizens of Thorsby and Jemison in the near future.

New Plymouth Sedan Called Smart Model

Detroit—A DeLuxe Town Sedan, hailed as the smartest model ever offered on a plymouth chassis, was announced by the Plymouth Motor Corporation here this week.

In making the announcement, the corporation stated that the new model was developed to meet numerous dealer requests for a car of this type.

A four-door, four-window sedan, the new model is a "close-coupled car but a large car, utilizing 114-inch wheelbase. A handsome new built-in trunk is mounted on the rear as standard equipment. Upholstery and certain interior appointments are new.

The new model is presented in four colors—Black, Fisherman Blue, Palm Beach Gray and Gunmetal. It is not available without the trunk, which is part of the body.

Like other Plymouth models, the Town Sedan offers all of the basic Chrysler Motors engineering features.

OAK GROVE

The homes of Mr. and Mrs. William Satterwhite and Mrs. Pearl Vickers were completely demolished by fire the past week end. We heartily sympathize with both families becuse the loss of a home is a degenerating factor toward modern civilization.

A large crowd of the young people enjoyed a delightful evening at the home of J. C. Moody the past Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lassie Northcutt announce the arrival of a baby girl whom they have named Betty Fay.

Frank Lessley and Charles Nix spent the week end with relatives and friends in Calera.

Here's to the interest of our B. Y. P. U. We had a large attendance Sunday night. We studied and learned how God is revealed to mankind. We invite visitors to attend our weekly meetings. Next Sunday's program will be, "What Price Revenue." We hope to show the crime of liquor and the results of this strong drink. We urge that you meet with us promptly at 7:00 o'clock.

The Rev. Green of Jemison, will bring us an inspiring message following B. Y. P. U. services Sunday night, April 22. If you cannot come early for B. Y. P. U. make it your interest to be there for worship service with Bro. Green. Everyone is invited.

Misses Dorothy Deese and Virginia Price spent Sunday with Miss Virginia Glass.

We are sorry to know that Mrs. Eunice Cobb is ill. We hope for her a speedy recovery.

We wish to thank those who have contributed to the B. Y. P. U. funds for the expense of Oak Grove's delegate to the District Convention. If you have anything to give we are asking that you do so next Sunday night, because it is the last date set for this special purpose. If you want to give any funds, ask God to guide your life and make it possible whereby you can take part. Don't forget the announcement concerning Sunday night's program. Be there.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET FOR MAY PRIMARY HAS LARGE NUMBER

Many Important Places Are To Be Filled From Selected Men

COUNTY TICKET HAS FINE GROUP ON IT

Little more than a week until May 1, which will mark the dead line for the selection of scores of officials to fill important capacities in State and county government. It has been perhaps decades since the Democratic ticket offered such an unusually large selection of candidates for almost every office in the State and county.

Listed below are the names of all candidates from which officials for the next term of office are to be picked. The News is carrying this ticket with the hopes that voters of Chilton County will make a thorough study of those asking to represent the people in public office and go to the polls May 1, determined to elect men that will be assets to the continuation of the Democratic effort to restore business prosperity to this country.

THREE CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR

The voters should not be influenced by politicians in casting their vote, but study the past record and platform of the candidates and vote their own convictions.

Personally I do not know Maj. Dixon. In his platform he advocates the election of Governor and Lieut. Governor and the appointment of all other officers, also control of the counties.

Money is a big temptation. What if a man elected Governor wanted to be crooked, and no recall on th statue books. That is too much power for one individual. It pays to have someone watch the other fellow.

I have known Judge McCord for the past fifteen years. He has visited mine and my fathers home, dined at our table. I have been in his home, fished and hunted with him, attended his court, visited him in the hospital and know him as a Sunday School teacher. All last summer he told his friends that he would not run for Governor. He visited Gov. Graves at his office, home and his dining table, telling him all the while that he would not be a candidate for Governor. Governor Graves went over his ideas of his platform with Judge McCord. He betrayed Bibb Graves. At the time he was visiting Graves he did not have any idea of being a candidate, why is he a candidate now? Because the corporations paid him to run. In accepting this money did he not betray his friends? He is now going over the State knocking Graves and his supporters. Why was you visiting him so last fall Judge if he is the man you say he is? You should set a better example as a Sunday School teacher. As a man and teacher why do you slander Graves supporters calling them Hoodlums, narrow between the eyes, drooped, etc.? You are a hypocrite. No upright man would abuse the people for a privilege that their fathers and forefathers shed blood for.

If Judge McCord should happen to be elected is he going to do anything for you and your children. He betrayed Bibb Graves, slanders those that are not for him, and your vote is all that is wanted. We will pass him up as a betrayer and hypocrite and he will never be Governor of the State of Alabama.

I did not support Gov. Graves before and never knew him till he took office. I worked under his administration. He fulfilled his promises to the people. He was a friend to the common people and to education. He taxed the corporations. He was a progressive Governor. A man in overalls was heard with an attentive ear, the same as the white collars. Gov. Graves has a progressive platform. Everyone knows that he will keep his word. He has had the experience. He is a gentleman. Could we do better?

Some say that I am working for a job. I have not been offered but one and that was by a friend of Judge McCord. I thanked him for his kindness and told him I could not accept. I am for Graves for the man he is.

Letters To The Editor

ENDORSES POPWELL FOR TAX COLLECTOR

Editor, Chilton County News:

In behalf of my friend and employee, Mr. N. A. Popwell, I wish to say a few words through your paper to the voters of Chilton County. Especially to the voters who have not had the opportunity of knowing Mr. Popwell personally. It has been my pleasure to know this young man personally for the past ten years. I know him to be an honest, straightforward citizen, and his character is above reproach in every respect.

It has been my good fortune to have Mr. Popwell in my employ for the past six years. His service has always been satisfactory in every respect.

He has done work of a responsible nature while in my employ and I feel confident that he has the ability to do the work of Tax Collector in a manner which will be satisfactory to every citizen of the county.

Yours truly,
R. W. LOWE.

WANTS TO SEE BEST MEN ELECTED

Laurel Mississippi, April, 1934

Dear Editor:

I would like to have a few lines in the paper in regard to the coming election.

This is my first time to vote in Chilton County and am going to vote this through an Absentee Ballot for I am in college in Mississippi and will not be in the county for the election.

Just a word to some of the candidates of the county. I do not know very many of the candidates—only through the Chilton County News. I hope we can get our same Superintendent back, Mr. Luther E. Little, also Mr. J. Lee Smith. I am for you with my first vote of the county.

The only thing, as I said before, I know about most of the candidates in my vote count for the best men of the what I have read but I hope I can make election.

I think that every boy and girl should be a qualified voter when he or she becomes of age. I have looked forward for the time to come when I could vote. Now it's here and I hope I can make as true a citizen in the county as my father, Mr. R. L. Ousley, has been for I do believe he has made a good citizen of the State.

I hope when election day comes that the best men of the County will be elected.

Yours for a good citizen,
(Miss) Mollie Belle Ousley.

ENDORSES GRAGG FOR SENATE

Louisville, Ala., April 16, 1934.

Dear Editor and Friends:

It is high time for the voters of every community to center on a definite policy and unite for one great political purpose. This is the only way for us to reach a definite goal in the cause of good government. With this important fact in mind I wish to call your attention to Dr. V. J. Gragg, democratic candidate for the state senate from the fifteenth senatorial district.

I have known Doctor Gragg practically all my life. We have been intimately associated since our high school days in Clanton High School during the early years of the century. I have had a splendid opportunity to observe and to know thoroughly the circumstances surrounding every accomplishment of Dr. Gragg. I feel, therefore, that it is my duty to recount a few of the important facts which I know about his enviable career, and which have a direct bearing on his ability to fill the office he seeks.

Dr. Gragg is a native son of Chilton County. He was born and reared in the vicinity of Clanton, where he has lived all his life, and where by virtue of his active civic interests he has become one of the most useful citizens of that community. He has, indeed, earned the respect of active business and professional men in all parts of the state. He enjoys the confidence and friendship of everyone who knows him well.

Dr. Gragg's parents were among the pioneer settlers of the territory which is now embodied in Chilton County. The family from which our candidate descended has served the county well and with distinction as is testified to by the fact that the territory which is now Chilton County, was originally named Baker County in honor of an Uncle of Dr. Gragg's, who was a member of the state legislature at the time the territory was formed into a county.

Dr. Gragg's father was a farmer and a school teacher, and it was in an environment of hardy, frugal, and industrious forbears that the present aspirant to the state senate was born and reared. He knew no luxuries and his only wealth was his ambition and his early determination to gain an education.

At the youthful age of sixteen, Dr. Gragg, himself, began teaching in the rural schools of Chilton County. After pursuing the profession of teaching for some years, which was mixed with a generous portion of farm labor, our candidate aspired to become a physician. By his own efforts, as a teacher and farmer, he earned every dollar that was used to pay his way through high school and college.

He graduated in medicine at Tulane University at New Orleans in 1908. Two years before his graduation he passed the State Board of Medical Examiners, and was licensed as a practicing physician. He was thus enabled to practice medicine intermittently during his last two years in college and earn the money necessary for defraying his expenses while obtaining his final degree in medicine.

His practice of medicine has been confined to the county of his nativity. Perhaps the greatest contribution made by Dr. Gragg for the benefit of his fellow citizens has been through his personal services and sacrifices as a physician and surgeon. In 1921 he took the leading part in organizing and establishing the Central Alabama Hospital at Clanton. His active connection with that institution has been constant and faithful ever since. As a surgeon of exceptional ability he has performed more than two thousand major operations, half of which have been given as charity to people who were not able to pay a penny for his services.

During the storm emergency of 1932 he threw open the doors of the hospital to the injured and suffering. Together with other doctors of the county he worked day and night administering medical and surgical aid to the injured. More than 67 persons were cared for in this great emergency at the hospital. Dr. Gragg did not accept one cent for his services.

All the while Dr. Gragg has had a keen insight in education, good government, and all worthwhile civic functions. As mayor of Clanton for three terms he exemplified his interest in education. This is proven by the fact that during his tenure of office the Town of Clanton gave more money for the support of public schools than has been given during a life period before or since. At this writing he is continuing his services to the schools of Clanton as a member of the local school board.

The foregoing facts are given to acquaint the people with the important facts behind Dr. Gragg's life. He sprang from the ranks of the common people, and by his own ability and determination overcame the odds of poverty. He has made a career of inestimable value to his county, his state, and its people. The people of the fifteenth senatorial district can rely on the character and ability of Dr. Gragg. He will fulfill his pledges to his friends. On election day let us think sanely, choose with care, and build for permanence by supporting this worthy candidate with our vote and influence.

Yours for the best in government.

First Strawberries

The first strawberries of the 1934 season were brought to the Thorsby Fruit Growers Association office last Saturday. The berries were brought by Mr. Jim Higgins. Mr. Smith, the manager, states that he expects to begin shipping on or about April 25, and that from all indications now the season promises to be very good.

Crates are now being unloaded and are costing the grower slightly over 31c per crate.

Thorsby Institute News

The operetta, "Hulda of Holland", given by the members of the Helen Keller Literary Society Saturday night in the Thorsby Institute auditorium was very much enjoyed. The main characters were Peter Cats, Jack Eastburn; Jacob Hoogenbeets, C. B. Jean; Hulda, daughter of Mr. Cats, Mary Sue Portler; Katrine, Hulda's best girl friend, Ora Mae Tindal; Jerry Heyden, Hulda's lover, Phares Raybon; Jimmy Stone, Jerry best boy friend, Hal Broadhead; and Vrow Cats, mother of Hulda, Lucile Each.

Next Friday night at 7:30 the Chilton County Training School for Negroes will give a concert in the Institute auditorium. They will sing spirituals, folk songs, etc. They have sung in Clanton and are well recommended. Their principal is a graduate of Tuskegee Institute. The admisison will be ten cents for the Institute pupils and those twelve and under. For all others admission will be twenty cents. This concert is being sponsored by the Senior Class.

Friday afternoon the last period the Pushmataha and Philomathic Clubs will hold a joint meeting. These meetings are not open to the public. They are primarily to give pupils practice in speaking, and taking minor parts in programs. They drill the students in parliamentary regulations.

May fifth will be the next open meeting of the Helen Keller Literary Society. It will be a miscellaneous program. Admission will be ten cents to all not members of the Institute.

Rev. A. T. Fant, pastor of the Thorsby Lutheran church, will preach the Baccalaureate sermon May 20 at the auditorium.

Rev. A. W. Dycer, D.D., pastor of the Community Congregational church, Birmingham, will give the Commencement address the morning of May 24. Dr. Dycer has recently become a Birmingham pastor and is very much admired. He is an Englishman who has preached in Canada and the United States.

DR. GRAGG'S MESSAGE TO VOTERS

Being a busy man, I have not had the pleasure of calling on very many of the thousands of voters, and shaking hands and telling them "howdy" and asking personally for their votes. But, after all, I think giving my views in "black and white" and my PROMISE in like manner is worth more to the wise voter than a hand shake or an idle joke. This matter is no joke, it is a SERIOUS question

1st. I stand for economical government, less general expenses, fewer overpaid officials, and certainly less expensive convict department.

2nd. Schools free, BOTH TUITION AND INCIDENTAL FEES. Not less than seven months for any school, and nine months where possible to support school for that length of time. Teachers pay to be as prompt as that of the governor or any other state official. No DIVERSION of school funds whatever.

3rd. Cheaper automobile license, and no increase in taxation.

4th. My vote shall be cast in the Senate not for courtesy, ~~but for the welfare~~ of the people at large, and for the sake of RIGHT AND JUSTICE TO ALL.

If this is what you want, I am now asking every voter to support me with his or her vote and influence, with the solemn promise that I will carry out this declaration to the best of my ability.

Yours sincerely,

V. J. GRAGG.

Judge McCord, A Friend to the Common School

ALABAMA TEACHERS ARE BEHIND McCORD FOR GOVERNOR

HE STANDS FOR THE FOLLOWING:

1. The first duty of the State is to see that its future citizens have the opportunity of an Education.
2. The doors of Educational Opportunity must be kept open to the boys and girls of Alabama.
3. We have no right to unload upon the youth of today the burden of our adversity.
4. The school children of Alabama must receive books at minimum cost.
5. The very future of the State depends upon an educated and enlightened citizenship.
6. Education is an essential, primary function of the State and as necessary to the maintenance of the state as any other function of the State Government.
7. Free Schools with minimum terms of standard length of not less than seven months must be maintained.
8. All the Higher Educational Institutions must also be maintained.
9. Education must have its pro rata share of the revenue of the State.
10. There must be no increase in taxation unless and until after every possible economy increased taxation becomes absolutely necessary in order to save the Schools.
11. If I were a demagogue I would say to you that I would run the schools but lower your taxes. I cannot, however, conscientiously say this.
12. The teachers are officers of the State and must be paid like and when other officers of the State are paid.
13. The teachers must no longer be discriminated against, and further if a teacher is needed he or she must be paid a living wage; the wage must be commensurate with the service rendered.
14. When I am Governor I will find the money to keep the public schools going and pay the teachers their salaries when due.
15. Our Schools must be preserved and maintained.

UPON THESE PRINCIPLES I STAND AND WILL STAND WHEN I AM GOVERNOR

JUDGE JIM RICE DECRIES EFFORT TO PUNISH OLIVER

Letter Says Opposition Based On Congressman's Support Of Roosevelt, Offers Challenge To Voters

"As I see it, Mr. Oliver's present opposition is a challenge to every voter in our district," writes Judge James Rice, member of the Alabama Court of Appeals, in a personal letter to Bruce Shelton, publisher of The Tuscaloosa News. Judge Rice, a former circuit Solicitor of Tuscaloosa County and known to citizens throughout the Sixth Congressional District, declared that he could not resist the impulse to write Mr. Shelton in commendation of the service that had been rendered the Sixth District by an article in The News of Sunday, March18, recounting Mr. Oliver's work in Congress.

The letter from Judge Rice, printed with his special permission, follows:

Mr. Bruce Shelton, Publisher,
Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

Dear Bruce:

The impulse is too strong. I must write you a note to commend you for the very valuable service you have rendered the people of the Sixth Congressional District by bringing to their attention, in your Sunday's paper, the fine record that has been made through the years by our distinguished congressman, Honorable W. B. Oliver. This record should be a source of pride to all of us.

Surely, if we but stop to reflect a moment, there are none of us but who would say that the best friend Alabama has had in the White House in Washington in this generation, or in any generation, that I recall—has been Franklin D. Roosevelt!

Can it be possible that there are those in our district—true Alabamians—not actuated by selfishness—who would stand by, as it were, and see Mr. Oliver punished for his unswerving loyalty to tkis same Franklin D. Roosevelt? I cannnot believe it.

But make no mistake about it. The present opposition to Mr. Oliver, aside from the, as you say, inconsequential element of the growing personal ambition of some aspirng individual—is rooted in the desire to punish him because—and only because, he stood on a particular matter squarely, bravely, and unapologetically, for the very measures our beloved and beneficient (don't forget that!) President Franklin D. Roosevelt recommended!

There is no sort of doubt that Mr. Oliver enjoys the respect of the president and the real leaders of Democracy in Washington. Anyone can verify for himself that statement by only slight investigation. He has played, and is playing, a very substantial part in the inauguration and furtherance of the policies of the New Deal! By virtue of his ideas—his proven ideas—of government, similar in all respects to those of the president himself, and by virtue of the seniority rule, which, as you pointed out, everybody knows is invoked in congress, Mr. Oliver's value to us at present is far more than would be the value of a Webster, a Clay, or a Calhoun, had we one to send up there!

W. B. OLIVER

They all have to "wait a while" before they can be felt; "seniority" deserves that!

It's true that I am personally very fond of Mr. Oliver, but if I positively disliked him; I would feel in the present situation, that I was untrue to my protestations of an admiration for a representative form of government, should I either through apathy or antipathy, fail to contribute my vote and my bit of influence toward upholding the hands of a man with the courage to vote his conviction—as it happens, coincident with those of our president!

As I see it, Mr. Oliver's present opposition is a challenge to every voter in our district!

Do we want a statesman to represent us? Or must our representative in "self preservation" kowtow to the politically ambitious leaders of the best organized group?"

Beyond a doubt, we will make an answer to these questions of which our children will not be ashamed on May 1.

Cordially your friend,

JIM RICE.

"Now is the time for the citizens of Tuscaloosa County and the Sixth District, knowing the record of 'Buck' Oliver as a servant of our district and nation, to rally to his support at home while he stands as our representative on the firing line at Washington.

"Today for the first time in 12 years we have a Democratic administration in Washington, already doing much for the South. Our district deserves the best possible representation, a man of experience, prestige and knowledge in capitol affairs. Such a man we have in 'Buck' Oliver."

—J. V. Lary, Tuscaloosa County, campaign manager for Mr. Oliver.

Lady Says She Took CARDUI for Cramps; Was Soon Relieved

Women who suffer as she did will be interested in the experience of Mrs. Maude Crafton, of Belleville, Ill., who writes: "For several years, I suffered from irregular trouble and cramping. There would be days when I would have to stay in bed. I would get so nervous, I was miserable. My aunt told me to try Cardui. She believed it would build me up, regulate me and help the nervous trouble. I knew after taking half a bottle of Cardui that I was better. I kept on taking Cardui and found it was doing me a world of good. I am in good health, which means a lot to me." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. . . . Price $1.

Fascinating Facts of NATURE

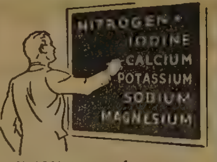
Nature created the land you farm, the seed you plant. To make land and seed produce better, she created three natural fertilizer materials—potash, phosphate, and Chilean Natural Nitrate. She stored Chilean in the ground to mature a million years until you should want it to put it back into the ground where you make your crops.

SIX YEARS BEFORE DAVY CROCKETT DIED IN THE ALAMO MASSACRE (1836) THE FIRST SHIPLOAD OF CHILEAN NATURAL NITRATE CAME INTO THE UNITED STATES THROUGH A VIRGINIA PORT (1830) . . . . . .



CHILEAN NITRATE (PERHAPS YOU CALL IT "SODA" OR "SODY") IS THE ONE AND ONLY NITRATE FERTILIZER CREATED BY NATURE. NATURE GAVE IT THOSE VITAL "IMPURITIES" IODINE, CALCIUM, POTASSIUM, SODIUM, MAGNESIUM, BORON ETC., TO INCREASE ITS VALUE TO YOUR CROPS . . . .

Chilean NATURAL NITRATE

The only nitrogen that comes from the ground.

HOLLAND TUN
TRAFFIC THROUGH THE HOLLAND TUNNEL IN NEW YORK INCREASED 1300 % IN FOUR YEARS

(1) To test the steering gear of a new bus, Lee Daniels drove it sixty miles per hour and another man shot out the front tire. Daniels did not know when the tire would be shot out, but in spite of that kept perfect control of the bus and did not go off the road. (2) The automobile industry due to the change from open to closed cars, has increased its use of plate glass to such an extent that it now uses 60 percent of the yearly output of plate glass. (3) Due to the increased number of cars on the road and to a diversion of traffic the traffic through the Holland tunnel has increased over 1,300 per cent in four years.

You ask why all the Seniors and Juniors are wearing smiles a mile long this week. Well, here is the reason why and you can't blame them either. The reason for the gay atmosphere is the annual Junior-Senior Banquet to be held tomororw night. About this time every year for the past few years the Junior Class has entertained its dignified Senior friends. Good eats, along with wholesome fun and entertainment, has always made this event one to be looked forward to. Although it is a time of play and fun, there is, as a close observer will find, beneath the spirit of gaiety a feeling of sadness which adds to the meaning of the event. Only a few weeks remain in which the cheerful and friendly faces of their Senior friends will smile upon the Juniors, So with due dignity and delightful anticipation the Junior Class will entertain the Senior Class with a banquet in the basement of the Baptist Church tomorrow night at eight o'clock.

A different and very delightful program has been planned and those who attend are promised the best time in their lives. The banquet has been appropriately entitled "The Last Roun-Up." The program will be in keeping with the title.

And the members of the faculty will be guests of the Juniors also. Yessir, the Seniors, the Juniors and the teachers will forget school for a few hours Friday night and enjoy the "Banquet of Banquets".

The members of the Chemistry class are certainly grateful to Mr. John Hollis, for one of the best talks, one of the most educational and interesting that they have heard. Mr. Hollis, who needs no introduction, discussed to the chemistry class Monday morning in the most splendid manner, the making of steel. From the time when the ore is taken from the ground to the time when the steel is made into nails, fence wire and barb wire, was covered by Mr. Hollis in his splendid lecture. With easily understood illustrations on the blackboard, Mr. Hollis explained the many phases in the making of steel. At the end of ninety minutes everyone left with a knowledge that was equal to a day spent in a steel foundry. Mr. Hollis stressed the importance of not just possessing either a practical knowledge or a technical knowledge, but the importance of possessing both. By pursuing our studies at school we can gain a technical knowledge and by applying ourselves to some job we may obtain a practical knowledge.

Mr. Hollis is a man deserving to be and capable of being a model for any young man who wishes to succeed in life. For one such as Mr. Hollis who has gained a remarkable knowledge of that which will improve one's ability to fill the duties of his position and make for him an enviable record among fellow citizens by the straight but rough road of hard work, not too high an honor can be paid.

Mr. Hollis' talk last Monday was a result of the program of the Kiwanis Club of Clanton to assist young people of Chilton County in preparing for life. Different men are speaking over the county along the lines on which they are best informed. C. C. H. S. was fortunate to have Mr. Hollis talk, and so well was his lecture enjoyed that we ask for more.

Some time soon visitors to the school will see another attractive ornament on the campus as a result of the efforts of the Senior Class. This new addition will be a beautiful sun dial with matching benches. "Beautiful", "Attractive", "Clean", these and other nice things will be what people will say about the campus of Chilton County High School. Through the efforts of our principal, Mr. Warr, and the Senior classes of the past few years, the campus has been built up every year, till it is one of the most beautiful high school campuses in Alabama.

Quite a number of C. C. H. S. students motored to Montgomery on Wednesday of last week to see the Avon players in "Hamlet" and "Othello", two famous Shakespearean plays. Miss Frances Gulledge and Miss Bonnie Clyde Griffin were the members of the faculty who along with several parents, chaperoned the crowd.

A brief resume of the plays was given in chapel last Monday by Roberta Cochran, Dorothy Waite, Grace Plyler and Charles Gandy.

Just a matter of a few weeks now until the Senior play will be presented. Save your money because the Senior Class of '34 promises something entirely different in plays.

Again Chilton saved her baseball record from being marred by a defeat. This time it was close, but remember, Selma has a strong team. Last Wednesday we tied Selma 15 and 15. A remarkable game enlivened by the pitching of Bill Armstrong and batting of Joe Moore, Tel Littlejohn and others.

A game for tomorrow had not been announced at the time of this writing, but watch for signs on the sidewalk. Credit for real advertising and school spirit should be given to whoever does that sign painting.

On Tuesday of next week we play Jemison at Jemison. Come on, Chilton, keep that fine record.

Passing through the halls one's attention is drawn to the display of booklets and drawings on the bulletin boards. The booklets are products of the Junior Three civics class and are about items of recent interest such as the N. R. A. and C.W.A. Booklets on crime, Chilton County, and men in our government are shown also.

Who Am I? ? ? * * * It's getting good now. Last week it was Elizabeth Gragg. I admit I didn't mention all of her ladylike qualities that I should have. * * * I am a girl. I have brown hair. I am quiet and reserved yet well liked. Considered very beautiful. I figure in a strange "love affair". (No offense meant to either of the several concerned.) Who Am I? ? ?

It was pleasing to learn that one of our graduates, Tom Frank Teel, has accepted a fine position as a traveling representative with the Wilensky Leather Company of Birmingham.

Mrs. Yeager, prominent photographer of Montevallo, was here last Friday and pictures of the Senior Class were made. These will be grouped into one large picture and each class member will receive one of these group pictures.

"The Whispers of the Week" * * * (These articles are in no way connected with the activities at the school) * * * It is whispered that there will be a surprising entrance at the banquet tonight. We'll wait and see. * * * I bet it's great to have TWO rides at dinner. * * * It's three now since one has come home from school. It seems that that one is the Kingfish. * * * He's darn lucky. * * * No, I haven't forgotten that surprise announcement. * * * The letter "F" didn't mean anything as some thought it did. * * * These modern girls. * * * A Senior One, a Senior Two, A Senior Three; what will the outcome be? * * * I wonder if what was said about a certain Senior Two was true. If it is true—oh, well, it just couldn't be. Anyway, if it was true, what a disgusting surprise. Some hope it is true. But I don't believe that it is tho. * * * Two people by chance sitting beside each other almost caused a complete shock last Saturday night. It would have been quite a shock if it hadn't been what it was.

OUR TAXES PLAY A VITAL PART IN OPERATING STATE GOVERNMENT

NEARLY $1,000,000 or about one-half of the $2,000,000 tax bill of Alabama Power Company for 1933, went to the support of Alabama's public school system.

If all this $2,000,000 tax bill had gone into the state treasury, it would have paid one-third of the $5,939,000 expended for administering and operating the state government for the fiscal year ending September 30th, 1933. While Alabama Power Company, along with every citizen and business interest in the state, disapproves of wasteful public expenditures, it is nevertheless glad to do its part in helping to pay the necessary cost of government, to support the schools, to maintain the state judiciary system, to build and improve roads and streets, to maintain fire and police protection and all governmental functions which must be maintained if the state is to progress.

Every business enterprise should bear its fair share of taxation, including the business of electric distribution whether publicly or privately owned. Taxes lost to state, county and municipal schools, to streets and roads, and other essential governmental functions when municipal operation takes the place of private operation, must be made up by the remaining tax-paying citizens.

Cotton Options

Last week there appeared an article in this paper in reference to the cotton options. This article stated that if one had not exercised his cotton option it would be necessary to do so before May. 1st.

If you have pooled your option and drawn four cents per pound, you have exercised the option already and have no more to do with the sale of it. When the manager of the pool sells your cotton option, if it sells above ten cents you will have a balance comingto you.

NEW COMMITTEE IS SET UP FOR RURAL RELIEF

Will Set Up New Policy Of Rural Rehabilitation In Chilton County

A local Rehabilitation Committee for Chilton County was organized at a meeting Monday morning in the offices of Miss Kittye Clyde Austin, director of relief. The duty of this committee, it was explained, will be to study the individual relief cases from the records submitted by field workers and make recommendation in regard to the type of relief to be administered in the various cases.

Composing the committee are: Miss Kittye Ciyde Austin, county director of relief; J. W. Fant, county farm agent; Miss Ruth Pardue, home demonstration agent; Judge L. H. Reynolds, chairman of the child welfare board; W. A. Gulledge, representing the farmers, and H. S. Shaw, representing the business men in the county.

Miss Austin stated that it is not known just when work will get underway on the new program, but said that she expects to complete an investigation, which she is conducting, within the next ten days. The provisions of the new program have not been thoroughly explained and it is not known in detail how it will be operated in this county, she stated.

Armistead Leake, who will be in charge of the work division of the program, stated that he is resubmitting most of the incompleted CWA projects for approval by the State department and hopes to be ready to begin work as soon as the investigation has been completed and details of the operations of the program are released.

Five Candidates Visit Dem. Woman's Club

The following candidates gave brief talks at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Chilton County Woman's Democratic club at the Wilson Hotel Tuesday afternoon:

H. E. Robinson, commissioner second district; Howard Oden, commissioner second district; J. S. McNeill, circuit clerk; the Rev. A. C. Nelson, member county board of education, and Newton A. Popwell, tax collector. J. G. Johnson also spoke.

Mrs. Leon McCord Is Club's Guest Of Honor

Mrs. Leon McCord, wife of Judge McCord, was the guest of honor at the regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. P. Hayes of the Chilton County Woman's McCord for Governor club. The wife of the candidate for governor explained briefly various provisions of his platform.

The following members of the club gave brief talks, explaining why they are for Judge McCord for Governor of Alabama: Mrs. J. E. Gowan, Mrs. Clara B. Curry, Mrs. Betty Mullins, and Mrs. J. P. Hayes.

Fifty members of the club were present, representing Clanton, Jemison, Thorsby, and Cooper. A tabulated report, taken from a recent confidential ballot of the State, was rendered, which gave Judge McCord above forty per cent of the votes in the May 1st. primary.

The New Deal Finds Firm Ally In Oliver

In "Buck" Oliver of Alabama, President Roosevelt has found a staunch supporter, a militant battler and a veteran legislator whose services in the House of Representatives have played an important part in carrying through the policies of the New Deal.

As ranking Democrat on the all-powerful Appropriations Committee and chairman of its most important subcommittee, Mr. Oliver has often been called into conference with the president both before and after the latter entered the White House.

Just seven days after the inauguration of Roosevelt on March 4, 1933, Mr. Oliver gave his first important ballot in support of the New Deal when he voted for the Economy Act, and he has remained constantly with the administration since that time, including the hectic battle recently staged over veterans' legislation in which so many congressmen revolted against the president.

Awe Of Friday, 13, Bows Before Dan Cupid's Love Darts

Whether or not the Anti-Superstition Society is making headway with its drive to eliminate what is termed "silly superstition" in regard to "Friday the thirteenth" is a reckoning beyond the capacity of this writer, but there are at least two persons in Chilton for whom Friday the thirteenth holds no awe.

Records at the probate office in Clanton show that the awe with which age-old custom has surrounded this date bowed recently to the darts of Dan Cupid. A marriage license was issued last Friday to John Cecil Giles and Miss Edna Mae Cleckler. It has not been learned at the time of this writing whether or not the ceremony was also read on this date.

CANDIDATE RALLY, MARBURY, ALA., ON FRIDAY, APRIL 27TH

Plans are complete for a big chicken dinner, baseball game, etc., at Marbury on Friday, April 27. This affair is sponsored by the P. T. A. and "We're ready for the last round-up," they say. Everyone cordially invited to attend.

Time And Place Does Not Count With Cupid

When the taunt string on Dan Cupid's bow is released and the speeding arrow finds its mark, little things like Time and Place are vastly unimportant.

This was proved again last Saturday when a couple took the vows that made them man and wife, amid the Saturday rush on the main floor of the V. J. Elfore Five and Ten Cent Store in Clanton.

They were: Wallace Minor and Miss Jewel Bice, both of Clanton. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Marion Mims.

FIDDLERS' CONVENTION AT MARBURY SCHOOL APRIL 20TH

The Marbury Ball Team is giving a Fiddlers' Convention at the Marbury High School auditorium for the benefit of the team. There will be some of the best fiddlers in the county to play. Everyone is invited to come and enjoy an evening of entertainment.

Admission will be ten and twenty cents. The date is April 20th, 1934 at 7:30 p. m.

C. C. DAVIS GUEST THIS WEEK OF DR. AND MRS. P. T. HINKLE

C. C. Davis, who was in charge of the construction of Mitchell, Martin, and Jordan dams for the Alabama Power Company is the guest for several days of Dr. and Mrs. P. T. Hinkle.

Mr. Davis is well known throughout this section, having employed hundreds of workmen from Chilton County during the construction of the three dams.

Oliver's Statements Get Approval Here

Re-Election Of Popular Congressman Is Assured Say Supporters; Entire District Says "Keep Oliver On The Job"

Congressman W. B. (Buck) Oliver, representative of the Sixth Congressional District, closed a two-days speaking schedule in Chilton County with an address Tuesday night at the court house in Clanton. During the two days, the veteran statesman spoke in behalf of his candidacy for reelection at six places in the county, receiving hearty, enthusiastic response at each engagement.

In spite of the inclemency of the weather, hundreds heard the venerable representative of the Sixth District outline his program of support to the great President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who is making such great strides in bringing this country out of economic distress.

Declaring that he has no apologies for his support of the President and his program, Mr. Oliver told of the various steps in the recovery program, which has brought great relief to every section of the nation, especially to the South.

At the closing engagement Tuesday evening at the court house in Clanton, the speaker was introduced by Lawrence F. Gerald, Clanton attorney, who was a student at the University of Alabama when Mr. Oliver served that institution as dean of the Law School, before he was elected to Congress in 1914.

Reviewing his record during his twenty years of service, the veteran Congressman related his debut into national government circles in 1914 during the first term of that immortal President, Woodrow Wilson. Not long after he was elected to represent the Sixth District, Mr. Oliver was honored with the appointment as a member of the Naval Affairs Committee, and while serving on this committee he was responsible for some of the most commendable legislation, favoring the Navy, ever enacted.

Explaining why no great number of bills have been introduced and made laws bearing the name of Oliver, the speaker stated that during his entire period of service in Washington he has ~~served on the Naval Affairs Commit-~~ tee and the Appropriation Committee, and bills introduced from these committees never bear the names of any individual member of the committees. He related the instance of his appointment on a special committee to investigate certain charges back in 1916 against the Navy, and concluded by showing how under hs guidance, these charges were shown to be without foundation and were withdrawn.

Mr. Oliver has also been responsible, with the committees on which he serves, for the saving of huge sums of money during his years in Washington. The records show that more than $550,000,000 have been slashed from various appropriations made by the budget officer during the terms of Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover. Fifty-one million was saved on a single budget during the administration of President Hoover. Congressman Oliver has played a great part in saving the taxpayers of the nation these huge sums.

Referring to charges made against his official record by Pete B. Jarman, opponent, the venerable statesman declared that Jarman has admitted in a public speaking that he is not acquainted with Mr. Oliver's record; and on another occasion admitted, when questioned, that had he been in Mr. Oliver's place that he would have voted as did Mr. Oliver against the soldier bonus, and to uphold the President. Mr. Oliver stated that he has repeatedly invited Jarman to share his speaking engagements, offering him the opening and closing addresses, but Jarman has declined to meet him on the platform and discuss his official record and repeat charges, which he is said to have made.

Bringing his campaign into Chilton County Monday, Mr. Oliver spoke at Verbena High School at 10 o'clock a.m.; Thorsby 3 p.m.; and Maplesville 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, he spoke at Isabella 10 a.m.; Enterprise 3 p.m., and the court house in Clanton 7:30 p.m. He was greeted at all these engagements with hearty enthusiasm.

Jarman spoke in Chilton County in behalf of his candidacy at several engagements last Friday and Saturday, appearing at Verbena Friday at 2:30 p.m.; Maplesville 7:30 p.m.; Saturday at the court house at 10 a.m.; Jemison 2 p.m. and at Isabella 7:30 p.m.

Estimates from persons acquainted with the political situation in Chilton County state that Congressman Oliver will lead both of his opponents in this county by a more than 500 majority. Indications, judging from reports from every county in the Sixth District, are that the veteran representative will be accorded a majority over both his opponents in next Tuesday's election, making a run-off unnecessary.

Mr. Oliver left Clanton Tuesday night for Marion, where a barbecue is being given Wednesday in his honor at the government fish hatchery, which he was instrumental in securing for Alabama.

An estimate by the Tuscaloosa News Tuesday night gives Oliver a minimum majority of two thousand votes in Tuscaloosa County.

Singing Season Is Opened In Clanton

The regular spring and summer singing season opened in Chilton County this year with much enthusiasm, according to local singers.

Inaugerating the opening of the season, members of the Chilton County Singing Convention met at the court-house in Clanton last Sunday, when it was reported that the attendance was perhaps the largest to ever attnd a singing in this county.

It was estimated that more than a thousand persons from all sections of the county and state were present. The program featured several outstanding quartets and duets, including the well-known Harmony Four, of Birmingham; the Clanton Quartet; the Prattville Quartet, and the Tennessee Quartet.

All parking spaces for a two block radius of the court house were filled according to persons attending the session.

Power Company Preferred Dividend Voted

Birmingham, Ala., April 19.—The Board of Directors of Alabama Power Company in annual meeting today declared the regular quarterly dividends on its preferred stock payable July 2, 1934, on the $7 and $6 stock to stockholders of record June 15, and payable August 1, 1934, on the $5 stock to stockholders of record July 16.

These dividends will aggregate approximately $585,000 and dividend checks will be mailed on June 30, for the $7 and $6 stock and on July 31, for the -5.

The present staff of officers were re-elected by the directors to serve during the coming year.

MUST ELECT TRUSTEES FOR ALL SCHOOLS

Patrons Of All Schools Are Requested To Meet On Friday, May 4th

The patrons of each school in Chilton County are herewith requested to assemble at their respective schoolhouses at 2:00 o'clock p. m. Friday, May 4 for the purpose of nominating school trustees.

The Attorney General in an opinion dated September 15, 1932, held unconstitutional House Bill No. 191, General Acts of 1931, page 672, providing for the election of school trustees for terms of two years beginning the first Saturday in May, 1932, and ending the first Saturday in May, 1934.

In an opinion dated September 16, 1932, the Attorney General held that in view of an opinion declaring unconstitutional the Act of 1931 providing for the election of trustees, the appointment

BERRY CROP OUTLOOK IS PROMISING

Shipments By Carload Are Already Started; Price Holding Up Fair

The outlook is exceptionally favorable for an outstanding strawberry crop in Chilton County this year ,according to L. E. Diefenderfer, business manager for the Clanton Berry Grower's association.

With nine cars already shipped from the county Monday night, Mr. Diefenderfer estimated that the crop will likely bring growers in Chilton County between seventy-five and a hundred thousand dollars this season.

Five cars were shipped from Clanton Monday, two from Thorsby, and one from Jemison. One car has been trucked from Clanton. No report was available from Maplesville at this writing. Prices are considerably higher than last year, it was stated, and it is believed with favorable weather conditions the crop in the county should be more than one-hundred and fifty cars.

The price per crate is being quoted at about two dollars, it is understood, which will give the grower approximately one dollar net after paying the expenses of picking and crating. Too, the picking will furnish employment for severa hundred persons fo ra period of weeks.

Berry growing is fast becoming one of the county's leading agricultural pursuits. Last year, 161 cars were shipped.

C. C. H. S. Senior Play Friday Night, May 4

By Dan Smith

Worthy of mention two weeks before hand is the Senior play to be presented by the Senior Class of C. C. H. S. this year. This play an annual event much anticipated, will climax the plays of all years. It is really a new type of a play. Wonderfully different. It has a new plot, new types of characters and it is the last play that these Seniors will give and they will play their roles as never before.

"The Attorney for the Defense" is the title of the play and the Senior Class announces it this week so you may arrange your plans so that you may see this marvelous play. It will be presented for your utmost enjoyment Friday night, May 4.

More announcements will follow later. Watch for them!

Produce From Federal Rented Land Must Not Leave The Farm

In reply to an inquiry made by Mr. J. W. Fant, county agent, relative to produce raised on land rented to the government, the following letter has been r-ceived:

"Dear Mr. Fant:

"This is in reply to your letter of April 11, and we regret the necessity of advising you that it would be a violation of the Cotton Acreage Reduction Contract to permit any feed grown on rented acres to be removed from the farm on which it was grown even though no rent was charged for the land used in the production of same.

"Administrative Rulings provided that all crops grown on rented acres must be consumed on the farm and neither the feed nor any livestock produced from the feed grown on the rented acres can be sold or removed from the farm.

Yours very truly,
CHARLES H. ALVORD.
Assistant to Chief, Cotton Production Section, Commodities Division.

Local Attorneys Endorse Atkinson For Judgeship

AUTAUGA AND ELMORE SHOW BIG SUPPORT

Huge Numbers Add Names To The Endorsement Of Chilton Candidate

ATTORNEYS SAY HE IS MAN FOR THE JOB

Friends and supporters of J. B. Atkinson are enthusiastic in their acclamation that he is sure to be overwhelmingly victorious in his candidacy for the circuit judgeship of the nineteenth judicial circuit, composed of Chilton, Autauga and Elmore Counties, in the Democratic Primary next Tuesday.

Reports from the three counties indicate that the Clanton attorney will be nominated by several hundred votes. His support in all of the counties of the circuit has been growing for some-time by leaps and bounds until now his supporters declare that he will get the nomination in Tuesday's election by an overwhelming majority over his opponent.

He has been accorded perhaps the most generous endorsement of any political candidate for public office in these counties in many years. Hundreds of his Chilton County friends and acquaintances have unhesitatingly endorsed him; the Chilton County Democratic Executive Committee gave unanimous endorsement to his candidacy, and members of the Clanton Bar, of which he has been a member for several years, endorsed his candidacy.

Following is the endorsement of the Clanton attorneys, members of the Clanton Bar, with whom he has practiced law, and who are well acquainted with his ability to fill the office which he seeks:

"To the voters of the Nineteenth Judicial Circuit of Alabama:

"We, the undersigned attorneys of the Clanton Bar, knowing the legal ability, character, integrity, and honesty of the Honorable J. B. Atkinson who is a candidate for Judge of said Circuit, hereby endorse and recommend him for said office.

"By our years of association with him as a fellow member of this Bar, we recognize that he is a man well qualified to discharge the duties of said office. He possesses judicial poise, temperament, and personality which in our opinion will bring to said Circuit, by his election, a competent and efficient Judge.

Respectfully submitted,
Lawrence F. Gerald,
Victor J. Heard,
Omar L. Reynolds,
Percy M. Pitts,
Alvin B. Foshee,
John Foshee."

For many years, J. B. Atkinson has been an outstanding leader in the Democratic Party in Chilton County, having served as a member of the Democratic Executive Committee of the county, also in various other capacities in the interest of the Democratic Party. He is now a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee and is recognized throughout Alabama as one of its most outstanding Democratic leaders.

BOARD OF EDUCATION TO MEET FOR REGULAR SESSION FRIDAY

Members of the Chilton County Board of Education will meet in regular session Friday, according to a statment from Luther E. Little, superintendent of education.

It is not known whether any special business will be taken up by the board at this meeting.

An Invitation

To The Republican Voters Of Chilton County

And To Those Who Have Recently Become Qualified Voters

Realizing the great importance in the selection of men to fill the various offices of the State of Alabama, and the importance of the Primary Election to be held on May 1st in Chilton County, the Democrats of Chilton County feel it fair and just to extend a warm welcome to the Republican voters of this county to join the Democrats in the coming elections by voting the Democratic ticket.

With the entire country having swung its strength to that party which is putting forth every effort possible to rebuild following a disastrous breakdown in business and agriculture, and a Democratic leadership that is drawing no lines between the rich and the poor, giving all equal rights, saving homes, factories and farms and placing men and women back to a position of honor and pride, those who have heretofore voted the Republican ticket in Chilton County and who have been casting their votes against a party that has been feeding the nation, will find a hearty welcome in the ranks of the Democrats.

In its efforts to rebuild, to place men in public offices who are capable to cope with the changing conditions and men who are eager to join forces doing away with special privileges, giving equal rights to all, the Democratic party needs every citizen of Chilton County behind this program.

The Democratic Party stands for a "New Deal" and the past year with the country under Democratic leadership definitely proves that a "New Deal" is being given the people, and that even the poorest are receiving the benefits from this great Democratic program, regardless of past political affiliations. Chilton County stood in line with other counties of Alabama and all other states and received its share of help from a Government that realized the farmer and working man needed a "New Deal' and a square deal.

So, therefore, the Democratic Party of Chilton County extends a hand of welcome to those who have heretofore voted the Republican ticket, to come in and join them in putting over a program that is placing our country back on its feet.

Respectfully,
P. D. WILSON,
Chairman Democratic Executive Committee of Chilton County.

WADESONIAN THEATRE WILL INSTALL NEW SOUND EQUIPM'T

Very Latest Improvements Featured In New Photophone Sound For Local Theatre; Is A Fine And Progressive Move

Arrangements for the installation of a remarkable new 'High Fidelity' sound reproducing system which promises to revolutionize all previous conceptions of realism in sound motion picture reproduction, have been completed by Mr. C. W. Wade, owner of the Wadesonian Theatre, with the Photophone Division of the RCA Victor Company.

The new photophone sound equipment which represents a radical improvement over all previous apparatus of its type is similar to that recently installed in the two new super theatres at Rockfeller Centre in New York—the beautiful RKO-Roxy, and the world's largest and most modern theatre, Radio City Music Hall.

With the installation of the new 'High Fidelity' appartus, the Wadesonian Theatre will be one of the first in this vicinity to be equipped with apparatus capable of faithfully reproducing the finest sound which recent advances in recording have made possible. Theatre patrons will be assured of brilliantly natural and intelligible sound—sound that until very recently was only possible in the world's largest laboratories.

Responsible motion picture theatre exhibitors have for some time been aware that the continuous advances which have been scored in the art of recording sound motion pictures, had far outstripped the performance of current types of motion picture reproducing equipment.

Consequently, the theatre patron does not reap the full benefit of these remarkable improvements if the theatre equipment does not measure up to the new, more exacting requirements. In line with our policy of making the best possible entertainment available to our patrons, we made a thorough study of various types of equipment on market and unhesitatingly chose the new RCA Victor 'High Fidelity' Photophone sound system from all the others.

With the Photophone sound system, which is the most recent major development to emerge from the great laboratories of the RCA Victor Company, at Camden, N. Y., there is a perceptible "lift" to the sound reproduced. Instruments in the orchestra take on new life and delineation. Spoken words lose their metallic quality and take on an intimate human timbre, and the whole effect is a revelation of re-created sound. Our patrons are due for a pleasant surprise when they hear this new system in operation.

Photophone reproducing equipment has been chosen by many of the leading steamship companies for installation on their palatial ocean liners..

The U. S. Army has installed similar equipment at 81 Army posts located all over the country and nearly three hundred installations have been made on battleships, destroyers, cruisers and shore stations of the U. S. Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive, Vincent Jr., Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald, Mrs. Janie Sutlive and Mary Maude Knight spent Sunday in Clanton with Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Diefenderfer.

Turn About Is Fair Play

The News has not fought Arthur Glover in his race for Judge of the Nineteenth Judicial Circuit of Alabama. But we have made no bones about supporting J. B. Atkinson for that position. We endorsed him when he first announced his candidacy, and from time to time we have rendered whatever aid we could in his behalf. In our contacts with Mr. Glover he has shown himself to be a gentleman of the highest order. We have no reason to question his ability as a lawyer.

But Chilton County is offering a man for this position whom we consider in highest terms as a man and as a lawyer. We can and do commend him without reserve to the voters of this circuit for the place he seeks. And turn about is fair play! Elmore County has been furnishing the Judges and solicitors for the Nineteenth Circuit. That they have been good men and true, we do not question. Chilton County has voted for them and cooperated with them, and tgether a commendable service has been performed. We think Chilton now has a just and reasonable claim to representation in this honor. We believe it is according to democratic principles. We believe the Democrats of this county are behind Mr. Atkinson as a body. We believe they not only will vote for him themselves, but that they would like to see their brothers in democracy of Elmore and Autauga fall in behind this worthy aspirant to judgeship of the Nineteenth Circuit. We further believe that these men and women of Chilton County are within their reasonable rights in urging their friends in the other two counties to carefully consider their man for this office. We are confident that an attentive ear will be granted to their request.

And now, with all respect to the high integrity of everyone concerned, we say that it seems to us not to the best interests of the circuit to have both the trial judge and prosecuting attorney come from the same law firm, as would be the case if we should elect Mr. Glover. Our Circuit Solicitor is runnning for re-election without opposition. We do not for a moment doubt the high ideals of either of these men. But we do think that it would be difficult, to say the least, for any man to pass judgement impartially upon the plea of a friend, when that friend happened to be very close by reason of long association.

It is only a few days now until the matter will be definitely settled. There will be no run-off, since there are only two candidates, and there will be no oppisition for the nominee in the general election. This makes it doubly important that you consider carefully before you cast your ballot. It is well to realize, too, that this is your only opportunity to take a voice in this matter. So, we urge that yu go to the polls, in the democratic primary May 1, and, all things considered, we believe you will cast your vote for J. B. Atkinson for judge of the Nineteenth Circuit.

Demoralizing Commerce

In his recent report to the President, Coordinator of Transportation Eastman said: "Between 1920 and 1932 at least 25 billions of capital went into the development of transportation facilities in this country . . . .

"This enormous increase in transportation facilities has led to a bitter struggle for traffic . . . and this struggle has been intensified by the depression. This situation imperils the financial stability of the national transportation system, threatens wages and working conditions, and creates a demoralization in rates and charges which in the long run is a menace to commerce and industry."

Mr. Eastman has said time and again that the only sound and fair way out of the problem is through coordinated regulation of all carriers—rail, water and highway. His new report, which is long and detailed, points out that trucking is disorganized, that what regulation there has been of water carriers is ineffective and incomplete, and that only the railroads are really regulated in the public interest.

Death's Busy Season

As the summer approaches, with its increased tourist and other automobile traffic, death prepares to reap its richest harvest. From the homes of the United States must come about 30,000 to die and a million other to be injured, some crippled for life, during the year, if former records are to be equaled.

This senseless slaughter goes on in spite of all the warnings given and in the face of the object lessons held daily before our eyes.

The pitiful part of this continuous tragedy is that most of these casualities are entirely unnecessary and might be prevented by the exercise of ordinary common sense. They are due either to an insane desire for speed or an utter disregard for the most elementary rules of safety.

Many of the victims are helpless passengers, whose lives are at the mercy of the criminally reckless or incompetent driver. Some accidents are apparently unavoidable, of course, but in the vast majority of cases they are the result of pure carelessness on the part of motorists or pedestrians.

And even the most careful driver is often helpless when he encounters a fool on street or highway.

An Important Matter

We were very much impressed with the speeches of Rep. W. B. Oliver in Chilton County this week. These speeches were different somehow from the average political speech, where too often personalities are dragged in and made more paramount than issues of government.

There was a pleasing absence of all this in Mr. Oliver's addresses. He did not indulge in personalities, but spent the time in discussing and explaining various phases of governmental activities.

During his speech at the Verbena High School, where a large part of his audience was school children, the veteran statesman declared that nature is the same today that it was hundreds of years ago. There has been nothing added to, nor nothing taken from nature, he declared, because nature is truth.

Entirely too often political candidates, and perhaps all of us, forget the importance of truth—the whole, unbiased truth, which is always due our listeners. So intent are they on furthering their own ambitions that they sometimes mislead the public.

Pete B. Jarman, an opponent of Mr. Oliver's, is making his race on what he evidently believes to be an unpopular move made recently by the venerable statesman, when he cast his vote with the President for what he believed to be right—Truth—rather than play politics for votes.

Mr. Oliver knew that it was not the aim of the President to discriminate against the boys who wore the khaki, but his intention to make an individual study of each case with the purpose in view of classifying all soldier remunerations, so that those whose remuneration was too low could be increased; so that the widows of all the wars could receive proportionate aid to the number of dependents; and so that those who had no claim to remuneratin could be weeded out and others whose claims are more urgent could be added in their stead.

Many persons, including veterans, do not know the truth of this piece of legislation; do not know the truth of the President's intentions, and are being allowed to believe that there was a discrimination.

Those men in Washington, representing the people of all the states knew the truth, but some were willing to play politics. Buck Oliver knew the truth and had the courage to stand.

The Magic Key

In commenting on problems faced by agriculture, particularly those concerning international exchange of farm products, C. O. Mose, vice-president of the American Cotton Cooperative Association said that cooperation is the magic key 1 success—"cooperation in production, cooperation in moving products into market, and cooperation in regulating their exchange value."

The best proof of that lies in the experience of the immediate past. It is not an exaggeration to say that agriculture, a year or two ago, was faced with complete chaos. Markets were disorganized and prices had fallen far below the cost of production. There were tremendous surpluses of almost every agricultural commodity—and more were constantly being produced. At that time the cooperatives started a determined and aggressive compaign to cause farmers to pull together for the common good, and to urge the passage of essential legislation.

That campaign was a success. Prices are low—but they are rising, and are substantially better than they would have been had the cooperatives not existed. Markets are becoming stabilized. And the work of the cooperatives finds its reflection in federal legislation designed to carry the farmer through the present period of stress.

The cooperative movement is the farmer's insurance for the future. It deserves the support of every citizen interested in bringing and keeping good times.

Time To Nenovize Again

Last spring a good many American communities inaugurated renovation campaigns, during which local citizens were urged to have their property inspected, and make necessary and valuable additions, alterations and repairs.

The campaign provided thousands of jobs. It sent money through a hundred major industries. Essential improvements were obtained at a fraction of what they would have cost a few years earlier.

This spring and summer should see additional campaigns of the same order. The need for employment is almost as great as it was a year ago. The construction industry is still lagging behind business in general.

That peeling paint—the leaky roof—that ancient wiring which presents a constant fire hazard—that outmoded heating plant—that old plumbing—that rickety garage—those cracked steps—now is the time to fix and change them. It doesn't matter whether you have ten dollars to spend or ten thousand—in either case you are doing your bit to spur recovery, and you are getting bargain values.

War On Tuberculosis

Although many more battles remain to be fought, it is encouraging to note the remarkable progress which has been made in the war against tuberculosis during the last 30 years, in which the death rate has been cut in half.

In 1904 there were only 9,107 beds available for tuberculosis patients in hospitals and sanitoria in the United States, as compared with 73,695 beds at present.

Much of this advance is due to the work of the National Tuberculosis Association during more than a quarter century of its existence. By emphasizing the need for rest, fresh air, sanitary living and working conditions, as well as the need for suitable instutions for the treatment of cases in their various stages, this association has made a wonderful contribution to the public welfare.

But there are still 500,000 cases of tuberculosis in the United States. The work of the association, supported by the sale of the Christmas Health Seal, must go on.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskow

On the farm I was well acquainted with a kind of vine that grew at the end of the cotton rows. I have stood near this vine and motioned my hand toward it as if to strike it saying, "Be ashamed, be ashamed," and the leaves on the vine would roll themselves into a knot. The vine was like a great many people; very sensitive. We have all known people who are easily hurt, offended, or irritated. They translate every act into an effort to trouble or hurt them. They fancy that they have been insulted or slighted, and they make life miserable for themselves and others. As for me I had rather not know when I am insulted, than to be insulted when it was never intended.

On the farm I knew a kind of grass that was known as "Saw Grass". It was smooth and velvety as it was rubbed in one direction, but woe unto tender fingers and skin if it were rubbed the wrong way. It was then like saw teeth and its sharp points would make the blood flow. When we touch people the way they are inclined to live, when we run with them the way they travel, we find them smooth and kind, but woe be unto us when we rub them the wrong way. I had a cat that would lean to me when I would rub him from his head toward his tail, but he would bite me when I would rub him from his tail toward his head. Take warning from the grass and the cat. If you want to get along well with folks, rub them the right way.

It was bee robbing time on my grandfather's yard and all of his kin were there. A youngster was a bit anxious to fill his mouth with honey comb, and so a large piece found its way within his lips, he also carried a bee within. The lips went tight and the mashers came down on the wax. My, how good the honey did taste. Just as the youth was at the height of his joy in eating the sweets, the bee got in his work. A terrible sting went into his tongue, and then out came the wax, the honey and the bruised bee. The boy set up a yell and all he could say was, "I was eating honey and chewed a bee." When we feast on the sweets of sin, we may expect the sting also.

There were four boys at home and the oldest was not over six years older than the youngest. One day these four boys were out hunting and we came to a swollen stream. In the middle of the stream the water was angry and rushed by in torrents. We were afraid to wade across alone and so we waded together, holding each other's hands. I was the youngest of the four and when I reached the middle of the stream the rushing water swept my feet from under me, but my brothers helped me up. If I had tried to wade that stream alone, in all probability I would not have been here to tell this story. How we need to learn the lesson that there is strength in unity. I need you and you need me. When you are being tempted and your feet are likely to slip from under you, your hope of safety lies in the holding hand of those who are helping you. Holding hands in mutual helpfulness we can cross any stream of sin that threatened our ruin.

An interested man asked me this question, "Do you think that it is wrong for me to go to a baseball game on Sunday?" Not long since I visited a man in the hospital who was mangled and broken. He met with a terrible auto accident on his way to attend his first ball game on Sunday. He said that he knew he was doing wrong and he said to me with tears in his eyes, 'Preacher, I will never attend another ball game on the Sabbath." In my church there was a Christian mother who attended a ball game on Sunday. The next day she was at the parsonage and here is what she had to say, "Pastor, I am here to tell you something that you will hear. I went to a ball game with my husband yesterday afternoon, and I wanted to be the first to tell you. I am promising you now, and my God knows that I will do it, I am never going again. I was never as miserable in my life as I was yesterday sitting on that grand stand. I never saw the game. My heart hurt me so badly until I could think of nothing, but desecrating God's holy day." To the man asking the question I made this reply, "Remembering that God has said, 'Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy' I will say to you emphatically, it would be wrong for me to attend a ball game on the Sababth." Hear me, friends, if you are the kind of a Christian you ought to be it is wrong for you to attend Sunday ball games.

ENJOYED EDITORIAL IN NEWS LAST WEEK

Editor, Chilton County News:

I enjoyed reading very much your front page editorial last week. I hope most of the High School boys and girls read your article. I considered it full of good sound logic and plenty of common reason.

Mr. Editor, I can't help but believe our young men and women of today and tomorrow will understand how to vote and won't be old-fashioned, old model politicians and office seekers. I will have to admit that I am not very well schooled in politics and don't know much about big money or big business but when I think about the condition of our State; condition of the farmer and laboring man; realizing from this source our State gathers most of its tax either directly or indirectly, I am made to wonder if we will be forced to abandon our present 'too expensive' form of government.

The question now before us is what to do about it. It is most assuredly all of our business and no one seemingly to look after it.

May I insist that we all give this more serious thought.

I think the first thing we need is a leader in our State, and then get behind him and help him every way we can. I want for this leader a business governor, not a political governor. I honestly believe Dixon is the safest man. Let me say here to the farmers and laboring men that it is a patriotic duty of ours to go to the polls and exercise our full right of franchise and vote for good business men for all these important positions, such as Governor, Congressman, State Senator, Circuit Judge, etc., that really effect our living conditions and well-being. It is left safely up to us which primary we go into. If you go into the Republican primary you will lose the most powerful part of your vote. I shall go into the Democratic primary and support men that are in line with Mr. Roosevelt and the great Democratic party.

The more I learn of Mr. Roosevelt and his principles the better I like the Democratic party. Mr. Roosevelt believes in helping the masses while Mr. Hoover believed in helping the classes. I am sure they both understand this arithemetic. Mr. Roosevelt uses division; Mr. Hoover used subtraction.

I have no intention of going back into the old fashioned Republican high tariff party as many of you ought to know by now that I didn't like Mr. Hoover's "grand and noble experiment" the 18th Amendment and Volstead Act.

Mr. Editor: I hope you and your readers see where I stand and also how I stand. I am very anxious to see the return of Primary No. 1. You may hear from me again later on.

Yours truly
S. Y. DORMINEY

T. L. McKee Writes

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

I very much appreciate the friendly greetings and the generous assistance rendered me in my canvassing in Chilton County. My time has been so short that I have been unable to see all the voters as I would like to have, but would like to ask you in case I have not seen you to go to the polls on May 1st. and vote for me.

In the office I am seeking, I will say that I think there are very few promises that could be made, but I fifty cent fee. To all of you who have know me all my card that I will not make poor people poorer, if they can't pay their taxes by January 1st. by collecting a fifty cent fee. o all of you who have known me all my life, I have thought that it would be very much like a loss of confidence to annoy you about my desiring your vote, since you already know whether I am worthy to be voted for, so I hope to have your support and influence.

I am now leaving my nomination to the voters of Chilton County.

Yours truly,
T. L. McKEE.

To The Republican Voters Of Chilton County

I am trying to see every one of you at your home; which is almost impossible, therefore should I not see you or should I not speak to you otherwise about voting for me, please accept this as a personal appeal for your vote and influence.

I have no record as Judge of Probate to refer you to. That is what I am asking you to give me a chance to make. I have a record as a teacher, a business man, as Clerk of the Circuit Court and as a citizen, all of which records I am proud of, and the people in general know of them. I am not afraid nor ashamed of anything any man knows of me. He has my permission to tell it to whom he pleases, but when you hear some cheap politician telling what he has heard you may know what he is telling and why.

As Clerk of the Circuit Court I have given the office my personal attention, and service has been my motto. I do not claim to have pleased everybody but I have done what was right regardless of politics, race or color. Every State examiner has complimented me on the condition of my office, either in writing or verbally.

I defy any man to put his finger on as much as a penny that I have knowingly and intentionally collected or tried to collect that was not just and legal.

I did all I could and knew to do for the storm sufferers. I did not keep tab on it but I waded mud and water and helped releive the suffering just as long as anyone was suspected of being out, then I helped administer first aid the remainder of the night. I asked the Court the next day to discontinue Court which was in progress at that time, and which discontinuance meant a loss to me at that time of five or six hundred dollars. I gave practically my entire year's work in 1931 to relief. I gave it the way I chose to give it, but I am not asking you to vote for me for Probate Judge because of what I did to relieve suffering humanity in that crisis. You do not owe me anything for that. It was my duty and privilege to act then, and I will always do so in the future.

If elected Probate Judge I pledge myself to do all that is in my power to obtain all relief that may be given by the Federal Government or by the State Government. I further pledge myself that if there be any relief given to Chilton County during the time I am Probate Judge, I will do all that is in my power to distribute such relief to the just and needy, free from politics and personal favors. I will not be in favor of anyone receiving relief who is not justly entitled to it.

I believe in a fair and economical administration of our county government.

I believe the education of our children and the health of our people are matters of prime importance.

With the amount of money now being collected by the county for road purposes, I believe we could and should begin immediately to build trunk line roads in our county. I believe the main roads to our smaller towns should be built.

I believe all of our roads, as soon as practicable, should be as nearly properly located as can be, and a road bed of proper width built with sufficient culverts to take care of the water. We can then dispense with some of our heavy expensive road machinery and replace it with lighter surfacing machinery and with the savings reduce our taxes and at the same time build up a system of graveled roads in the county.

I believe the people living on a road can do the manual labor and gravel hauling on that road better and cheaper than any one and I favor them having a chance to do it.

I believe we should have a more definite road program or a reduction in road tax.

I have conducted my campaign upon a high plane. I have gone to you and discussed my ideas and plans with you personally as much as possible. I feel I am competent to perform the duties of the office to which I aspire. I have stood by the Republican Party and organization at all times. I have never split nor scratched a ticket, neither have I ever left off a nominee of the party. I have never sponsored the nomination of any certain candidate but have always relied upon the wisdom and judgment of the republicans of the county to nominate our officers. I have led my ticket in the general elections since my nomination to office. I received the largest vote for my re-election to the office I now hold than any one ever received for a county office.

If I obtain the nomination I will be elected in November.

If I obtain the office I will assume it as a servant of all the people. I can and will co-operate with your commissioners and give you the very best service possible.

It is my political ambition to serve my people as Probate Judge. I am asking you to help me attain this ambition while I am in politics.

I have served my people in the office I now hold. The office to which I aspire is a greater field for service. Will you not help me attain it? I will devote my entire time and attention to the office.

I insist on every republican going to the polls next Tuesday, May 1, 1934, and cast your vote unbiased and untrammeled. I am relying on the fair and thinking people of our party and I hereby warn all of you not to be swayed by any undue means or methods to bias your vote. Go to the polls and vote your honest convictions and I will be satisfied.

Your choice now will be my choice in November.

Again soliciting your vote and influence and assuring you that I will appreciate it, I am,

Yours for the success of the Republican Party.

A Personal Message from Pete Jarman to the Voters of Chilton County

PETE B. JARMAN, JR.

As my campaign for Congress comes to a close I wish to take this opportunity to sincerely thank each person in the Sixth District for their gracious influence and support.

It is my intention to visit the respective counties as soon after the election as possible and personally thank you all for your enthusiastic work in my behalf.

I am confident that next Tuesday I will receive a substantial majority of the votes in this county as well as the other seven counties in the district.

However, due to the frantic efforts of the opposition, I urge you to continue your good work until the last and not be influenced by last moment and misleading rumors.

I believe in the good people of this district as much as they believe in me, and look forward to a cooperative and constructive term in Congress.

Again I thank you.

Pilot Club Elected Officers Tues. Night

The annual election of officers of the Clanton Pilot Club was held at a regular meeting Tuesday night at the Clanton Methodist church.

The new officers elected were: Miss Bess Thomas, president; Mrs. Gertrude P. Calloway, vice-president; Mrs. Zora G. Smith, secretary; Miss Lillian Thompson, treasurer; and Mrs. Mamie C. Smith, reporter.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Gertrude Calloway, outgoing president.

Ford Restores $5 Minimum Wages

Restoration of the minimum wage of $5 a day in Ford plants throughout the nation was announced at Dearborn recently. The increased wages affect 70,000 workers, it was stated.

Henry Ford said:

"No one has ever lost anything by raising wages as soon as he is able. It has always paid us."

At the same time executives of the Ford Company warned workers against coming to Detroit for jobs, pointing out that the auto industry does not need additional employees at present.

The blanket rise affects not only the Dearborn, River Rouge and other workers near Detroit in Ford plants; but branches throughout the United States, it was said.

Ford officials said 32,681 men in Detroit area were affected by the raise.

Wages being paid now at the rate of $4 and $4.40 a day are increased automatically to $5 a day, the minimum wage set years ago by the Fords, but cut down after the depression reduced car making to a minimum.

It is by no means the highest wage Mr. Ford has paid. In 1929 the daily wage was $6. At that time Mr. Ford raised it to $7, calling it the "Depression Dollar."

Last February 17,000 Ford workers received small increases, but this is the largest blanket increase since the dark days of 1929.

For many months it has been said that Mr. Ford has been working on plans to improve the conditions of his workers. Last week he returned to Dearborn from Florida and plunged into a series of conferences that were climaxed by the announcement of the increase in wages.

The LEADER

To the Voters of Chilton County:

Next Tuesday, it will be your privilege and duty to vote your choice for a nominee to be your next Tax Assessor. In asking you to consider me for this place, I do so solely on my merits.

I was reared at Marble Valley in Coosa County. When I was twenty-one, I came to Clanton with $16.00 in my pocket to go to school a year or as long as I could at the Clanton Academy. Then the tuition was $4.00 per month. After paying my tuition for the first month, buying my books and paying for three weeks board, I had $1.35 left and didn't know from where the next was coming.

But my father began training me to work as far back as I can remember. When eight years old I followed the plough behind old "Buck" as regularly as the other ploughs on the farm went. I was pretty handy with tools and knew I could do the work if I could get it. Through the aid of a few people (one of these in particular was Prof. J. W. Moore, then Supt. of Ed.) who had become interested in me, the good people of Clanton gave me odd job work sufficient to keep me in school. I shall never forget these favors given me then. I mention this that you may know my beginning in this county.

After this I taught several years in this county, also in Coosa County.

If you want to know more about me, I am willing for the boys and girls I have had in school as well as the people I have lived among and had dealings with for the past 25 years to tell you what you would like to know.

I feel that I am well qualified for the duties required of Assessor and if you nominate me, I'll put forth every honorable effort at my command to be elected in November. If Mr. Martin is nominated he will have my full support.

I am trying to see every voter that I can before the primary, but if I miss you it will not be from choice, and I want you to give me a consideration before making your choice.

Yours truly,

J. K. T. DANIEL.

Letters To The Editor

S. M. EDWARDS ENDORSES DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES

Thorsby, Ala., April 21, 1934.

Editor, Chilton County News:

Will you give a crippled man a few lines? Although I have been crippled with arthritis for the past two years, I am proud to say I am improving slowly. I still have an interest in Chilton County and its welfare for the future. The time has arrived again for the voters to select their officers who will look after our business affairs for the incoming terms. In my way of thinking we should carefully consider each candidate, his qualifications and fitness for the office he seeks, and then make up your verdict without fear or favor to anyone.

The Democratic party has a fine bunch of candidates to select from, and I would be glad to see all who believe in the New Deal, regardless of your past political affiliations, come out and join in with us in nominating your next officers. I am sure the common people can see clearly who is their best friend. The Democratic party, through its great leader, Franklin D. Roosevelt, came to your assistance when starvation was at your door and mine. Something had to be done and done quickly, and it took the Democratic party to accomplish the job. The Republican party held the job until they get everything in such a mess until they were glad to turn it over to the Democrats long enough for them to straighten things out. Well, they accomplished the job.

I notice some of the Republicans are claiming credit for all the RFC and CWA help Chilton County has received. Well, that's funny. If everybody had voted like that old buddy did we would not have had any of the RFC or CWA. It would have been Hoover and starvation. Oh yes, they hollow world wide depression. Well, if the Democratic party can manage the world, undoubtedly we can trust Chilton County to their care; and I refuse to believe that the voters are going to turn their back on the party that saved our country from starvation. Come on, join with us, and let us march on to greater victories and show Mr. Roosevelt we appreciate him and his party and what they did for us as common every-day people.

Yours truly,

S. M. EDWARDS.

H. ROPER ENDORSE COX FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Jemison, Ala., April 23, 1934

To the People of Chilton County:

During twenty-five years of more or less activity in Chilton County politics I have refrained from writing letters of endorsement for any candidate before the primary but there is one man in this race that I am anxious to see elected and since he has no opposition in the primary, I am writing this letter to you.

I have known Mr. Cox for many years and have always found him just "Plain old Charlie," a man whose word is good and whose friendship is true. Charlie has always been open in his attitudes. If he opposed an issue he was not afraid to do so openly and if he was for a proposition he was not afraid to come out in the open and fight.

Mr. Cox has had a lot of experience that has fitted him for representing a county of farmers and small business people like we are and he will be in line politically with the other members of our law-making body. Why not elect a man to represent us that can demand recognition on account of his party affiliations? One who does not have to apologize for being in the minority and does not have to ask some Democrat to sponsor a bill before he can even get it to a Committee. All the representation we have ever had at Montgomery was through some Democrat from some other county that wanted to help us. Why not elect a man that can demand our share of government from the state? Why not get things done directly instead of by proxy?

If elected, Charlie Cox will be heard when he tells the Legislature that Chilton County is still a part of the State of Alabama.

Sincerely,

HOWARD ROPER

A FEW FACTS ABOUT PROF. EARLE THOMAS AS SENATOR

Editor, Chilton County News:

I have known Mr. Thomas several years. I was under his supervision in school every school day for five years. I think I personally know him. I would like to see him placed in a position to do us more good, rather than a school teacher. Mr. Thomas is the only candidate for Senator that is teaching school. He chose teaching for his vocation because he was interested in schools and their progress. He has several years experience in teaching and knows the needs of the schools. He also knows the cost and sacrifices farmers have to make to keep their children in school. He is a splendid teacher but I feel sure he will do us more good as our Senator for he is a farmer himself and knows the difficulties of a farm life and as Senator he can not only help with one school but can help all the schools.

Chilton County should feel proud of having a man to offer the Senate as Mr. Thomas. He is young, his health is good, he has a broad clear mind and I feel like we will be badly hurt if he is not elected Senator.

This election is for the betterment of the country. The very best men should be elected. The men that will do you and the country the most good and if you knew Mr. Thomas as I do. I feel sure he would be our Senator. He is busy with school work and can't talk to each voter presonally, but I don't think you will ever regret it if you vote for him. He never fails to greet you with a smile and a working man never gets too dirty and ragged for him to help.

Think deeply before you vote. Let's elect the right man and vote for Earle Thomas.

ENDORSES McKEE FOR TAX COLLECTOR

To the Voters of Chilton County:

Heretofore I have not taken any active part in the present campaign. The Tax Collectors office of this county is a very important one, and I would like to see a friend of the people nominated and elected in the forthcoming election.

Mr. T. L. McKee, whom I have known for the last forty years, is a candidate for this office, and would make the people of Chilton County a courteous and efficient Tax Collector. As stated, I have known him for a long time and have been connected with him in business and have observed his every day life and he is honest, conscientious and deserving. I know he has always taken an active part in behalf of the schools and other civic improvements. He knows the difficulty and hardship of the farmer, and knows the burden of the small tax-payer. When a young man, Mr. McKee worked his way through school and afterwards taught for ten years and his experience as a teacher, farmer, and business man equips him to make us a real efficient officer, and I will appreciate it very much if the Voters of this county will go to the polls on May 1st and nominate him by an overwhelming majority. To do so, will be showing our appreciation for one of our native sons, and governmental affairs.

Assuring you that I will appreicate your vote for Mr. McKee, I am

Yours sincerely,

JOHN THOMPSON

Autauga County Man Killed By Truck Fri.

William Fray, relief worker of Autauga County, was killed instantly about 7 o'clock last Friday morning when his body was crushed underneath the wheels of a heavily loaded lumber truck on the Birmingham-Montgomery highway, near Mortar Creek, several miles north of Prattmont.

The accident occurred, according to witnesses, when Fray attempted to swing onto the side of the moving vehicle after the driver, Earl Gray, of Mt. Creek, had refused to let him ride. His skull was crushed, his neck broken, chest crushed, left leg broken, and the femoral arteries severed. He died instantly.

In the pockets of the dead man's clothes was found a grocery order on the relief offices at Prattville, and it was supposed that he was trying to catch rides to Prattville to get this order filled when he met his death.

He is survived by his widow and two small children. Fray was a tenant farmer on Tom Bice's farm, near where the accident occurred. Funeral services were held Saturday.

Appointed Compensation Clerk for 3rd Dist.

C. E. Gulledge, well known business man of this county, and for some time connected with the CWA in the capacity of safety supervisor, has been appointed district compensation clerk for the third district, composed of Chilton, Sumter, Greene, Hale, Bibb, Perry, Dallas, Lowndes, Autauga, Coosa, Elmore, Tallapoosa, Clay, and Randolph counties.

Mr. Gulledge has charge of the settlement of all claims for compensation growing out of injuries during the tenure of the CWA in these counties, and will assist in setting up a safety organization in connection with the new rehabilitation program, which is expected to be put into operation soon.

MUSICAL CONCERT AT COOPERS FRIDAY NIGHT, MAY 11

What promises to be one of the most outstanding musical events of the season is the concert to be held at Chestnut Creek, Coopers, Friday night, May 11th, as the closing exercises of Prof. L. M. (Red) Harden's singing school, which he is now engaged in teaching at Shady Grove church on Mitchell Dam road. Prof. Harden has been teaching schools at several places in the southern part of the county for the past two or three months, and he has given concerts at the close of each. He has put on some good ones, but according to his predictions the one to be at Coopers will be the best.

The prgram will consist of popular numbers, sacred and seculars ongs, quartets, trios, duets and solos. There will be visiting singers and quartets to entertain the visitors. The price of admission will be 10 and 15 cents.

The concert was moved from the place of the singing school on account of Chestnut Creek church being roomier and better lighted. 3t.

PLEASANT GROVE

Jemison

Here we are beginning another week with some of our sick better and others worse. Mrs. Hermie Hodgens, Mrs. Tom Childress, Miss Delia Champion, Misses Mary Lee and Lucile Compton are better. Mrs. Martha Wilson is real sick at this writing. I believe the measles are about gone now.

Sunday was our preaching day and we had two glorious sermons delivered by our pastor, the Rev. Maurice Hodgens. Our B. Y. P. U. rendered a good program Sunday night. We are improving a great deal in our work. We had visiting us in our church Sunday night Miss Bryant of Montgomery, Miss Harvey of Jemison, Mr. Mack Newell of the University of Alabama, and Mr. Sam Mike Sayers of Howard College. We appreciated Mr. Sayer's talk, we thank God for such boys as Mr. Sayers and Maurice Hodgens.

We wish to say Mr. and Mrs Tom Childress are the proud parents of a young son and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Miller of a new girl. Both mother and babies are doing fine.

Mrs. Jim Miskelley visited her daughter, Mrs. Hermie Hodgens, Tuesday.

Miss Effie Champion visited Mrs John Davenport Tuesday evening.

Miss Rubie Wright called on the Misses Prices Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Wright visited his father and mother, Monday evening.

On Friday, April 13th, one of our young girls, Miss Emmarene Dawson, was married to Mr. Clarence Turner of Prattville. We all wish for Emmarene a very happy and pleasant married life.

Mrs. Dovie Dawson took dinner with her sisters, the Misses Champions, Sunday.

Mr. Albert Jones dined with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wright Sunday.

The Rev. Maurice Hodgens, Mr. Sayers, Miss Harvey, Miss Bryant and Mr. Newell were guests of Mr. Will Clements and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Franklin and son, Cecil, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Franklin dined with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Zuber Sunday.

Mrs. Clayton Kincaid and daughter, Clara Mae, and son, Tommie, visited Mr. and Mrs. Dock Hodgens Sunday.

Mrs. Vollie Glass and children and Miss Modemia Waldrop visited their sister, Mrs. Jimmie Franklin Sunday.

Miss Eula Freeman of Sylacauga was the week end guest of her sister, Mrs. Oother Maddox and mother, Mrs. Mattie Freeman.

Mrs. Clarence Marcus and little son, Aldeen are spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. J. A. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Woodley and sons, Jimmie and George Harold, spent Saturday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. Woodley.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. Woodley spent Sunday night with their son, Mr. Sam Messers.

John and Frank Davenport,, Grover Price made a trip to the mines at Boothton Saturday. There is a strike on and they reported no success selling produce there.

Mr. Frank Davenport spent Saturday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Davenport.

Miss Gail Gletty visited Miss Willie C Clements Sunday.

Mr. R. C. Champion called by to see his aunt, Mrs. Martha Wilson, Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Clower and Mr. John Clower, Jr., visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clower, Sr., Sunday.

Mrs. Algie Compton visited the Misses Champions Monday morning.

Well we, the people of this community, are beginning the job of picking strawberries this week. We sure hope for a bountiful crop and a good price.

We hope next week to report all our sick better. May God bless and comfort each one that is sick.

Just a word about the SERVICE at the
MOLTON HOTEL

FIFTH AVENUE AND TWENTIETH STREET

THERE'S a pleasant, friendly atmosphere about the Hotel Molton—a delightful informality and unobtrusively efficient service that appeals to discriminating guests. While Molton service is punctilious, it is entirely lacking in that stiff formality one often finds in larger metropolitan hotels. That's why the guests who stop here once, feel like they're coming home when they return to see us.

Fiddlers Convention Collins Chapel, 28th

An old-time Fiddlers Convention will be given at Collins Chapel school Saturday night, April 28. Cash prizes will be awarded to the best musicians. Plans are being made whereby each contestant will receive a prize. All musicians and lovers of music are invited. Proceeds to go for the benefit of the school.

Admission will be 10 and 20 cents.

Vote for Fitzhugh Lee

Fitzhugh Lee is strongly recommended for reelection as Associate Member of Alabama Public Service Commission, Division No. 1, by numerous representatives of the agricultural, commercial, professional and laboring interests of the State. Since he has been a member of this Commission it has achieved a national reputation for constructive work. Alabama customers of the utility and telephone companies have saved over thirteen million dollars and such customers are now saving over three and one-half million dollars every year, due to rate reductions made by the Commission since he has been a member thereof. The people of the state are now enjoying the lowest railroad and bus fares in the history of transportation srvice. The Commission has been commended by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and many other outstanding people.

The Commission represents Alabama shippers' interests in cases before the Interstate Commerce Commission and has achieved beneficial results.

During the period Fitzhugh Lee has served the people in this office, the history of its work is one of continuously reducing rates and improving service. Ask for pamphlet showing representative citizens throughout Alabama who are endorsing his candidacy. Some of them live in your community and are known by you.

A GOOD RECORD IS BETTER THAN CAMPAIGN PROMISES

Your Vote and Influence Will Be Appreciated.

To Voters of Chilton County

Since it will be impossible for me to see every voter in person, I take this method of earnestly soliciting your support and influence for Senator in the approaching primary.

I feel it my duty to give you the high points of my platform:

1. Not greater appropriations but more funds for common and high schools. Sufficient term for normal child to complete grade.

2. Lower license tags for automobiles.

3. Economy of county and state government, such as consolidation of offices, etc.

4. Exemption of homesteads of $2000.00 valuation if possible.

If elected, I promise to serve you honestly and conscientiously.

Assuring you my deep appreciation, I am
Yours for better government,
EARLE THOMAS

Says Elmore Is For Graves

Chilton County News,
Clanton, Ala.
Dear sirs:

I see in the News where Dr. J. F. Sewell of Wetumpka says "Elmore County Is for Judge McCord. That they have 1800 signed voters and 200 active members." Dr. Sewell is ignorant of what is going on in Elmore County or he is trying to mislead the public. There are more than 5,000 voters in Elmore County. According to his figures Judge McCord has 1800 and Dixon 400. making a total of 2200, leaving a balance of 2800 to go somewhere. (To Bibb Graves). Don't be uneasy, Doctor, Bibb Graves will sweep Elmore County by a handsome majority.

Respectfully,
DR. F. A. BOSWELL,
Elmore, Ala.

INK DROPS FROM C. C. H. S.

By Dan Smith

With the close of school only about three weeks off, the final preparations for commencement are being planned. Mr. Warr and his efficient faculty are preparing to have one of the most impressive graduating exercises in the school's history. It will be an impressive commencement due to the fine and successful Senior Class this year. The Baccalaureate speaker has not been selected yet but it is certain that we will have one who is both a splendid speaker and a good man.

Two students have been awarded the high honors of delivering the Valedictory and Salutatory addresses. The distinctive honor of being Valedictorian will go to Dan Smith. This honor goes to the student who has made the highest average for the entire four years in high school. The next highest honor, the Salutatorian, was awarded to Joe Moore who possessed the second highest average for the four years. To be eligible to receive these outstanding honors, one must have attended C. C. H. S. for all of the four years.

Keep your eyes and ears open. Announcements for the Senior play (what a play!) are on the way.

Congratulations to the Junior Class of 1934 for giving one of the most entertaining, one of the most enjoyed and one of the prettiest of banquets for the annual Junior-Senior entertainment. The theme of "The Last Round-Up," which was the name of the entertainment, was well carried out in the decorations and the program. Praising toasts, songs, dances, playlets and music along with speeches by several guests were the features of the evening. The event was well planned and moved along without any dullness whatsoever.

Tomorrow, Friday, the Chilton baseball team goes to Selma for their next game. On Wednesday of next week Centreville will meet Chilton here. Remember our boys haven't lost a game yet.

Chilton played Jemison at Jemison on Tuesday of last week. The final score was 16 to 8 in favor of Chilton. Starring in this game were James Tiffin, Ted Littlejohn and D. H. Wilder. Ted and D. H. got a triple each and James knocked a home run and a triple. Good work! Looks as if it was up to them to win the glove offered by Mr. Warr for the first home run on the local diamond.

The school and especially the baseball boys are encouraged by the interest that Clanton citizens are showing in our atheletics. We wish to publicly thank Mr. H. S. Shaw for his generous donation to the athletic fund of the school.

Drive down and view the latest gift from the Senior Class to the school. This gift is a beautiful sun dial with a pair of benches. It is an attractive ornament and the school is justly proud of it and the Senior Class.

Booklets seem to be the thing according to the teachers here. This is instructive work and has brought out lots of hidden talent. The latest group to be on display on the bulletin board is that of the Senior Two English class. These are about the play "She Stoops To Conquer" by Oliver Goldsmith. In a few days the booklets made by the members of the Senior Three English class will be displayed. And when you get a chance examine them closely for each of them is well made. They show orginality, neatness and ability for art.

We were glad to see the friendly face of T. H. Walker in town last week. Mr. Walker, who was formerly a member of the C. C. H. S. faculty, is now an active lieutenant in the Reserved Officers Corps.

Who Am I??? * * * Miss Ova Lee McCutcheon was the charming young lady last week. Now try this one. * * * I am black headed. I played football and am remembered for my end runs I am interested in furniture. Now who Am I?

The Seniors are now busy preparing for the presentation of their annual play, the last play of this school year. Every Senior, whether he is in the play or not, is cooperating heartily to make this play the most successful they have ever had. The class has one ambition in presenting this play and that ambition is, to FILL the house and SATISFY the house. And with "The Attorney for the Defense" they will do it.

The graduating Seniors are now receiving catalogues and other literature from various colleges and universities over the country. Several have already selected the school where they will attend next year. We hope and feel sure that C. C. H. S. graduates will not be found wanting when the records are made at these schools.

CANDIDATE FOR PROBATE JUDGE

Makes Final Appeal To His Friends and Supporters

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

As the campaign is drawing to a close, I want to take this opportunity to say a few words in behalf of my candidacy for the office of Probate Judge of Chilton County. I regret that it has been impossible for me to see all the voters, but I trust that I may have the pleasure before May 1.

I would like to state in a brief way some of my qualifications for the office I seek and the things I stand for. It is only fair that the people of this county know how the several candidates stand so they may be in a more enlightened position to choose the best qualified to manage the affairs of their county. I have been a resident of this county over thirty-five years and have always taken an active interest in public affairs. During the time I was in business I always endeavored to serve my customers honestly and fairly and I believe they will bear me out in that statement. It has been my pleasure, and I might add a pleasant one, to serve the people of Clanton as their Mayor for the past three years. In my campaign for Mayor I stood for honesty and economy in city government and I have lived up to that promise, which the records will bear me out. I have made honesty and economy a plank in my platform for the office of Probate Judge. Those two are essentials to good government, whether it be for a city, county, state or federal office. I stand for good roads and with the amount of money paid into our treasury for roads there is no reason why we should not have the best roads of any county in the state. I am a staunch believer of public schools and will lend every effort toward the restoration of a full school term to every school in the county. I favor the continuation of the county agent, whose work and assistance to the farmers of this county have been invaluable. During the short time the Home Demonstration Agent has been employed, it has become evident that her services are needed and cannot be dispensed with at this time. I stand wholeheartedly behind our great President and will lend every effort to help in furthering his Recovery Program.

In conclusion I would like to say that I have endeavored to conduct a clean campaign and at this time I want to congratulate the other candidates for the manner in which they have carried on their campaign. To my friends and supporters I want to thank you for the wonderful cooperation I have received and I solicit the continuation of your support and vote May 1st.

Yours truly,
J. LEE SMITH.

to these positions will be governed by Section 133 of the Alabama School Code of 1927. It now, therefore, becomes the duty of county boards of education to direct the patrons of each school under its jurisdiction, both elementary and secondary, including the county high school, to assemble on a uniform date for the purpose of nominating six discreet, competent and reliable persons of mature years from among the patrons of the school, from which number the county board of education will select three residing near the schoolhouse to serve as trustees for a period beginning the first day in July, 1934.

Only patrons of the school may participate in the nomination of the six persons from which list the board will select three as trustees.

A patron has been defined by the Attorney General in a opinion dated February 20, 1931, as "those persons residing in the definite territory served by the school, who are parents, guardians or custodians of children, who are in attendance upon such school, and who are eligible to so attend. A patron may or may not be an elector."

In order to be eligible for appointment as school trustee, a person must be a patron of that particular school within the above definition but need not be a qualified elector.

An addition to the regular official staff of the Town of Thorsby was made with the recent appointment of John W. Powers, Jr., as engineer for the town at a recent meeting of the council.

Young Powers, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Powers of that community, is well qualified to do all kinds of engineering work, having completed a four course at Auburn and taken a special four year course at Boston Tech, one of the outstanding schools of engineering in the entire country.

His duties with the Chilton County hamlet will be making maps of the town and plans for any civic or municipal improvements that may be inaugerated. Since his time will not be fully occupied Mr. Powers explained that his services will be available to anyone desiring a techinally trained engineer.

C.C.H.S. Seniors Have A Brilliant Banquet

By Dan Smith

In line with an ancient annual custom, the Junior Class of the Chilton County High School entertained the Senior Class at a banquet at the Methodist Church last Friday evening. The banquet was one of the most enjoyed and successful of several years. A unique program and an appropriate atmospere were the features of the banquet.

The banquet was entitled "The Last Round-Up," since it was the one of the last times that the two classes will be together. The guests as they entered the basement of the church were met by a typical cowboy who ordered them to march into an anteroom. Table decorations and favors carried out the idea of a western ranch, the name of this ranch was Chic-Co-Hi Ranch. Toasts given by different members of the classes followed along the idea of the banquet. Songs, dances and skits by a number of young people in the regular cowboy attire added to the enjoyment of the event.

At the close of the banquet the members of the Junior Class sang a song of farewell to the Seniors. This song was to the tune of the popular western melody, "The Last Round-Up." The Senior Class responded to the tribute with a suitable song. Also featured on the program was a solo, "Home On The Range," by Miss Maralyn Hardy, and several numbers by Lloyd Howard and his accordian.

Guests other than the members of the two classes were the members of the faculty, Dr. S. J. Ezell, the Rev. R. P. Cochran, Miss Hilda Hart and Lieut. T. H. Walker.

To The Voters of Chilton County

When I announced as a Candidate for Judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit of Alabama, which is composed of the counties of Autauga, Chilton and Elmore, I realized that you knew my record and reputation as a man and lawyer, and knew that I had practiced law here for the past nineteen years, and that your knowledge of my ability, character and fitness for said office was such that I could not add anything that would aid you in making up your mind to vote for me. I then stated that I would appreciate your vote and influence and again wish to express to you my appreciation and thanks for your vote next Tuesday.

If you desire to have a judge from Chilton County and will give me your vote and influence I assure you that I will dispatch the business of the Court in a fair and impartial manner; the dockets of the Court will be cleared of pending cases, without delay; the Court will move with orderly dispatch and be operated as economically as possible and witnesses and parties will be given fair treatment.

If you think it fair that Chilton County have representation in furnishing the Judge then vote for me next Tuesday. Thanking each voter of the County for their vote and expressing my appreciation for the many kind words, expressed in behalf of my candidacy, I am

Sincerely yours,
J. B. ATKINSON.

Thorsby Institute News

Last Friday night under the auspices of the Senior Class of Thorsby Institute a concert of spirituals, folk-songs, etc. was given by thirty-five students of the Chilton County Training School for Negroes. There was a very good attendance. Principal Anderson gave a short talk which was very much enjoyed. He and the director of music are evidently doing very good work in the school. The concert was worth hearing.

Saturday night, May fifth, the Helen Keller Literary Society will have its last open program. Everyone is invited. Part of the numbers on the program will be contested. There will be original stories, poems, talks, two dialogues and a drill under music. Admission will be ten cents.

School will close the twenty-fourth of May.

The public may use the Thorsby Institute baseball grounds, and tennis grounds near the Robinson's when the school does not use them. From 8:00 to 8:25 A. M., 12:00 to 1:00 P. M. and 3:00 to 4:15 P. M., Monday to Friday inclusive, they will be in use by the school.

The grounds are not to be used on Sunday at any time, not even in the summer. May 19 and all day May 24 the grounds are not to be used by the public for games.

HEAVY VOTE IN PRIMARY

EIGHTEEN CARS STRAWBERRIES LEFT COUNTY

Prices Are Better Than Last Year, Report, And Prospects Are Bright

With eighteen carloads of strawberries shipped from Chilton County, the outlook continues favorable for one of the best years in sometime, according to L. E. Diefenderfer, business managers for the Clanton Berrry Growers Association.

Mr. Diefenderfer stated Monday that the price is much better than last year, with berries shipped netting the grower a little above $2 per crate in Clanton. He stated that indications are that the rainy weather during the past week has done very little damage to the crop.

Throughout the country, there seems to be a shortage of strawberries and it is believed that with favorable weather, the growers in Chilton County will realize between $75,000 and $100.000. this year.

Jemison Boys Win In Chilean Essay Contest

Students of the vocational department of the Jemison High School scored recently when Ernie Lee Robinson and Charles Nix won first and second prizes, respectively, in an essay contest offered in this district by the Chilean nitrate company.

The title of the essay was, "The Rare Elements—Their Value in Soils and Fertilizers." Both boys are members of the Chilton County Future Farmers, and their work in vocational agriculture is outstanding, according to J. P. Montgomery, vocational instructor of the school.

Robinson was awarded $25 and Nix $20. This district includes one half of the vocational agricultural schools in Alabama.

In preparation for this contest the students studied the results of twelve or more experiment stations in this country and of two abroad.

The contest was made possible by the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Bureau who offered five prizes to each of the two districts in the state, comprising over [illegible] vocational schools. There was also one all-state prize of twenty-five dollars which was won by Seals Menefee, Ramer, Alabama.

The Chilean Nitrate of Soda Bureau has long claimed that Chilean Nitrate contained "Rarer Elements," elements other than nitrogen, that are necessary for the best development of plants.

Circuit Court Will Convene Monday, May 7th

A special term of circuit court will convene in Chilton County Monday, May 7, when more than sixty felony and jail cases are scheduled for hearing. It is hoped that the docket, which has been congested for the past two years, will be cleared during this special term, and court officials declare that with the two weeks term this will be accomplished.

Because of the indisposition of Judge F. Loyd Tate, Judge R. B. Carr, of Anniston, will preside. He was appointed by Chief Justice John C. Anderson.

NEW MOTHER'S DAY STAMPS AT CLANTON POST OFFICE NOW

The postal department of the United States Government, joining with the rest of the nation in paying tribute to American Motherhood on Mother's Day, May 13, when the entire population of this country will pause in commemoration of that day set aside to honor mothers, has issued special Mother's Day stamps.

These stamps are on sale at the Clanton Post Office, according to Postmaster Billy Smith. The new stamps are about the size of special delivery stamps.

HESTER'S RETURNING HOME AFTER RECENT VISIT IN MIAMI

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hester, who have been spending several months in Miami, Fla., will return to their home in Clanton this week, it is understood. Both Mr and Mrs. Hester have been spending time in the Florida city in the interest of their health. They will be in Clanton for some time before returning to Florida.

Mr and Mrs. J. A. Hester, Jr., are moving to Montgomery this week. Mr. Hester will be employed with the State Highway department.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Reynolds and children spent the week end in Tuscaloosa visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry [illegible]arpley.

Mrs. J. Q. Wade returned last Friday from a two week's visit with her [illegible], Mrs. Randolph Chandler, of Ft. [illegible], Florida.

STAPP TO BE WITH DALLAS COUNTY FIRM

Former County Agent Here Will Assume Duties As Contact Manager

C. E. Stapp, popular county agent of Chilton County for little more than six years, has accepted a position as contact manager for the Dallas Compress Company, of Selma, and will assume his new duties about May 15 it is understood.

In his new position Mr. Stapp will contact the compress and storage trade throughout several counties in the company. His hundreds of friends in Chilton County will be glad to learn that his duties will bring him to this county often.

Mr. Stapp is likely the most popular man to ever live and work in Chilton County, which was thoroughly demonstrated in the hundreds of requests made to the Commissioners Court to raise his salary $1,200 per year to meet an offer made by Houston County some months ago, and to keep him in this county.

Besides Chilton County, Mr. Stapp's official duties will carry him into several other counties ,including Dallas, Bibb, Perry Autauga Hoe Marengo, and Wicox. In a statement to a representative of the News, Mr. Stapp said that he expects to be in his office at the Dallas Compress after May 15 and issued an invitation to all of his Chilton County friends to visit him there when in Selma.

He succeeds T. J. Jackson, who died recently. The former Chilton County agent said that he expects to move to Selma as soon as possible.
Selma as soon as Houston County has filled his place as county agent.

ANNUAL SENIOR PLAY PROMISES FINE ACTING

"Attorney For The Defense" Is Exciting Drama To Be Presented May 4th

The close of a school year at the Chilton County High School brings many significant events for the interest of the public. The formost of these events is the annual Senior class play which, by custom, is always the unequaled play of the year. This year the Senior class of 1934 outdoes itself in bringing to Clanton a choice play, one full of tense, exciting and thrilling moments. The play to be presented by the Senior class tomorrow night, May 4 at 6 o'clock is "The Attorney for the Defense."

"The Attorney for the Defense" stands out from other plays in that it is a first class drama. The plot is superb, one that is not used in cheap plays. The story centers around a mean and unscruplous prosecuting attorney, Joseph Hampden, who, in an attempt to whip his lifelong enemy, sentences without knowing it, his own daughter. Jimmy Carlyle, whose family has had a feud with the Hampdens, defends the girl, Beth Winters, who turns out to be Hampden's daughter. The struggle between the straight playing Jimmy and the crooked Hampden will bring a new sensation to the audience. Not all of the play is dramatic for hilarious laughs are caused by the timid Freddie and his sweetheart, Allie.

In short "The Attorney for the Defense," which is the annual Senior play is a play that is as bright as an April day with alternate tears and laughter. It will keep you on the edge of your seat with its intense human appeal.

The admission will be fifteen and twenty-five cents. Don't miss it!

TOM FRANK TEEL TO APPEAR AT COLLINS CHAPEL SAT. P. M.

Tom Frank Teel and his funmakers will appear at the Collins Chapel school Saturday night in a comedy, in the interest of the completion of the new auditorium which is underway.

Tom Frank, who is well known in this county, announces that he will have an additional feature to his already superb program this week in the person of "Bill", the Hiwaiian guitar strummer.

Mr. Teel recently accepted a position with the Jake Willensky Leather Company, of Birmingham, and is now traveling several states.

Hon. and Mrs. L. F. Gerald visited friends in Prattville Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stapp visited friends in Clanton Monday and Tuesday.

200 MEN WILL BE GIVEN JOBS IN COUNTY UNDER NEW PROGRAM

New Emergency Program To Be Set Up By Government Here This Week; Rehabilitation Program Is Expected To Aid Over Fifty Families

The new Government emergency work program is about to get underway in Chilton County, according to statements from Miss Kittye Clyde Austin, social director of the county, and W. A. Cone, who recently succeeded Armistead Leake as county works director. Both Miss Austin and Mr. Cone stated that it is expected that 200 men will be at work by Thursday.

The program as applied to Chilton County is still in the formulative stage, they stated, but it is believed that work will be afforded approximately 300 workmen under the new set-up, and perhaps fifty families will avail themselves of the aid offered under the rehabilitation program.

Mr. Cone assumed responsibilities as county works director Monday, succeeding Armistead Leake, who has been transferred to Calhoun County. Mr. Cone has been affiliated with the CWA program in Autauga County in the capacity of an engineer until his transfer to Chilton.

Although details of the new program have not thoroughly been worked out, Mr. Cone stated that the wage scale in this county will range from thirty cents to seventy-five cents per hour. It is not known yet whether or not this will be paid in cash, or in relief orders.

Miss Austin stated that foreman are still contacting landowners in the county in an effort to persuade them to waive their rent claims in order that their tenants may avail themselves of the rehabilitation aid. Only nineteen applications have been approved to date, it is understood.

Farmers must be rehabilitated or be removed from relief, Miss Austin explained, since they can not participate in the non-farmer work program.

Following is a letter from R. K. Greene, director of rural rehabilitation, to Miss Austin, in which he explains the new program as it is applied to this county:

"The attitude of the landlord is on the whole very cooperative. It is perfectly human for a landlord to want his tenants on relief if those of his neighbors are being fed and clothed by the Government.

"As soon as these landlords find that the Relief Administration is not going to subsidize their neighbors crops, they are usually ready to arrange for advance to their own tenants.

"Personally I think it is very poor business to send a tenant to the Relief Administration as the loss in crop production is many times the cost of food received, the tenant becomes demoralized, loses his sense of values and his general efficiency is destroyed. The practice also tends to demoralize neighboring people not on relief.

"We are asking complete waiver of rent to the Relief Administration as it is impossible to rehabilitate the tenant unless he can be protected in the acquisition of property, which he will be encouraged to earn. The landlord in these cases has foregone any hope of collecting any debts or rent, when he abandoned the tenant, except what the tenant may be able to produce between the periods when he is out begging a living.

"Where landlords are able to advance such tenants, or could permit them to obtain some form of Government loan by waiving rent to such agency, we hold that these tenants are the responsibility of the landlord and the relief agency will not subsidize the growing of crops by such tenants.

"We also feel that it is totally unfair to farmers who are financing their own crops to face competition of crops grown by such subsidy by the Relief Administration.

"Crops grown by families under the rehabilitation plan will not be sold in competition with crops grown by self-sustaining farmers, but will be exchanged within the Relief Administration with the urban section for supplies manufactured there by relief workers.

"The landlords cooperating for the benefit of these tenants, while receiving no money rent this year will benefit by having the property in use by the family maintained in good condition and improved proportionately to the value of such rent.

"He will see the family regain hope, and begin to practice better farming methods. produce his living from the soil and become an asset to the community instead of a charge upon it. His farming will be supervised by a competent foreman which should be helpful and instructive to the neighboring farmers.

Yours very truly,
R. K. GREENE. Director,
Rural Rehabilitation."

Methodist W. M. U. Sponsors 2 Pictures

Members of the Women's Missionary Circle Number One of the Clanton Methodist church are sponsoring two pictures at the Wadesonian Theatre this week.

"Kennel Murder Case" is being featured Thursday night and will star William Powell, well-known portrayer of detective roles. This is said to be one of Powell's most glamorous pictures and is packed full of drama from beginning to end.

"Cradle Song," featuring Ruth Weick was shown Wednesday night. Proceeds from these pictures are to be expended for worthy movements by the missionary circle and Clanton theatregoers are urged to attend, help a worthy cause and enjoy a fine picture.

MARION CO. FARMERS STUDY STRAWBERRIES IN CHILTON CO.

W. P. Whitlock, county agent of Marion County, with a group of Marioh farmers was a visitor in Chilton County this week, when they were making a study of the strawberry situation in this county.

The party visited most sections of the county and studied the methods of growing, picking and packing berries by the Chilton County berry growers. County Agent Pant accompanied the group over the county.

SMITH, McKEE, MARTIN, ODEN, PATTILLO ARE IN LEAD ON DEMOCRAT TICKET

Chilton Gives Atkinson Good Vote While Glover Leads In Circuit; Gragg Leads In Chilton; 5 Boxes Unreported; Oliver Safe

Pitts, Harris, Hughes, Culp, Collins, Bean In Lead On The Republican Ticket; Reynolds And Mims Will Have Run - Off

The first lap of the 1934 political race in Alabama is over. Wednesday morning brought a myriad of emotions to the State's population. Numerous candidates are regretting the expenditure of time and money to no avail; a few are enthusiastically awaiting the June primary; and to several thousand voters and persons interested in Tuesday's vote, Wednesday morning found them with heavy eyelids and jumbled emotions.

Chilton County voted one of the largest votes in its history, when both parties polled approximately 5,000 votes. Few candidates with more than one opponent were nominated.

The unofficial count in the county, with four small boxes not heard from, or with just a partial report, Col. Bibb Graves received 787; Judge Leon McCord, 758; and Maj. Frank M. Dixon polled only 299.

For Lieutenant Governor' Chilton County gave a majority of 189 to Thos. E. Knight over his opponent, Thomas W. Wert. Knight polled 957 votes and Wert 768.

A. A. Carmichael led the ticket in the county for attorney-general, receiving 988 votes, compared to 409 for Coleman D. Shepherd and 288 for L. A. Farmer.

'For secretary of state, Howell Turner polled 613 votes; Gilbert E. Davis, 587; and Fred A. Gibson, 410.

John Brandon led Paul Taylor in the race for state treasurer with a vote of 1,034 to 726.

For state superintendent of education, J. A. Kellar led with 631 votes; John W. Abercrombie followed second with 499; A. R. Jones received 419, and Oscar S. Causey. 144

Cecil G. Brown polled 958 votes, against 658 for Fitzhugh Lee, in the race for associate member of public service commission number 1.

For public service commissioner number 2, Frank P. Morgan received a small margin, polling 671 votes; James M. Bowman, 514, and Harry T. Hartwell 442.

Congressman Buck Oliver was given an overwhelming majority over both of his opponents. W. B. Oliver received 1,073 votes; Pete B. Jarman, 695; and Thomas H. Maxwell only polled 27 votes in the 24 boxes heard from in the county.

In the race for circuit judge, late unofficial reports give Arthur Glover more than a 1,500 majority in the three counties. Atkinson carried Chilton with a vote of 1,428 to 581 for Glover; late reports from Elmore gave Glover an approximate lead of 2,000 votes, and the last information from Autauga was that both candidates were running about equal.

Dr. V. J. Gragg will likely be the next senator from this district, according to the latest reports from the three counties. In Chilton, he led with 965, compared to 552 for Earle Thomas, and 289 for Raymond C. Smith. Late reports from Shelby gave Thomas about a hundred lead in that county, and it is understood that Dr. Gragg is far ahead of both Thomas and Smith in Autauga.

With only two small boxes out on the probate judge race, J. Lee Smith is leading P. T. Hinkle by 120 votes. Smith's vote is 1,082 and Hinkle's vote is 962.

J. C. Pattillo overwhelmingly defeated his opponent, J. S. McNeill, in the race for circuit clerk. Pattillo polled 1,321, while McNeill only received 441, according to the latest reports.

T. L. McKee is leading the ticket for tax collector; and George Polk and Newton A. Popwell are very close, making it impossible to ascertain until the last box is in who will be in the run-off. The latest reports given the News gives Polk 421 and Popwell 402, but it is understood that Polk concedes Popwell a lead of less than ten votes; T. L. McKee polled 808, and Reuban Jackson 196.

For tax assessor, Arthur D. Martin led J. K. T. Daniel 1,079 to 649.

Howard Oden received 966 votes for commissioner of, the second district compared to 779 for Henry E. Robinson.

Unofficial returns for the Republican ticket are as follows.

Representative: Percy M. Pitts, 1317; W. L. Sanders, 874, and Charles Cooper, 513.

Probate judge: L. H. Reynolds, 1,154; J. Z. Mims, 948; J. N. Dennis, 538.

Circuit clerk: H. A. Harris 1,021; Grover Bice, 814; M. D. Foshee, 654; Marion W. Mims, 630.

Sheriff: Dewey Hughes, 1,296; Dudley Collins, 927; V. T. Cobb, 365.

Tax collector: W. G. Culp 1,832; J. E. Easterling, 811.

Tax assesor: Akins Collins, 1,857; S. M. Pate, 839.

MUST ELECT TRUSTEES FOR ALL SCHOOLS

Patrons Of All Schools Are Requested To Meet On Friday, May 4th

The patrons of each school in Chilton County are herewith requested to assemble at their respective schoolhouses at 2:00 o'clock p. m. Friday, May 4 for the purpose of nominatng school trusetts.

The Attorney General in an opinion dated September 15, 1932, held unconstitutional House Bill No. 191, General Acts of 1931, page 672, providing for the election of school trustees for terms of two years beginning the first Saturday in May, 1932, and ending the first Saturday n May, 1934.

In an opinion dated September 16, 1932, the Attorney General held that in view of an opinion declaring unconstitutional the Act of 1931 providing for the election of trustees, the appointment to these positions will be governed by Secton 133 of the Alabama School Code of 1927. It now, therefore, becomes the duty of county boards of education to direct the patrons of each school under its jurisdiction, both elementary and secondary, including the county high school, to assemble on a uniform date for the purpose of nominatng sx discreet, competent and reliable persons of mature years from among the patrons of the chool, from which number the county board of education will select three residing near the schoolhouse to serve as trustees for a period beginning the first day in July, 1934.

Only patrons of the school may particpate in the nomination of the six persons from which list the board will select three as trustees.

A patron has been defined by the Attorney General in an opinion dated February 20, 1931, as "those persons residing the defnite territory served by the school, who are parents, guardians or custodians of children, who are in attendance upon such school, and who are eligible to so attend. A patron may or may not be an elector."

In order to be eligible for appointment as school trustee, a person must be a patron of that particular school wthing the above definition but need not be a qualified elector.

MISS BERTIE TEEL JOINS RELIEF FORCES IN BIBB CO. RECENTLY

Miss Bertie Teel, who has been assisting with the investigations being made by the Chilton County relief organization preparatory to the installation of the new relief program, left recently for Centreville, where she will be employed temporarily as a visitor.

Miss Teel has taught in the Thorsby Public School for the past several years and is well known throughout Chilton County.

It's Strawberry Time In Chilton County

Like Christmas and the Fourth of July, Strawberry Time in Chilton County is something to look forward to, and welcome with open arms. The writer has especially pleasant boyhood memories of finding bright red strawberries around the edges of briar patches and at the end of corn or cotton rows. But it was many years before he realized that this delicious tid-bit-multiplied in size, number and sweetness would be an important farm commodity.

But strawberries are "the berries" in Chilton County. Along with other factors they fill a vital place in the prosperity of our county. Three berry and produce associations are shipping berries from Clanton, Thorsby and Jemison. Large numbers of people are finding employment picking, grading, etc. Money is being released for wages, materials, and to the growers. Business finds strawberries an important stimulant at a season of the year when agriculture is paying small dividends in most lines. Yes, strawberries are important in Chilton County.

Campaign Courtesy

During the past few weeks we have been overwhelmed with a flood of friendly greetings. Friends of only nodding acquaintance have come in with a smile, shook hands and inquired after our well being in a most intimate way. Even strangers have acted like old friends of the family. Usually, however, the interview would end something like this: "Your vote and influence will be appreciated."

And due to this fact we have heard some criticism, it being charged that prior to the campaign candidates were unable to recognize many of their friends, even though passing them on the streets every day or so.

That may or may not be the case, but the point we want to make is that it would be mighty nice just to keep right on with "Campaign Courtesy" whether you won or lost. We may have doubted the sincerity of a few candidates' friendliness, but it has been pleasant. The election is over for most of the candidates, but keep up the friendly greetings and happy smiles. You might want to make another race sometime, and practice makes perfect you know. Anyway, it's good business.

Our Young People

While admitting that "the maze of conflicting standards, impulses and interests" of the present day are at times bewildering to the younger generation, Miss Kathrine Lenroot of the Children's Bureau declares that on the whole children are no worse than their parents were during childhood.

She calls attention to the new agencies for steadying boys and girls of the 'teen age, mentioning the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls, each of which has a beneficial influence.

Miss Lenroot believes that more comforts of life, better educational opportunities, greater frankness in facing problems of sex, and other conditions of the present furnish a better basis for character development than was known by previous generations.

In cities and communities where statistics are available there has been a marked falling off in juvenile delinquency during the past ten years, and there has been no increase in the more serious offenses, if population be considered.

Miss Lenroot points out that each generation of adults, from the earliest times to the present has deplored the wildness of youth, and wondered what the world was coming to. She adds that those in a position to observe actual conditions do not share the apprehensions of the alarmists.

Coming from one who views the subject from an exceptional point of vantage, the conclusions expressed by Miss Lenroot are reassuring.

Prevent Fire Accidents In Homes

Newspapers carry gruesome stories of children and adults burned to death in homes.

It is high time for spring cleaning of fire hazards. One of the most common and easiest eliminated is accumulation of trash in attics, cellars, barns and garages.

Wherever piles of rubbish, paper and oily or paint soaked rags are tolerated, there is a constant invitation to fire through carelessly discarded matches, cigars and cigarettes, as well as spontaneous ignition. The first step in eliminating fire accidents, therefore, is a thorough clean up of all trash.

Work with a paint brush is recmmended, for a spic and span house seldom burns.

According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters carelessness with matches and smoking materials is one of the greatest causes of fire ($30,000,000 in 1932). Continuation of high losses to life and property from this source is an absolute disgrace. Matches should be kept in non-burning containers and out of reach of children; handy ash trays should be provided and common sense should be exercised when using smoking materials and matches.

In the spring, when heat is no longer needed, is the time to clean the heating plant, repair it if necessary, and get it ready for next fall. Chimneys should be cleaned and inspected at this time.

Spring cleaning of fire hazards may require the services of others than yourself. All who thus employ workmen to help them will be aiding the recovery propgram at a time when additional work for the unemployed is such a vital need. Do your part!

Farmer Coming Out Of The Red

There is good news for the farmer in a late Department of Agriculture report. The farm price index, on March 15, was at 76, as compared with 50 years ago. (The 1909 to 1914 average equals 100).

In addition, the index of prices that farmers pay for the things they buy was 120, as compared with 100 a year earlier. In other words, the price received for what the farmer sells has gone up 52 per cent in a year—and the price he pays has risen but 20 per cent, leaving him a substantial advantage.

A great deal of the credit for that must go to the farm cooperatives. They have put in what is possibly the hardest-working, most aggressive year in their history. They have brought home to their members the necessity of crop curtailment. They have had a commanding voice in agricultural, monetary, export and other legislation affecting the producing and marketing of agricultural commodities.

Those are definite achievements. And during the present year, the co-ops are carrying on their campaign for better, and more prosperous farming with unabated energy and vigor. The outlook is better than at any time since 1928. The attitude of the average farmer toward his cooperative is more understanding—and more enlightened.

Honorary Degrees

Among the valuable public services that may be placed to the credit of Will Rogers, his debunking of honorary degrees is conspicuous and refreshing. When he was offered the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities by Oklahoma City University, he gracefully declined the honor in a telegram which was both humorous and evidently sincere.

After explaining that the highest degree he would accept would be A. D. (Doctor of Applesauce) only if conferred by the kindergarten department of the Oolagah public school, Will added:

"What are you trying to do? Make a joke out of college degrees? They are in bad enough repute as it is, without trying to hand 'em around to comedians. The whole honorary degree thing is the 'hooey.' I got too much respect for people that work and earn 'em to see 'em handed around to every notorious character."

Collegiate degrees conferred as a result of conformance to curriculum requirements are generally futile enough. The honorary degree is not only futile, but positively amusing to anyone with a sense of humor approachthat of Will Rogers.

Reckless Walkers

Are you a safe walker? If you can't make an honest answer in the affirmative your life and health is literally in peril.

Last year automobile-pedestrian collisions accounted for 37 per cent of the 756,000 accidents which occurred on the streets and highways of this country. Deaths resulting from such accidents comprised 45 per cent of the total of 29,500 fatalities. In other words, pedestrians were involved in more than a third of all traffic misadventures—and the chance of fatality was greater than in other types of accidents.

Pedestrians crossing in the middle of the block proved the most hazardous—that caused 31 per cent of the fatalities. Careless walking on highways was responsible for 17 per cent. Children playing in the street came to 13 per cent. Walking out from behind parked cars into traffic accounted for 11 per cent, with the balance of 28 per cent laid to miscellanous causes.

The careless pedestrian is a menace just as is the careless driver—but he receives less attention. Crossing against signals—playing hide-and-seek with parked cars—walking along rural roads with back to oncoming traffic—these are some of the surest means of courting death. Think over your walking habits—and correct them.

Training Farm Boys

More extended instruction in the handling of machinery, and particularly in the use of electricity, is odvocated for farm boys by the Federal Board for Vocational Education, according to a southern regional agent.

He declares that electricity is rapidly becoming used to a greater extent on farms, particularly in the South and in other sections where waterpower is available. For this reason he urges the necessity for requiring vocational agricultural teachers to study the operation of electrical equipment, so that they may teach the boys under their charge to employ it in pratctical farming.

Recently a specialist in the Department of Agriculture pointed out that mechanical power can be produced at less than half the cost of animal power. The increased cost of man power is also an important factor in hastening the employment of a greater number and a larger variety of labor-saving machines.

The farmer of the future must have a certain amount of mechanical knowledge, hence the farm boy should begin as early as possible to master the practical operation of power-driven machinery, which he must inevitably use if he hopes to be a successful farmer in the future.

Thrift And Success

Opportunities come to everyone, but often the greatest opportunities can not be grasped because it requires a little ready money to enable one to take advantage of them.

This point is emphasized by a well-known financier who in an article on thrift, says: "Those who became leaders in the business world found the turning point in their careers when they were able to take advantage of a great opportunity because they had the money at hand. In most cases the sum of money involved was small, but coupled with vision, ambition, clean living and self-mastery, these men were able to turn their nest eggs into colossal fortunes."

It is undeniable that the habit of saving comes hard for most people, but having once made a start it is comparatively easy to continue. Nothing inspires the confidence of business men in a young person more readily than the knowledge that he or she is able to save money, even though the amount saved from month to month is not large. Many a young man has been enabled to make a most desirable business connection through a reputation for thrift and having a little ready cash.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

Around Detroit there are all kinds of roads for the testing out of automobiles. They have level roads, steep roads, paved roads, sand roads, smooth roads, rough roads, straight roads and crooked roads. It is not sufficient to test the strength and durability of a care to put it on the level, paved, smooth and straight roads. The car must climb hills, it must wallow in the sand, it must bump over the rocks and creen and twist around the curves. Sometimes we cry out in despair when God sees fit to carry us over the rough and rugged ways of life. If we had our way about the experiences that come to us in our daily travel we would go over the smooth roads. God has not seen fit to keep us always in the sunshine. He is testing us out. He is improving us to a high standard usefulness. When the road of life is steep and rugged God is testing us for still greater height and broader fields of service. Blessed is the man who can endure hardships.

I knew a mother who had a gifted daughter. She was talented in more ways than one. She could have been a blessing to her church, but that mother was ambitious for her daughter, and she would not let her line up with any of the programs of church life. She thought it best to hold her clear of the routine obligations of her church so that she could be used on all special occassions in the city. The very night that she would have to meet with the choir for practice, she might have an invitation to play at a social function and therefore she was held away from the choir of her church. That mother was training her daughter to shine and not to serve. That is bad policy on the part of parents, and it is doubly bad for those who are gifted. If a son or a daughter has special talent, that child should be taught to settle down to a definite task. All gifted people should be taught to serve and not to shine.

I helped in a meeting in a well to do country community and the people attending the services enjoyed every gathering at the church. They were very kind in their expression of appreciation. I preached hard and worked faithfully for a week. I gave them the best I had and on Friday night the meeting came to a close with a great service. Nothing was said about helping the preacher and after the last service had closed I found my way to my horse and buggy. A man appeared by the side of my buggy just as I ordered my horse to move on, and handed me a paper sack saying, "We are giving you this from our garden." I thanked him and drove on. A few hundred yards down the road I ventured to investigate the sack and found a half dozen pods of Bell pepper. I leave you to listen for the moral echo.

It is said that two men went into the office of Russell Sage to interest him in a certain scheme that they had. They talked in glowing terms of the project and did their best to interest the wise man of business. On leaving the office one of the men asked of the other, "Do you think that we won him over to our view?" The other one replied, "No I hardly think so, for I saw him counting his fingers after I shook hands with him." When a man has money there is always a "King Fish" hanging around to take it from him either by fair or foul methods. When some schemers shake hands with you, it is best to count your fingers.

In the home there was a mad fiend and he drew a long keen knife and made an effort to plunge it into the heart of his wife. She saw the blade and knew of the danger and without thinking she grabbed a large feather pillow and held it across her bosom. The blade came with all the strength of the infuriated demon, flashing in its ugly stroke, but it lost its power to cut as it embeded itself in the feathers of the pillow. The wife then dashed to safety, leaving the demon in the possession of his feather covered blade. When we robe ourselves in the fine down of a christian character, the flash of the critic's blade may frighten and alarm us, but the ugly stap will not go through to hurt. Christian character is the best thing on earth to stop the blade of the critic. When we are able to hold that between us and the stabbing fiends who would injure us, we can be assured that we are safe.

A NEW ANTISEPTIC

What is declared to be one of the three outstanding medical discoveries of the past decade is a new antiseptic, said to be 70 times as effective as carbolic acid, yet so innocuous that "a baby could drink all its stomach would hold and be unharmed."

The new product, which is a pain reliever as well as an antiseptic, was discovered by Dr. Zeader Leonard of John Hopkins University, and is described as a synthetic organic chemical having its origin in the glands of a goat.

The fact that the announcement of the new discovery comes from such a trustworthy source indicates that it may prove to be a most valuable contrabution to the relief of suffering humanity.

TRUTHFUL ADVERTISING

Usually the argument is made that every business concern should advertise, but there are exceptions. In fact, some concerns hardly dare to advertise, because they can not make good according to the requirements of modern business practice.

When advertising is untruthful or misleading it does more harm than good. Only an enterprise which fulfills the promises made in its advertising can stand the spotlight of publicity. Hence, when we find a store or other business establishment boldly advertising its wares or service, month after month and year after year, we may generally conclude that it can and does give real values.

Obsesrving the advertised businesses of any community, large or small, will enable one to identify the most dependable concerns in that community. Only efficient and reputable establishments dare to advertise.

Public Enemy Number One In Alabama

Montgomery—That the application of the term public enemy is not limited to professional criminals but may be extended to cover other harmful agencies is the opinion of the Alabama State Commission of Forestry. The Commission rates as Alabama's Public Enemy Number One the promiscuous burning of woodlands which, while greatly reduced in extent, still threatens the development and use of forests as one of the corner stones of the State's material welfare.

According to the Commission, two obstacles have existed in the past to the restoration of the woodlands of the State to their full productive capacity. These chief obstacles have been the premature cutting and turpentining of young timber and the indiscriminate use of fire. The utilization of immature trees is, in the main, a matter wholly within control of the individual landowner. Fire, however, may come upon him from the outside and is largely a responsibility of the entire local community and the general public. In these connections it constitutes a public enemy of first rank.

Landowners as a rule are working toward the elimination of both forest fires and premature utilization. The latter difficulty can be overcome almost at will, but the former depends upon the coordination of a great many factors. The landowner himself carries a great responsibility, since the control of fire in Alabama, if undertaken promptly, is a comparatively simple matter. However, the community and the State at large carry a very definite responsibility in the same connection.

The State's finances are at a very low ebb, but with the limited resources at its command and with the cooperation of the landowners the average annual proportion of woodland burned has been reduced from approximately forty per cent down to a current average of between six and seven per cent. This, however, is still much too high and more intensive work must be done by all concerned before it can be said that Alabama's Publice Enemy Number One is under proper restraint.

JOE MOORE, CLASS SALUTATORIAN, IS HERO IN SENIOR PLAY

Joe Moore, who merits the honor of being Salutatorian for his class this year, will play the part of Jimmy Carlyle in the Senior play Friday night.

Jimmy is a prominent young lawyer who defends the heroine against her own father. The role of a quick witted young lawyer fits Joe Moore, and he does not act the part of Romeo with Dorothy in a bad way at all.

Joe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Watts Moore and plays the leading male role in "The Attorney for the Defense."

IN MEMORY OF CATHERINE TAYLOR

On the night of April 25, 1934, at 2:00 p.m. the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Taylor of Mt. Creek, Ala., and took away their darling baby at the age of seven months and nine days. Those who were left to mourn her loss were her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Taylor, her granddaddy and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ward and her aunts and uncles, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Rother Culp, Mr. Robert Ward of Ft. Benning, Ga., and Mr. Albert Ward of Sylacauga, Miss Ruby Ward, Clyde Ward Elaine Ward, Margaret Ward and Mae Dean Ward and friends. We all are hoping to meet her in her heavenly home.

There is always much praise to give to the dead, but there is much praise to give to Catherine Taylor. We have been so lonely since God took her away but heaven will the brighter be since you have gone to stay, Catherine. We miss your dear smiling face. We miss you all about the place, but since God took her, I hope she will be happy in her heavenly home. Farewell, our dearest loved one. We will travel on in pain and when our work on earth is done we hope to meet again.

We wish to thank all the friends that were so kind during little Catherine's sickness and death.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. SARAH BOOCKHOLDT

On Friday, April 27, 1934, the death ongel vistied the home of Mr Lee Boockholdt and took from our midst our dear mother and friend, Mrs. Sarah Boockholdt, leaving behind to mourn her loss three sons, Lee Boockholdt of Verbena, Ala., Rt. 1; J. A. Boockholdt of Clanton Rt. 6 and Mr. Bolden Boockholdt of Montgomery. Three daughters, Mrs. Mamie Bates of Clanton; Mrs. Cora Burkhalter of Prattville and Mrs. Ethel Yeargan of Clanton, Rt. 6. Two sisters, Mrs. Evie Logan of Verbena, Rt. 1; Mrs. Louisa Courtney. One brother, Mr. Gill Gray of Clanton.

The funeral services were held at the home of her son, T. E. Boockholdt, Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

She left behind a host of friends and relatives to mourn her loss. Let me say to you, dear relatives and friends, weep not for our loss is heaven's gain. Our Master and Lord saw fit to take our dear beloved mother and friend out of her suffering and carry her beloved soul to a resting place beyond the skies where sickness and sorrows are no more. She lived to be 78 years old and was a loving mother and friend.

To know her was to love her, but our Lord and Master loved her most and called her home from our midst. Oh! if we were ready to meet her in the skies in that heavenly home how happy it would be. So, let us all try to live our lives nearer to God for we known not when we may be called to go. Can we say that we are ready to meet that great judgment day and feel like we will be among His chosen people? We feel like that Mrs. Boockholdt has gone to a better home beyond the skies to dwell with our Lord and Master who has room for the poor.

He says come unto me all ye that are weary and heavy laden and I will give you rest. So let us all prepare to meet her in a better world some day, for we know not the minute nor the hour when He may call us to go.

So be ye reconciled one and all to His will, for His will shall be done and not ours. Weep not, dear children, for she has gone to rest with Jesus who has called our dear one home.

New Tire Gives 50 Per Cent Longer Non-Skid Mileage

Billingsley Service Station, Local Firestone Dealer, Tells Improvements

A new High Speed tire is announced by Firstone Tire & Rubber Company and is now on display, featuring an increase of more than 50 per cent in non-skid mileage, according to W. C. Billingsley, local Firstone dealer.

"The new tire has five important improvements—flatter tread, wider tread, deeper non-skid, greater thickness, and more and tougher rubber," Mr. Billingsley said. "This is made possible by the Firestone patented process of gum-dipping, by which the high stretch cords are sooked and coated with rubber, providing greater strength, safety and blow-out protection.

"The Firestone developments embodied in this new tire have been proven by constant testing on Firestone's fleet to test cars, day in and day out, 24 hours a day, over all kinds of roads and highways throughout the country, 12 months in the year.

"In additon the Frestone rubber compounds, designs, strength blowout protection and rugged endurance are proven at the Indianapolis 500-mile endurance race where Firestone Tires have been on the winning cars for fourteen consecutive years.

"A further example of the stamina in these new tires was the recent 250-mile Stock Car Race at Los Angeles where "Stubby" Stubblefield and Al Gordon, who finished first and second completed the race without a stop, pounding over uneven ground and tearing around the curves at 90 miles per hour. They showed the ability of these new tires to stand the terrific punishment and give them protection from skidding. The tires were the same kind that we have on display for the safety of motorists.

"The five improvements of the new Firestone Tires also apply to the new Firestone Air Balloon," Mr. Billingsley concluded, "bringing maximum traction and riding comfort with low-swung style. Firestone supplies the tires with wheels in colors to match your car in these balanced Air Balloon units."

Chevrolet Has World's Largest Electric Sign

The Chicago skyline will soon be dominated by the world's largest electric sign.

Built for Chevrolet Motor Company by Federal Electric Company, this mammouth display is nearly finished and awaits only final arrangements of fitting opening ceremonies.

The display is located at the north end of Grant Park, on the air rights of the Michigon Central railroad. It spans two driveways and six railroad tracks, and is said to be the only electric sign in the world to be built on the air rights of a railroad company.

Plainly visible from a distance of six miles on land, and by vessels more than 10 miles out in Lake Michigan, flashing lights of the sign will fall upon the "Century of Progress" exposition grounds, two miles away.

The steel structure, which contains 330 tons of fabricated structural steel, rises 275 feet from the ground level and is 153 feet wide. The distance from the ground to the bottom of the display proper is 122 feet. The display itself is 153 feet long by 148 feet high.

It will be illuminated with 17,240 lamps and 1,100 feet of neon tubing. Wiring of this display consumed more than 22 miles of insulated cable and the display itself weighs approximately 150,000 pounds. Approximately 15,000 square feet of porcelain enameled steel was used on the face of the sign. Eleven colors of porcelain enameled steel were used.

Letters in the word "Chevrolet" are 14 feet high. Letters in the moving motograph message sign are 13 feet high. The revolving circle of the sign is 100 feet in diameter.

It is particularly fitting that on the world's largest electrical sign should be mounted the world's largest electric clock. The clock is 46 feet square while the minute hand is 27 feet long and the hour hand 20 feet long. The hands weigh 1,000 pounds each despite the fact that they are constructed entirely of cast aluminum and duralumin. The cross-section of the hands was made oval similar to the construction of the wings of an airpland—and for the same reason—to lessen wind resistance.

The clock works were manufactured by Telechron and are operated from a synchronous alternating current circuit, making the time automatically correct. A re-setting device is provided so that in case of interruption in current, the clock automatically resets itself. This is accomplished by using two motors, the first operating at a speed to procure correct time, the second operating at twice the speed for correct time. In the event of interruption of current, the second motor is thrown into service and it drives the hands at twice the speed for correct time until the hands arrive at the correct time, then it is automatically cut out and the first motor takes up the work.

To faciliate work on the structure and maintenance during its life, an electric elevator was installed from the ground level to the middle of the display. This is the only sign in the world with an elevator. The shaft is 200 feet high and a closed cab of 500 pounds capacity operates electrically. It is, of course, provided with all safety devices, just as in any modern building elevator.

When operating, the electrical connected "load" is 445 kilwatts, sufficient electrical energy to supply the normal demands of a town of 3,500 population.

It was necessary to build a 15 by 20 foot penthouse behind the display to house the control equipment. It is for the electrical motors, flasher, motograph control, time switch and remote controls. The flasher operates the movement of light on the circle and those parts of the sign flashing on and off. There are 305 contacts on the flasher.

More than 20 different materials were used in the construction of the sign, the metals alone including iron, stel, zinc, copper, tin lead, brass, duralumin and mercury.

Neon tubing is used only on the sign borders and for the numerals and hands of the clock. The numerals and hands are in gold neon and the borders around the clock are in red neon.

The world's largest sign is a part of Chevrolet's gigantic 1934 advertising campaign now current in more than 5,600 newspapers, all leading national magazines, on the radio and on outdoor boards in many cities.

Mary Wettach, of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, recently was declared national inter-collegiate women's rifle champion by the National Rifle Association at Washington, D. C.

MORE THAN 50% LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE
IN THE NEW Firestone
HIGH SPEED TIRE FOR 1934

THE new Firestone High Speed Tire for 1934 is the greatest tire Firestone has ever built. With its wider, flatter tread, greater thickness, deeper non-skid, more and tougher rubber, and greater non-skid contact with the road, you get more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

This new development is made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, whereby the cotton fibers inside the high-stretch cords are soaked and coated with pure liquid rubber. This provides greater strength, safety and blowout protection.

Firestone engineers pioneered and developed the first successful balloon tire in 1923, and it is only natural that Firestone would lead in the further development of tire construction to meet the demands of the high-powered high-speed cars of today.

The new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934, have already proved their worth by constant testing on the Firestone fleet of test cars over all kinds of roads and highways throughout the United States.

Firestone High Speed Tires are further subjected to the most severe tests known on the greatest proving ground in the world—the Indianapolis Speedway. In fact, Firestone Tires have been on the winning cars in the annual 500-Mile Indianapolis Race for fourteen consecutive years — conclusive evidence of Firestone's outstanding leadership in tire development and construction.

REV. J. W. HOWELL

On April 7th, just as the sun was sinking behind the western horizon the spirit of J. W. Howell winged its flight to that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveler returns.

Brother Howell, as he was commonly known, was born near Tallassee in Tallapoosa County, Alabama on the 18 day of August, 1854. At the age of thirteen he united with the Primitive Baptist church. At the age of twenty he was married to Miss Nicy Ann Sayers and to this union were born four children, Melissa L., Joel Abel, Nicy Matilda and Mary K. Mary K. Died September, 1909.

On account of church records having been destroyed it is impossible to give exact date, but about 1890 he was ordained to preach by Swamp Creek church in Coosa County.

In April, 1893 he lost his first wife. Later he moved over into Chilton County and on November, 4, 1900, was married to Mrs. Sarah E. Kicker, a widow who had one child, Minnie, who is now Mrs. O. H. Driver of Verbena, Alabama. This marriage ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. J. W. Nobles. To this union were born two children Claudie Sayers who died in May 1902 and Laura E., who is now Mrs. W. E. Burkhalter.

In January 1915, Brother Howell with twelve others, organized Zions Rest church, in Autauga County, where he preached for 17 years until October, 1932.

He served as moderator for thirty-six years consecutively never missing a single meeting. On account of his age and physical infirmity he was relieved of the moderatorship at the meeting of the Association in 1933.

It was pleasure of the writer to meet Brother Howell almost every day. He was a blessing and a bendiction to me always.

Truly a good man has gone to his reward, and he can say with Paul the words he wrote to Timothy in II Timothy, 4:7-8.

Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to this bereaved family and especially do we pray God's richest blessings on the dear widow who is left alone. "May the Lord bless and keep her," John 14:1.

Brother Howell is survived by his widow, Sarah E. Howell, three daughters, Mrs. Melissa Hemstock of Franklin New Hampshire; Mrs. W. E. Holcombe of Columbiana and Mrs. Wm. E. Burkhalter Verbena, Ala., and one son, Elder J. A. Howell of Deatsville.

Funeral services were conducted at the home Sunday afternoon by the Rev. Joe Kelley. Interment was at Swamp Creek church on April 9th, 1934. Spigener was in charge.

Turkish Missionary Will Speak In County

Miss Jeanette Odell, missionary from Turkey, will speak at Mt. Springs Monday night, and at Eastview Tuesday night. Miss Odell is visiting the Congregational churches of Alabama. Regarding her work D. F. Cushing, News Editor, American Board of Commissioners describes her as an unofficial ambassador of good will from Turkey to America. For the past six years she has been head of the American School for Girls in Merzifon, Turkey.

Miss Odell states that Turkey is progressing rapidly and pushing on towards the ideal of Mustapha Kemal Pascha, who said this fall at the tenth anniversary of the Republic, 'We must continue to advance until we have elevated our country to the level of the world's most prosperous and most cultured nation.

Our concern is not that these girls are prepared for professions where they can earn money, but that they can become comptent homemakers, capable mothers, and leaders in their communities," says Miss Odell. "To this end we stress home making, with lessons in sewing, cooking, dietetics, home-planning and budgeting, child care, nursing, gardening, chicken raising, and weaving. In addition to these more practical courses the girls are also taught history, geography, mathematics, science, and three languages.

Many of the American school students board there for they come from small towns in Northwestern Turkey where they can return for vacations only once a year. A real family life is carried on with every phase of the students activities of interest to the teachers. "The girls are so responsive, so intelligent, and so industurious, that this is no hardship, comments Miss Odell. The school is directly under the supervision of Turkish officials, with whom there is cordial relationship.

Miss Odell, who was born in Indiana, is a graduate of dePau University and before going to Turkey taught in the mountains of the Southeastern Kentucky. Her first two years in Turkey were at Istanbul, and the last four in Merzifan. She returned to America for Furlough by way of Syria, Palestine, and Italy.

Miss Odell has been touring Tennessee and Kentucky with Miss Marguerite Davison and Eastern Alabama and Georgia with Dr. Ensminger. She will tour Middle Alabama with Miss Davison, starting with Thorsby. She will talk at the Thorsby Congregational church on Sunday night and at the Institute auditorium on Monday morning.

DEFINES BANKERS' PART IN RECOVERY

Head of American Bankers Association Assures the President of Confidence and Desire to Cooperate Among Bankers

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Roosevelt in his address before the NRA conference here on March 5 announced that he had received the following telegram from Francis M. Law, President of the American Bankers Association:

"On this your first anniversary please allow me in behalf of the country's banks to express our full confidence and our sincere desire to cooperate in your courageous efforts to bring about recovery. The banking structure of the country is sound and liquid and banks have never been in stronger position to function effectively. Conditions have improved to the point where it is no longer necessary for banks to be super-liquid. There is a definite call now for banks, not to extend loose credits or to make improper loans, but for a most sympathetic attitude toward legitimate credit needs and for a recognition of responsibility for their proper and vital part in the program of recovery."

The Soundness of Banking

In an address before a recent trust conference of the association's Trust Division in New York, Mr. Law said:

"A depression cannot long survive a sound banking structure if the banking structure is responsive to legitimate needs and functions in a way that is virile and alive. The most cheering fact of the present situation is the knowledge that banks are in strong position.

"Recovery, even to the most pessimistic, is no longer a myth or a rumor, nor is it merely psychological. Abundant evidence and proof lie on every hand—tangible proof. With a return of confidence the wheels have begun to go round and a great many well managed businesses may look for a profit during this calendar year with fair assurance at least. For what has been achieved let us thank the President, who has labored with courage and patience and vision. Let us thank the Congress, whose members during the emergency have put the public welfare above partisanship. Let us thank one hundred twenty-five million of our own citizens who have refused to be stampeded, but rather who have kept alive the divine spark of faith and hope.

Cause for Confidence

"We may reasonably expect that the recent action of the government in stabilizing the dollar will have a marked tendency to encourage industrial and other business commitments. Business men need not be so exclusively engaged in taking counsel of their fears now that uncertainty does not haunt them.

"Much has been said about the loosing of credit by banks. During the acute period of the depression banks for the most part have not been lending normally, nor should they be blamed. With public confidence shattered the banker was properly concerned in liquidity, having in mind his primary obligation to pay off deposits. The situation has improved to the point where superliquidity no longer seems necessary. Conditions have materially changed. Banks will desire, for every reason, to return to a more normal lending policy. This means a sympathetic attitude and a recognition of responsibility for his proper part in the program of recovery by the banker as he passes upon and meets sound credit requirements of business as it swings into and continues on the upward turn."

Public Confidence Returns

Direct information indicates conclusively that the banking situation is showing definite and steady improvement, J. F. T. O'Connor, Comptroller of the Currency of the United States, said in a recent address. He pointed out that the decided drop which has occurred in money in circulation shows the public has largely ceased hoarding.

On March 1, 1934, the Federal Reserve Board reported that the volume of money in circulation amounted to $5,355,000,000, which was a decline of $1,077,000,000 since March 1, 1933. It was a drop of $2,226,000,000, or over 29 per cent from the all-time peak of $7,581,000,000 reached on March 13, 1933. About one-half the decrease, it was pointed out, reflected the return of currency from the public.

Money in circulation declined rapidly after the reopening of the banks in March, 1933, and has continued since to decline from week to week, "notwithstanding the increase in the demand for currency arising from enlargement of pay rolls and increase in the volume of retail trade," the Comptroller said, which, he added, "indicates a continued return of money from hoards as banking facilities were reestablished."

About Bank Loans

"As for the charge that the banks will not extend credit, the first and obvious reply is that the banks themselves are made up of the very bone and sinew of the industrial, commercial and agricultural interests of the country. Bank directors, and, to a large extent, bank officers, are drawn from the business and farming population. If they do not feel at any given moment that it is wise to make a particular loan, it is more than probable that there are sound reasons for not making it," says an editorial in the Saturday Evening Post.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

Many persons appear to have an inclination to cruelty, especially towards animals upon which they inflict needless suffering without the slightest [illegible] In fact, some seem to take a fiendish delight in the agonies of unfortunate creatures.

To one of normal sensibilities, it is hard to explain this sort of depravity, which is often found among children, as well as among older persons. It must be a manifestation of animal instincts handed down from savage and brutal ancestors.

Cruelty to animals indicates a certain baseness, which usually includes cruel propensities towards human beings, which are only repressed through cowardice.

Children should be taught early to avoid practices which tend to make them callous to the agonies of helpless creatures. It should be explained to them that when it is necessary to kill animals fo rfood or for the safety of human life, it should be done as swiftly and humanely as possible; never with a desire to inflict pain.

Teachers in schools and Sunday Schools might do a great deal more than is being done now in the way of humane education, while parents should observe and endeavor to correct tendencies toward cruelty on the part of their children.

ENTERTAINS LITTLE FRIENDS AT BIRTHDAY PARTY SAT.

At her home on East Second Avenue North, little Eugenia Inez Wyatt entertained a number of her little friends at a birthday party last Saturday afternoon from 3 to 4:30. It was in honor of her seventh birthday anniversary which occurred the next day, April 22nd. There were forty guests present, who were served at the punch bowl by Tommie Esther Parrish. The guest book was presided over by Essie White.

Numerous juvenile games were played, and the little ones were permitted to romp and frolic to their heart's content. The lucky one to guess at the object under the cake was Mabel Helen Baker, who received a story book. "The Old Spinning Wheel" was sung by Lois Rockett, and a cute little story was told by Grace Ezell.

Those present were: Tommie Esther Parrish, Juanita Newell, Melba Dee Mims, Erskin Wyatt, Margaret Miller, Evelyn Minor Geraldine Thornton, Tressa Lee Culpepper Bobbie Nell Culpepper, Julia Thornton, Mabel Helen Baker, Janice Roberts Baker, Julius Popwell Betty Boo Hollis, Josephine Stanley, Bobby Newton Ellis Stanley, Mary Wyatt, Melrose Wyatt Essie White, Elizabeth Wade Lois Rockett, Irvin Lande, Doris Gore, Bryant Gore, Betty Jean Armstrong Gene Rutherford, Loreene Huett Sara Nell McCary, Eugenia Newton, Emma Frank McRae, Grace Ezell, Annie Kate Gore Billie Ruth Fant, Mary Elizabeth Mullins Jean Mullins, Jerry Williams, Wilma Parrish, Peggy McCary, Sara Dean Smith.

Assisting Mrs. Wyatt in entertaining the little guests were: Mrs. Betty Mullins Mrs. Walter Fiquett, and Mrs. J. W. Cagle.

Rather than return to his waiting wife, Ellis Stevens of Springfield, Mass. went to jail for three months.

The last time Charles Irwin, 77 of Mount Carmel, Ill., was sick was in the autumn of 1869, and he can't remember if it was measles or whooping cough.

Misses Rubye and Willadene Collins spent last Friday night with Miss Sarah Missildine.

Mrs. Bill Cox and Mrs. John Cox were the guests of Mrs. J. H. Collins last Thursday evening.

Misses Willlie Nell and Sebuster Cox spent last Thursday evening with Clydie Ruth and Bobbie Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Johnson spent last Saturday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson.

Miss Earnestine Johnson is on the sick list now. We hope she will soon be well again.

ECCENTRIC MALTED MILK KING PLAYED BY CARL JONES FRIDAY

The part of Jackson Multen, mean and wealthy malted milk manufacturer, could not have been given to a more suited person than Carl Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones. Carl plays the part of this eccentric and sly millionaire with the air of a proffessional. A fine treat is in for those who see the Senior class play tomorrow night at eight o'colck.

A post card mailed to Mrs. Clara Speers at Sioux Falls, S.D., from Luverne, Minn., 30 miles away, 21 years ago has just been delivered.

Alleging that neither she nor her husband understood the ceremony performed was that of marriage, Mrs. Augusta Stortz of Council Bluffs, Ia., was granted annulment.

"Listen To Leon!!" At Jemison May 11

The Jemison High School Senior play will be presented at the high school auditorium Friday evening, May 11, at 8:00 o'clock. If you are interested in wholesome fun, do not fail to attend the play of plays, "Listen to Leon-!"

The play is a drama, based upon the inveterate lives of Leon and the sympathetic understanding of Colonel Bryon. The rich uncle of Leon's chooses his companion whom Leon hates upon first sight. Anne and Carolyn make things end well. The friendship between Guiseppe and Leon is admired by the entire cast. Then there are those inevitable characters, Achie, Nellie and Babe who add the spice to the play.

Admission to this production is 15c and 25c. However, it is worth much more to see the play of plays, "Listen to Leon!!"

The characters in order of their appearance are: Babe, Helen Zuiderhoek; Nellie, Frances Killingsworth; Guiseppe, Ernie Lee Robinson; Leon Bryan, Joyce Howard; Archie Darby, Leo Shaw; Carolyn Jamison, Josephine Adams; Anne Cushman, Mildred Caldwell; Colonel Bryan, Charles Nix.

Don Consepico Maeces, 79-year-old Mexican of El Paso, Tex, has purchased his coffin, gravestone, and burial plot, placing the gravestone beside his bed.

Thieves who attempted to steal a car from the garage of Mayor Homer Whallen of Canton, Ill., were frightened off by snores of the sleeping official, whose bedroom was a short distance away.

DISTINGUISHED ROLE PLAYED BY YOUNG MAN OF REFUGE

Virgil Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rennie Robinson of near Refuge community, plays the part of the dignified and aristocratic Judge Carlyle, long enemy of Joseph Hampden. Virgil, who is well known, plays this part exceedingly well and those who miss seeing him in this fitting role will miss something. Don't fail to see Virgil Robinson as Judge Carlyle in the Senior play tomorrow night at eight o'slock.

A score of policement were required to quell a riot which occurred when five aces were discovered in a deck of cards being used by Chicago poker players.

BUY NOT, EAT NOT

By BOOTH TARKINGTON

Sometimes we have to go against our training or go broke. Sometimes what we have always believed to be a rule of virtuous conduct proves fatal in practice. For instance, we have grown up in the belief, fostered by our parents and teachers and enforced by our government, that we have no right to take or use the property of another person without his consent, but if the property in question happens to be a blackjack that the other person is about to bring down on my head I shall have a better chance of surviving if I perceive, in time, the unwisdom of clinging unalterably to old convictions. That is, there are times of emergency when clinging to an old conviction will be ruinous. Let us consider the present time in its relation to our old conviction in favor of thrift.

People of pioneer stock are often spoken of as the "backbone of the country," and probably they are. Pioneers are thrifty or they don't survive. If the wood pile is used too freely in the autumn it may not last through the winter, and the Midland child learned thrift at its grandmother's knee. Moreover, we've been taught for several generations that it isn't what a man earns that counts and takes care of him in his old age; it's what he saves. We've always believed that thrift is a virtue, that spending is risky and that squandering is suicidal. We demand thrift from our government, vote against political candidates proven unthrifty, and we investigate, and often relegate to private life, officials shown to be carelessly lavish with public funds. The value of thrift, indeed, is one of our strongest convictions. No one doubts that it is a right and useful conviction or that it would be dangerous to unsettle it: but here is the United States government coming to us now, asking us to buy, buy, buy, advising us to spend our money rather than to save it, and generally appearing to set itself strongly in opposition to that old principle of thriftiness in which we were trained. There seems to be a contradiction somewhere.

Moreover, the government asks us to spend at a time when we have the least to spare, at a time when the Federal government itself, as well as our State, county and city governments, are taking heavily from us in taxes and in that way lessening our power to spend. Worse still, our government, through the N.R.A., asks us to spend at a moment of great financial uncertainty in our lives, at a moment when we don't know whether we're emerging from the depression or going deeper into it, and when we aren't sure whether we're less afraid of the future than we were a year ago, or more so. The curious thing about the government's exhortation to us to spend is that the exhorters know how we feel and how we're situated; they know our old conviction in favor of thriftiness and they agree with that conviction—and yet these same exhorters ask us to buy, buy, buy!

What's the answer? Money is a means of trade. If you had a cord of wood and no food, and your neighbor had a cellar full of potatoes and no fuel, and if neither of you were willing to trade, he'd have raw potatoes to eat but he'd freeze to death, and you'd have heat enough perhaps, but you'd starve to death. Thrift is indeed a virtue: but this is a time of emergency during which it's necessary to buy goods so that somebody'll have money enough to pay us for what we produce. If it's hard for us to get rich by washing one another's shirts, it's certainly impossible for us to make a living by washing our own. It seems wiser to live by spending than to perish by saving.

PATES CHAPEL

The health of this section is not very good at present. We still have some measles. The Robinson family and the R. C. Hayes family have them now. We hope they will soon be well and out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Vastine Hayes are the proud parents of an 8¼-pound baby boy which arrived Saturday. Mother and baby are doing fine.

Everybody remember next Saturday night at 7:00 o'clock and Sunday at 11:00 are our regular preaching days. Visitors have a cordial invitation.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Rainwater and little son, Johnny, spent last Tuesday and Tuesday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rainwater of Pletcher.

Mr. and Mrs. Ethridge Williams and his father spent a-while with his sister and Mr. Williams' daughter, Mrs. Vastine Hayes, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Maddox visited Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Maddox and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hayes Sunday.

Mrs. Wilbert and Chester Maddox visited Mrs. Vastine Hayes Sunday afternoon.

MARALYN HARDY, TALENTED SINGER, APPEARS IN SR. PLAY

The part of Beth Winters, who is the defendant in an embezzling charge, is splendidly played by Maralyn Hardy, daughter of Mr. J. R. Hardy. Beth, a quiet and sweet young lady who is framed into the charge and convicted is played in a most natural way by Miss Hardy.

Wait a minute. Have you saved up your money for the Senior play tomorrow night? Better look and be sure so that you will be able to come because if you miss it you had just as well stop living. I mean it. This play is different! It sizzles with action, tense moments, laughs and romance. I'll save space by saying "beware of staying away from the Senior play tomorrow night." The admission is fifteen and twenty-five cents and the curtain goes up at eight o'clock.

A short but instructive program was given in chapel last Friday by Roberta Cochran and Dan Smith. The theme of the skit was to explain in a simple way the inflation of currency. The dialogue, arranged by Mr. Warr, is briefly explained here. By using strawberries as an example the idea of inflation was made easy to understand. At first you have five dishes with ten strawberries in each but you can serve more people by using ten dishes with five strawberries in each. The strawberries represented the gold and the dishes represented the dollar bills.

Vermont Jr. High School News

On tomorrow night, Friday, May 4, the graduating exercises of Vermont Jr. High School will be held in the school auditorium. This program was postponed two weeks on account of several members being sick with measles. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. Dr. S. J. Ezell, pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church ond Supt. Luther E. Little will be the principal speakers for the occasion.

There will be a joint exercise with both the sixth and ninth grades participating. Final examinations will be given Friday morning to those few who missed taking them the last week of school.

All children are requested to come Friday morning and receive their report cards. The bus will make its usual round that morning.

The school picnic will follow on Saturday morning. All those who expect to go are requested to prepare your lunch baskets and meet at the school building not later than 9:00 o'clock. The two trucks and the several cars will leave promptly at the above time for the picnic grounds which will be at either Log Cabin Beach or Lover's Lane. We are expecting fifteen or twenty of the parents to accompany the merry little band of picnickers.

Macedonia (Beat 11)

There will be an executive conference at this place May 12th at 10 o'clock for the purpose of making arrangements to cover the house and selling the timber. All members are requested to be present.

PLEASANT GROVE

Jemison

Well, how is this for rainy weather? But let's cheer up, for "Behind the clouds the sun's still shining." Sunday was a glorious day at Pleasant Grove. We had a good Sunday school, and a very impressive sermon by our former pastor, the Rev. Miller, of Birmingham. Brother Miller will always have a very warm welcome with us. After preaching we had communion services. We also had with us Rev. Jones of Thorsby and our pastor, Rev. Maurice Hodgens, in the afternoon. We had an ordination service for the purpose of ordaining Rev. Maurice Hodgens as a minister of the gospel. The Rev. Jones preached the ordination sermon, and conducted the services in a very impressive way, and the Rev. Miller helped in the service. We pray God's great blessings on them and their great work.

In the evening we had B. Y. P. U. I wish that every Sabbath could be just such as this throughout this country.

Mrs. Margaret McMahon and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Carlton, of Birmingham came to visit her sister and neices, Mrs. Martha Wilson and the Misses Champion, on Tuesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Carlton returned home and Mrs. McMahon is going to spend a while.

Miss Hattie Compton visited her brother, Mr. Ed Compton, last week.

Miss Willie C Clements was the guest of Miss Gail Gletty Tuesday night, and they with their friend, Mr. J. O. Cobb, went to the picture show at Montevallo and reported a joyous time.

Mrs. Clarence Marcus and little son, Aldene, spent Wednesday afternoon with the Prices. She is spending a while with her homefolks, Mr. J. A. Wright and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Woodley are the happy parents of a young son. Mother and baby are doing well.

Mrs. Tom Childress and baby are much better. She has named her little son Doris Levell.

Little Miss Jewell Carroll is very much improved. She was at church Sunday.

Miss Mary Clements is recovering from her operation nicely. She was at church Sunday afternoon.

We were pleased to have with us at church Sunday morning some friends from Jemison, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. T. I. Ward and the Misses Newell Rodgers and Harvey. We always appreciate visitors and we invite them back again.

Rev. Miller's wife is to go to the hospital today (Monday) for an operation Tuesday. We desire the prayers of his friends for her welfare. We hope that she will come through successfully.

HELEN MOORE, POPULAR LADY, APPEARS IN COMEDY ROLE FRI.

The comedy in the Senior play tomorrow night at the high school auditorium will be furnished by Helen Moore, who plays opposite Grady Reynolds, Jr., who is equally as amusing. Miss Moore, who is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Watts Moore, impersonates the giggling youthful Allie with whom Freddie, shy but "brave," is in love.

These two will keep you laughing all the time in "The Attorney for the Defenst" tomorrow night at eight o'clock.

High Speed Tubes Made By Goodrich

Inner Tubes Designed For Small Wheels And New High Speeds

A tear-proof inner tube designed for use on modern high speed automobiles using smaller wheels and drop center rims is announced by W. M. Polk of Polk Brother Motor Co., B. F. Goodrich Company dealer in Clanton, Ala.

"Changes in wheel and rim construction brought many inner tube troubles and Goodrich engineers set out to perfect a tube which would resist pinching, cutting, tearing and abrasion," Mr. Polk said.

"The new Goodrich tube is made of especially compounded black and gold rubber in two sections. First, the entire tube is made of one tough stock then a layer of abrasion resisting rubber is placed over the inside periphery of the tube.

"This base strip is made to give resistance to chafing at points where the most action takes place in a tire and affords double protection from the common causes of tube failure.

"When a flat tire occurs, the tube is usually cut to ribbons before the driver can stop his car, but with the new tube this will not occur, according to Goodrich engineers.

"During the period the new Goodrich product was being tested a number of inner tubes were built using ordinary tube design in half of each tube and the new construction in the other half.

"These special tubes were then run flat on rims for considerable distance. The old style sections were speedily torn and ripped to shreds while the new part of the tubes stood up under this brutal punishment.

"The new tube will be sold at prices competive with standard first line inner tubes," Mr. Polk said.

SERVICES CHURCH OF CHRIST

Lord's day, 10:00 a. m. Bible Study classes for all. 11:00 a. m. preaching and worship. 7:00 p. m. preaching. 3:00 p. m. services at home of Mr. Tip Johnson of South Clanton. All services are for the purpose of growing in the grace and knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ by learning more of His Word, endeavoring to do more of His will, renewing of our minds. Biggest Feed Crop Forseen For State

Auburn, Ala.—It is predicted by agricultural observers here at the State College of Agriculture of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute that in 1934 Alabama farmers will probably produce the biggest food and feed crop on record for the state.

This prediction is made as a result of the plannned program for agriculture being carried out under the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Under this program cotton farmers of the state have rented to the Government more than one and a quarter million acres of land on which only food and feed crops for home and farm use may be grown. Reports from county agents say that a big part of this land is being planted in corn. Other crops to be grown on this land include peanuts, syrup, sweet potatoes, velvet beans, soybeans, cowpeas, oats, lespedeza, and pasture grasses.

Thus farmers of Alabama as well as those of other southern states are making big strides toward a balanced system of agriculture which has been advocated for more than one hundred years, but which it seems could not be obtained by farmers acting individually. It took cooparative action among farmers, under a plan sponsored by their Government, to begin practical and definite progress toward the long desired goal.

Nearly all the farmers in Alabama agreed voluntarily to reduce their cotton acreage and grow more food and feed crops to support their families and the livestock on their farms. Those who did not agree voluntarily to cooperate will be brought under the program as a result of the Bankhead cotton production control bill which was signed by the President on April 21. This bill was passed after farmers of the South showed that they were practically unanimously in favor of it.

Mail and other goods are carried in trailers attached to auto buses in Sweden.

Lady Went Back To Taking CARDUI and Was Helped

For severe periodic pains, cramps or nervousness, try Cardui which so many women have praised, for over fifty years. Mrs. Dora Dungan, of Science Hill, Ky., writes: "Several years ago, when I was teaching school, I got run-down and suffered intensely during menstruation periods. I took Cardui and was all right again. After I was married, when I felt all run-down and was irregular, I always resorted to Cardui and was helped." . . . It may be just what you need. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. Sold in $1 bottles.

SARDIS

We are glad to know that the people are recovering from the measles. Some few have them yet, but we hope for them a speedy recovery.

Our B. Y. P. U. and Sunday school are still progressing. We hope to have a larger crowd next Sunday. This is a time we need more church workers. Wake up, people, and come on and help carry on the work.

Mrs. Daisie Crane of Plantersville spent Saturday night with her daughter, Mrs. Charlie Sansom.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith and family spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sansom.

Miss Ida Short had as her Sunday dinner guests Miss Lila Mae Kenner, Miss Willette and Mr. Abe Kenner.

Mr. Erlo Short had as his guests Sunday Messrs. Marvin and Garland Kenner.

A group of young people gathered at the home of G. W. Sansom Sunday afternoon for a singing and reported a fine singing.

Among the group of singers were Mr. and Mrs. Vardaman Short, Mr. Abe Kenner, Miss Ida Short, Miss Willette, Miss Lila Mae Kenner, Mr. Marvin Smith Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Sansom Mr. John Robert Klinner, William Sansom, Sol Sansom, Erlo and Elbert Short.

J. D. Minor spent Saturday night with Harvie and Vernon Sansom.

Remember, Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. each Sunday. We need everyone who will come. Even if you do not take a part, your service means a lot to us.

Jemison Boy Wins Barrett Co. Prize

Ernie Lee Robinson, F. F. A. member and student of the Jemison High School, received 300 pounds of Aracadian nitrate of soda this week, as winner of first prize in a public speaking contest. The contest was sponsored by the Barrett Company of Atlanta, Ga., distributors of Arcadian nitrate of soda, and the F. F. A. Chapter of the Jemison High School.

Six boys entered the contest and spoke in the high school auditorium. Later three went to Clanton and spoke before the Kiwanis Club.

The faculty and patrons of the Jemison High School are pleased with the efforts of these boys. Each boy presented a thesis that required considerable study and work and delivered his speech in a manner that was very credibl to any high school.

The boys who entered the contest and their subjects are as follows:

Joyce Howard, "The 1934 Cotton Acreage Reduction Campaign"; Charles Nix, "The Tennessee Valley Authority"; Erdis Atkinson, "The Results of the 1934 Cotton Acreage Reduction Campaign"; Ervin Beasley, "The Federal Land Bank"; Ernie Lee Robinson, "The Agricutural Adjustment Act."

The Barrett Co., Atlanta, Ga., distributors of Aracadian nitrate of soda, are to be congratulated on sponsoring a contest of this kind.

"MISS CLANTON" HAS LEADING FEMININE ROLE IN PLAY FRI.

Miss Ova Lee McCutcheon, who was chosen as the most beautiful girl in Clanton last year, plays the part of Dorothy Chandler in "The Attorney for the Defense." She, who is really a daughter of Joseph Hampden, works in Jimmy Carlyle's office as a spy for her father. While there she falls in love with Jimmy.

Miss McCutcheon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McCutcheon, Sr., possesses not only rare beauty but unusual talent in dramatics and seems quite suited to her part in the play.

Remember—the play begins at eight o'clock tomorrow night and the admission will be fifteen and twenty-five cents.

Side-dressing corn about 40 days after planting with around 100 pounds nitrate of soda or nitrate of lime will increase the yield on the average approximately 7 bushels per acre.

Winter legumes now being plowed into Alabama land will add nitrogen equivalent to that in approximately $1,250,000 worth of nitrate of soda or nitarte of lime, and, in addition, will add many tons of valuable humus.

GULF WINS MORE "HILL TESTS" THAN 32 GASOLINES COMBINED

A BORROWED FORD tests 12 competing gasolines on Muldrough Hill, near West Point, Ky., to see which gas can pull the car and 3500-lb. load farthest up hill in high gear.

Will your car have more power on any one gasoline? HERE'S YOUR ANSWER..

Gulf tested a total of 33 gasolines on famous American hills—12 hills in localities from Massachusetts to Georgia—and here is what they found...

The power of different gasolines varies widely! And of all 33 gasolines, Gulf is uniformly best. 7 out of 12 times, it propelled a car and load up mountain grades farther than any other gasoline tested!

It won more hill tests than 32 other gasolines combined! Prove it! Drive into a Gulf station, fill up, and test the power of That Good Gulf for yourself!

DRIVE IN AND TRY A TANKFUL!
GULF

HOW 33 GASOLINES RANKED ([illegible] TESTS TO DATE)

All gasolines tested, except a few "third grade" brands, sold for approximately the same price as That Good Gulf. Each brand is denoted by a letter.

GRADY REYNOLDS, JR., WILL KEEP YOU LAUGHING IN PLA

Grady Reynolds, Jr., popular young son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Reynolds, plays one of the funniest of characters in the Senior play. He acts the part of Freddie, who is in love wth the comcal Allie. Besides his heart troubles, Freddie is having trouble with his falling hair.

Attend the Senior play Friday night and laugh at the absurd remedies Freddie uses for his "falling locks."

VELVET BEANS AND CORN ARE REPLACING COTTON

Auburn, Ala.—Velvet beans in corn is one of the most satisfactory crop combinations to use on land rented to the Government in the cotton control program, said J. C. Lowery, Auburn extension agronomist. This applies particularly to central and south Alabama he added.

"Velvet beans build soils, furnish late fall and winter grazing, and may be harvested for feed," he pointed out. "Truck growers find them splendid as soil builders for planting after the spring crop of vegetables is off and plowing under in late winter before the next crop is planted."

Most farmers plant 15 to 25 pounds of velvet beans of the speckled variety per acre, though, many plant considerably less.

NEW CEDRON

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. We urge everybody to come out and be with us. I'm sure Bro. Robinson will deliver a good message.

The quilt that was to be given away by the W. M. U. Ladies will be given away Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock.

We are very sorry to learn that Mrs. W. D. Burnette is ill. We hope for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Johnson were the Saturday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Johnson.

Miss Vera Cox was the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. L. Baker last Thursday night.

Miss Willodean Collins spent last Friday with Miss Vera Cox.

Come to preaching Saturday night and Sunday. If you find a welcome here tell other, if not, tell us.

EILAND-PRICE

The marriage of Miss Jessie Lee Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T Price of the Mt. Pleasant community to Mr. Tipton Eiland of Mobile, son of Mr. C. N. Eiland of Clanton, was quietly solemnized Saturday afternoon, April 28th, at the home of Dr. S. J. Ezell in Clanton.

Mrs. Eiland is a graduate of Chilton County High School and completed a two-year teachers course at Jacksonville Normal school. She has taught for several years in the county schools.

Mr. Eiland has been employed as a seaman for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Eiland have a host of friends who extend heartiest congratulations.

SAVING SEED OF CRIMSON CLOVER IS RECOMMENDED

Auburn, Ala.—Strippers being used by farmers in Jackson and DeKalb counties for saving crimson clover seed are recommended to other farmers by J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

"Two types of strippers are used," he said. "For small areas hand strippers are adequate, but on large areas horse-drawn strippers give best results. The seed are sowed in the chaff, that is, not recleaned, as most growers in the Sand Mountain area consider the chaffy seed more satisfactory. The strippers can be made at very small cost and plans for making them can be had from county agents."

Approximately 150,000 pounds of crimson clover seed were sowed in Alabama in the fall of 1933, mostly for seed.

Due to the cotton acreage-reduction program it is expected that Alabama this year will harvest its biggest food and feed crop, as the rented acres are being planted in crops to be consumed on the farms where grown.

WADESONIAN THEATRE OPENS WITH NEW SOUND SYSTEM 8TH

Joe E. Brown In "Son Of A Sailor" Is First Picture To Be Shown With New Sound In Local Theatre Next Tuesday, May 8th

The Wadesonian Theatre will open Tuesday, May 8, with RCA "High Fidelity" sound. A new giant loud speaker, capable of reproducing the entire range of audible frequencies with the utmost fidelity has been installed behind the porous screen from which the sound emanates, and with the new sound head and high quality amplification system in the projection booth, the stage is set for presenting the greatest advance in theatre sound since the advent of talking pictures.

Whereas, previous systems have been able to produce tones as low as 100 cycles and as high as 6,000 cycles at the very best, the new RCA Victor equipment can faithfully reproduce tones as low as 60 cycles and as high as 10,000 cycles. The range of volume, too, has been improved so that the merest whisper of the wind in the grass or the great crescendo of a symphony orchestra may be reproduced with equal fidelity.

With the installation of this remarkable new RCA "High Fidelity" apparatus in the Wadesonian Theatre motion picture fans of Clanton will enjoy sound of the same high standard as that in the two finest theatres in the world, the Roxy and International Music Hall of Radio City, in Rockefeller Center, New York.

With the installation of this new equipment the Wadesonian will be one of the first theatres in this vicinity to be equipped with apparatus capable of faithfully reproducing the finest sound which recent advances in recording have made possible. Theatre patrons will be assured of brilliantly natural and intelligible sound—sound that until recently was only possible in the world's largest laboratories.

Responsible motion picture theatre exhibitors have for some time been aware that the continuous advances which have been scored in the art of recording sound motion pictures, had far outstripped the performance of current types of motion picture reproducing equipment.

BANKING RETURNS TOWARD NORMAL

Reconstruction Finance Corporation Loan Repayments Show Banks Lead Procession in Recovery Movement

Indicating a rapid return on the part of the banks to a normal self-sustaining basis, 54 per cent of the loans which they made from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to tide them over the difficulties of the past two years have been repaid by them, it is shown in a recent official report.

The R. F. C. report, issued on March 6, says that the Corporation since it began operations in February, 1932, had made aggregate cash advances to railroads, agricultural and home loan agencies, insurance companies and various other institutions in the amount of $4,786,410,000. Of this sum banks and trust companies, to the number of 6,788, received actual cash advances of $1,520,540,000, but have already paid back $820,260,000, or 54 per cent. These figures are exclusive of $376,390,000 in loans authorized but withdrawn or not availed of by the banks.

Non-banking borrowers received R. F. C. advances in the amount of $3,265,870,000, and made repayments of $377,830,000, or less than 12 per cent. Among other classes of financial institutions reported as making high ratios of repayments are building and loan associations which had received $114,020,000 and have repaid $53,880,000, or over 47 per cent, and insurance companies, whose borrowings totalled $88,590,000 and repayments $34,340,000, or nearly 39 per cent. None of the major non-governmental financial groups showed so high a ratio of repayments as the banks and trust companies as a group.

MUSICAL CONCERT AT COOPERS FRIDAY NIGHT, MAY 11

What promises to be one of the most outstanding musical events of the season is the concert to be held at Chestnut Creek, Coopers, Friday night, May 11th, as the closing exercises of Prof. L. M. (Red) Harden's singing school, which he is now engaged in teaching at Shady Grove church on Mitchell Dam road. Prof. Harden has been teaching schools at several places in the southern part of the county for the past two or three months, and he has given concerts at the close of each. He has put on some good ones. but according to his predictions the one to be at Coopers will be the best.

The program will consist of popular numbers, sacred and secular songs, quartets, trios. duets and solos. There will be visiting singers and quartets to entertain the visitors. The price of admission will be 10 and 15 cents.

A big feature of the program will be a negro sermon followed with a spiritual directed by the preacher.

The concert was moved from the place of the singing school on account of Chestnut Creek church being roomier and better lighted.

A PLUCKY GIRL

In these days, when apparently no limit is set on the ambitions of women looking for a "career," it is not surprising to find them engaged in unusual tasks, and in unusual places. Among those who have left the beaten path seeking adventure and fortune, few have displayed greater pluck and enthusiasm than Miss Kathleen Rice, a native of St. Mary's Ontario.

Miss Rice, an honor graduate of Toronto University, found school teaching too prosaic and a few years ago set out for northern Manitoba, 400 miles north of Winnipeg, where she homesteaded a quarter-section farm, cleared land and built her own cottage.

Later she took to prospecting for minerals and staked out a number of promising claims, with apparently great potential wealth in gold, copper, nickel, zinc and vanadium. She now lives on an island in Harb Lake, seven miles from the nearest community, where she traps and hunts in winter and prospects in summer. No phase of pioneering is foreign to her experience.

If Miss Rice's object was to get away from the monotony of being comfortable she has certainly accomplished her purpose.

MORE BUYING POWER

Governmental spending will pour more than seven and one-half billion dollars into America's pockets this year. The flood will bring immensely increased buying power. Manufacturers and dealers are planning accordingly.

The washing machine industry, for example, predicts that 1934 will be easily the best year it has enjoyed since 1929. Recently many washing machine factories have been running day and night.

As families began to show better buying power toward the end of 1933, it is interesting to note that almost without exception they promptly proceeded to equipping their homes with labor and time-saving devices.

Farm income last year was about $1,200,000,000 above 1932, including payment of $152,000,000 to farmers by Washington, but this is only a fraction compared to what the government will distribute in cash to all classes of population this year. For 1934 the total will be $7,750,000,000, or increased spending power directly traceable to federal spending amounting to $77.50 for each man, woman and child in the United States.

Much of this immense income will go into circulation without delay. America's homes are underequipped and suffering from the burden of out of date appliances. There is a nationwide urge to improving home conditions. New buying power shows itself in an instantaneous move to end discomfort in the home and inaugurate new economies making living easier and better.

SMALL TOWN FACTORIES

No community and no state ever became fully prosperous through agriculture alone, declares T. R. Preston, former president of the American Bankers Association, who is a strong advocate of combining industry with agriculture by locating factories in the smaller communities.

Mr. Preston cites particularly the small cities and towns of North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Ohio as affording excellent examples of such combination. He points out that industry and agriculture are well balanced with the result that the farm problem is less acute in those states.

The idea of locating new factories in towns and villages, instead of further concetrating them in congested centers of population, is spreading throughout the country, and some of the largest factories are now so located. An example is Kingsport, Tenn., with only a few thousand population, yet boasting the largest book printing plant in the world, besides other important industries.

The benefits derived from this decentralization of industry is seen in an increased market for local farm products employment of surplus labor, elevation of living standards for both farmer and factory employer, increases in taxable wealth, better schools and other public facilities.

VOLUME XII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1934 TEN PAGES NUMBER 33

So IT SEEMS

By Victor Norris

After having to resign this space for two weeks to events of greater importance, if elections and politics can be termed important, we are ready again to give our readers the truth, if only we can devise some way of determining the truth.

Truth about elections and politics, we find, is one of the hardest truths in existence to locate. But these political pronostigators never realize when they are whipped. Only this week, a man who two weeks ago was predicting the overwhelming of one of the worst defeated candidates in this past election has picked a winner for the November election, and declares that there is no way to defeat the new favorite. But we are not inclined to place any great credence in a person's vision who apparently fails to appreciate his recent incapacity.

This election up-set some of the best calculated predictions, indicating that the people are doing more individual thinking than in many elections past. Little evidence is seen of machine work, even machines said to have controlled hundreds of votes in the county during years past failed to enjoy a very overwhelming success May 1.

Several candidates who, had been practicing loafing for eight or ten hours each day, training for positions of the public payrolls, found their training in vain—and in some instances, no doubt, a handicap when they return to their various vocations.

The intensity with which a few candidates for county office sought to give aid to their friends seeking higher offices in the State government resulted in their own elimination.

The June primary means little in the Democratic party. Only two run-offs are on schedule—Dr. V. J. Gragg and Earle Thomas will vie for the honor with a salary of four dollars per day for days served, honor is about all that can be expected) of serving this district as State Senator; T. L. McKee and Newton A. Popwell will meet on mat again, contending for the office of Tax Collector.

In the Republican party, the race between Judge L. H. Reynolds and J. Z. Mims for the nomination for Judge of Probate is going to be more hot than healthy. But friends of J. Lee Smith aver that all the heat will be in vain in the November finals.

The Judge and Mr. Mims have been failing to appreciate each other for sometime, and a political race boiled down to a personal contest between these two should be spicy enough to create considerable interest. Although Judge Reynolds lead Mr. Mims by approximately 200 votes in the recent election, friends of the Circuit Clerk expect him to pull enough of the J. N. Dennis vote to heap up a good majority but in our opinion, Judge Reynolds does not make that concession.

Noted with pleasure the good vote polled by our old friend, J. C. Pattillo. The people of Chilton County would have to look long before finding a more capable man than J. C. Pattillo for the place he seeks in county government. It is very doubtful if three more men possessing his general knowledge, can be found in Chilton County.

Seven New Recruits Go To Forest Camps

Seven Chilton County boys were recently added to the list of boys from the county who have enlisted in the President's reforestration service. They were sent to Savannah, where they will be transferred to some reforestration camp.

They were: J. D. Suttles, Stanton; Lebern Smith, Stanton; Odis Kimbrick, Calera; Harvey Barnett, Calera; Raymond Gwathney, Clanton; Luverne Noah, Clanton, and Raymond Cobern, Mt Creek.

200 APPLICATIONS FOR GOV'T EMERGENCY LOANS RECEIVED

Approximately two hundred farmers applied for Government Emergency Loan The total amount being about ten thousand dollars. Two weeks ago we published an article saying that the time for making applications would close May first. This time was extended to May 15, but it seems now that the time will close with this date, so any person interested in making application for an Emergency Loan should call at the County Agent's office before May 15th.

All applications must be in the Mem- office on or before May 15th.

HOPES HELD FOR CLEAR'G DOCKET IN SPECIAL TERM

Two Weeks Special Term Of Court In Session In Chilton County

Indications are that the special term of circuit court which got underway in Chilton County Monday, with Judge R. B. Carr, of Anniston, presiding, will be one of the most efficient terms of court in this county for some time and will result in practically clearing the criminal docket of the county, which has been terribly clogged for the past three or four years.

Court got underway with the trial Monday of John C. Anderson, charged with embezzlement and forgery in connection with the alleged endorsement of a county warrant, drawn in the name of O. F. Patrick, Billingsley, without Patrick's knowledge or consent.

The jury was out less than an hour

ANDERSON IS NOT GUILTY SAYS JURY

John C. Anderson Is Freed Of Forgery Charge In Trial

A jury of twelve Chilton County men rendered a verdict of not guilty, Monday, in the case of John C. Anderson, former road overseer, charged with forgery and embezzlement in connection with the alleged endorsement of a county warrant issued to O. F. Patrick for work on county roads in August of 1929.

A statutatory limitation of two years automatically squashed the phase of the indictment charging embezzlement; and the jury remained out less than an hour before returning a verdict of not guilty to the charge of forgery.

An attempt was made by attorneys representing the State to prove that Anderson wrote Patrick's name on the back of a county warrant drawn in Patrick's name for the sum of thirty-six dollars. The charge attempted to show that the defendant endorsed the warrant without Patrick's permission or knowledge.

After proving by several witnesses that Patrick's reputation was bad, Rey-

Airport Is Again Center Of Activity As New Program Begins

Approximately 200 men have been put to work on the airport and county drainage project this week under the provisions of the new governmental emergency relief and work program, according to W. A. Cone, county works director.

Two hundred seventy have been certified for work following investigation by the relief forces under the supervision of Miss Kittye Clyde Austin, county social director, who has charge of the relief phase of the new program in Chilton County. Miss Austin stated that about 350 men in the county will be certified for work.

It is hoped that more projects may be opened within the next few days. It is the aim of the program to complete as many as possible of the several projects left incomplete by the CWA program, it is understood.

Sixteen families have been approved for federal aid under the provisions of the rehabilitation program, and provisions were being issued this week in an effort to get them started to farming. Sixty families have been submittd to the State committee, but only sixteen approvals had been received late Tuesday afternoon.

COL. BIBB GRAVES

Slated To Poll The Largest Vote Given Candidate For Governor

OPTIMISTIC OVER ELECTION OUTCOME

Slated by his thousands of friends and supporters over Alabama to receive the largest vote afforded a gubernatorial candidate in Alabama, Col. Bibb Graves enters into his campaign prior to the second primary with renewed hope.

Those who led the fights in many sections of the state in behalf of Judge Leon McCord before the first primary are firmly declaring themselves for Col. Graves and unhesitatingly saying he is the man for Governor of Alabama. Reports of this kind are continually coming in from over the state. It is also understood that many of those who were supporters of Frank Dixon have had a change of mind and are now joining the increasing ranks of Graves supporters.

Local political observers state their opinions showing that Graves without a doubt will be the next Governor of Alabama, not only due to his extreme popularity, but that the people of the State have reached the conclusion he is the man for the place. Col. Graves,

School Bus Routes Open For Bids To 25

Sealed bids will be accepted by the county board of education until noon May 25 for the operation of school buses in the county during the school term of 1934-35, according to an announcement by Luther E. Little, superintendent of education.

Any persons wishing to request a change in any route must file a written notice of this request with the superintendent's office not later than May 25, he stated. Mr. Little also stated that any parties wishing to make inquiries regarding the lengths of any routes, or the number of children to ride the buses, may secure this information from the superintendent's office on request.

A copy of instructions regarding the filing of bids is being prepared and will be mailed to any interested parties on request, Mr. Little stated.

Pay Tribute To God And Mother; Go To Church

Sunday, May 13, America will pause to pay tribute to its mothers. By proclamation of President Roosevelt this day has been designated Mother's Day, and will be celebrated throughout the entire Nation.

In Chilton County, several programs will be rendered at churches and schools to pay tribute to the Mothers. To the world, the Red and White roses on lapels will tell a story, but the greater stories will be in the thousands of retrospective memories.

The pastors of the Clanton churches issued a special invitation for the citizenship of Clanton to celebrate Mothers' Day by attending church, declaring that no higher tribute can be paid a mother than to observe the day set aside in her honor by attending church and joining in the worship of God.

OLIVER THANKS PEOPLE FOR SPLENDID VOTE IN PRIMARY

HON. W. B. OLIVER

Official Duties Necessitate His Immediate Return To Washington

With official duties necessitating his immediate return to Washington, Congressman W. B. Oliver paid a very brief visit in Clanton last Friday afternoon and expressed his regret that he would not be able to see his many friends in the county before returning to the Nation's capital.

To those he was able to see during the few minutes he was in Clanton, prior to leaving for Washington Saturday morning, he expressed the wish that they would convey to the voters of Chilton county his sincere and heartfelt appreciation for the splendid support and vote he received in the primary held May first when Chilton County gave him a large majority over his two opponents in the Congressional race.

This county ranked near the top of the eight counties in his district in the number of votes cast for Mr. Oliver over his opponents and the Congressman who has served his district, his state and his nation so well he feels a keen interest in the people here, according to his statement Friday. He stated he would like to see each one personally and extend his appreciation, and tell them to feel free to write him in Washington about any matters in which he may be able to be of service.

Mr. Oliver was re-elected by a safe margin and will serve this Sixth Congressional District for another two years.

KLINNER HAS PUT ON SALE OF REFRIGERAT'RS

Introducing Crosley Line Of New "Shelvadors" To Chilton County

Prospective purchasers of electric refrigerators should pay a visit to the E. L. Klinner Furniture Company, on the highway, and see the bargains being offered during a special sale of Crosley Shelvador electric rfrigerators.

W. H. Klinner, manager of the establishment, declared that such rfrigerator bargains have never been offered in Clanton. With several patented features not to be had in any other electric refrigerator, Mr. Klinner advises his customers not to fail to take advantage of this opportunity to purchase a real, genuine Crosley Shelvador at greatly reduced prices.

The Crosley Shelvador is featured in six styles and four sizes, Mr. Klinner stated, and the liberal terms and economical prices make it possible for anyone to own one of these outstanding refrigerators. The machine is sold and installed and one year's free service given for prices within the range of everyone's pocketbook, he continued.

LARGEST VOTE SEEN IN COUNTY HISTORY

With the first elimination contest past, political candidates in both parties in Chilton County are being groomed for the big meet in November. Little thought seems to be given to the next primary, June 12, which will complete the eliminations and line up the two battle fronts for the November crucifixion.

Only in a few instances is much consideration being given to the June primary. In the Republican ranks, considerable excitement will result from the attacks and counter-attacks of Judge Reynolds and J. Z. Mims in their fight for the Republican nomination and the opportunity to face J. Lee Smith in the finals.

Over the State, sharp battle lines are being drawn between the Dixon and Graves forces and both are unhesitant in predicting a sure victory little more than five weeks from now. With a lead of approximately 33,000, Major Dixon will necessarily have to carry two-thirds of the McCord vote to win over the former governor. His supporters over the State declare that this can be done: Graves supporters likewise give their

McDonald Withdraws From Coosa Election

The Rockford Chronicle of Rockford, Ala., will state today that Judge George B. McDonald, at present Probate Judge of Coosa County and a candidate to succeed himself, has withdrawn from the race.

In a statement issued to The Chronicle, Judge McDonald expressed his deep appreciation of the support given him. The result of the primary election last week left McDonald and Winston Stewart for the run-off, with Stewart far ahead over the entire county, and over other candidates for the office, including Sheriff R. O. Neighbors. This action on the part of Judge McDonald leaves the field open for Mr. Stewart, who will be the next Probate Judge of Coosa County. He has for several years been cashier of the Bank of Rockford.

STUDENTS WIN HONORS IN MUSIC CONTEST SATURDAY

Theda Wyatt and Mary Armstrong have the honor of winning first places in the music contest held last Saturday at the Jefferson Davis Hotel in Montgomery.

Each year the Federation of Music Clubs sponsors a contest for the Junior clubs of each state. The contestant is required to play certain compositions selected by a committee from the National Federation of Music Clubs. Since a high standard of excellence must be met in order to win, the Junior Music Club of Clanton feels highly honored that two of its members have the distinction of winning first places.

Mary Armstrong won first place in the hymn playing contest. Theda Wyatt won first place in the piano contest. Both Mary and Theda are pupils of Mrs. Barney Roberts.

"THE SMOKY MOUNTAINEERS" AT COURT HOUSE SATURDAY

"The Smoky Mountaineers," featuring Pat Buttram and the boys; Odis Elden, NBC star; and Doug Haughton, the Harmonica King, will be shown at the Clanton court house in two shows Saturday, May 12, sponsored by the missionary circles of the Clanton Methodist and Baptist churches.

The first showing of this outstanding radio show will begin at 4 o'clock and continue until 5:30 Saturday afternoon, and the second show will begin at 8 o'clock and continue until 9:30 o'clock Saturday evening.

Graves Enters Run-Off With Optimistic Spirit

Montgomery, Ala., May 7—Col. Bibb Graves will enter the run-off for the governorship on June 12 against Frank Dixon, the runner-up, with assurance that he will poll the largest majority vote ever accorded a gubernatorial candidate in Alabama. From every section of the State, telegrams, telephone calls and letters have poured into Col. Graves' office, each assuring him that the big lead he held over his nearest opponent expressed the will of the people and that the people will again rally to his support on June 12th. Significantly, these messages of confidence and offers of support have come from all political factions. Leaders among the McCord forces, as well as Dixon followers, have told Col. Graves they have fulfilled their obligations to their candidates and are now ready to get behind his cadidacy and put him back into the governor's office.

Local political observers declare that during the last few days of the first campaign the "big wigs" of Alabama politics gutted the McCord ranks in favor of Dixon; that there was a landslide of McCord support switched over to Dixon in an eleventh-hour effort to put the Birmingham candidate over. This, they say, has left the remaining McCord voters free to do as they choose and that they will go over to the Graves side in the run-off.

One of the most encouraging developments since the first primary has been the voluntary offers of support from the newspapers which supported Judge McCord. One prominent upstate editor who ardently supported McCord, and whose county gave the Judge a large vote, came in person to Montgomery to tell Col. Graves that he will do everything in his power to make the Graves vote unanimous. Scores of newspapers which maintained neutrality during the first campaign, have announced that they will support Col. Graves.

With a vote of more than 130,000, one of the largest ever accorded a gubernatorial candidate in Alabama, Col. Graves goes into the run-off with the advantage of having carried 57 of the 67 counties and topped his nearest opponent by approximately 35,000 votes. Having lost only 7 of the 22 North Alabama counties and only 3 counties south of Jefferson, Col. Graves, it is believed, is destined to give Alabama another four years of "Graves and Growth."

In a public statement issued here today by Col. Graves, the soldier and statesman said that the record-breaking vote accorded him on May first was a vote of confidence in his ability to put Alabama back at the top in progress, prosperity, and happiness. "I am indeed grateful to this vast army of Alabamians who want me to serve them again," he said, "and they can rest assured that when I return to the governor's office, my heart and every ounce of my energy will be put into the task ahead of me."

Gragg Thanks Voters For Support Given

To The Voters of Chilton County:

It is a great pleasure to me to know that I received a very respectable lead in all three counties of the Fifteenth Senatorial District. I feel especially grateful for this vote and desire to express my thanks to all who so loyally supported me in the primary just past. My home county, Chilton, having given me a total of 1081 while one of my opponents received 317 and the other one 594.

I regret very much that business duties prevented my making a complete canvass of the district, but hope to see every voter face to face in the near future, and be able to personally express to you my thanks for your support.

Yours very sincerely,
V. J. GRAGG.

Geo. C. Polk Thanks Voters For Support

I wish to thank those who voted for me for Tax Collector for their support. Especially do I appreciate the friendship that prompted those who voted for me. While I lacked only one vote of being tied with Newton Popwell for the run-off with Tom McKee, I feel that I received a very flattering vote, which I appreciate very much.

To all of you ,whether you voted for me or not, I invite you to call to see me at Polk Brothers Motor Co. so that we many get better acquainted and discuss politics, Plymouth cars, radios, farming implements or what have you—and remember, we must elect a full Democratic ticket this fall.

A LAUNDRY ADVERTISEMENT ADDRESSED TO THE MEN:

Most of our advertising is addressed to the Mothers of families, but this week realizing that we are all thinking of ways to do something exceptionally nice for Mother we are speaking right out to the men.

We honestly believe that you can do nothing nicer for Mother, the one who toils in your home day in and day out, with few holidays and practically no vacations, than to lift from her shoulders the burden of the Family Wash.

It isn't expensive—in fact if you consider all factors—cost of soap, fuel, water, etc., it costs no more, and your clothes are laundered scientifically which makes them look better and last longer.

Resolve to do this, this week and through all the hot summer months ahead as a tribute to Mother's many services to her family.

Popwell Thanks Voters For Fine Support

As it will be impossible for me to see each and every one of my supporters face to face I take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation for your support and influence. in the May 1st primary and I truly believe I will poll many more votes on June 12th.

I realize my opponents were more widely known, although I believe from the majority I had in two of the Boxes in Beat 4 I will be in better condition to make the next race. I believe the voters, both men and women, who live out of this box (4) after seeing my vote in my home beat will feel safer in casting their vote for me in the coming primary of June 12th.

Being young has helped me in many ways, for I believe many of the voters believe in "Giving a Young Man a Chance" and I sincerely appreciate this, and want each and every one of you to keep this idea in mind as the time is drawing near for you to select your nominee for Tax Collector.

I say when you cast your vote for me that I will not cause you to regret doing so.

The time being so short from now until June, it will be impossible for me to see all the voters, so consider this a personal visit to each and every one ot you.

I believe and think you will agree with me that being young and not known any more over the County I made a splendid race for my first time, although I want to do much beter next time and I believe the majority of the voters are going to be with me and put me over the top on June 12th.

I thank you!

Yours very sincerely,

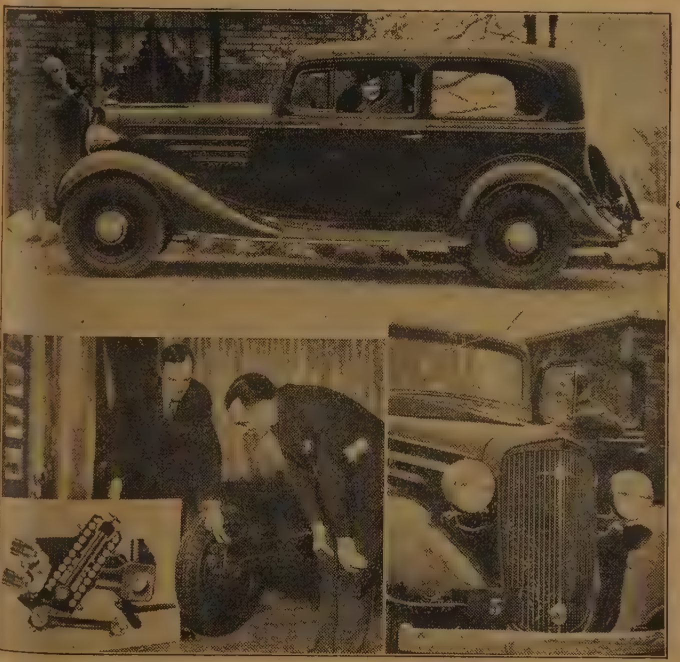
New "Knee-Action" Chevrolet Gives Passengers Ride Like a Glide



In the design and development of the new 1934 Chevrolet, particular attention has been given to driver and passenger comfort, all annoying sensations of disagreeable sound and feeling having been eliminated. The upper photo shows the new Chevrolet coach with its long, sleek lines. Wind rush has been eliminated by the Fisher No Draft Ventilators and the new streamlined bodies.

The radiator of the new car has added beauty through its graceful and sharply pointed design. Smartness has been the theme in every line of this year's Chevrolet.

The driver and passengers in the new 1934 Chevrolet get a ride like the glide of an airplane. One of the main factors in improving the riding qualities of the new car to such a great extent is the "Knee-Action"—or independently sprung front wheels, to use the technical term.

So much has been written about independent springing that the public has doubtless concluded that it is something too technical to understand. As a matter of fact, there is nothing complicated about either the principle involved or the construction of the system. Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" enjoys the advantage of being enclosed in a welded weathertight housing in which the entire spring mechanism and shock absorbers ride up and down in a bath of oil.

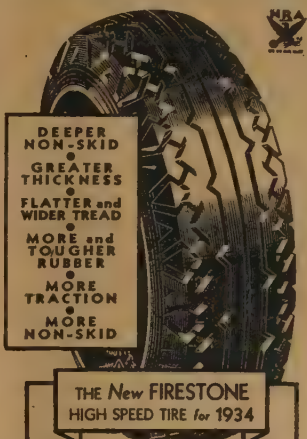
An automobile gives a perfect ride when both the front and rear springs have the same "frequency," or tension. Actually this has been impossible to carry out in the past because the front springs had to be over twice as "stiff" as the rear springs in order to hold the front axle, wheels and brakes in place. In independent springing, the wheels and spring mechanism are rigidly attached directly to the frame and there is no front axle. By relieving the front springs of the task of carrying wheels and axle, therefore, it became possible to make the front springs as "soft" as the rear springs. When the new Chevrolet strikes an irregularity in the road, both front and rear move up and down with the same frequency—there is no inclination on the part of the rear end of the car to leap into the air and throw the passengers forward and upward.

Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" has additional advantages all contributing to a comfort in riding never before thought possible in a motor car. There is a decided improvement in handling, steering, safety at high speeds and tire economy.

In design, the front spring is a neat, compact and efficient unit, as Mr. Holler points out in the above picture. The entire spring mechanism is attached rigidly to the frame. From this enclosed unit the wheels spring vertically at the ends of strong, steel horizontal arms.

Firestone
LEADERSHIP
"The Ultimate Test of Leadership is Performance"

FIRESTONE has maintained its leadership in tire development by producing a new tire for 1934 with a wider tread, flatter contour, deeper non-skid, greater thickness, and more and tougher rubber, which gives greater non-skid safety, more traction, greater blowout protection, and more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.



These achievements are made practical by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, providing greater adhesion between the plies of the high stretch cords and between the Gum-Dipped body of the tire and the tough, massive non-skid tread. It also provides greater strength, longer flexing life, and greater protection against blowouts.

Gum-Dipping made it possible for Firestone to design, develop and put on the market the first successful balloon tire in 1923. This tire was the pattern used by all others and completely revolutionized the tire industry and set new standards for the automobile industry.

Firestone also developed the first all-rubber non-skid tire, and has always been first to give motorists the benefits of new discoveries in non-skid design, providing more traction and greater non-skid safety.

For fourteen years leading race drivers have driven to victory on Firestone tires, built with Gum-Dipped high stretch cords. They have trusted their lives to Firestone Leadership—as they know that the patented Firestone construction features provide them with greater safety — longer mileage — and greater blowout protection.

Harden's Concert For Friday At Verbena

Prof. L. M. (Red) Harden, who has been teaching a singing school at Shady Grove for the past month, announces that for good and sufficient reasons his concert will not be held at Chestnut Creek church as previously announced, but instead will be held at Verbena High School building. The date remains the same—Friday night of this week, May 11th, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Prof. Harden assures everyone who attends a couple of hours of good wholsome entertainment. The program will consist of sacred songs, quartets, trios, duets, solos, spirituals and a negro sermon. All may attend with the assurance that the program will be clean in every respect. There will be fun but nothing undesirable to the most fastidious. An admission fee of 10c and 15c will be charged at the door. Everybody cordially invited.

H. R. ODEN THANKS VOTERS

Editor, Chilton County News:

I wish to express through the columns ot your paper my sincere appreciation for the loyal support and influence given me in behalf of my candidacy for Commissioner in the Second District. I had a good man to beat and for those who supported Mr. Robinson I take this opportunity in soliciting your vote and influence in the November election. You have the same warm place in my heart as those who supported me in the primary.

I shall try to see you personally before November and give you some of my ideas relative to serving the people of Chilton County in the capacity of Commissioner.

Thanking you all again, I am,
Sincerely,

CORN-HOG ADJUSTMENT PROGRAM IN CHILTON CO.

We have two Government rental projects in this county. You have heard more of the cotton program than anything else for the last five months, but the farmers of Chilton County will realize a neat little sum from the Corn-Hog program. The total amount that will be received by twenty-one hog growers in the county is $3134.10. One payment of this amount is about $1,000 will be sent to the growers as soon as the contracts are completed and sent to Washington. Another one-third will come to the growers in December of this year, and the final payment will be made in Fbruary, 1935.

Atkinson Expresses Thanks To Voters

To The Voters of Chilton County:

Please accept my thanks for the splendid vote which I received in my race for Judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit.

I appreciate the loyalty of the citizens who stood by me in this race and gave me their vote and influence. When I entered this race I did so because I had a desire to be of service to the people of this Circuit, and felt that it was Chilton County's time to have representation. The majority of the voters of the Circoit did not agree with this view, and I now cheerfully submit to the wishes of the majority.

If in the future I can be of any service to my friends and the Democratic Party I stand ready to give each my best and loyal service.

Yours truly,
J. B. ATKINSON,
Clanton, Alabama.

Martin Expresses Appreciation To Friends

Editor, Chilton County News:
Clanton, Alabama.

I wish to make use of the columns of your newspaper to express my sincere appreciation and gratitude to the hundreds of voters who believed me worthy of the honor of serving this county in the capacity of Tax Assessor, and on May 1st cast their votes in my behalf.

I was indeed pleasantly surprised and exceedingly grateful for this overwhelming show of confidence in me; and to these voters, if I am successful in the November election, I want to pledge my every effort to render a service that will be in keeping with their wishes.

Respectfully,
ARTHUR D. MARTIN.

T. L. McKee Thanks Voters For Support

To the Voters of Chilton County:

It was with a great deal of pride and appreciation that I noted the very flattering vote I received in my race for the Democratic nomination as Tax Collector of Chilton County in the May 1st primary. I appreciated beyond expression this indication of confidence in me and my ability to serve the people in this capacity.

And I want to assure, not only those who cast their votes for me but every citizen in the county, that if I am successful in the coming elections I shall bend every effort toward rendering a service commensurate with the high standards of the people to be served.

To those who rendered such worthy assistance in behalf of my candidacy, I want to express my utmost appreciation and solicit your further assistance in the run-off June 12; and to those many friends who cast their votes for either of my opponents in the recent election, I solicit your vote and assistance in the coming election, assuring you that it shall be gratfully appreciated, and in the event of my nomination, I shall endeavor to render my best for our Part in the November election.

Because of the brief period between now and the coming primary, it will be impossible for me to again see all the voters in the county, so I urge m friends in the several communities t consider my interests in this campaign and solicit as many of our frends t join with us in assuring my nomination in the coming election.

If I am nominated, I sincerely hope that my life will always be such that it wil lnever be possible for anyone who participated in my nomination to regret that participation.

Sincerely,
T. L. McKEE.

BIBB GRAVES FOR GOVERNOR

BIBB GRAVES

The Bibb Graves Campaign Committee for Chilton County Appeals to the Voters to Support Bibb Graves for Governor — Not Only That He Is a Native Alabamian — But That He Made an Enviable Record During the Four Years He Served as Chief Executive of the Great State of Alabama. He Did Not Favor a Few of the Politicians, He Did Not Accept Orders from the Large Corporations, He was the Peoples' Governor.

Graves will support Roosevelt's policy and will get Alabama's part in the "New Deal" when he is again elected Governor.

Graves is for Education and will give us a minimum of seven months school, and, he will pay the teachers.

Graves is for Economy, not taxation, but he does believe in the "Big Mules" paying their share of the tax burden.

Graves will go into the Governor's office free of any alliances for or against any class or group.

Can Mr. Dixon, who was born in California and reared in North Carolina, and, who has resided in the Grand Old State of Alabama only about 14 years promise you a platform favorable to we common people as well as to the monied interests --- who are the corporations favoring. The "Big Mules" are fighting Bibb Graves. The corporations would be glad to spend a few thousand dollars to elect Dixon and during the four years in return save millions in taxes.

Strawberries Continue To Bring Cash In Co.

The Strawberry growers of Chilton County seem to being enjoying the favors of the gods this season. With more than sixty cars shipped from the county, the recipts from this crop is fast approaching the $50,000 mark.

Late Tuesday afternoon approximately forty-five carloads of berries had been shipped from Clanton. The exact figures on the amounts shipped from Thorsby and Jemison were not available, but it is thought to be above fifteen cars.

The price is still above two dollars per crate, in Clanton, which nets the grower approximately ninety cents after paying picking and packing costs, according to reports.

A Boy's Tribute To His Mother

On next Sunday, May 13th, by proclamation of our President, this nation will pay tribute to its mothers. Gifts, tokens of our affection, will be mailed or delivered. Letters will be written, telegrams will be sent, trips made back home and thousands of flowers will be worn in memory and tribute to her.

It seems futile for us to attempt the measurements of a Mother's love for her child. Our depth of understanding is too shallow, and our measuring rule is too short. We see it performing daily tasks of service about and for us, but we often fail to fully appreciate the moving spirit behind it, nor do we recognize the distances it will gladly go. Most of our mothers give their expressions of love in the ordinary services of daily living. A dress given up that a daughter may have a new hat or coat; some minor sacrifice that gives her boy a gun, a bike or new suit. These, with the many steps of service made in the average American home by our mothers represent to most of us her love. But back of every great man is a proud mother, and back of every criminal is a sorrowing one. These extremes give us some insight into the breadth and depth of a mother's love. We quote here a tribute from a boy to his mother which seems to us to illustrate the point:

> The powers which guide my destiny might possibly place me in the highest position of honor which this naton affords, in which case my Mother's love would go with me to give humbleness of spirit and keep me from forgetting that I am still just one in the great brotherhood of man, and that my talents must be used to serve this brotherhood rather than to glorify myself.
> Again, these same powers might place me in the bottomless pit of despair, and I might conceivably stand upon the hangman's scaffold, condemned and scorned by the world. But her love would still reach out to comfort and suffer with me until the last moment, and her prayers would speed my soul into a haven of peace located somewhere in the eternity of her affection.

Let's Make Our Town Cleaner and Safer

Right now Spring is in the air, and nature, in her annual awakening, is doing her utmost to beautify this old world of ours. A little help on our part would not be [illegible]

In the Winter many things are neglected. Vacant lots, yards and even streets become unsightly. Now is the time for a thorough spring cleaning, in the interest of better health, safety and improved appearance.

Such a clean-up campaign is a splendid activity for civic clubs, chambers of commerce or Boy Scouts to sponsor. One of them will have to assume the leadership in order to start the ball rolling, then obtain the cooperation of others. Streets and parkings should be cleaned. Vacant lots, cleared of rubbish, can be made into healthful playgrounds, parks or gardens. Not the least important phase of this work is the jobs it provides.

When a movement to clean-up and beautify sweeps through a community, it leaves in its wake a healthier, safer and more sanitary town than it found. From the angle of fire safety alone, it is worthwhile. In this connection it is interesting to note that the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported that during the year 1932, rubbish and litter caused a fire loss of almost $1,200,000 throughout the United States. Let's beautify our communities—and save that money this year.

Tires

In reconditioning your car for the spring and summer driving campaign, it is to be hoped that you did not stop with the engine, the brakes, the lights. Of course, these must be in perfect shape, but perhaps you overlooked a vital safety feature in every automobile—the tires.

While your brakes stop the wheels, it is the tires that stop the car. That fact is being emphasized in this day of high speed and increased horsepower. If you go fast, you must stop quickly. And that is where a good tire comes in.

Figures, obtained by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, indicate that three-fourths of the cars inspected in a number of states last year had dangerous defects. Nearly 48 per cent of these defective cars were equipped with tires that were either poor or only in fair condition. A poor, even a fair tire, is liable to a puncture or blowout, and everyone knows what that means at high speeds.

All drivers have noticed the abnormal number of blowouts and punctures during the first warm days. The heat has raised the air pressure and a worn tire has blown out or punctured on a sharp obstruction or severe bump. During the winter months the dampness has seeped in through the cuts and bruises produced by thousands of miles of driving. This dampness has decayed the rubber and weakned the tire.

There were 7,120 accidents last year due to punctures or blowouts. In 480 of these accidents persons were killed and there were 27,160 skidding accidents in which 1,420 persons were killed and 30,200 injured.

Look your tires over carefully, and if they are not up to standard replace them!

A doctor gets paid according to his knowledge of his patient's physical and financial condition.

A good many screen actresses marry their managers, after which the latter do perceptibly less managing.

Economic Horse Sense

Here is the way out of the country's present transportation dilemma, tersely stated by Dr. M. C. Waltersdorf, Professor of Economics, Washington and Jefferson College.

"All transportation agencies engaged in interstate commerce should be controlled by the same regulatory body as the rail carriers. A federal body could determine the proper place of the different competitive agencies in a comprehensive statesman—like system of transportation through a thorough survey of their capacity and functions."

The abuses that have grown up under our present disorganized policy hardly need recounting. The government has poured millions of dollars of taxpayers money into waterways—both to build and operate them, and to make up deficits. It has permitted bus and truck systems to operate free from regulation, changing rates and schedules as they see fit. It has actually regulated but one carrier—the railroads. They have been prevented by law from cutting rates to meet competition. They have watched a constantly incrasing percentage of the business they once had go to favored, often subsidized competitors—and have been powerless to do anything about it.

This, as Transportation Coordinator Eastman has said, is an intolerable situation, destructive not only to the interests of railroads and their hundreds of thousands of workers, but to business in general, which vitally needs economical, certain, long-haul transport, and to the entire shipping and traveling public. Remedying it, through equitable, centralized regulation of all carriers, is simply economic horse sense.

Skills Of The Road

High schools throughout the United States have an exceptional opportunity to forward the accident prevention movement by following the example of the secondary schools of Bergen County, New Jersey. Youngsters in this large and populous county have organized a "Skills of the Road" program under the direction of the High School Y. M. C. A. They are spreading the gospel of safe and sane driving, and are training themselves to take over the responsibility of future highway safety.

A skilled driver, according to the young safety campaigners, "keeps in proper line; keeps inside white line; does not hog the road; makes proper turns; practices road courtesy; recognizes that a child always has the right of way; observes green as the only 'go' signal; looks and signals before coming out of a parking place; thinks quickly and accurately in an emergency."

"The 'skills of the road' movement is adaptable to any high school in the country," says Dr. Herbert J. Stacks, Safety Supervisor of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, who has assisted the Bergen County students to learn safe driving practices. "High school students of today are the automobile drivers of tomorrow. They should know everything there is to know about safe motor vehicle operation. If we could train all the children in our secondary schools to be safe drivers, the question of tomorrow's accident record would be answered—accidents would be at a minimum."

Crime's Consequences

Regardless of the particular activities in which we engage, it is natural that we should endeavor to look ahead, with a view to estimating the returns which may be expected.

Unfortunately, many do not look ahead at all, or if they do they fail to heed the warnings plentifully supplied by the experiences of others. This is especially true of those who decide to embark upon a life of crime.

Laying aside all moral considerations, and estimating the rewards of a criminal solely in terms of money, health and comfort, it seems strange that any should try to beat such a desperate game. Yet thousands try it and fail. They fail whether they are ever adequately punished by law or not. The daily fear of detection and punishment itself. For this reason, many criminals give themselves up when they can no longer stand the strain.

A criminal recently captured, charged with a long list of daring crimes, speaks on the subject with authority. He says:

"I am 30 years old. I began my career of crime 10 years ago. Eight of those 10 years I have spent in jails and penitentiaries. I have been shot 13 times with pistols, once with a rifle and three times with a shotgun. My left shoulder is shot away. My left arm is paralyzed from the elbow to the shoulder. One lung gone. My body is scarred from head to foot with bullet wounds. And I say: 'You can't win.'"

Billion Dollars—Million Jobs

It is estimated that there is in this country $1,000,000,000 of idle capital which would normally be used in the mortgage market for residential building.

If, as is hoped, present efforts loosen these funds and bring building back near normal, close to a million men will find good jobs. They will have regular incomes, after years in which most of them have been finding the going extremely hard. They will have money to spend for necessities and luxuries—and that money will go through a thousand and one industries, buying materials and supplies and services, paying taxes an dinterest, creating more jobs and building up payrolls for all types of workers.

That is what construction revival will do for the country generally. Building costs have been rising slowly, but steadily, since the low reached last summer. They are still far below normal—as a matter of fact, costs of most materials used in building have lagged behind the general commodity price advance. That means that the millions of citizens who have money with which to build and repair now—before this belated boom starts—can still get a whole lot more than a dollar's worth for every dollar spent. And that condition isn't going to last much longer, unless all present signs point the wrong way.

Build now, repair now, renovise now. That motto will aid you in doing your bit toward achieving recovery—and will figuratively put money in your pocket.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

I was riding along the highway and the road ahead made a right hand turn. As I approached the curve I noticed five preachers standing on the curve making an appeal to every passer-by. One preacher was talking of a well-known brand of flour, one was speaking of furniture, another was talking of hardware, the other two were speaking in an attractive way of two well-known brands of cigarettes. A woman's face and form were painted in bright colors and she was preaching of the white tube of death that she held between her fingers. "Not a cough in a car load," she shouted to every one who traveled that way. She would throw out her bewitching appeals to young women to be smokers. Her lips were foul with falsehood when she said that we should go at once and fill our pockets with her ware. It is a shame that our citizenship should allow bill boards of that type to stand by our highways and preach that we should all become smokers. The way the tide is now turning it will not be long before we will have "beer and whiskey" preachers shouting to auto drivers, "Come to our garden and drink and die."

Recently I stood on the hillside near a cluster of wild honey suckle and while looking upon the pink flowers and enjoying the sweet perfume that was wafted to me by the passing breezes, I thought of the connection that existed between the beautiful flowers and the earth out of which they came. Without that connection there could have been no beauty and no sweetness for me. Often have I watched the beautiful life of a child of God and I have watched that life becoming finer and sweeter; and I have wondered of the connection. A Christian is connected with God in a mysterious link-up, and that is why there is beauty and sweetness flowing out from the life. If you want life to be beautiful, if you want to send out sweetness from your soul, you must connect yourself with Christ. Without that connection there will be thorns and jagged teeth that will hurt and harm, rather than to love and lift.

The boys were engaged in a game of ball in front of my parsonage home. The game proceeded with joy to all until one boy broke the rules and created friction. When that occurred the game stopped and the boys came running in from the field and all clustered up into a bunch and started a wrangle. There was much loud talk and quite a few ugly words. Ten minutes passed and not a ball passed over the plate. Folks do but little in the game of life when there is a wrangle on the diamond. When nations fight, civilization ceases to go forward; when communities, when families fight and fuss, the real game of life is stopped. We never play the game and fuss at the same time.

Two lads went to work in a new store on the same morning. A week passed and on Saturday afternoon they were sweeping up the litter on the floor, preparing to close when one of them found a dime in the rubbish. He placed it deep into his pocket and when the work was done he reported at the desk where the boss was sitting. Reaching into his pockt he brought out the dime and placed it before the man, saying, "I found that, sir, while sweeping up the floor." That boy had an empty pocket then but he had a heart in him that was full of the Kingdom of God. The other lad was not so honest. He made it a rule to fill his pocket with whatever was found. He had a full pocket but an empty heart.

I stopped at the forks of the road and inquired about the roads leading to a certain place to which I was traveling. I was told to go the upper road as the lower road had a bridge on it that was declared to be unsafe. "I like that church because it will allow its members to dance," said a young lady who was a member of another church. The church to which she belonged had declared the dance hall to be unsafe, but she preferred the lower road even if there was a bridge on it that was dangerous. Many people prefer the road that has a condemmed bridge over which to travel. Blessed is the man and the woman who is wise enough to take the upper road where there are no condemmed bridges. Taking a risk often spells these two words, Ruin and Death. "Play safe" is a great rule for living.

HIGH SCHOOL P.-T. A. HOLDS LAST MEETING OF THE YEAR

The Chilton County High School P.-T. A. held a joint meeting of fathers and mothers at the high school Tuesday night. Mrs. Hugh Jones, President, presided.

This meeting brought to a close a most successful year under Mrs. Jones' leadership. Mrs. Jones, as well as other members of the P.-T. A. have worked and labored untiringly in the interest of better schools for Clanton. We feel deeply indbted to them for their loyalty and spirit. The meeting was the largest ever held by the association, which feels much benefitted by the attendance of the fathers.

An executive board meeting was was held preceding the meeting Thursday night and plans discussed for the next year.

The following officers will serve again: Mrs. Hugh Jones, President; Mrs. J. W. Moore, Vice-President; Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Secretary; and Mrs. V. J. Gragg, Treasurer.

The baseball season for C.C.H.S. this year is nearing the close. Only a few games are left to be played. Up to the present time Chilton has a splendid record, one to be proud of. Wednesday of last week our nine went to Centerville where they met their first defeat of the season 10 to 3. Last Friday Marbury met our boys on the local diamond and Chilton lost by a score of 4 to 1. Yesterday, Centerville met our boys on the local diamond. Friday, Chilton goes to Montevallo. Yea, Chilton.

Miss Clyde Smilie's Junior Two History Class presented an educational program in chapel last Wednesday. The program was about famous men in our history. The lives of such great men as George Washington, Andrew Carnegie and Thomas Edison were told.

The Senior play was a BIG success. The entire program has brought highest praise to Miss Frances Gulledge, the director, and those who took part. The presentations between the acts won many fine comments due to the fact that they were new and different. Yessir, the Seniors gave their last high school play last Friday night and it was a perfect ending.

Final examinations will begin next Wednesday. Every student should make the best of the few days left to review. Time is valuable now for there are only five days left in which to prepare for the final examinations.

Congratulations to two C.C.H.S. students that we are very proud to claim, Theda Wyatt and Mary Armstrong. These two girls entered the District Music Contest in Montgomery Saturday and each won first prize in their specific field. Theda won first prize for piano solist and Mary won the first prize in the hymn playing contest.

The Senior play revealed quite a bit of hidden talent that was in C.C.H.S. James Tiffin's act has been commented upon by many and those girls who sang at the piano, Maralyn Hardy, Myrtis Smith, Frances Rasberry, Mary Charles Cox, Frances Davis, and Frances Higgins sounded like professionals. The stunt by Bernice Powell and Leonard Popwell was fine too.

Every student should hear Dr. Zebulon Judd's address at the graduation exercises Monday night, May 21.

With only about two chapel periods left, we would like to have our pastors down to give us another of their appreciated and well liked talks.

MUSICAL CONCERT AT COOPERS FRIDAY NIGHT, MAY 11

What promises to be one of the most outstanding musical events of the season is the concert to be held at Chestnut Creek, Coopers, Friday night, May 11th, as the closing exercises of Prof. L. M. (Red) Harden's singing school, which he is now engaged in teaching at Shady Grove church on Mitchell Dam road. Prof. Harden has been teaching schools at several places in the southern part of the county for the past two or three months, and he has given concerts at the close of each. He has put on some good ones, but according to his predictions the one to be at Coopers will be the best.

The prgram will consist of popular numbers, sacred and seculars ongs, quartets, trios, duets and solos. There will be visiting singers and quartets to entertain the visitors. The price of admission will be 10 and 15 cents.

The concert was moved from the place of the singing school on account of Chestnut Creek church being roomier and better lighted. 3t.

62,388 Chevrolets Delivered 20 Days, April

A total of 62,388 units were delivered by Chevrolet dealers during the first twenty days of April, according to W. E. Holler, general sales manager of Chevrolet Motor Company. Sales for the year through this period total 235,332 units as compared to 154,526 units in the same period of 1933, making the period 152 per cent of the corresponding period in 1933.

Sales reported for the twenty days of April are more than 180 per cent of the corresponding 1933 April figure of 34,354 units.

Retail deilveries of commercial cars and trucks continue to gain; 16,224 trucks were delivered during the April period, which triples the 1933 figure of 5,304 units for the same period. Sales in the commercial field have shown steady increase, Mr. Holler pointed out, and at the close of this April period had reached a record figure of 73,619 units for 1934.

Jarman Thanks Friends For Support In Chilton

I yield to no man in the world in my appreciation of and love for my friends. Having personally congratulated Mr. Oliver on his victory, I next desire to thank most sincerely my many friends in Chilton County, as well as in the other counties of the district, for your magnificient efforts in my behalf.

Contacts have been made and friendships formed during this campaign which will, I am sure, add much pleasure to every remaining year of my life.

Needless to say, I harbor no ill will toward those who opposed me.

My supporters have thoroughly cooperated with me in conducting our campaign on a high and honorable plane, for which I heartily commend you. We have nothing of which to be ashamed. I want you all to know that I will ever be appreciative indeed of your fine interest in my behalf and I hope to see much of you during the remainder of our lives.

THE addition of an Electric Refrigerator to your household is a wise investment in health, convenience and economy. It assures food freshness and safeguards health every day of the year. This is especially important in homes where there are growing children! For grownups an Electric Refrigerator means convenience — freedom from worry—frozen salads and desserts—an abundance of ice cubes. For children it means sparkling health, vigor and vitality — an abundance of pure, fresh milk at all times. Of course an Electric Refrigerator saves money, but the health and comforts it brings to your family are far more important than that!

I Want My Mother to Have an ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

A General Electric or Kelvinator Refrigerator delivered to your home for only $10.00 first payment. Balance payable over period of 24 to 30 months.

NEXT SUNDAY IS "MOTHER'S DAY"

A new General Electric or Kelvinator Refrigerator would be a most befitting gift to show your love and esteem.

SINGING CONVENTION HELD AT HIGHLAND CHURCH SUN.

The Singing Convention in the Christian Harmony and Sacred Harp books met at Highland church the first Sunday and Saturday before, on May 5th and 6th.

Met on Saturday with a small crowd but had a glorious day. Opening song was sung by vice-president, Mr. J. W. Hayes, followed by prayer by the Rev. W. S. Cox. Directors for the morning sessions were as follows: Mr. J. W. Hayes, Mr. W. B. Cooper, Mrs. Sara Bates, Mr. T. C. Jackson, Mr. J.M. Williams, Mr. G.W. Akers, Mrs. Ruth Henley. Each one sang three songs. Dismissed at noon for one hour. A bountiful dinner was spread.

The Convention was called to order at one o'clock by the Chairman. Business was attended to and new officers were elected: Mr. W. B. Cooper, president, Mr. T. C. Jackson, vice-president, Mrs. Ruth Henley, Secretary. It is understood that Bro. Jones is to act as chairman when he can be with us.

The same directors led four songs each in the afternoon. Closing song by the Chairman. Dismissed by prayer by Bro. Dickey.

The Convention was called to order Sunday morning at nine o'clock. Opening song by Chairman and prayer by Bro. W. H. Conway. A committee was appointed by the Chairman as follows: Mr. J. W. Hayes, Mr. G. W. Ackers and Mr. W. L. Sanders. Directors for the forenoon, with four songs each, were Mr. W. H. Conway, Mr. G. B. Williams, Mr. Ellie Shirley, Mr. J. N. Scott, Mr. T. J. Miller, Mr. Virgil Crocker. Recess ten minutes. Directors until noon were Mr. John Akers, Mr. T. C. Jackson, Mr. G. W. Akers, Mr. J. W. Hayes. Memorial services. Mr. J. W. Hayes sang 208 in the Christian Harmony in memory of Prof. Walker. Mr. T. C. Jackson sand 288 in the Sacred Harp in memory of Prof. White. Mr. T. J. Miller sang 117 in the Christian Harmony in memory of Mr. Nat Ward who passed away a few months ago. Mr. W. L. Sanders sang 524 in the James book in memory of all that has gone on to view that Land. Dismissed by prayer by Bro. Cox for one hour. The good ladies spread a bountiful dinner for all.

The Convention was called to order by the Chairman at one o'clock. The directors for the afternoon were Mr. Joe Cobb, Mr. M. C. Jackson, Mr. Lum Ratliff, Mrs. Steward, Mr. Floyd Little, Mrs. Sarah Bates, Mr. L. Brown, Mr. Jack Langston, Mrs. Ruth Henley, Mr. F. I. Popwell, Mr. John Martin and Mr. J. M. Williams. Closed with prayer by Mr. J. N. Scott.

The Convention will meet again on the first Saturday and Sunday in September at Cane Creek.

This Convention was enjoyed by everyone. We sure thank the people of Highland church and community for their welcome and kindness shown us during our convention. We have never seen so many beautiful flowers and so much good dinner. We wish to meet you all at Cane Creek in September.

There will be an all day singing at the Alms House on the third Sunday in July. Let's all begin to prepare to make those old folks happy by singing God's Praises to them on that day.

We also thank the visiting singers from other counties for their help.

—Mrs. Ruth Henley, Secretary.

Tire Performance Shows Leadership

According to Billingsley Service Station, local Firestone dealer, the new Firestone High Speed Tire for 1934 is the last word in tire construction—it is the greatest tire Firestone ever built.

"In no product today is there wider performance difference than in the various makes of tires at high speeds," Mr. Billingsley said. "No other product is more vital for safety of motorists. The 500-Mile Race of past years at the Indianapolis Speedway was recognized as a race of tires. To keep the tread on the body of the tire was the greatest problem due to the terrific strain and the heat generated by internal friction at high speeds. Gum-Dipping was the answer of Firestone engineers.

"In the recent series of stock car and road races in California, Firestone Tires have always been on the winning cars. They are the same kind of tires the motorist purchases from his local dealer. All the great racing drivers are familiar with occasions when a driver using another make of tires had to slow up or stop at the pits for a tire change on account of tread separation. The thicker the tread the more heat it holds in the tire—unless the body construction guards against internal friction heat.

"Gum-Dipping the high stretch cords gives the adhesion which welds the tire into one strong unit. This made it possible for Firestone to develop the first successful balloon tire in 1923, and has made possible other developments which have brought leadership based on performance. With the amazing advancement of tire safety and mileage, Firestone has always sought efficient production so that the motorist would pay no premium."

Louis Hart of St. Louis escaped from his burning home with the tail of his nightshirt in flames.

My ear has been worn out by my wife pulling it," testified Richard [illegible] of Chicago in his divorce suit.

Just a word about the SERVICE at the MOLTON HOTEL
FIFTH AVENUE AND TWENTIETH STREET

THERE'S a pleasant, friendly atmosphere about the Hotel Molton—a delightful informality and unobtrusively efficient service that appeals to discriminating guests. While Molton service is punctilious, it is entirely lacking in that stiff formality one often finds in larger metropolitan hotels. That's why the guests who stop here once, feel like they're coming home when they return to see us.

DEATH OF MRS. CENIA CONNELL

Mrs. Cenia Connell, wife of Mr. Jodie Connell, had been sick about 10 days with pneumonia. She was carried to a Sylacauga hospital on Saturday, March 31st but was never conscious after she arrived there, and on Tuesday morning, April 3rd about 7:30 o'clock, God, in his tender mercy, whispered 'Come Home.' All was done that doctors, nurses, husband, friends and loved ones could do to keep her here but God needed her to fill a vacant place that no one else could fill like dear Cenia. She was so kind and good and loved everybody, and to know her was to love her.

She was only 23 years old, just in the bloom of life.. We don't know why she was called so soon, but the Lord Giveth and the Lord Taketh Away, Blessed be the Name of the Lord. We are all in his care and when he calls we, too, must go. We are willing for the Lord's will to be done. It is sad to know that we can never see her sweet face here on earth any more but we can prepare to meet her in a better world some day, there to part no more and all will be peace and joy forever.

She leaves behind to mourn her departure a heart-broken husband and two sweet little sons, Mr. Jodie Connell and Moses, age five years, and little James Henry, 4 months old; a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Baker; a father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Connell, and 4 sisters, Mrs. Treacie Logan, Misses Pervia Ora, Delene, and Nell Baker; 1 brother, Mr. Carl Baker; and one sister-in-law, Mrs. Nora Mims, and a host of relatives and friends.

She had been a faithful member of Refuge church for about six years. She was laid to rest in Refuge cemetery, Auril 4th, beside her little infant son who was laid there about 2 years ago. Funeral services were conducted by her pastor, the Rev. M. Lockheart, the Rev. J. W. Jones of Thorsby and the Rev. Nolan, pastor of Walnut Creek church. A Sylacauga undertaker had charge of the body. The grave was banked with beautiful flowers which showed the love the people had for her.

—Written by One Who Loved her, Mrs. Nora Mims.

New Ad Has Facts On Thomas Jefferson

Interesting sidelights in the life and career of Thomas Jefferson, one of the South's most illustrious sons, are being featured in the current Chilean Nitarte of Soda advertisement which appears in this newspaper.

The advertisement includes a splendid pen drawing of Jefferson and a glimpse of Monticello, his home. It points out too, that Jefferson's death and the first importation of Chilean Nitrate were but four years apart. Jefferson died in 1826. Four years later the first cargo of Chilean Natural Nitrate destined to become next to good soil, good seed and good weather, the most important factor in growing cotton, arrived at a Virginia port for use in fertilizing Southern crops.

Jefferson, of course, is chiefly remembered for draftiing the Declaration of Independence, for his opposition to Alexander Hamilton, and as the third president of the United States.

Yet this staunch old Southerner made countless other contributions to his country, the marks of which still are visible today. For instance, Thomas Jefferson designed, fought for and put through the decimal monetary system on which we operate today. He established the University of Virginia in 1819. Years before this, as a member of the Virginia legislature, he sponsored and secured the passage of what has been called the world's best law for public education, providing an ideal system from the primary school straight to the University.

Jefferson was a powerful personality. His friends were legion. So were his enemies. Men either admired or hated him because of his determination and vigorous methods. Probably his friends were greatly in the majority however, for the demands upon his hospitality were so heavy when he retired to Monticello that he was reduced almost to bankruptcy when he died in 1826.

Many historians agree that Jefferson of government than any other Ameri- gave to the world more broad principles can.

Alabama Homes Use More Power For Less Money

Birmingham, Ala.—Homes served by Alabama Power Company in cities and towns in Alabama paid electric bills in March, 1934, totaling $18,090 less than in March, 1933, but used 451,000 more kilowatt hours, a study of the new household rate reveals. 10 7 per cent more electricity was used for 8.7 per cent less money.

The average price paid by home users in March, 1934, was 4.02 cents per-kilowat hour against 4.97 cents in March, 1933, a reduction of 19 per cent.

If the 451,000 more kilowatt hours used in March, 1934, had been paid for at the March, 1933 average price, it would have cost $45,513 more than was actually paid. The annual savings to Alabama homes for electricity on that basis amount to $546,000, compared to the estimate of $366,000 at the time the rates were reduced.

Essay Winners Are Announced

Winners in the essay contest among students in vocational agriculture in Alabama on the value of rare elements as fertilizers were announced concurrently by R. E. Cammack, state supervisor of vocational agriculture in the Stat Department of Education, Montgomery, and M. H. Pearson, representative of the Chilean Nitrate Educational Bureau, joint promoters of the contest.

Eleven awards were made. The state winner was Seals Menefee, of Ramer, Montgomery County. Menefee will receive a cash prize of $25, with winners in other southern states.

The other 10 are divided equally between the two districts of the State which were made for supervision in agricultural instruction. One of the district supervisors is J. C. Cannon and the other is Geo. T. Sargent, both of Auburn.

Winners in Cannon's district were Dan Holford, McKenzie; Keith Pruet, Walnut Grove; Harvey Jackson, Jr., Holtville; Doyle Locks, Walnut Grove; and Pascal Hicks, Ramer.

Winners in Sargent's district were Ernie Lee Robinson, Jemison; Charles Nix, Jemison; William Kretzer, Lexington; Luther Gowder, Hacklesburg; and Billy H. Ezell, Ward.

J. C. Pattillo Thanks Voters For Support

Editor, Cholton County News:

Please permit a little of your valuable space to express my sincere appreciation to those who so generously gave me the flattering vote I received in last Tuesday's election. I am deeply affected by the vote of confidence which the people of Chilton County cast for me and it shall be the most earnest effort of my life to show that this confidence is justified.

I am also glad that my opponent received a substantial vote and I wish to assure him and all those who voted for him, that they have my profound respect and sincere wishes for as liberal share of the good things of life as I hope for myself.

I also wish to say to all of the people of Chilton County that should they deem me worthy of the office for which I have been nominated; and qualified to perform its duties, and should they kindly elect me in the election in November to fill this office, I shall devote every resource at my command to render just, courteous and efficient service to every individual, who may have business with the office, without regard to their race, political affiliations, social position, religious persuasionr of any distinguishing feature whatsoever. I shall bear in mind at all times that I am the servant of all the people and I do most solemnly pledge myself to so act.

Mothers Look Forward to this Hour...

"It's the hour when sons or daughters or old friends call them from some distant place by telephone. How happily they look forward to this time.

Thousands of families are doing this, not only on special occasions like Mothers' Day, but regularly each week . . . enjoying a short, inexpensive voice visit by telephone with members of the family in other cities. Because your voice is you over the telephone, such visits are as satisfactory as though you were together in the same room.

Visiting loved ones at regular intervals by long distance telephone is a delightful way to keep family ties alive at small cost.

MEDICAL ADVICE

If you want to
. . . relieve constipation safely
. . . regulate the dose to suit your exact need
. . . avoid danger of bowel strain
—use a liquid laxative

Can constipation be safely relieved? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" declare thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not apt to cure your constipation with salts, pills, and tablets, or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can relieve this condition just by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Why Hospitals Use a liquid laxative

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no-habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later Will not irritate kidneys. The right liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement, with no discomfort at the time, or afterward.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it!

In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains a doubtful drug, don't take it. If you don't know what is in it, don't chance it. The contents of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is stated plainly on the label; fresh herbs, pure pepsin, active senna.

Its very taste tells you Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. Drug stores have it, ready for use, in big bottles.

Vermont Junior High School News

—o—

Commencement exercises were held on last Friday night, marking the close of the 1933-34 school term. This was the initial graduating program, dedicated to the new school building. The auditorium was filled with admiring parents and friends.

The four students who completed the ninth grade work are as follows: Mary Jo Chandler, Class President; Edna Simms, Class Valedictorian; Mary Owen, Class Historian; T. J. Ratliff, Class Prophet.

The seven students completing the sixth grade are as follows: Willie Hayes, Audra Ratliff, Nell Chandler, Zannie Hayes, Josie Mae Deason, John Robert Klinner, Earl Klinner.

Dr. S. J. Ezell, and Supt. Luther E. Little were the speakers for the occasion. Dr. Ezell presenting a 25 minute address to the class, centering his talk around the subject of 'Go On!' Into this highly inspirational talk he wove many illustrations as to the ultimate consequences coming to those who do not move forward in their educational attainments, pointing out that in this highly specialized age, that one untrained cannot hope and expect to compete with those boys and girls who have in some way managed to 'Go On' and qualify themselves for the richer, fuller and brighter life. Supt. Little, then rounded out the evening's program with a ten minute address on the Social and Moral Value of an Education. The talk was simplified to the extent that any normal elementary pupil could understand its purpose and with a keener vision look into the uncertainties of the future with brighter hopes and greater confidence.

On Saturday morning, following the Friday night's graduating exercises, one hundred and seven pupils, parents and friends of the Vermont school gathered at the school building and took leave for the picnic grounds at Log Cabin Beach, where a day of real joy and happiness was spent. Everyone attending this merry event came away feeling much better and happier for having attended. We regret that quite a number of the school pupils were withheld from this pleasure on the account of being confined with measles. We trust however, that next year will find all the student-body present.

Our P.-T. A. meets next Saturday night at 7:30. All members and friends are especially urged and invited to attend. Our P.-T. A. has accomplished a number of worthwhile purposes this year, such as purchasing a piano, song books, class room equipment, construction of stage and stage equipment, etc. We aim however to more worthwhile accomplishments next year, such as fitting out the building with shades, installing lights, and beautifying the campus. The faculty wishes to extend to those loyal parents and friends of Vermont school their heartfelt appreciation for the splendid cooperation received from each.

Funeral Held For Mrs. Alice A. Webb Friday

—o—

Funeral services for Mrs. Alice A. Webb, 52, wife of J. M. Webb, who died last Thursday at 9:20 a. m. at her home, near Jemison, following a paralytic stroke, were held Friday at 2 p. m. from the Jemison Baptist church, of which she was a member, with the Rev. J. W. Jones officiating. Martin & Sons were in charge.

Although Mrs. Webb had been in poor health since suffering a paralytic stroke about three years ago, her death came unexpectedly to her family and friends. Returning from Birmingham, where she had attended the funeral of a relative, Monday afternoon, she became ill before she reached her home and never regained conciousness.

Sh was born and reared in Chilton County and had lived for many years at Jemison, where she was an active member of the Jemison Baptist church.

Surviving her are: her husband, J. M. Webb, of Jemison; one son, J. C. Webb, of Birmingham.

Main Problem In Vegetable Garden Is Insect Control

—o—

Auburn, Ala.—"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" in the control of garden insects, the greatest problem of the modern gardener, says Prof. J. M. Robinson, entomologist at Auburn.

"A garden that is well kept—one that is free from weeds and old vegetable plants at all seasons of the year—is the best insect preventive," he explained. "Insects multiply very rapidly. They can be controlled best by spraying or dusting as soon as the first individuals are discovered. Usually an application of poison every ten days is necessary to keep the pests under control.

"In spraying one must remember that insects may be divided into two groups according to the manner in which they take their food. One group, those with chewing mouth parts, eats holes in the leaves and may in time destroy the whole plant. They may be destroyed usually by spraying or dusting a poison on the plants.

"The other group, those which suck the sap from the plant, cannot be controlled by applying poison to the plants but a spray must be applied directly to the insects to kill them."

Professor Robinson said that light applications of dust were just as effective as heavy ones and warned that excessive dusting may render the vegetables unfit for human consumption.

To control the Mexican bean beetle which has already made its appearance in the State this spring, a spray of two pounds of magnesium arsenate to 100 gallons of water or a dust consisting of one part of this chemical to five parts of hydrated lime are recommended by Professor Robinson. The dust should be applied at the rate of 12 to 15 pounds per acre. Approximately 100 gallons of spray should be used per acre of beans, he said.

Aphids, soft-bodied sucking insects, are also now prevalent in Alabama and may be controlled with application of a spray consisting of one teaspoonful nicotine sulphate, one inch cube of soap, and one gallon of water. The spray should be applied when first insects are noticed.

Information on control of other garden insects may be obtained without cost by addressing the Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

SURVEY REVEALS SOUTHERN FARMERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

—o—

"Do you think that conditions are improving fqr the farmer?" Hundreds of Southern farmers, operating all types and sizes of farms, were asked this question recently. When the replies were tabulated, it was found that four out of evry five farmers interviewed had answered "yes" to this important question.

The survey was made by The Agricultural Development Bureau of The Barrett Company and included many other questions. While most of them pertained only to the nitrate of soda market, others were of such general interest that the distributors of American-made nitrate of soda decided to make the answers public. One of the reasons for the survey was The Agricultural Development Bureau's desire to learn how the Southern farmer is sharing after a year of the "New Deall." An analysis of the answers reveals, according to the Bureau, that the farmer is sharing fully in the better conditions.

Of all the Southern States included in the survey, Alabama achieved the distinction of being the most cheerful. Out of every 100 Alabama farmers, 95 went on record as saying that their condition had improved. South Carolina was a close second, with 92 out of 100 on the optimistic side. In Texas, 89% of the farmers voted "yes", in Virginia, 81%, in Georgia, 75% and North Carolina, 72%. Least cheerful of the seven states was Florida, but even there farmers who saw improvement outnumbered those who did not by two to one.

A sidelight to the survey was the fact that only a trifling percentage of the persons interviewed replied, "I don't know."

Far ahead OF LAST YEAR'S GREAT SALES RECORD —and here's what's doing it . . .

CHEVROLET It was a great record of leadership that Chevrolet made in 1933! It's an even greater, more impressive record that Chevrolet is making for 1934! Already, sales are tens of thousands of cars ahead of last year. Production is running higher than that of any other automobile company in the world. And every day, from state after state, comes the same report on registrations: Chevrolet is leading all other cars!

The big reason for such preference is plainly shown at the right. Chevrolet has so many vital features that others in the low-price field have left out: Knee-Action wheels that are fully enclosed for complete safety and absolute dependability. A six-cylinder valve-in-head engine with an exclusive "Blue-Flame" head. Big, "cable-controlled" brakes, the best in the low-price field. Large, spacious bodies by Fisher, with Fisher No Draft Ventilation. And real "shock-proof" steering that brings new ease and comfort to driving. No other low-priced automobile has a single one of these five leading 1934 features. That's why no other can be backed by such a confident statement as this:

Drive it only 5 miles and you'll never be satisfied with any other low-priced car

ELECTION RESULTS

candidate more than fifty per cent of the McCord seventy-odd thousand votes.

In the Democratic party, there are only two run-offs. Dr. V. J. Gragg and Earle Thomas, for Senator from this district: and T. L. McKee and Newton A. Popwell, for Tax Collector. Both Gragg and McKee led their opponents by several hundred votes in the May primary.

In the Republican ranks, the June primary will bring to a close five contests. Judge L. H. Reynolds and J. Z. Mims will fight it out for the nomination as probate judge; Percy M. Pitts and W. L. Sanders will vie for the chance of representing the people in the legislature in Montgomery; W. T. Bean and Joseph E. Daniel will compete for the nomination for county superintendent; J. P. Bean and J. E. Cobb, will vie for nomination for commissioner from the First District; and A. J. Davis and T. P. Gore for commissioner from the Second District.

Chilton County polled one of the largest votes in its history in the May primary, with a total vote of approximately five thousand votes. It is believed by persons acquainted with the political situation in this county that the November election will result in an even larger vote.

The May Vote in the county was as follows:

For Governor: Bibb Graves, 883; Judge Leon McCord, 783; and Frank M. Dixon, 369.

For Lieutenant Governor: Thomas E. Knight, Jr., 1,039; Thomas W. Wert, 829.

Attorney General: A. A. Carmichael, 1,085; L. A. Farmer, 279; and Coleman D. Shepherd, 477.

State Auditor: Charles E. McCall, 1,735.

For Secretary of State: Gilbert E. Davis, 698; Howell Turner, 641; Fred A. Gibson, 483.

State Treasurer: John Brandon, 937; Paul L. Taylor, 735.

State Superintenednt Education: J. A. Keller, 689; John W. Abercrombie, 521; A. R. Jones, 455; Oscar S. Causey, 167.

For Congress—Sixth District: W. B. Oliver, 1181; Pete B. Jarman, Jr., 749; Thomas H. Maxwell, 30.

Judge, Nineteenth Judicial Circuit: J. B. Atkinson, 1,412; Arthur Glover, 567. Mr. Glover received the nomination by more than 2,000 in the three counties, Autauga giving him a small lead, and Elmore heaping up more than 2,000 majority in his favor.

Circuit Solicitor: Winston Huddleston, 1,652.

For State Senator—Fifteenth Senatorial District: Dr. V.J. Gragg, 1,081; Earle Thomas, 594; Raymond C. Smith, 317. Both Shelby and Autauga counties gave Dr. Gragg a lead of from 200 to 400.

Representative: C. B. Cox 1,728.

For Judge of Probate: J. Lee Smith, 1,043; P. T. Hinkle, 936.

Circuit Clerk: J. C. Pattillo, 1,404; J. S. McNeill, 493.

For Sheriff: J. R. Hardy, 1,881.

For Superintendent of Education: Luther E. Little, 1,820.

Board of Education: A. C. Nelson, 1,282; J. P. Payne, 1,324.

For Tax Collector: T. L. McKee, 839; George Polk, 455; Newton A. Popwell, 456; Reuban Jackson, 232.

Tax Assessor: Arthur D. Martin, 1,181; J. K. T. Daniel, 747.

For Commissioner—First District: Will R. Clements, 1,726.

For Commissioner—Second District: Howard R. Oden, 1,060; Henry E. Robinson, 855.

For Members State Democratic Executive Committee: E. F. Allisón, 1,592; Joel Chandler, 1,597; R. O. Foster, 1,596; Jereome T. Fuller 1,605; Dr. Napoleon S. Johnson, 1,637; John D. McQueen, 1,589.

Following is the official vote in the Republican primary of May 1st:

For Member of House of Representatives from Chilton Count: Charles Cooper, 509; Percy M. Pitts, 1251; W. L. Sanders, 844.

For Judge of Probate: J. N. Dennis, 645; J. Z. Mims, 944; L. H. Reynolds, 1149.

For Clerk of Circuit Court: Grover A. Bice, 843; M. D. Foshee, 695; H. A. Harris, 1031; Marion W. Mims, 133.

For Sheriff: V. T. Cobb, 366; J. Dudley Collins, 939; Dewey Hughes, 1348.

For Tax Collector: W. G. Culp, 1836; J. E. Easterling, 841.

For Tax Assessor: Akins I. Collins, 1856; S. M. Pate, 839.

For County Superintendent of Education: W. T. Bean, 1175; Joseph E. Daniel, 939; Rauph D. Grant, 551.

For Members of County Board of Education: Pink M. Martin, 1377; D. S. (Sebe) Robinson, 970; J. L. Smith, 979; S. M. Yates, Jr., 770.

before returning a verdict of not guilty. The State, represented by George W. Andrews, of Union Springs, who is serving as solicitor in the absence of Winston Huddleston, who is ill, contended that Anderson willfully sought to obtain money from the warrant without the knowledge or consent of Patrick. Reynolds & Reynolds, attorneys for the defendant, sought to prove that Patrick gave the defendant a right to endorse the warrant to obtain payment of a debt which Patrick was said to have owed Anderson.

A case against Dewey Parrish, charging burglary and grand larceny, was nolle prossed with payment of the cost in the case. Joe Miller, also charged with grand larceny, was given a suspended sentence on payment of the costs. A case against Carl Payne, burglary and grand larceny, was dismissed when evidence was produced to show that Payne is dead.

Elijah Thomas was sentenced to from two to two and one-half years in the penitentiary on charges of burglary and grand larceny in connection with the burglarizing of the home of Jack Mims, near Clanton, about three years ago. It was charged that Thomas and L. B. Adams stole two musical instruments and sold them in Birmingham.

Adams pleaded guilty to charges of burglary and grand larceny several months ago and is at liberty on a parole. He testified in the case against Thomas.

Reynolds & Reynolds, attorneys for Thomas, gave notice of appeal, but late Tuesday afternoon bond had not been made for Thomas' release.

Forfeiture of bond was entered for Chap Horton and Robert Bolane and their bondsmen notified that they will be responsible for the appearance of these defendants at the fall term of court.

Josey Johnson was given a sentence of one year and a day to eighteen months on a charge of manufacturing whiskey and possessing a still. He entered a plea for appeal.

With a two weeks session it is believed that the criminal docket will be practically cleared, according to court officials. Judge Carr was appointed to preside at the special term because of the indisposition of Judge F. Loyd Tate, who has been in failing health for sometime and was recently advised by his physicians to withdraw from the race for re-election because of the danger to his health.

The following are serving as jurors this week: J. Renfroe Mullins, R. Monroe Foshee, Abbott B. Foshee, Thomas G. Lake, John R. Merchant, L. G. (Tobe) Posey, James M. Courtney, Warren W. Wingard, A. Joe Culp, W. Floyd Irvin, William Satterwhite, William W. Bishop.

Topics In Brief

The Tennessee Valley Authority plans to begin the production of phosphatic fertilizer at Muscle Shoals some time during the summer.

Under the terms of the Bankhead cotton control bill Alabama farmers may sell next fall 845,760 bales of cotton, tax free, this being the allotment for Alabama.

The demand for good spring lambs is strong and sheep owners who have taken the care to grow top lambs should get satisfactory returns by the middle of May for this early cash crop, said J. D. Moore, extension marketing specialist.

The Farm Credit Administration reports that wool growers who marketed cooperatively in 1933 received in many instances from 150 to 200 per cent more in net returns for their wool than growers who sold directly.

The three horsemen of national recovery are monetary influence, production control ,and the expansion of foreign outlets for our surpluses, said President Edward A. O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

HIGH SCHOOL

delivered by Dr. S. J. Ezell at the Methodist Church Sunday morning, May 20 at eleven o'clock. Dr. Ezell will address the graduating Seniors with a message no one should miss.

On Monday night, May 21, at eight o'clock, the most important of the events at the close of school will occur. This event is the presentation of diplomas. Of interest to all on this night will be the Bacculaureate Address. This year Dr. Zebulon Judd, Dean of Education at Auburn, will honor the school as the Baccaulaureate speaker.

In keeping with the time honored custom of inviting a speaker of outstanding note in the field of education to speak before the people of the community at this time of school, Chilton County High School feels that they have made a wise selection in the personage of Dr. Judd. Dr. Judd is a scholar in the true sense of the word. He is thoroughly familiar with the many and varied problems confronting education at the present time and he will deliver an interesting address.

Dr. Judd has enjoyed a wide range of different experiences in education. Before coming to Auburn he was Superintendent of Schools and on the faculties of the University of Florida, afterwards becoming Superintendent of Secondary Education in Florida. He also held the same position in North Carolina, Dr. Judd has made a special study of the "forgotten child"—the child whose opportunities are not as promising as his neighbors.

Also on Monday night, three students will be honored. Two of these are Dan Smith and Joe Moore who are Valedictorian and Salutatorian respectively. The third student will be the one to whom the distinguished Honor Key, will be presented. The name of this student is never revealed until the night of graduation.

The public is cordially invited to attend all of the Commencement exercises and is especially invited to hear Dr. Zebulon Judd's speech May 21.

The names of the Seniors who are candidates for graduation will be published next week. Also the names of those who finish the Junior High will appear.

through his friends here, expressed a deep appreciation of the fine vote given him in this county.

With a vote of more than 130,000, one of the largest ever accorded a gubernatorial candidate in Alabama, Col. Graves goes into the run-off with the advantage of having carried 57 of the 67 counties and topped his nearest opponent by approximately 35,000 votes. Having lost only 7 of the 22 North Alabama counties and only 3 counties south of Jefferson, Col. Graves, it is believed, is destined to give Alabama another four years of "Graves and Growth."

In a public statement issued here today by Col. Graves, the soldier and statesman said that the record-breaking vote accorded him on May first was a vote of confidence in his ability to put Alabama back at the top in progress, prosperity, and happiness. "I am indeed grateful to this vast army of Alabamians who want me to serve them again," he said, "and they can rest assured that when I return to the governor's office, my heart and every ounce of my energy will be put into the task ahead of me."

Community Interest In Its Editorial Policy Is The Cornerstone Of This Newspaper

VOLUME XII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, MAY 17, 1934 EIGHT PAGES NUMBER 34

So IT SEEMS

By Victor Norris

With Special Judge R B. Carr, of Anniston, delivering the little moral lectures before extending invitations for brief visits at Kilby and other State resorts, Chilton County is experiencing something new in court procedure. Court was adjourned before noon Monday because there had been no other cases docketed for that day. Besides speedy trials, this Anniston jurist is making some of these second and third offenders feel worse than the strawberry growers.

When a man feels worse than some of these strawberry growers have a right to feel, he must of necessity spend some time in practice. Just when it seemed that this little red fruit was likely to change Chilton County into a veritable mint, even the Jay birds quit eating berries and the berry business again lost some of its luster.

What was it Omar (I can't spell his last name—anyway, I felt right friendly toward him) said about the wine? — "Give me a loaf of bread, a jug of wine and thou . . . ." I don't know about the loaves of bread and the jugs, but Chilton County should soon have plenty of wine, excusing a quantity which won't ever get past the vinegar stage.

Drinking some of this wine, made by more or less inexperienced hands, always seems to me a bit dangerous. It seems there's a likelihood that one might be pickereled like a mackerel.

In a few days approximately seventy-five boys and girls in this county will be graduated from the several high schools and will be ready to go out and face a life with a bit more competition than they have been used to in elementary school days.

And in entirely too many cases, they will go wholly unprepared for what they are sure to find — a mecernary world — intense competition — selfishness, without regard to other's interests. It seems that there is too great a tendency to have the high school student hitch his wagon to a star in an effort to raise his standard of ambition, too often this results in a loss of confidence and an indifferent world makes pulp of him before he is able to get his astronomy working.

Apparently it would be much better to instill in the student the fact that he is not going to find life a bed of roses; to let him know that he is going to have a battle — and if he wins, it will due as much to luck as to pluck. If high school students could be shown that a life of usefulness is after all no meon ambition, even if he is not successful in building a mammoth financial empire, we would have fewer disappointments among our educated.

This is no argument againsst education, nor against ambition — but we believe education would accomplish more if students were not allowed to think that with education success is inevitable. The chances are all against any high school student grabbing the bottom rung of Life's ladder and scaling right on to the top, without regard to any circumstances excepting that of working at night. When this theory is paramount in their code, the chances are they will die holding one of the lower rungs, unless of course they lose grip of it and sink even lower than where they began.

The gist of these several paragraphs of rambling thought is that perhaps it would be an improvement to try to mold the moral fibre of boys and girls, to meet what they are sure to find in a commercial life, instead of telling them these things simply don't exist.

But after all this argument is somewhat like that of an athiest. A few days ago, I heard one expounding who professed not to believe in a God, nor a life after death. I wondered just what he hoped to accomplish by destroying people's faith. Surely he was offering nothing better than what they had already. Most people had much rather take a gambler's chance on hell than to believe that there is no chance of anything beyond the grave.

A hope for life after death is perhaps after all the greatest help humanity possesses in being able to take it on the chin. The likelihood of that promised punishment no doubt often serves as the only curb to emotions which would be detrimental to society if not smothered.

The recent election revealed mony things. One of which was the disallussionment in regard to the political influence of the veterans. The election of Congressman Buck Oliver in spite of the bitter opposition of the veterans—likewise the defeat of Lamar Jeffers with his strong veteran support—leaves no doubt that the veteran political machine is far from controling power.

There's a danger that the veteran organization in forming political cliques will endanger the high prestige which they have heretofore had. Should it become a case of the veterans against the people, of course the people will always outvote the veteran as they did in the recent election, but of course that is not likely. The veterans are all first class fellows and the interest of the entire country will always be paramount with them as it was in '17 and '18.

The Chilton County Democratic Executive Committee will meet in regular session Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Wilson Hotel, according to an announcement given the News. All members are urged to attend this session.

VOTERS SWING TO SUPPORT OF BIBB GRAVES

Prominent Citizens Former McCord And Dixon Fans Now For Graves

Montgomery Ala., May 14—Resenting the eleventh-hour knifing of their candidate by special interests in order to put Dixon in the runoff against Graves for the governorship, McCord supporters throughout the State are flocking to the Graves cause, according to an avalanche of letters, telegrams, phone calls pouring daily into Graves' office. Not only McCord backers come over to the Graves side but hundreds of Dixon voters have done likewise.

Reports from Mobile County, a Dixon stronghold, indicate that the switch from Dixon to Graves has been on a wholesale scale, while McCord voters lost no time in indicating Graves as their choice in the runoff.

Mayor W. S. Smith, of Brewton, president of the Bank of Brewton and one of the most influential citizens of that section, announced that he would take off his coat and work for Graves. He was a McCord supporter.

Judge W. W. (Bill) Brandon, of Tuscaloosa, not only will support Graves but has accepted the leadership of the Graves campaign in that County.

Travis Williams, of Russellville, who stumped the State for McCord, is now taking the stump for Graves.

Walter Knabe, campaign worker for McCord in Montgomery County and

RED CROSS TO INSTALL FIRST AID STATIONS

Stations To Be Located At Strategic Points Along The Highways

In ketping with that heroic spirjt of Florence Nightingale, which was instrumental in the founding of the American Red Cross with its scores of years of service to humanity, a program is being put into effect to establish first aid emergency stations along all the highways throughout the South, giving first aid treatment to victims of highway mishaps.

Manned with trained men, it is the aim that these stations will be able to render treatment in many emergencies before the arrival of physicians or ambulances, and in many cases only minor treatment will be necessary.

The program calls for the establishment of fourteen of these stations along highway number 31, between Athen and Dothan, four of these being located between Montgomery and Birmingham.

Samuel Martin, Chilton County Chairman of first aid, announced this week that plans call for the establishment of two first aid stations in Chilton County, one being at Jemison and the other at Verbena. It is understood that W. P. Bryant will have charge of the Jemison station, and Eric Hardy will head the Verbena station.

Twenty-six persons in the county took advantage of the special course in first aid treatment by the CWA, under the sponsorship of the Red Cross, a few months ago. They were:

G. D. McKinney, Verbena; Alex Callen, Clanton; John Childress, Thorsby; John B. Yount, Cooper; S. M. Freeman, Maplesville; A. D. Maddox, Clanton; Allen Lake, Verbena Route 2; John Lassiter, Clanton Route 5; W. M. Blalock, Clanton Route 4; Irvin P. Kennedy, Clanton Route 1; Lackey W. Davis, Verbena Route 2.

Steve Hughes, Thorsby; Oscar Wells, Clanton Route 2; David B. Adams, Coopers; F. G. Taylor, Clanton; Lee Oden (negro), Clanton; Isaac A. Dennis, Maplesville; Loyd Pinson, Coopers, and Morris Pinson, Cooper; Miss Eleanor Rowell, Thorsby; Reese G. Mullins, Clanton; Charles E. Gulledge, Verbena; Mrs. Tom Parrish, Clanton; Mrs. Lida Cobern, Maplesville.

With this number of person trained in first aid treatment, it is believed that Chilton County is in much better position to care for its emergencies than at any time in its history, according to Mr. Martin.

GRAPHIC ARTS CODE IS NOW IN EFFECT

When you call the News to get prices on job printing, you will probably find that these prices have gone up a bit compared with the rather low price printing establishments have been treating their customers to for the past few years.

This month, the Graphic Arts Industries Code went into effect over the entire country, supplying all printing establishments with a uniform price list. This price list which is to be used by all printing concern carries out the idea of fair competition in the printing trade and its purpose is to prevent price cutting, and leaves no alternative. Prices on printing are to be the same at all places.

The News has signed up under this Code using the uniform price list, which is "the law of the land" and trusts that our customers will realize we are doing our part toward recovery.

NEW BUSINESS CONCERN OPENS HERE THIS WEEK

Well Known "Yellow Front" Store Located Next Door To Post Office

YOUTH KILLED BY TRAIN HERE LAST SUNDAY

Jodie Coggins Of Symaria Community Victim Of Morning Freight

For Mrs. D. J. Coggins, mother of ten children, Mother's Day was a day of sorrow and desolation. News reached her in her home in the Symaria community just before noon Sunday that the body of her oldest son had been ground almost beyond recognition under the wheels of an L & N freight train sometime during Saturday night.

The body, later identified as Jodie Coggins, 22, was discovered wedged between the rails of the south switch at Clanton just after day-break Sunday morning by a negro who was walking along the tracks. It was believed that he was struck by the second section of freight train number 28 which ran about 12:25 a. m.

The mangled body was taken to the funeral parlors of Martin & Sons, where perhaps three-hundred persons viewed it before J. D. Bond, Clanton restaurant operator, finally identified the man as a late caller at his place of business Saturday night. He recognized him by the manner of his dress.

The youth's father, D. J. Coggins, identified the dead man as his son by the color of his hair and a scar on his left leg. Articles found in his pockets were identified by Reuban Lowe, Clanton merchant, as merchandise which he sold him late Saturday night.

Surviving the youth are: his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Coggins; six brothers, Cecil, Clarence, Luverne, Bill, Sie, and Lewis; three sisters Jettie Corrine, and Irene, all of the Symaria community.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock from the Mt. Pisgah Methodist church. Burial was in the churchyard cemetery with Martin & Sons in charge.

Is Bibb Graves The Man For Governor?

The News asks its readers this question, "Is Bibb Graves the Man for Governor of Alabama?"

The News not only asks this question but will give the answer, not only from our opinion, but from the opinion of a magazine of national renown, respected opinions and fair policies, the National Magazine of Commerce.

In its issue of last month, the National Magazine of Commerce devoted considerable space to former-governor Graves. This magazine not only answers the question in the affirmative asked by the News, but gives sound reasons for its comments, which are as follows:

"During the years which have characterized the course of the current depression, it has been a widely recognized fact that the South has suffered the effects of economic stress more severely than has any other section of the United States. To a certain extent, this has been inevitably associated with the presence of definite social and geographical factors.

"At the present time, the American nation seems to have at last achieved the road toward recovery. And an important question suggests itself at this juncture. Will the South continue to lag in a slough of economic despond? The answer is not a predetermined one. To our mind, it will be found in the calibre of internal government which the states in question will receive. Efficient administrations, which will apply themselves devotedly to the cause of the common welfare, rather than to time-honored political considerations, may accomplish much towards the alleviation of the burdens under which their citizens have been forced to suffer.

"This trend of thought is possessed of particular truth in connection with the State of Alabama. An important commonwealth in which mechanical industry and agriculture have reached high levels of effectiveness, this state stands in greater need of progressive government at the present time than at any other period during its history. And with elections for administrative offices not far distant, it is indeed timely to pause for consideration of future possibilities.

"Naturally, the most important post, as far as the citizens of Alabama are concerned, is the Governorship. That there will be several candidates for this office is a foregone conclusion. None, however, is possessed of the power or appeal of Bibb Graves, of the City of Montgomery.

"The characteristics which we have applied to Mr. Graves are used advisedly. It is our belief that this man possesses the power to govern Alabama in efficient and progressive fashion, and can accomplish much towards improving the welfare of his constituents. Further, the appeal of the thorough and valuable experience which he has achieved in his past incumbency of the gubernatorial office cannot be denied. The proposition, evidently, is as follows: Is Alabama to be permitted to continue a haphazard course? Or is its progress to be uniform and capably directed?

"The latter course, obviously, must be pursued, and is recognized as a drastic necessity by the public. It is natural and to be expected, therefore, that an all-pervasive wave of enthusiastic support has greeted Mr. Graves' candidacy for the Democratic nomination. Recognition of the value of this man's past work is widespread. As Governor of Alabama from 1926 to 1930, he worked unselfishly towards the service of public interests. No political considerations entered into this work, which reflected maximum efficiency and economy, and consequent savings to taxpayers.

"There is great necessity for continuance of this work at the present impasse. Mr. Graves' platform has been widely hailed, and requires no discussion in the present writing. Suffice to state that he desires to provide such an administration as will evince policies of close cooperation with the aims and desires of the public, and will be characterized by an entire elimination of partisan considerations. An important and favorable element in his compaign is the fact that he intends to put the question of modification of the Alabama liquor law to referendum by the people. In view of these facts, and the details of an efficient record, we do not hesitate to lend full endorsement to the candidacy of Bibb Graves for nomination and election as Governor of the State of Alabama."

TIFFIN-KLINNER WILL STAGE BIG CABINET SALE

Beginning Saturday, Clanton Firm Will Give Bargains In Kitchen Cabinets

In keeping with their long practice of giving their customers outstanding values in the form of periodical sales, when merchandise is marked down to a price that appeals to every bargain hunter in the county, Tiffin-Klinner Furniture company, of Clanton, is staging another of their gigantic Sellers Cabinet Sales.

Beginning Saturday, May 19, Mr. J. B. Tiffin, manager of the store, declares his firms intends to give the buying-public one last chance at this outstanding merchandise at prices they cannot fail to recognize as being far below present-day quotations. Prices will soon advance, Mr. Tiffin stated, and urges all prospective cabinet purchasers to take advantage of this opportunity to avail themselves of the low prices he is quoting during this sale.

Since its establishment a few years ago, the Tiffin-Klinner Furniture has developed into one of Clanton's outstanding business establishments and its exceptional bargains and convenient terms are known throughout this section.

In the News this week will be found a large advertisement from the Tiffin-Klinner firm, in which they give many reasons why the Sellers Cabinet is a piece of merchandise of outstanding attraction. Read this advertisement and visit this store during the sale.

Mr. Tiffin stated that "never before has Sellers or anybody built a kitchen cabinet that would match this one in supreme value giving."

Knight Declares Rules For Runoff

In all instances where there are more than two candidates for the Democratic nomination for an office in Alabama, only the two who receive the highest number of votes in the first primary are entitled to have their names printed on the ballot in the second primary.

If either of the two candidates receiving the highest total of ballots wishes to withdraw after the first primary elections, the other candidate is to be declared the nominee, and his name need not be placed on the ballot used in the second election.

These rulings are laid down in an opinion rendered yesterday by the office of Atty. Gen. Thomas E. Knight, Jr., answering an inquiry from State Senator Paul J. Hooton, of Roanoke.

Under this opinion, if one of the two leading candidates for an office for which more than two candidates were running decides, after the first primary, to withdraw from the second or runoff election, the other automatically becomes the Democratic nominee for the office—and the contender who received the third highest vote cannot demand that he be permitted to enter the runoff.

4-H CLUBS IN BIG RALLY AT CLANTON 16TH

Estimated Seven Hundred In Attendance; Visiting Speakers Here

Wednesday was a big day in the lives of some seven hundred Chilton County boys and girls, members of the county 4-H clubs, when they congregated at the court house in Clanton for the annual county 4-H club rally. Invitations were sent to three hundred-fifty boys and four hundred girls to attend this function.

Beginning at 11 o'clock, when the entire body joined in the singing of "America," the program continued thruout the day. Following the rendition of "America," the Rev. R. P. Cochran, pastor of the Clanton Methodist church, asked the invocation.

J. Lee Smith, mayor of Clanton, gave the welcome address, in which he praised the accomplishments of the club work in the county in building boys and girls of a moral fibre that will develop them into the best of manhood and womanhood. Clifford Manning, president of the 4-H clubs in Chilton County, responded to Mayor Smith's welcome address, thanking him for the favors that have been tendered the organization by the town of Clanton and its officials.

An interesting feature of the program was a brief talk by Miss Bess Fleming, 4-H club specialist for girls. Following this feature, Miss Corrinne Polk, crowned "Miss Chilton County" in a beauty contest several months ago, rendered a reading which won enthusiastic applause. The boys and girls repeated the Club Pledge

Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds also paid tribute to this work in Chilton County, declaring that he believes it to be one of the greatest possible assets to the promotion of better citizenship in any county, and incidentally to improved local and State government.

J. C. Lowery, of the Auburn staff, delivered a brief address, followed by the rendition of the song, "The More We Get Together."

COUNTY HIGH PROGRAM TO BEGIN TONIGHT

Junior High Graduates Will Receive Diplomas At The School Tonight

Commencement exercises for Chilton County High School begins tonight at eight o'clock with the presentation of diplomas to the graduates of the Junior High. The program will be of much interest to the public and everyone is cordially invited. Mary Ruth Goodman will deliver the Valedictory address and Margie Nell Jones will give the Salutatory address.

Tomorrow night at eight o'clock the Senior Class observes the annual Class Night at C. C. H. S. auditorium with its program of gay entertainment. The stage will have the appearance of a beautiful garden with its flowers, shrubs and fountains. The scenery will be quite different and the program will be appropriate to the exquisite setting.

Sunday morning at eleven o'clock, Dr. S. J. Ezell will deliver the Commencement Sermon at the Methodist Church. Monday night, May 21, at eight o'clock, the formal presentation of diplomas to the Seniors will take place in the high school auditorium. Dr. Zebulon Judd of Auburn will deliver the Baccaulaureate address. The program will be opened by the Salutatorian Joe Moore, and will be closed with the Valedictory Address by Dan Smith.

The Senior Class will also present the school with a beautiful oil treated picture of Whistler's Mother.

The names of the candidates for graduation from C. C. H. S. for 1934 are:

It is a tragic thing that so many lives are sacrificed and so many bodies are maimed in accidents every day of every year.. Traffic accidents lead the list, and it is seldom that more than a few days pass without news of someone being injured or killed withing the scope of our own immediate territory. We have at various times carried editorials urging better driving in an attempt to lesen this waste of life and property. We still plead for more care in preventing accidents.

But this editorial is to commend the American Red Cross for its move to alleviate suffering and give first aid to the injured. Not so long ago a training school was conducted in Chilton County teaching principles of first aid. Approximately thirty persons took the course. Now plans are completed for the establishment of two first aid stations in this county. They will be located at Verbena and Jemison filling stations. Markers at the stations and on each side at a distance of one-half mile will signify their location. A person trained in giving first aid wll be available at these places. These two first aid stations may very conceivably be the means of saving human lives in our own county. We understand this movement is national in scope, which means that a big step has been made in the conservation of lives and lessening of suffering on America's peace-time battle front—our highways.

As in the middle teens of this century the Red Cross is still a moving force ministering unto us after the disasters resulting from our follies.

Hard Round Dollars In Your Pocket

A cheering report has just been issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The estimated fire loss for the first three months of 1934 was $90,758,000 as compared with $107,530,000 in the same period last year—a drop of close to 15 per cent.

That makes it look as if the American people are really beginning to regard fire waste as being the unnecesary tragedy that it is. During the past few years there have been declines in the dollar total—but that has been principally due to declines in property values, and not to fewer fires. This year, however, property values are somewhat above the 1933 level—so the three-months decline really means something.

If even a 15 per cent reduction can be achieved this year, it will mean the saving of many lives. It will mean that property worth about $60,000,000 has been preserved to serve a useful purpose. It will mean that men will keep jobs that would disappear if fire damaged or destroyed the factories and plants where they work. It will mean that taxes will be lower than they would be otherwise—every fire which destroys taxable property of any kind causes the lost taxes to be placed on other property in the community.

Do your bit to hold and add to this reduction. Keep eternally on the watch for fire hazards on your property, and eliminate them. It will put hard round dollars in your pocket.

Many eloping couples get married at Satan's Kingdom, on the Connecticut-New York state line. A satan of a name for a wedding place.

Rev. Reisner of New York recently preached a sermon on "Fools." For the sake of the congregation we hope the discourse was not as comprehensive as the subject.

Railroads Aid Them All

One of the best ways to look at the railroads problem is in the light of its influence on other industries and on employment.

No industry, in normal times, is so heavy a purchaser of materials and supplies as the railroads. The bulk of their purchases are from the heavy industries—those which provide the most jobs and investment opportunities, and which touched the deepest lows of depression. Steel iron, coal, lumber, chemicals—all of them have depended on the railroads for a heavy percentage of their railroads for their jobs.

The railroads themselves are among the heaviest employers of the nation. In addition, much of their labor is highly skilled, and commands wages that are far above the average. No class of workers is better paid, and most of the great lines have pension systems whereby the rail workers are assured of an income in their old age. Not the least menacing factor in the rail problem is that the very existence of the pension system has been imperiled—no business can pay out money it hasn't got.

These few facts serve to indicate why so many believe that legislation which will give the rails a fair deal is absolutely vital to the recovery of all basic industries. We can't starve our great basic industries and expect to have good times.

It is perfectly legal to share in a criminal's gains if you happen to be his lawyer.

Women occupy a wider sphere nowadays, but many of them are trying to reduce it.

The fellow who named it the "funny-bone" had a rather poor sense of humor.

The unfortunate are with us always. Quite a number still have to worry along with 1933 models.

Edison used to say that four hours sleep each night was enough, and most babies seem to think parents need even less.

The Editor In Politics

At least five Alabama newspaper editors were beaten for office May 1, according to The Grove Hill Democrat which reports four casualties, and The Coosa River news, which reports one. That means at least five Alabama newspapers will shortly be improved.

The Coosa River News, in chiding editors for their folly in venturing outside their natural sphere, recalls that some years ago Dr. Erwin Craighead, venerable and distinguished editor of The Mobile Register, was denied the poor privilege of serving his county in the Legislature. At that time Dr. Craighead was probably the best known citizen of Mobile, and certainly one of the most esteemed.

Every time a progressive newspaper goes to press it displeases in greater or less degree one or more of its readers. In one way or another it steps on somebody's toes.

In their capacities as newspaper readers people are highly sensitive. An error causes annoyance, sometimes grief. A necessary news story gives pain and causes resentment not easily forgotten. An oversight hurts somebody's pride.

An editorial opinion on a controversial question pleases those who agree with the editor, nettles those who do not agree, and leaves them cold and indifferent, annoyed perhaps because they have been bored. People applaud anything an editor says if he is on their side—they condemn him if he is not on their side.

One Alabama editor, (some of whose best friends voted for him on May 1), won a vote because he once printed a lady's poem.

He lost a vote because she said he was against kindness to animals, he had the support of another lady because she appreciated his interest in the humane treatment of animals.

H lost the support of some men because he had failed to speak to them on some unremembered occasion, he received the support of others because they liked his companionable ways and his free and easy manner.

One group voted against him because of his political backing, another group voted for him because of that backing.

Some voted for him because of his Bourbon sympathies, others voted against him because he was too advanced in his thought.

Some voted against him because they did not want to see him forsake newspaper work, other voted against him because he was an editor.

Some—a good many, in fact—voted against him without deigning to offer any explanation. Some—a good many, in fact—voted against him while letting him think throughout the campaign that they were for him, but of course, that happens to all candidates.

Undoubtedly, generally speaking, it is a mistake for an active newspaper editor to seek public office. His political handicaps are greater than they would be if he were not an editor.

On the other hand it is profitable from one standpoint to the editor of a community newspaper to make at least one campaign for office. In that way he comes closer to his people than he could hope to do otherwise.

He comes to know them personally. He gains a better insight into their life problems. He becomes better informed and so better equipped to discharge his duties.

The more people an editor knows personally the greater will be their interest in his work. They will be more tolerant of his opinions and ways—and he more tolerant of their opinions and ways.

A born newspaper editor will never find the satisfaction in any other endeavor which journalism affords him. An editor whose heart is in his calling cannot long be happy away from the unopened press agent letters on his desk, from his paste pot and shears, from piles of newspapers, from ringing telephones and clicking telegraph keys.

An editor worthy the name has his fingers on the human pulse as no other in his community has. He is close to the great drama of life. What other experiences could mellow his mind so richly and stir his heart so deeply?

Who Is Intelligent?

Dr. E. E. Free, the eminent scientist, hands a rather hard jolt to certain professions which are popularly supposed to embrace a large share of the world's intelligence.

Among those who may be said to be intelligent at all, he places university professors, actors, doctors and preachers lowest in the scale. His reason for this conclusion, which he says is made as a result of scientific research, is that "their intelligence gets no exercise; they learn to confuse dogmatic plausibility with truth."

Going furthr, Dr. Free declares that the class of persons who use their brains to the best advantage are the foremen-mechanics, chief riggers, precision machinists and the like. Slightly less able than these are engineers and technical men, all of whom are "required to get the facts before reaching conclusions."

The learned doctor doesn't say just where editors come in. Maybe it is well. Possibly they don't come in at all.

A Southern Poet

Sidney Lanier, one of the South's greatest poets, was a most accomplished and versatile man, and was in turn a mechanic, soldier, teocher, professional musician, lawyer and poet during his 39 years of life, although a sufferer from tuberculosis contracted in his early twenties as a result of service in the Confederate Army, including five months as a prisoner.

After the war he held a clerkship in Montgomery, Ala.; was principal of an academy at Prattville, Ga., studied and practiced law in Macon, Ga., his birthplace; spent a while in Texas for his health with little result; played first flute in the Peabody symphony concerts in Baltimore; composed music to his own songs; wrote the official cantata for the Centennial exposition in Philadelphia, and was finally a lecturer on English literature at Johns Hopkins University for a few months before his health completely failed.

Although not appreciated by critics at first, Lanier's poems have long been widely acclaimed, especially his "Corn," "Sunrise," "The Symphony," "Psalm of the West," "The Song of the Chattahoochee," "The Marshes of Glynn," and the cantata already mentioned. He also wrote "Tiger-Lillies," a war novel, and "Science of English Verse."

His son, Henry Wysham Lanier, is a well known New York author and publisher, who was editor of the Golden Book magazine from 1925 to 1928.

If you are ambitious to begin at the top, look for a well-digging job.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

About seven hundred lads and lassies of the 4-H Clubs had gathered into the City Hall and the leader asked for a showing of hands on a question that vitally concerned each one, and seven hundred hands shot full length above the heads of the young people. They lifted their hands in the affirmative, and the looker on said in his mind and heart, "Certainly they are with the leader." It takes more than the showing of hands to pledge loyalty. Should I go to the dance hall and stop the music and the motion , and then say, "Let all present who are members of some church hold up their hands" and hands would go up from every part of the room. If the same proposition was made at the ball diamond on Sunday, at the Sunday picture shows, or at the pleasure resorts on the Sabbath, there would be a sea of hands go up. As for me I would be mightily ashamed of myself if I were attending either place on God's Holy Day and hold up my hand as a church member. We had just as well learn that there are some things that a loyal church member can not do.

In one of my visits in a rural section I was talking with the family about South Florida and the oranges that are so abundant down there. A young lady spoke this sentence that astonished me, "I have seen an orange, but I never tasted that fruit in my life." Here was a grown young lady who had never tasted an orange in her life. She had seen one but she knew nothing of the flavor of the fruit. How true that same thing is in regard to the religion of the Lord Jesus Christ. Many people have seen the Christian religion in the hearts of others, but as for them-selves, they have never tasted it in their own soul. The flavor of the orange to the tongue is only a faint delight to the taste as compared to the joy that true religion brings into the heart. It is one thing to see an orange and it is another thing to taste that fruit. In like manner it is one thing to see the Christian religion and it is another to taste it for themselves. Blessed is that one who knows how the Christian religion tastes and feels in his own heart and life. How sad to find thousands living close to the church and know nothing about religion.

I saw a little negro boy as he slipped over the fence and took a watermelon in his arms and started back toward the bushes. I lifted my voice saying, "Hey there, what is the big idea?" The little rascal dropped his melon and made for the woods. Do you know why he did this? Let me tell you, he had sense enough to know that he was taking something that did not belong to him. Since that day I have seen folks, white and black, taking many things that did not belong to them, one is ignorance, the other is meanness. The most of the taking belongs to the last thing mentioned. When we pay for a thing we have the right to take it, but not until then. Blessed is the Radio-broadcaster who knows when his time is up.

I was sitting in the office with a friend when an elderly man came in accompanied by a young man. The older of the two introduced the young man to his friend in business and said, "Henry, I have brought this young man here and I want you to give him a job." The business man looked him over and asked, "Is he straight?" I shall never forget the reply, "Yes, he is as straight as a gun barrel." How straight is a gun barrel? The keenest eye is not able to detect a curve in the barrel of a gun. "Straight" is a homely word, but it is deep with meaning. When a young man is straight in his morals, his habits, his life, he can be trusted. It is the straight barrel that can do straight shooting and that can send bullets high and far. Can it be said of you, "Yes, he is as straight as a gun barrel?"

With pride the farmer was showing me his fine horse, but he had this to say about the animal, "I think that horse has the worst nature of any horse I ever saw." Another man was speaking of his dog and this is what he said, "I think that dog is the illest natured dog in the world." Still another man was commenting on his fine milk cow, "She is a good cow but she will kick, hook and fight." There are a lot of folks who are respectable and we hope that they are good, but they do have such ugly natures and dispositions. It is so easy for us to be touchy, crabbed, sulky, cross, uncharitable. Let it be known that it is mighty hard to be an ill-natured saint.

WHY do you suppose Chevrolet keeps repeating, in all of its advertising, "Drive it only 5 miles"? Here's the reason: Chevrolet engineers have tried out all the various makes of cars in today's low-price field. And they have proved to their complete satisfaction, the same things that hundreds of thousands of Chevrolet owners are proving in their daily driving: How much more smoothly a car travels with genuine, fully-enclosed Knee-Action. How much more comfortably it handles, with shock-proof steering. How much more restfully you ride, in a Fisher Body car. How much more safely you drive, with cable-controlled brakes. And how much finer performance and better economy are secured from an overhead-valve Six! In other words, Chevrolet engineers know for sure that the Chevrolet ride simply can't be matched by any other in the low-price field. They know it—thousands of owners know it—and now we want you to know it too, before you make your final choice of a low-priced car.

Expired Cotton Options May Be Reinstated

Holders of cotton options which expired May 1 will be given an opportunity to have these options reinstated if application is made within the next 60 days, it was announced today by Oscar Johnston, Manager of the Cotton Producers Poll.

Mr. Johnston stated that only 20 option contracts covering 3,506 bales of cotton had not been heard from and, under the terms of the option, these contracts expired May 1. Holders who desire to have them reinstated should make application to the Cotton Producers Pool within the next 60 days, Mr. Johnston stated.

In announcing that reinstatement would be granted on application, Mr. Johnston made public the present status of the cotton options which were offered producers as a part of the compensation in the 1933 emergency cotton campaign.

Of a total of 517,434 options issued covering 2,428,697 bales, 567,198 options covering 2,403,174 bales have been exercised either by sale or delivery to the cotton producers pool. Of this amount, producers holding options covering 457,180 bales have called their options and the cotton sold; and the remainder has been delivered to the cotton producers pool.

Mr. Johnston stated that options outstanding totaled 6,543 contracts covering 42,025 bales. These cases are divided as follows: 3,207 contracts for 21,449 bales have been extended, the holders paying the sum of forty cents per bale per month carrying charge; 209 contracts covering 568 bales have called and fixed the date for future sale; 2,307 contracts covering 16,502 bales are in supense and will be issued when adjusted by correspondence or settlement (these option holders will then have 30 days after date of issue in which to call for sale or assign to the cotton producers pool); 820 contracts covering 3,506 bales have not been heord from since date of issue and these producers are given the privilege for 60 days from May 1 to apply for reinstatement.

Pure-Bred Boars Are Essential To Swine Improvement

Auburn, Ala. While many Alabama hog producers are cooperating with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration on the corn-hog reduction program they should bear in mind that the emergency program is intended to help hog produeers to help themselves, says E. W. Burns, extension animal husbandman of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

One way that this can best be done, continued Mr. Burns, is by breeding all sows kept on the farm to pure-bred boars. Experimental work conducted at Auburn has proved conclusively that the length of time required to produce 100 pounds of gain decreases as the percentage of pure breeding increases. In our ton-litter work conducted in all parts of the state in which the goal was to make one litter of pigs weigh a ton or more in six months we have never yet succeeded in doing this where a scrub or grade boar was used.

"All hog producers who have signed the corn-hog reduction contract, and others who for various reasons did not sign, should breed every sow they keep on the farm to a pure-bred boar in May for a September litter of pigs. By so doing they will have pigs that will grow rapidly and make the most efficient use of the feed given them. If you do not know where you can secure a pure-bred boar get in touch with your county agent or write to the Animal Husbandry Department at Auburn, and we will assist you in locating the kind of board you desire at prices farmers can afford to pay."

Fishing Rodeo Set For August 27-29

Montgomery, Ala.—I. T. Quinn, state commissioner of game and fisheries, has announced that Alabama's sixth annual deep sea fishing rodeo will be held in the gulf waters off Dauphin Island, near Mobile, August 27, 28 and 29.

The dates have been set back almost three weeks this year by the rodeo officials who believe that late August will find the tarpon migration into Mobile Bay at its height. Each year during August large schools of tarpon concentrate in Mobile Bay and around their feeding grounds rodeo anglers generally find their greatest sport.

The tarpon is known as the "silver king" of the briny deep because of his famed fighting ability and the biggest prize of the rodeo annually goes to the fishermon landing the largest tarpon The 1934 rodeo anglers will have a new record to shoot at since the 126½ pound tarpon taken by W. N. Fry of Memphis last summer was the largest ever caught during a rodeo.

Other fish for which handsome prizes are offered annually are king mackerel red fish, cavalla, black fish, dolphin, Spanish mackerel, bonita, blue fish, speckled trout, flounder and devil fish. Prizes in these various events are contributed by sporting goods house and other concerns and constitute an excellent inducement to the fisherman to test his skill in competition.

Last year approximately 300 fishermen from 35 cities in a dozen states chartered 75 boats for the three day fishing contest and another hundred persons who had registered were forced to cancel their reservations due to the launching of the NRA on the day the rodeo started.

This year the rodeo officials anticipate a record attendance since several large parties already have made inquiry about boats. Memphis, Shreveport and Mobile produced the largest number of prize winners in 1933 and a Shreveport party several weeks ago chartered three boats for the rodeo.

L. G. Adams of Mobile, is president of the rodeo association and Sam H. Lackland, also of Mobile, is secretary. Commissioner Quinn organized the rodeo in 1929 and it has been held each summer since.

Chevrolets Being Built At World's Fair

Chicago, May 12—The actual building of automobiles on the Chevrolet assemble line in the General Motors building at A Century of Progres—The Chicago World's Fair—will begin May 15, according to an announcement made here today by Dudley Frazer, production manager of the line.

Thus, with more than ten days before the official opening day of the 1934 exposition, Chevrolet workmen will have ample opportunity to familiarize themselves with the newly-installed assembly line machinery and the special precison tools with which they will demonstrate to the exposition's visitors all summer the smooth and painstaking manner in which all Chevrolet cars are built

The assembly line will operate daily, except Sunday, from 1:30 to 5:00 and from 6:30 to 9:00 o'clock each day, Mr. Frazer stated. Working hours, therefore, are predicated on the 36-hour week set by the automotive code of the NRA

Coaches and four-door sedans of the "knee-action" Master Six line will be assembled this year. Present plans call for approximately 20 cars to be turned out each day. Although the world's fair assembly line is a duplicate of that in operation in each of the nine assembly plants throughout the United States, the cars will be assembled in more or less "slow-motion" in order that watchers may keep track of each of the many intricate operations.

Each Chevrolet built this year at the General Motors building will bear a specially-designed medallion on the instrument panel.

More than 200 employees will be engaged in building these cars, it was stated. Material for the bodies and chassis will be brought into the plant each night after ten o'clock when the exposition closes.

SHELVADOR
equals ECONOMY

Crosley offers a wholly new concept of what modern electric refrigeration ought to be. Streamline beauty characterizes all models. The Shelvador provides about 50 per cent more usable storage space. In the tri-Shelvador series there have been added three new and exclusive features. (1) The Shelvatray (2) the Shelvabasket (3) the Storabin.

ECONOMY NO. 1

Economy in motor operation does not mean the smallness of the motor. It means the ability of the motor to perform its work properly and easily. The motor in Shelvador is large enough to do its work efficiently without strain. Yet it is small enough to do its work more efficiently, and remain idle a greater part of the time.

ECONOMY NO. 2

All models of Crosley Shelvador have the ventilated front. This allows the fan to pull a continuous stream of cool air over the condenser and force the warm air out, thereby preventing a constant churning of warm air over the condenser, which would lessen the efficiency of the motor.

ECONOMY NO. 3

Shelvador, which means shelves in the door, provides a handy and easily accessible place for those small items so annoyingly lost in the average refrigerator. This gives at least 50 per cent more shelving space than is found in other boxes with the same cubic feet rating.

ECONOMY NO. 4

You do not have to buy the costliest Shelvador to get the best. Because the very same fine features of quality materials, efficiency, and economy of operation are built into the smaller models as are found in the larger and more expensive ones.

We Can Also Supply Your Needs In Ice Refrigerators in Models from 25 to 100 Pounds Capacity. Prices as Low as $3.50.

POPLAR SPRINGS

We are glad to have such a large crowd attend church last Sunday night. Folks, let's keep it up. The program was rendered well.

Everybody come to B. Y. P. U. next Sunday night at 7:00 o'clock. We are expecting to have something special.

There will be a B. Y. P. U. Convention at Maplesville next Sunday evening, May 20. Everybody go that can. We want Poplar Springs well represented.

On account of strawberries being in the field we will not have any preaching the fourth Saturday but the fourth Sunday and Sunday night. We will have a Mother's Day program rendered the fourth Sunday in May. Everybody come.

If you are not attending church at any place why not come and join us? You will always find a welcome at Poplar Springs.

Gill-Arthur Wedding

A very pretty home wedding of much interest to the friends of the couple throughout Alabama and Georgia was that of Miss Annie Lou Arthur, of Midland City, Alabama and Jones Taft Gill, of Meansvlle, Georga.

The ceremony took place Frday afternoon, May 11, at 3:15 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Maddox in the presence of the immediate family and close friends.

The home was profusely decorated with pink and white roses. White tapers in silver candlabra burned on each side of a beautifully trellised alcove which served as an altar.

The bride and groom entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, with Mrs. V. H. Sutlive at the piano. Mr. H. R. Maddox, brother-in-law of the bride, gave the bride away.

The ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Lawrence L. Stanley of Thorsby.

The bride was lovely in a powder blue ensemble with white accessories and carried a bouquet of beautiful white roses.

The bride is the attractive daughter of Mrs. Ada Arthur and is well known in Thorsby, being graduated at Thorsby Institute and afterward attended Piedmont College at Demorest, Ga. She has taught two years in Southern Alabama. The groom is a graduate of Piedmont College and is a teacher in Georgia.

After the wedding a short reception was held. The, bride and groom left for a wedding trip through Florida. They will be at home ofter June 1 at Meansville, Georgia.

The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Gilliland, Mr. and Mrs. John Allen Duke of Macon, Georgia, Miss Ruth Gil lof Meansville, Georgia and Miss Sallie Belle Cooke of Macon, Georgia, and Mrs. Ada F. Arthur of Midland City, Alabama.

New Basic Crops Is Not Included In Contract Limits

Auburn, Ala-Farmers who have signed production adjustment contracts with the Secretary of Agriculture need not consider the six new "basic commodities," added by recent amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment Act, their compliance with such limitati on "other basic commodities" as appear in their contracts.

Announcement of this ruling has been made by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The seven basic commodities listed in the act as originally passed were cotton, wheat, field corn, hogs, tobacco, rice ,and milk and its products. In the case of most of these original basic commodities adjustment contracts signed by growers include a prohibition against increasing production of any of the others, above the level of 1932 or 1933, whichever was the higher.

Recent amendments to the Adjustment Act added six new basic commodities—beef cattle, grain sorghums, flax, barley, rye, and peanuts— and questions have been raised as to whether increasing production of these new commodities would invalidate the contracts already in force or in process

Limiations on basic crop increases in contracts signed before June 1, 1934 will be interpreted as applying only the original basic commodities, and not this year to the production of the n commodities added by the amendmen

Because the new basic commodities were not designated until farmers had their plans for 1934 well under way. has been decided that increased prod tion of them will not constitute vi tion of the contract so long as ther is no violation of its general provisio which forbid increases in the total acreage of feed crops other than grain or hay, and increases in the total acreoge of crops planted for harvest.

Unless the Secretary prescribes oth wise, the new basic commodities w be considered in determining com ance with allotment contracts sig after June 1, 1934.

June 12 Will Decide Senatorial Race

June 12 will decide whether Dr. V. J. Gragg, prominent Clanton physician, or Earle Thomas, vocational instructor at the Isabella High School, will represent the people of the Fifteenth Senatorial District as State Senator.

Although Dr. Gragg led in all three counties in the district (Chilton, Shelby, and Autauga) the Isabella Vocational instructor declares the fight is still on and avers that he is optimistic for victory in the coming election. Raymond C. Smith, Clanton attorney, was eliminated in the May 1 Primary, and it is not known how the majority of his strength will be cast in the the coming election.

The Democratic Party will have only one other run-off in Chilton County June 12. T. L. McKee and Newton A. Popwell will fight it out for nomination for Tax Collector.

Jemison Boys Paint Vocational Building

The Senior Class in vocational agricultur have completed the painting of the vocational building at the Jemison High School. The building is now ready for inspection by the State Department of Education.

The boys applied three coats of paint. The job of painting the building was accompanied by a course in the chemistry of paints, the boys using a farm bulletin, "Painting on the Farm," and a publication, "Notes on Painting," by Prof. Carnes of Auburn. These texts supplies information on pigments in paints, vehicles, coloring, mixing, care of brushes, etc. In addition the analysis of outside paints found in local stores at Jemison and Clanton was studied and compared.

The entire job is the work of the boys from the building of the scaffold and step-ladders to the final cleaning of the brushes, under the direction of the teacher of vocational agriculture.

It is the purpose of vocational agriculture to combine theory, scientific information, with practical experience so as to make the student a more usetul citizen.

JACKSON THANKS VOTERS

To the Voters of Chilton County:

I want to express my thanks for the splendid vote which I received in my race for Tax Collector of May 1st.

I appreciate the loyalty of the citizens who stood by me in my race and gave me their vote and influence.

When I entered this race I had a desire to help bring the Democratic Party to the front in Chilton County But the majority of the voters did not see it that way. Why? Because there were men who were supposed to be citizens, went over this county and told the Democrats that I was not a Democrat and if you vote for Jackson you are voting for a Republican.

Now Voters, if the Democratic Party wins this Fall where are the difference of about seven hundred to come from? The Republican Party, of course. It is true that I have been a Republican, but that is not saying I am one now.

During Hoover's administration we had plenty of men in this country that were millionaires. Are they today? No, they are dead. Now, Voters, I voted my first Democrat ticket four years ago for Mr. Nevins for sheriff. Two years ago I voted the full ticket, county, state and nation, for which I am so grateful. In the campaign of 1932 I purchased an emblem and also flew this same emblem of this great man, Franklin D. Roosevelt, now president of the United States, and the poor man's friend. Some of my good Republican friends came to me and wanted to buy my emblem from me. I told them for two reasons they couldn't get it. First, I was for him; second, I bought and paid for it with my own money.

Now, Voters, a man living in the sunny South can't be anything but a Democrat. If you live in the North, you can be a Republican. Why? Because the North always gets special favors. This is not Democracy. Democracy is equal rights to all and special favors to none.

In the future if I can be of any service to my friends and the Democratic Party, call on me.

Yours truly,
REUBEN JACKSON

WHO SAYS THERE'S NO DIFFERENCE IN MOTOR OILS?

These people tested Gulf-lube against famous 25c oils—Now read what they say . . .

"GULF-LUBE TOOK ME 41% FURTHER BEFORE I HAD TO ADD A QUART."
"I WENT 51% FURTHER ON GULF-LUBE BEFORE A QUART WAS CONSUMED."
"I GOT 24% MORE MILES OUT OF GULF-LUBE BEFORE MY OIL-LEVEL DROPPED A QUART."

Mr. Lewis T. McIntosh, Brooklyn, N.Y.—Studebaker owner. Mrs. Lee Ketner, Winston-Salem, N. C.—Chrysler owner. Mr. J. D. Bowden, Atlanta, Ga. Plymouth owner.

Each of these motorists made two trips to some distant point.

ON the first trip they used one of the well-known 25c oils . . . On the second trip they used Gulf-lube. And Gulf-lube cut their oil consumption from 24% to 51%!

Switch to Gulf-lube—the oil that beat 3 other famous 25c oils in the AAA Indianapolis "high-mileage" test. Pare down oil costs . . . get better lubrication! 25c a quart.

Fifty-Two Families Aided By Relief

Montgomery, Ala.,—In Chiltou County County 52 families had been enrolled in the Rural Rehibilitation program of the Alabama Relief Administration through the week ending May 12, R. Y. Green, State Rehabilitation Director, announced today.

Budgets for these families call for a total expenditure of $4,955.21, most of which will be released immediately into local channels for the purchase of supplies, implements and other necessities.

Throughout the State 2,141 families have been enrolled and their budgets approved. The total cash outlay as representd by thes budgets is $193,857.30. The budgets cover periods of approximately eight months and the cost of helping these destitute families regain an economic footing is often less and rarly more than would be required to provide them with food and their necessities under the old "direct" relief system for the same period.

Land owners, upon whom much of the success of the program depends, have been glad to cooperate, once the aim of the program has been explained, according to Director Green. Thorough their coperatin much land, which otherwise would have remained idle is being cultivated to grow produce crops.

The destitute family, in return for use of the land, agrees to repair the farm buildings and fences and the Administration, through local, practical and experienced farm foremen are responsibly for fulfillment of this agreement. The foremen also supervises the planting, plowing, and harvesting of the crops and a large part of the produce will be preserved by canning or drying.

All that has been advanced the family by the Administration must be repaid in produce, or in work on public projects. Produce thus received will be used by the Administration to feed destitute families in the urban areas.

Dr. Hinkle Expresses Thanks To Voters

I am profoundly greatful to my friends throughout the County who gave me such a strong vote of confidence. The count of the county democratic committee gives me 936 votes My campaign was carried on in the open, I spoke the truth at all times on every issue. I had nothing to say against my opponent.

The first issue in this campaign is the good name of our County and State I am a Democrat and believe in a majority rule, so each and every candidate may expect my vote in the Democratic election in November.

English Students Try Hand At Journalism

Members ot the senior one literature class of the Marbury High School have been trying their hands at newspaper publishing. This week two hundred-fifty copies of the "Raveloe Banner," a four-page newspaper dealing with the activities in George Eliot's novel "Silas Marner," were delivered to the various authors.

The action in this novel afforded an unusual amount of sensational news, and the students, under the supervision of Miss Helen Gilbert, English teacher, exhibited unusual journalistic ability.

The executive staff of the publication is a follows:

Editor-in-Chief, Warren Mitchell; assistant Editor, Chester Culver; Monager, Arnold Stewart; Sports Editor, Robert Spain; Social Editor, Miss Ruth Gardner; Reporters, Catherine Foshee, Hazel Graves and Arnold Richardson.

INK DROPS FROM C. C. H. S.

By Dan Smith

"Farewell." If this were a book that I was writing, I would give it the title of "Farewell". Only four days after today and Chilton County High School will close its twentieth scholastic year. This week's column is the last of a two-year effort to keep the public informed as to the activities of Chilton County High School. The writer, with apologies, wishes to be personal in saying that a touch of sentiment is attached to the writing of Ink Drops this week. But I must save my personal remarks until the last for there is still some news from C. C. H. S.

Don't forget the presentation of Junior High School diplomas at the high school auditorium tonight at eight o'clock. See the names of both the Junior High candidates for graduation and the Senior High candidates for graduation on the front page.

An Announcement

The Senior Three Class wishes to announce that seats for the fathers and mothers of the graduating Seniors will be reserved at the presentation of diplomas Monday night. These seats will be in the center section and will be tied off with ribbons. All parents are requested to tell the ushers.

With the humble courtesy of reserving seats for their parents, the Seniors wish to express their appreciation of their parents' loyal patronage.

At the Commencement program Monday night the Senior Class will formally present the school with a beautiful oil-treated print of the famous painting by Whistler of his mother. This picture will be approximately 22x40 and will have a gold finished frame. This highly commended and reverenced picture will be the third gift from the Senior Class to the school. The first was an entrance gate for the southern end of the driveway and the second was the attractive sun dial with benches, now seen on the campus.

The school is rightfully proud of the Senior Class of 1934, who with the splendid leadership of its president, John Ezell, and the never-waning coöperation and spirit of its sponsor, Miss Frances Gulledge, has left a record to be sought after by other classes. In a financial way the class has handled in a most wise manner several hundred dollars. The class has shown and proven to possess true school spirit. The scholastic achievements of many of its members justifies its claim to be an intelligent class.

It is interesting to know that the Senior Class that will graduate next Monday night was the Junior One Class when Prof. L. C. Warr, our present and re-elected principal, first assumed his duties at C. C. H. S.

Numbers of people have received the invitation to the graduating exercises by now as the invitations were mailed out Monday.

Last Tuesday the Chilton County High School baseball team played the last game of their season. This game was with Marbury at Marbury. Friday of last week saw our boys in Montevallo playing the school there. The score was in favor of Montevallo, 6 to 0. C. C. H. S. looks up with pride to the splendid record made by Coach Searcy and the boys.

The chapel period yesterday, being the last one of the year, witnessed the formal change of seats between the Juniors and the Seniors. Ever year at the last chapel period the Seniors move to the rear of the auditorium and allow the Juniors to occupy the front seats where the Seniors always sit. This tradition is always carried out with an appropriate program included speeches by the presidents of the two classes. It's somewhat sad in a way.

Whom will the Honor Key be presented to?

The setting itself for the Class Night tomorrow night at eight o'clock is worth coming to see. The stage of the auditorium will be decorated as a flower garden. It is most beautiful, something entirely new to C. C. H. S. The program will be suited to the setting for instance; the Seniors will be spoken of as the flowers in the garden and the teachers will be called the gardners. One just cannot stay away from the Senior Class Night. On this night the Seniors will have their fun with the many humorous stunts. The time is eight o'-clock.

Remember! Dr. Zebulon Judd, Dean of Education at Auburn, will be the baccalaureate speaker at the graduation exercises Monday night at eight o'clock.

Beginning yesterday, Wednesday afternoon, and continuing through tomorrow, Friday, at noon, final examinations are in progress.

Thirty candidates for graduation. The graduating class this year is one of the largest C. C. H. S. has ever had.

Mention must be given to the flower books that were made by the members of Mr. Varnell's biology class. Since there is not enough room to mention all the students it would be unfair to comment on just one because every one is a masterpiece within itself. It can be said truthfully that they all are "A-1."

Who Am I???? Yes, you guessed correctly. Last week it was Sara Lawrence. And since there will be no edition of Ink Drops next week, Who Am I. will not be published this week. If in any way the writer causes inconvenience whatsoever to any person mentioned in this section, the writer apologizes.

The writer wishes to use the remaining space for several personal articles. May I?

First, I wish to extend thanks from the bottom of my heart to my readers tho they may be small in number. I wish to thank them for spending their time to read this column. I sincerely hope that my efforts have not been wasted. My readers, I pray, obtained real information from my column. This was entirely a personal column, and if there are any complaints, make them to me alone for, as the sole writer, it is my duty to receive them. Again, thank you dear readers.

Second, my deepest appreciation and best of feelings to the teachers of C. C. H. S. is expressed most heartily. I want to thank Mr. Warr for the encouragement and cooperation he has given to me not only pertaining to Ink Drops but also as a student. Words cannot be found in which to express my opinion to you, Mr. Warr. All I can find words to say is that I do not regret being a student under you.

Those teachers by whom I was fortunate to be taught have my sincerest wishes and thanks. Misses Frances Gulledge and Clyde Smilie; and Mr. J. B. Varnell, I assure you that I feel much richer in knowledge after being a student under you. And to you teachers who were not my class teachers, I have the deepest reverence for the inspiration and standards that you set before me. I wish to thank Miss Gulledge for the assistance she gave me as a critic for Ink Drops. Again, my humble but truest thanks to the members of the faculty of Chilton County High School.

Not to mention my many fellow students would be wrong, although I have only a few lines left, I will speak of them, not individually, but as "a body of students with whom I have enjoyed every moment and realized many benefits." My fellow classmates deserve honorable mention but short space permits me to only say "I'll always remember you."

The members of the faculty and the student body of Chilton County High School deserve the richest of praises—those bestowed upon only an institution which has rendered a true service to its community.

Personally I would like to see someone continue to write a school column. And I hope that they will do a lot better job than I did with Ink Drops.

So long Mack. You're a real good janitor.

Au revoir.

NORGE ROLLATOR REFRIGERATION SAVES UP TO $11.00 A MONTH

● There's a world of difference between keeping food fresh and just keeping it from spoiling. Food loses its fine flavor long before it actually spoils.

And right there you have one of the biggest advantages of Rollator Refrigeration. That surplus cold-making power in the Rollator cooling mechanism protects the fresh flavor of perishable foods. The result is that you can take advantage of one-day food bargains—you can market for days or weeks in advance—you can make tasty and wholesome use of left overs.

All of that means economy. Add it to the saving in refrigeration cost and you'll see that Rollator Refrigeration will actually pay for your Norge.

Come in and learn about Rollator Refrigeration. See the Norge before you buy any refrigerator.

How much will "TAX EXEMPTIONS" Cost You?

THE 1933 tax bill of Alabama Power Company was over $2,000,000, or 75% of the $2,755,000 interest on state bonds which Alabama taxpayers pay each year. In addition, taxpayers owning property in incorporated towns and cities pay in the aggregate a much larger interest bill on existing municipal debts.

Recently a few communities have elected to increase their indebtedness to engage in the business of distributing electricity. The state and these municipalities will thereby lose considerable tax revenue at a time when funds are needed to operate schools, pay bond interest on debts already incurred, and otherwise maintain local and state governmental agencies.

Furnishing electric service is a commercial business. Whenever commercial business escapes the payment of its fair share of taxes by resort to public ownership it simply works a hardship on the remaining taxpayers, both city and rural, because their property and their business must make up the loss in order to maintain schools, roads, and other necessary governmental functions.

Another week has passed and here we are again.

Sunday was a well spent day with us. We had with us Rev. Sims of Howard College who preached for us a Mothers' Day sermon in the morning and a real good doctrinal sermon in the evening. We certainly appreciate such Christian young men coming among us and rendering their services for the Master.

We had a real sweet Mothers' Day program. There were some special songs for the occasion. Rev. Maurice Hodgens gave a tolk on the origin of Mother's Day and his sisters, Misses Dorothy and Evelyn Jones, had some nice recitations. His mother, Mrs. Jones, and little brother, Everett, were here also. There were otehr recitations by our own little girls. They were swgetly rendered.

There will be an all-day singing here the second Sunday in June. Mr. A. A. Glasscock is chairman. We invite all singers.

The Rev. Bryan of Birmingham will be here next Monday night.

Mrs. J. A. Wright and daughter, Rubye, spent a while with the Misses Champion, Monday night.

Miss Brtha Lee Price was the guest of the Champions Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Clyde Champion and sons, Dalton and Sanders, went to Clanton Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Charley Miskelley spent Saturday night and Sunday with his home folks. He is a CCC boy. His company is moving to Mississippi, so he is going into new territory.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Franklin and little son, Cecil, and her mother, Mrs. Dovie Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davenport and daughter and little son, Edith and James Frank, Mr. and Mrs Vasteen Davenport and little daughter, Frances Gene, and Messrs. Lloyd and Cyrell Baggett were the guests of the Champions Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Franklin were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wright Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Compton and little son and daughter, Ralph and Lucile, visited their son, R. V. Compton, of Six Mile Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. Carl Dawson visited his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Franklin, Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. John Davenport and children, J. D., Dorothy, Cathaleen and Nellie Gene, visited her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ray, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davenport and children were the guests of his parents Saturday night.

Miss Lucile Merchant was the guest of the Misses Price Saturday night and Sunday.

Misses Agnes and Mary Lee Compton and brother Louie, spent Saturday night with their brother, Mr. Algie Compton.

Mrs. Tom Childress is real sick again.

The B. Y. P. U. social was a grand success at Mr. Algie Compton's Saturday night. We thank the young people very much for their nice conduct. May God bless you all.

Mr. and Mrs. Vasteen Davenport and little daughter, Frances, visited his father, mother and little sister Sunday.

Shoults News

The health of this community is very good. We have had a few cases of measles but the material has almost given out now. If anybody wants us to have a disease they will have to bring a new one although we don't care for anymore, thanks.

There was a large crowd out to hear Brother Cook preach Sunday. Many visitors from Clanton, Selma, Centerville and other places whom we cordially invite to come again. There was equally as large a crowd Sunday night.

The B. Y. P. U. here is not as good as it should be but we have taken a new interest. We hope to make it better. The B. Y. P. U. from here is going to Maples Springs next Sunday. We hope to bring back the banner, too.

There was a few from here who attended part of the programs at Stanton and Macedonia Sundoy. Those attending were: Mises Novice Garner, Bess and Vera Lee Moore, Mollie Burnette, Edwina Latham and Messrs. Kay Latham, J. M. Rinehart and Lindsey McAfee. All reported a nice time.

Yes, Sir, we are going to have a home-coming day at Pleasant Grove No. 2 the second Sunday in June. Everybody come and bring some one with you and bring a well filled basket. Don' forget it, June 10th.

Are we going to Maplesville Friday? I guess we are, we can't miss that. There is going to be a barbecue and ball games. Shoults girls will play Maplesville girls in a game of baseball Friday morning. Don't forget that May 18th. The plates sell for twenty-five cents each.

Those who play on Shoults team are; Willie Garner, Catcher; Sara McAfee, pitcher; Bess Moore, first base; Chessie Lou Latham, short stop; Vera Lee Moore, second base; Edwina Latham, third base; Jewel Kelley, left fielder; Geneva Shoultz, center fielder; Mollie Burnett, right fielder; Bess and Vera Lee Moore substitute pitchers; Novice Garner, right fielder; Allie Walker, center fielder. You will surely regret it if you are not present.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Strawberry season is about over now but everybody is still complaining about sore knees.

Our Sunday School pupils are still asleep for we didn't have any Sunday School Sunday but our B. Y. P. U. was very well attended. Several of our old members came back. We are glad to see them back but there is still plenty room for you yet, so come next Sunday and bring someone with you.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Downs had as their guests Sunday Mr. Arnold Downs and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Downs and baby from Birmingham, Miss Daisy Downs from Tuscaloosa and Mr. Loyd Martin and wife and baby fro Enterprise.

Mrs. Charlie Sandlin was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Driver Sunday.

Misses Marie and Berniece Devaughn had as their guests Sunday Misses Laura and Alma Blalock.

Mrs. Arthur Mims had as her guest Sunday her mother, Mrs. Frank Guy.

Mrs. Bill Wise visited friends of Birmingham last Friday and Saturday.

Remember, next Saturday and Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night are our regular preaching times. Come.

MRS. CALLIE PARKER HAS HOME COMING ON MOTHER'S DAY

A day to be long remembered was had at the home of Mrs. Callie Parker in Sylacauga on May 13. All the children and a number of friends went to Mrs. Parker's to celebrate Mother's Day.

The children presented their mother with a lovely bouquet of flowers. Dinner was served to about thirty guests. Those who enjoyed this day with Mrs. Parker were: Mr. and Mrs. O.A. Parker and three sons, Preston, Ralph and Grover Carl; Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Walton and three children, Roland, Louise and Bobbie Joe; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Thompson and son, Thurman; Mrs. French Horton and sons, Horace, Grover, Hazel and Leonard. Friends included were: Mavis Miller, Weldon Brackett, James White, Paul 'Bussie, Kassie Lackins, Mr. and Mrs. Hermon Sanders James Blackstock, Lewis Corley. Out of town guests were: Mr. Nix, West Point Georgia and Mr. Royace Lackins from Lanette, Ala.

Ice cream was served late in the afternoon and pictures were taken. This day will be long remembered with all who were present.

D.L. Blackatter, formerly of Demopolis, will be manager of the store. He stated that other help in the store will be local, which will be selected during the coming week. Assisting Mr. Blackatter and Mr. Fleetwood in the opening of the Clanton store is B. J. Stokes, supervisor of the southern district of the chain.

In commenting on the selection of local help, Mr. Fleetwood stated the company is interested in securing men with ability to rise since the chain is constantly growing and the opening of new stores create places for trained store managers. He declared that in coming to Clanton, the Yellow Front Stores wish to become a part of the town, participating in local civic movements and lending their support to the promotion of all worthwhile public improvecents.

CIRCUIT COURT IS IN PROGRESS HERE THIS WEEK

Docket May Be Cleared; Many Cases Are Being Disposed Of Now

With the second week of the special session of Circuit Court in Chilton County well underway, apparently the county's criminal docket will be practically cleared during this two-week's session, according to information from the office of J. Z. Mims, circuit court clerk, who stated that apparently almost all felony cases will be disposed of, leaving about 200 misdemeanor cases to be tried.

Judge R. B. Carr, of Anniston, is presiding because of the indisposition of Judge F. Loyd Tate. Judge Carr has created a very favorable impression during his brief stay here, according to persons attending court.

The following cases have been disposed of since last Wednesday, when the News went to press:

Raybon DeLoach, charged with assault to ravish, was acquittd by a jury in little less than hour after it retired to consider the verdict.

Most of last Thursday was spent in hearing this case and perhaps fifteen witnesses testified during the several hours hearing.

Olan Crumpton, charged with manufacturing whiskey and possession of a still, was sentenced to from two to two and one-half years.

Emmett Carlee, burglary and grand larceny, was given 18 months to two years.

Henry Mims, manufacturing whiskey and possession of a distillery, was released with the payment of the court costs.

The case against William Wilson, charging manufacture of liquor, was dismissed with payment of court cost.

The case charging Lee Jones with manufacturing whiskey was continued until the next term of court with the understanding that it be disposed of at that time.

Luther Guin, manufacturing whiskey, placed on probation pending good behavior with the payment of the court cost.

The indictment against Noah Chadwick for the same offense was withdrawn and filed, since the defendant is said to be serving a term in the penitentiary.

A sentence of two years to two years and six months was meted to Wesley Jones for manufacturing whiskey and possessing a distillery.

Several other cases, including Jodie Huff, Amos Thrash, Dosier Payton, all held on charges of liquor law violations were placed on probations with the payment of costs.

Lee Nunally agreed to appear in court at the next term and plead guilty to manufacturing whiskey and be sentenced at that time.

McArthur Davis was sentenced to 18 months to two years for manufacturing and possession of a still.

A jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the case against Joe Hudson for assault with intent to commit murder.

Albert Thomas was sentenced to one year and one day to two years for transporting liquor. This was his third offense.

Leon Ottis Glenn was given a verdict of not guilty by the jury on charges of transporting liquor.

Tom Henley, charged with manufacturing liquor was sentenced to one year and one day to 20 months on a plea of guilty.

Tom Andrew Caton was released on payment of costs on charges of manufacturing whiskey and possession of a still.

An unsually heavy punishment was reaped by William Baker on charges of manufacturing whiskey, when he was sentenced from four to five years. It was shown that he had forced his small son to aid him in the manufacture of illicit liquor.

Carlton Baker was given a sentence of one year and one day to two years for the manufacture of whiskey.

Dosier Payton, indicted for transporting, was released on prbation with the payment of costs.

Jesse Harwell received a sentence of from two to three years for manufacturing liquor.

Milfor Smith was sentenced to one yar and one day to 18 months for manufacturing whiskey.

Other cases to be heard this week are:

president of McCord's Bible Class, is now tooth and toenail for Graves.

Judge Walter B. Jones, of Montgomery for sixteen years a judical associate of Judge McCord, is openly supporting Graves.

H. L. Upshaw, publisher of the Eufala Tribune, a daily thot supported McCord has announced for Graves.

Seven Dixon supporters in one business house in Selma stated that if had they known Graves was as strong as he was, and if they had realized what Dixon's government revaming scheme really meant, they would have supported Graves in the beginning. "We are going to help put him over in the run-off," they said.

A. J. Williams, successful candidate for the legislature in Clarke County, has reportde that Graves will get 85 per cent of the McCord votes in that County.

Robert W. Smith, commander of an American Legion Post in Mobile, and who was an ardent supporter of Dixon, has switched to Graves and predicts that practically every ex-service man in that city who voted for the Birmingham candidate will be for Graves on June 12th.

O. J. Rabby, of Coden, Mobile County, voted for Dixon on May 1st, but is now out for Graves.

Political wiseacres here and throughout the State freely predict that Graves will receive a majority vote on June 12th, of not less than 75,000.

th entire program was an address former County Agent C. E. Stapp. It was largely through Mr. Stapp's efforts that the 4-H club work was introduced into Chilton County and promoted to its present-day standing.

John Hollis, superintendent of Mitchell Dam, in behalf of the Clanton Kiwanis club, presented a silver loving cup to the Boys' club. The Kiwanis club has taken a keen interest in the 4-H club work and has acted as sponsor of the club for sometime.

Election of officers was another outstanding feature. The News was unable to get the results of this election for publication in this issue.

Lunch was served at the Clanton High School building and following lunch, the entire body attended the Wadesonian Theater, where they saw the motion picture, "Alice In Wonderland."

SO IT SEEMS

By Victor Norris

The people of Chilton County will be glad to learn that work on their airport is again progressing. Scores of men are working two to three days each week on the project, and those in charge of the work state that more is being accomplished than under the recent CWA regime, under which work on the airport was begun.

With little more work out there, county officials and citizens will never have any regrets regarding the purchase of the site and the expending of effort necessary to get the work underway. The only trouble with the project is that it was just a bit too slow in conception which resulted in larger sums of money being expended on similar projects of less importance over the State.

Air authorities insist that Clanton is centrally located on all proposed air routes and for this reason, it is probable that the government will in the future expend sums for the improvement of the field. Information has been received recently that Clanton can still depend on an ample hangar.

Some time ago, the Man in the Moon suggested that the field be named for Dr. V. J. Gragg. We heartily agree with this suggestion. Without Dr. Gragg's untiring efforts in behalf of the field, there is no doubt that it would never have amounted to more than a mere pipe dream. He is due more credit for what has been done than any other half-dozen men in the county; so we would be very glad to see some movement started toward the dedication of the field in his honor.

This new rehabilitation program has its merits. One of the outstanding of which is the farm supervision afforded people under this new program. Too long farming has been considered something anyone could do without regard to training or ability to do serious thinking, but this idea has been proved false ver and over again.

Besides giving advice that in most cases will be badly needed, the farm foremen will be supposed to see, we understand, that the crops are given the proper amount of work—and this too is of vast importance. In every way the new program seems to be a great improvement over the idea of direct relief, which resulted largely in encouraging idleness.

Another feature of the relief work in the county that is worthy of commendation is the canning programs. The people of this section need some encouragement in conservation.

In spite of the long faces worn around here by some of the strawberry growers J. N. Dennis, president of the Clanton Berry Growers, informs me that the crop will likely bring into the county about $100,000 this year. Berries brought a much better price per crate than during the past two years ,and although shipping was discontinued while the fields were still red, the income from this crop was considerably larger than last year.

Another item worth mentioning is the fact that more than $10,000 was paid workers in hervesting this crop in the county.

Defeat is without a doubt one of the most accurate barometers to a person's real character. Most anyone can hold his head up when favored by success, often too high; but when you see a man that can smile in spite of defeat, he is usually a bit more of a man than you may have given him credit for before.

Rueben Jackson, who recently alligned himself with the Democratic Party —and was a candidate for tax collector on the Democratic Ticket—was counted out in the first primary. Many would have accepted this as a none too warm welcome but he didn't take this attitude.

In a letter, published in the News last week, Reuben expressed determination to stay with his newly adopted party, because he still believes in its principles, instead of allowing a wounded pride to warp his vision and appreciation.

To me, this indicates that Reuben Jackson is perhaps a bit bigger man than many may have given him credit for being—not because he determined to remain in the Democratic Party; being a Democrat, or a Republican, has nothing to do with being a man, but the fact that a person can take defeat without souring on the world and framing a lot of flimsy alibis is a pretty good recommendation that he is worthy to be called a man.

BERRIES NET NEAT SUM FOR COUNTY

$10,000 IS PAID FOR WORK IN PICKING, ETC.

Large Amount Sold To Local Markets As Well As To Others

Despite the unexpected slump in the strawberry market, a final check-up indicates that the crop will bring into Chilton County approximately $100,000, according to information this week from J. N. Dennis, president of the Clanton Berry Growers' association.

He stated that seventy carloads, containing 21,325 crates and bringing $35,865.41, have been shipped from Clanton. No definite information regarding the exact amount shipped from Jemison and Thorsby was available, but Mr. Dennis stated that the output at those places was at least equal to the Clanton crop. Besides the berries shipped by rail, hundreds of crates have been trucked and sold locally.

At two cents per crate for picking and packing, it was estimated that more than $10,000 was paid for this work, greatly aiding in furnishing employment for people of the county.

Chilton County is said to have had perhaps the best berry crop this year since the introduction of the new agriculture industry into the county. Although the income from strawberries in this section is largely governed by outside factors, the crop is fast becoming an outstanding part of the farm production in this county.

PRINTERS GET 'BREAK' WITH NEW PRICES

Uniform Price Schedule Is Mandatory Says Code Authority

By Roy Brown
Administration Manager
Division A-2 and A-5, Graphic Arts Industry for Alabama

Following the approval of the Price Determination Schedule by General Johnson on April 27, the Joint National Code Authority for Divisions A-2 and A-5 of the Graphic Arts Industry, through the Alabama Regional Code Authority, has placed in each establishment's hands, a copy of the schedule

Copies were mailed to all commercial printing establishments, outside of Birmingham, doing less than $25,000 business in 1933, and who were not members of the UTA or its cooperating trade organizations on September 18 last year, to all weekly newspaper publishers and those daily newspapers with a commercial printing department.

The order establishing the selling floor for commercial printing effects every establishment in the United States doing relief printing and makes it illegal to sell below the prices set out in the Price Determination Schedule issued.

In a front page article of the Publisher's Auxiliary, "Give It a Fair Trial," Harry B. Rutledge, Executive Secretary of the National Editorial Association, and also Secretary of the Joint National Code Authority for Divisions A-2 and A-5, has the following to say:

"The approval of a price determination schedule by NRA Administrator Hugh S. Johnson to help bring about fair competition as contemplated by the Graphic Arts Industries code within the printing industry brings one step nearer to every printer and publisher the aims of the code—that of the elimination of chiseling on prices and thus placing upon a fair price basis the sale of printed matter. The prices in the schedule have been worked out by a representative committee of practical printers, each of whom owns his own establishment and is an official of the National Editorial association or the United Typthetae of America. Small as well as large shops were properly represented on it and an effort was made to give consideration to every type of problem.' '

Dr. C. C. Anderson of Montgomery attended the Commencement Services at the Methodist church Sunday and took part on the program.

Burglars Break Into Lowe's Place Monday

Burglars, gaining entrance by breaking open a rear window, took a quantity of cigarets and other merchandise from R. W. Lowe's store, in South Clanton, some time Monday night.

Mr. Lowe stated that it is almost impossible to estimate the amount of merchandise lost, but he said all the cigarets in thestore were taken, several pairs of silk hose, at least one pair of men's shoes, and perhaps a quantity of groceries. He offered a $25 reward for their arrest and conviction.

No money was lost except a few pennies, which were left in the cash register, Mr. Lowe revealed.

THIRTEEN ARE GIVEN TERMS LAST WEEK

Two-Weeks Session Of Circuit Court Disposes Of Many Old Cases

A two-weeks special term of circuit court ended in Chilton County Friday with the disposition of more than fifty felony cases that have clogged the docket for more than two years. J. Z. Mims, circuit clerk, stated that approximately 200 misdemeanor cases are still scheduled for trial.

During the recently ended special term, thirteen persons were sentenced to serve terms in the State penal institutions. They are: Carl Partain, assault and battery, 151 days; Jesse Harwell, negro, manufacturing whiskey and possessing a still, two to three years; William Baker, manufacturing whiskey and possessing a still, four to five years —Baker was given extra punishment for having his young son aiding him in the manufacture of illicit liquor—Tom Henley, one year and one day to twenty months, for the manufacture of liquor, Milford Smith, manufacturing whiskey and possessing a still, one year and one day to eighteen months.

Manuel DuBose, manufacturing liquor two to three years—a sentence of one to two years for obtaining money under false pretenses was suspended; Albert Thomas, one year and one day to two years, for transporting; Armon Waggoner, violation of the prohibition laws,

Taken For A Convict A Foot Race And It's All Over

Word went out over the section that an escaped negro convict had been seen in that vicinity.

Women barred the doors—children peered cautiously from behind closed doors and windows, awe-stricken at the probability of seeing the terrible creature that stories, heard from their elders, and vivid imaginations had conjured in their minds; men went about their work a bit more solemnly last Friday morning—an escaped convict was in their midst.

About middle of the morning, E. C. Collins, of the Collins Chapel community, espied a bare-footed man hurrying across his field. His colored skin against the background of a dingy white uniform and his apparent frightened manner immediately marked him as a legitimate suspect.

Collins yelled for him to stop. But instead of halting, the negro increased the length and frequency of his steps. Collins started after him—the fast walk became a trot—a run.

The race was on!

Through fields—over fences—in and out of ditches—the chase gained momentum. In almost every field, recruits joined the excited throng.

His white uniform little more than a streak when he sped through a yard, the fleeing negro left a house-wife almost hysterical, only adding pep and purpose to the chase.

After about six miles through plowed fields, the negro fell exausted. His pursuers, panting, crowded about the victim, ready to take whatever means seemed advisable to return this culprit to his punishment.

On the ground, John Belle, feeble-minded negro of West End, Clanton, trembled—he didn't know why he ran—he only knew he couldn't run any farther.

Miss Ethel Mae Jones spent last week end at Alabama College with Miss Mary Nell Jones, a student there.

SWING TO GRAVES GAINS WITH PROMINENT MEN AS SUPPORTERS

Little Colonel's Headquarters Deluged With Letters Pledging Support From All Sections Of State; Upstate Counties Swing

Montgomery, Ala., May 21 (Special) The Seale beat in Russell County, a strong McCord center in the first primary, has gone completely Graves-minded, according to a delegation of Russell County citizens that called today at the Graves headquarters. Among the Sealeites who have turned to Graves are B. G. Jennings, one of the most prominent merchants in East Alabama, a Dixon supporter who has been "completely converted to the Graves cause," as his friends expressed it; B. D. G. (Boss) Waddell, a member of the Legislature, both Senate and House from Russell, for many years; T. G. Burch, Sr., former Sheriff of the County; Ben F. Burch, the present Sheriff. Theo Martin, prominent farmer and county official. The last four named were active supporters of Judge McCord and instrumental in the large vote McCord received in that beat. The Russell Register, one of the oldest weekly newspapers in the State and published at Seale, has tendered its support to Col Graves Editor W H. Chadwick stated that he will go down the line 100 per cent for Graves. He was active for McCord in the first Primary.

"Russell was well in the Graves column on May 1st, the delegation stated, "but in the runoff it will be one of the banner counties for the Little Colonel."

And Still They Come

Wiley Alford, prominent manufacturer of Attalla, and one of the best known business factors in the State, is not only supporting Graves in the runoff but states that there are more than 140 votes in his Attalla plant for the Colonel.

Robert S. Ward, prominent attorney of Geneva, who conducted the McCord campaign in that county, made a special trip to Montgomery to personally tender his active support to Graves.

Fournier J. Gayle, Exalted Ruler of the Mobile Lodge Elks, a McCord advocate, is now actively supporting Graves and says that the Mobile Elks will vote 100 per cent for the Colonel.

Local Young Lady Wins State Award

Mary Armstrong won first place in the State finals held for all the Junior Music Clubs of the State at the Jefferson Davis Hotel in Montgomery. In playing in the State finals the contestants must play against the winners from the five other districts in the State. The Junior Music Club of Clanton feels honored that one of its members has the distinction of being the best Junior hymn player in the State.

Mary, as State winner, had the honor of playing for the Junior Convention in Montgomery recently. She also won the five dollar prize. Mary is a pupil of Mrs. Barney Roberts.

WILL BEGIN A PROGRAM FOR PRESERVING

Government Will Furnish Cans; Families Urged To Help Themselves

The 1934 relief canning program is scheduled to start in Chilton County the second week in June, according to an announcement this week by Miss Kittye Clyde Austin, who urges that all families on relief take steps to share in the program and in this manner provide for themselves this winter. Tin cans are being furnished by the government, she stated.

Since the relief gardens are much better this year than last. Miss Austin said that she anticipates a bigger and better canning program for the county this summer. Sixteen centers will be set up and Miss Ruth Pardue, county home demonstration agent, will assist Miss Austin and her workers with the program.

Only soup mixtures and vegetables will be canned this season, unless some meats are canned later, it is understood Thousands of cans were preserved last year, and relief workers declared that it was an outstanding help in providing food for many families during the bleak winter months.

Jemison Youth Is Awarded Scholarship

Hard work and earnest effort has again rewarded Charles Nix, who received his diploma Monday night from the Jemison High School. Besides receiving a diploma that informed him that he had successfully completed all the requirements for graduation from high school, Charles was informed that he had been awarded a $285 scholarship at Oglethorpe University.

The scholarship, which was awarded through several schools throughout the country, was given for outstanding merit and high grade average. Young Nix averaged an "A" throughout the school.

Recently young Nix received a $25 prize from the Chilean Nitrate Company in a State-wide contest for the best essay entitled "Rarer Elements in Nitrate of Soda."

Expressing his appreciation for the scholarship and honer, Charles declared that he is going to earn enough money somehow this summer to take advantage of the scholarship when school opens next fall.

Funeral Directors Elect Martin for Fifth Term

At the recent convention, held in Montgomery, of the Alabama Funeral Directors, J. Mell Martin, Clanton Funeral director, was re-elected for the fifth term as secretary-treasurer. At a meeting last Thursday, Mr. Martin was given a rising vote of thanks by the convention for his outstanding services during his term of service.

Other officers elected at the convention are: R. W. Williams, of Opelika, president. He succeeds J. Lee Headley, of Gadsden. E. J. Duncan, of Alexander City, was made first vice-president, and Mickey Brislin, second-vice-president.

Those attending the two-days program declared this session to be one of the most outstanding in the history of the organization. Featuring some of the most noted speakers in this section, and Bert S. Gadd, president of the national association, the program was enthuastically attended by the approximately seventy-five directors registered.

CHECKS ARE EXPECTED IN SHORT TIME

$150,000 Is Paid To Farmers Here By The Government During Past Year

Chilton County cotton farmers will soon be recompensed again for their cooperation with President Roosevelt's cotton acreage production plans, when approximately $55,000 will be paid them as the first payment on rentals for this year, J. W. Fant, county agent, stated that he expects this payment to be made within the next thirty days, since several other counties have received like sums during recent weeks.

Approximately $165,000 will be paid farmers in this county this year for rentals of lands taken out of cotton production and for parity payments of one cent per pound based on cotton history of the lands for the past five years, according to Mr. Fant. Rentals amount to $110,000 and the parity will be approximately $55,000, he estimated.

The program brought into the county little more than $150,000 last year, records show during the plow-up campaign, which was conducted under the supervision of C. E. Stapp, former county agent.

Mr. Fant stated that his office is mailing 1,250 record books to producers in the county for the purpose of keeping records of their transactions with the government. Other books will be received by his office and mailed to farmers in the county during the next few weeks.

FARM RELIEF PROGRAM IS UNDERWAY

275 Men Are Employed In County On Various Local Projects

Seventy applications for Chilton County families to share in the National Rural Rehabilitation program have been approved by the State offices in Montgomery and many necessary purchases for starting them to farming have been made, according to information from Miss Kittye Clyde Austin, county social director. Thirteen other applications are in Montgomery awaiting approval Miss Austin stated.

Farming essentials, including fertilizers, feeds, groceries, work stock, and farming implements have been purchased. In most cases steers are being used instead of mules and horses, it is understood.

Farming is to be done under the supervision of farm foremen, three foremen, who are considered expert farmers have been engaged to supervise the work in this county.

Miss Austin explained that this program is not one of direct relief, since all who share in it are expected to repay the government in produce or work this fall. It is considered a loan to be repaid in work or produce instead of in cash. She declared that she is optimistic of the results of the program in this county.

Two hundred-seventy-five men are employed part time on various projects in the county, including the airport, the drainage projects, and road maintenance.

Woodmen Initiation At Maplesville On May 31

Preparations are being made to take fifty candidates for membership into the Maplesville Lodge of the Woodmen of the World over the hot sands on the evening of May 31, when Col. L. A. Ellington, of Montgomery, will have charge of the sand-treading feature of the program, according to an announcement by E. N. Shanks, Deputy.

The program will feature several outstanding speakers from Birmingham, Montgomery and Tuscaloosa, Mr. Shanks stated. Persons interested in becoming members of this organization may secure information regarding its activities from Mr. Shanks, of Maplesville, it is understood.

F. D. R. Avoids Useless Worry

Fortunately for the country, President Roosevelt is a man who knows how to take care of his health and one who has the determination to do it.

In consequence of this determination, the president is said to be in a better physical state now than when he entered office in March, 1933, and the fact that he is determined to maintain this condition is shown by his decision to take another brief vacation.

The president happens to be one of those rare individuals who have the mental capacity to dismiss worries and not permit them to hurt him physically, as has been the case with so many of the nation's chief executives. He does the job at hand the best he can and lets it go at that. And in this he sets an example which others facing difficult problems well might follow.

Worry is one of the most wearing and useless things known to man and a capacity to dismiss it is something to be envied. Worry is a thing that never helps any situation while it does have the effect of creating a mental state under which the wisest and best decisions are improbable.

To school the mind not to worry is a difficult task but one that the president has mastered and it contributes in no small degree to his success in maintaining an excellent physical condition. Others might follow his plan with great profit.—Tuscaloosa News.

Forney Stephens Elected

A few years ago Forney Stephens was drafted as representative in the legislature from Blount County. This year he consented to make the race for State Senator, at the "earnest solicitation of many friends"—while in his case was an absolute fact, and not just a catch phrase.

He announced as a candidate, and forgot all about the race. He went on editing The Onenta Democrat, never mentioning his candidacy either in the paper, nor in person to any voter; and he was elected over several opponents—getting a big majority in the first primary.

This same man was drafted two years ago to be president of the Alabama Press Association for the second time. Some of these days the people of Alabama are going to reach up in Blount County and grab him off for governor, and he will serve if he has to, but it won't be his fault.—Grenville Advocate.

False Ideas About Advertising

It is about time that the theorists who are trying to reform everything were stopped from circulating false and erroneous ideas and labelling them as truth. We have in mind especially, the pernicious notion which has been promulgated in Washington and elsewhere that advertised goods cost the consumer more than non-advertised goods, and therefore makers of non-advertised goods should be permitted to cut rates.

We have no fear that this sort of foolishness will have any permanent effect upon alvertising. Every merchant and manufacturer knows better. Everyone who has had any experience in advertising knows that the better advertised a product is, the cheaper it can be sold. That ought to be clear to anyone. Suppose, for example, Henry Ford had never advertised his cars. How much do you imagine you would have to pay for a Ford car? We can't tell exactly but it would be many times more than the price for which you can now buy a Cadillac, a Lincoln, or a Packard.

Adevertising brought millions of buyers for Ford cars, and every additional car sold cut down the relative cost of all the other cars, and permitted a progressive reduction in price to the buyer.

Not long ago some bureaucrat in Washington undertook to set up a rule that advertised brands of gasoline must charge a cent a gallon more at the filling station than unadvertised kinds. In other words, the public must be penalized for desiring gasoline that it knows is good, instead of unbranded gasoline of the quality of which it has no assurance. And more recently the New York State milk authority has orderel distributors of bottled milk who advertise to charge a cent more than those who do not advertise are permitted to sell for.

That sort of thing is not progress, it is distinctly reactionary. It harks back to the days when the grocery store kept its crackers in an open box and dipped sugar with a scoop out of a barrell, after shooing the flies off. Anyone with a good memory will remember that the price of crackers and sugar and other food supplies did not go up, but instead went down, when advertising pf package brands enabled producers to distribute on such an enormous scale that the "overhead" cost per package was reduced to almost nothing.

It is time that people understood more generally than they seem to do that advertising intelligently, persistently done, does not raise prices, but is the principal reason why Americans have so long been able to buy things far more cheaply than similar things can be bought in other countries.

Those clever psychologists have discovered that people who do wrong have something wrong with them.

An iceman who dropped a 50-pound cake on the landlady's foot begged to be excused for a slip of the tong.

News that an airplane smashed a truck the other day was received with satisfaction by owners of small cars.

Clanton A Good Trading Center

From time to time the News has supported those moves which seemed to encourage a wider trade territory for Clanton. Located as it is "in the heart of Alabama" our town has a wonderful opportunity of development. The paved highway through Chilton County, together with our system of feeder roads has opened up a much larger territory in recent years, and with the better roads which are sure to come a wider field will be offered.

Now, when even the most pessimistic are admitting that times are getting better, is a mighty good time for a determined effort to take full advantage of the opportunities offered this community. Some activities indicate progress in this direction. There are not so many vacant business houses at present. Old places are being renovated, and new concerns are opening their doors. Some new homes are being built, and even then the housing problem might easily become acute.

The News believes a better day is here for all the country. Clanton and Chilton County will share in this new opportunity, but if we make the most of the opportunity it must be striven for. It cannot be accomplished by cut-throat competition, but by cooperation. If trade is to be attracted, a wide variety of merchandise at reasonable prices must be offered. There must be maintained a good market for the farmers' produce. This, perhaps, is the most important single item under consideration. A man is likely to do his trading where he can sell his goods. A home building and repairing program is urgently in order. Every avilable chance for employment of those who want work must be used. And business must be invited.

To those people who are looking for a good place to trade, we highly recommend Clanton. Here is to be found a large number of stores carrying almost anything you want or need. The prices are very reasonable. Your business will be appreciated. Build up your town and county, and you are building a sure foundation for your own prosperity.

As individuals, as clubs, as a town and county we have an opportunity to make progress. The country as a whole is going forward regardless of what we do. We believe that Clanton is strategically located for an exceptional development. Let's go—ALL TOGETHER!

High Cost Of "Junk"

An odd little footnote to the automobile age was furnished at Woburn, Mass., the other day, when a man bought a used car for $5, drove it out on the highway, and a few hours later got into a traffice accident that did $100 worth of damage.

The incident emphasizes our need of some kind of strict regulation to cover the use of aged and descrepit machines.. You can doubtless imagine the kind of a car that can be bought for $5; not much thought is needed to convince one that such a car must be inherently unsafe, to its driver and to others.

Why shouldn't we get busy and rule all such wrecks off the road? The highways are dangerous enough even when all cars are well equipped and in perfect condition.

To permit $5 cars from the junkyard to operate is sheer folly.—Vicksburg Post.

The Pension Bill

The Confederate pension bill, which became a law during the 1927 session of the Alabama legislature, has been the subject of much discussion during the present gubernatorial campaign.

Col. Bibb Graves was governor of Alabama at that time, and in his campaign for the nomination this summer, he has pointed out that the Confederate pension bill was a Graves measure. Some of those who oppose Col. Graves have made the claim that although the pension bill was passed luring his tenure of office, Col. Graves should have no credit for it.

The editor of The Advocate was a member of the 1927 legislature and introduced the Confederate pension bill. Governor Graves stated that he would have to veto the bill as introduced. A compromise bill was submitted and was passed by both Houses and was signed by the governor. Before the act went into effect, the original bill was again introduced by the editor of The Advocate. It also was adopted by both Houses and went to the governor for approval. Governr Graves signed this bill. This editor has the pen with which it was signed, also the pen which signed the first bll.

Governor Graves, as he has stated in his campaign, is a friend of the veterans. He demurred about the pension bill at first because he did not believe that the state could at that time stand the expense of doubling the Confederate pensions. Experts figured that due to the advanced age of the men who wore the grey in the sixties, pension payments would diminish rapidly, so that the doubling of the amount would not cost the state a great deal more during the Graves term than it had during the Brandon term.

The experts were mistaken, however, and we believe that giving the pensioners enough to live on comfortably prolonged the lives of a great many of the Confederates.

The pension bill, passed during the Graves term, has cost the state a great deal; but on the other hand, the amount paid in pensions from 1865 to 1927 cost Alabama very little; and within another few years the pension expenditures will fade away to nothing.

In fairness to Col. Graves the sponsor of the Confederate pension bill makes the statement that as governor, Graves did not fight against the bill, as has been claimed, but only hesitated in his approval of it until he could determine that the state was financially able to carry out the provisions of the measure.—Greenville Advocate.

Debtor's Lament

President Roosevelt's decision that nations which don't begin soon to make a serious effort to pay their war debts will be regarded as defaulters seems to have aroused something of a storm in the English press.

One London newspaper reporting the story put the headline "Highwayman Act" over it, implying that Uncle Sam is changing from Uncle Shylock into Dillinger's kid brother.

Now this is probably quite human and natural; a man who has long since made up his mind that he is not going to pay a debt is bound to feel deeply irritated when his creditor suggests that he ought to have a little something on account. And yet is is hard to feel a great deal of sympathy for the viewpoint.

If Uncle Sam, who loaned a lot of money in a war that he didn't start, is a highwayman for wishing he could get some of it back, what are the nations which emerged from the war with their pockets full of reparations, colonies, steamships and mandates?—Selma Times-Journal.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

The mother of a prominent citizen died and left her son to grieve over her going. While in his office a few days ago he related to me the following story. "For weeks I have grieved for my dear mother. I have lost sleep and have become so nervous I can hardly stand it longer. Two nights ago I decided that I would get drunk and drown my troubles in the bottle. I went down town and bought a pint of whiskey and returned to my home at three o'colck in the morning and poured the liquor into a glass and lifted it to my lips. Just then I heard a noise in the room and turning to see what it meant I saw my mother standing behind a rocker, resting her hands on the back of the chair and I heard her say in a clear distinct voice, "Oh, no, my son, you must not do that." I turned to the sink and emptied the glass and the bottle and then broke the bottle and retirel to my bed and fell across it and was sleeping soundly in a few moments." That man said to me, "Preacher, I believe that my mother came to me at that time and gave me her warnings." To be sure the friend of mine was correct. Our mothers may be on the other side, but they love us still and they are watching over our ways of living. Are you doing anything that will grieve your angel mother?

A devoted mother called me up over the phone and here is what she said: "Will you not please come to my home?" I hurried over to her house and with a flow of tears this is the story that she related: "I have a son who is killing me. He is now behind the bars and I want to ask that you go and talk to him." I promised her that I would and in the company with others I visited the young man in the jail. We talked to him and he promised that he would never take another drink again. No! That boy did not keep that promise. Less than a week ago here is what his father said to me: "My boy is drunk again. He is killing his mother. I would be willing to die right now if that would make my boy sober and good," Any man who has a heart will hate whiskey when he sees how it will hurt our fathers and our mothers. Hear me; anyone who drinks—man or woman—is killing somebody inch by inch.

It was Mother's Day at the country church and I walked into the old structure that had been dedicated to the worship of God for fifty years. A husky old farmer came down the aisle toward me and as he passed one of the pews he fell down upon his knees and wept like a baby. Finally he was able to control his tears and with a heavenly light in his eyes he remarked: "Parson, you will excuse me. I could not help it. This pew is where my mother sat and worshipped God for fifty years." To be sure that was a hallowed spot to that man of the soil. Through the vision of our minds we can see our mothers as they quietly find their way to their place in God's house. They have made certain pews as sacred as the dust of the dead because that was the place where mother communed with God and carried her burdens to the throne in prayer. Visit that place often and fall upon your knees there. To get close to God in mother's pew is like eating holy manna in heavely places.

It was a dark, stormy night and the little boy in his room became disturbed and very much afraid. He crawled out of his bed and tried to find the way to the bed on which he was sure that he could find his mother. Being frightened he lost the sense of direction and the location of the door. He found himself among boxes and furniture and began to cry as though his heart would break. No sooner had the cry of distress been lifted than I heard the voice of my mother as she was calling me and begging that I come to her. She knew what had taken place and it was a matter of only a moment before my head was buried in her bosom. Our mothers know more than we imagine. They know when we are lost and confused. Our mothers are a noble company of women. When we are in the dark, somehow, our mothers can see. When we are lost, somehow, our mothers know how to find us and lead us to safety. When we are frightened it is our mother's bosom where we can pillow our heads and have our tears all wiped away. Since that day in childhood, I have been in the dark many times but my Mother's voice has always been heard calling me toward the light and toward the presence of her God and mine. God bless our mothers.

GREELEY'S HANDWRITING

Many stories have been told about Horace Greeley's notoriously poor handwriting, which was a constant nightmare to his associates, and especially to the printers, on the old New York Tribune.

One printer, being given a Greeley manuscript, to set up for the first time, exclaimed: "My God, if Belshazzar had seen this writing on the wall he would have been more terrified than he was." Later, it is said, Greeley wrote to the foreman, directing that the printer be discharged because he made so many typographical errors. The printer got hold of the note before leaving and carried it to the foreman of another newspaper as a recommendation—and got a job immediately.

Once Greeley was invited to lecture in Sandwich, Ill. He wrote that as he was overworked and would be sixty years old on February third, he felt unable to take the engagement. After much labor in deciphering the letter, the committee replied that they would be glad to have him lecture on February third, and that the fee of sixty dollars would be satisfactory.

SCRAPS OF PAPER

Long before the World War the integrity of Belgium was agreed to by the European powers, including Germany; all the great powers agreed in 1899 to refrain from the use of poisonous gases; the destruction of helpless noncombatants was universally banned by common consent. Yet Germany invaded Belgium; she began the use of poisonous gases at Ypres; she destroyed noncombatants in submarine and aerial warefare. Nearly every treaty or convention made by Germany became a "scrap of paper," at the command of necessity. Other nations have not been blameless in this respect by any means

In 1922 at the Naval Arms Reduction Conference, the great powers again agred to refrain from the use of gases in war yet the United States and all the rest are working with feverish haste to devise more effective and terrible agencies of gas warefare han ever before.

Treaties look fine in print, but when the urge of necessity comes they usually prove to be only "scraps of paper."

Care In Cooking Saves Vitamins

Auburn, Ala.—Loss of vitamins during cooking takes place in several ways. They may be destroyed by heat and oxidation, and they may dissolve out in the cooking water which is later discarded. The exact extent of these losses depneds upon the presence of air, and upon the solubilities of the vitamins concerned, says Miss Helen Kennery, extension nutritionist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Vitamins B, C, and G are readily soluable in water. Vitamin C is easily destroyed by heat and oxidation. Vitamin B is destroyed by long-continued heating but undergoes little destruction when heated at the boiling point of water for as long as 1 hour. Both vitamin B and vitamin C are more rapidly destroyed in an alkaline medium than in an acid medium.

Vitamin A is only slightly soluble in water and is not readily affected at the ordinary temperatures of boiling and baking. It is destroyed, however, at higher temperatures such as those that obtain in frying. It is also destroyed when heated in the presence of oxygen. Vitamins D, G, and E, are fairly stable to heat and are not destroyed at ordinary cooking temperatures.

The value of any cooked food as a source of vitamins depends largely, of course on its original value in the natural state. Tomatoes are an excellent source of vitamin C even after they have been cooked. This is explained by the fact that during cooking the acidity of the tomato preserves to a great extent its naturally high vitamin C potency.

In general, the destruction of vitamins is less when foods are heated at high temperatures for short periods, than when they are heated at low temperatures for long periods. There is also less loss when a small quantity of water or no water at all is used. For this reason it is recommended that foods be cooked as short a time and in as little water as is practical. If any cooking water is left it should be used for gravies or soups unless it is so strongly flavored that this is out of the question. Steaming is one of the preferred methods for cooking since the time required is short and the amount of water used is small.

To Conserve Food For Winter Use

Auburn, Ala.—As summer approaches Alabama farm women are mobilizing for another intensive canning campaign. Their goal is to insure a properly balanced diet throughout the year for every farm family.

Last year under the leadership of county home demonstration agents and in cooperation with the Alabama Relief Administration farm women of the Stae conserved 6,346,190 quarts of food valued at $1,504,039,89, according to a report made by Miss Margaret Garrett, extension specialist in food preservation for the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Much of this canning was done in individual farm homes, but a big part of it was achieved in an organized way at community canning centers established by the relief administration, county commissions and boards of revenue, and other agencies. Twelve hundred centers were in operation.

The establishment of the centers following leadership training schools held by Miss Garrett and the home demonstration agents, at which leading farm women were trained in the various types of food preservation.

"This year we are expecting an even greater achievement, "Miss Garrett said, "and we are emphasizing canning on a budget basis."

At a number of "pantry demonstrations" conducted throughout the state, Miss Garrett, relief workers, and home demonstration agents have stressed the importance of the canning budget.

The budget includes the exact amounts and varieties of food to be canned, dried, brined, or stored in order to meet the nutritional needs of the family.

Mr. Mathews has just completed making 1,200 farm record books for keeping farm accounts in connection with Agricultural Adjustment program.

Home Production Of Soybeans Seed Is Recommended

Auburn, Ala.—The home production of soybean seed is not only more economical but it assures the growing of the best varieties on Alabama farms, says J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist at Auburn.

A one-half-acre seed plot for a two-horse farm is recommended by Mr. Lowery. The plantings, he says, may be made between watermelon rows or between rows of first-year kudzu.

"The Otootan and Laredo varieties," he added, "are recommended for hay and grazing and are most generally grown in Alabama. Inter-planting Otootans in corn has proved to be a very satisfactory method on many farms."

"Soybean seed should be produced on all farms where this crop is grown. Produce soybean seed for your own use and for sale to your neighbors."

Farmers who save crimson clover seed should obtain blue prints for constructing "seed strippers" from their county agents.

Corn which does not follow winter legumes should receive a side-dressing of 100 pounds per acre of nitrate 40 days after planting, advises J. C. Lowery Auburn agronomist

Now is the time to save a good supply of inoculation for winter cover crops to be planted next fall. Spade up a wagon load or two of soil, roots, and vines where hairy vetch or Austrian winter peas were grown this spring, being careful to get the root system including the nodules and surrounding soil as well as the tops of the plants. Pile this mixture in some place where it will not be disturbed in puowing and cover with a few inches of dirt. This material will be excellent for inoculating winter legume seed next fall.

PECULIAR ACCIDENTS

Some most interesting facts concerning freakish accidents are related in Popular Science Monthly, illustrating Voltaire's saying that "it is the danger least expected that soonest comes to us." Among others he relates the following:

P. Wiggins, Kansas aviator, was bitten by a rattlesnake that had somehow gotten into his plane, while flying at an altitude of about a mile, but landed and obtained treatment in time to save his life.

Saesar Beltram of Lyons, France, was struck by lightening five times during his lifetime, yet finally died of pneumonia.

Some years ago General Castilliano, a Nicaraguan revolutionist, was struck by a falling meteor while sitting in his tent one night and was killed. His superstitious soldiers believed that the Almighty had thus shown disapproval of their cause, so they abandoned the revolution.

Mathematicians have figured that an American will be struck by a meteor about once every 9,300 years on an average. They will also calculate that a person living to the age of 70 has one chance in 7,000 of being struck by lightening.

About 1,000 persons are injured in bathtubs to every one hurt in railroad accidents. About 30,000 Americans are killed every year by accidents occuring in and about their homes, about as many as are killed by automobiles.

Most ironical of the accidents enumerated by our writer was that in which a man was painfully injured by the falling of a horseshoe he had nailed over his door for luck.

BIBB GRAVES
Kept His Promise
(EVEN HIS ENEMIES ADMIT THIS)

He Now Promises That— He will oppose a Sales Tax, also that he will oppose any increase in taxation. that he will balance the budget, pay the State's debts, run the schools and provide an efficient government with the least possible burden on our people.

He also promises to reduce the automobile tag tax to the amount required to keep up the interest and retire the maturities of the Tax Tag Bonds.

Graves favors the exemption from taxation of as much as two thousand dollars on homesteads.

He also will pay the Confederate soldiers and their widows the present pension rates.

Graves promises that when he is Governor, Alabama shall have a minimum term of seven months free schools and the teachers shall be paid.

Every promise Bibb Graves made the people of Alabama when he was a candidate for Governor before was kept. The people got value received for every cent that was spent and a receipt is on file in the capitol for every expenditure. The money was well spent. It was invested for public health, public roads, for schools, for Confederate veterans, for the underprivileged, for child welfare, and then, the tax rate in Alabama for 1930 was not one-half as much per person as the average for the entire nation.

"A Pledge Made and Kept Strengthens Character."
Chilton County Is for "The New Deal" and "Bibb Graves".

Large Number Get Diplomas In County

Schools In County Come To Close As Students Take Part In Exercises; Approximately Seventy-Five Boys And Girls Complete Terms

Graduating exercises for the seniors in the several high schools in the county were held this week, when diplomas were awarded to approximately seventy-five boys and girls in the half-dozen accredited high schools.

At Clanton, the Chilton County High School, thirty-one received diplomas; Verbena ushered thirteen into the new life awaiting them; twelve were graduated from Jemison; six from Isabella; twenty from Thorsby Institute. Information regarding the number at Maplesville could not be had in time for publication this week.

Commencement exercises at the Chilton County High School were held Tuesday night.

After all the graduating Seniors had marched on to the stage, they opened the graduating exercises with their class song. Immediately following the song, John Ezell, president of the Senior Class, introduced Joe Moore, who delivered the Salutatory Address. When the Salutatory Address was finished, Professor L. C. Warr introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Dr Zebulon Judd, Dean of Education at Auburn.

After Dr. Judd had delivered his speech, the presentation of the diplomas was made. Following the presentation of the diplomas by Professor Warr, John Ezell, formally presented the school with the gifts from the Senior Class. After presenting the memorial to the school, president of the class, John Ezell, introduced the Valedictorian Dan Smith, who delivered the Valedictory Address.

After several minor items the Commencement program was brought to a close.

An event looked forward to was the presentation of the Honor Key to an outstanding student for effort and achievement. This key was presented to Virgil Robinson of near the Refuge Community.

Special mention should go to Roberta Cochran, one of the most outstanding students of the Senior class. She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. R. P. Cochran. She is to be commended for her straight A record in the Senior Class. Roberta came to C. C. H. S. last year and entered as a Senior Two. A straight A record as a Senior is indeed an outstanding feat.

Another high honor was bestowed upon a deserving student Monday night. This honor was the Ruth Jones Fund. It was presented to Alice Petty.

The graduation exercises for the class of 1934 of the Verbena High School on Monday evening May 21, was and inspiring and impressive occasion. There can be found nowhere a more promising group of Seniors than the thirteen who, robed in caps and gowns, marched through the complimentary flower chain of the undergraduates to their positions on the stage.

Invocation was by Mr. Cecil Ellison. Horace Mims, the Salutatorian, expressed words of welcome to those assembled for the occasion. Frances Strock delivered the Valedictory "Sunrise—not Sunset." Mr. Luther Little made a most interesting and inspirational address. The last advice of the principal, Mr. W. C. DuBose, to the graduates as he delivered their diplomas was "Remember your Maker; follow your Maker; keep a level head; be yourself."

Those receiving diplomas were:

Frances Strock, Mamie Meroney, Mary Maude Norris, Evelyn Barrett, Iver Rowell, Virgie Robinson, Lena Mae DeLoach, Pierce Culver, Horace Mims, Ralph Hughes, Marvin Huett, Woodrow Reeves, and Floy DeVaughn.

Frances Strock was awarded the traditional key for scholarship and ability.

The Jemison High School commencement activities culminated in the graduation exercises when diplomas were presented to twelve graduates of the second semester.

The Senior class play entitled "Listen to Leon" presented May 11 and directed by Miss Miriam Harvey, proved to be a great success. This program was followed by the Baccalaureate sermon, delivered by the Rev. Mohns, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Montevallo, Sunday evening, May 13. The usual chapel period, Friday morning, was given over to the Junior High School graduates for their Class Day exercises. At this time the principal presented 17 graduates with diplomas. The last program of commencement consisted of the usual Senior Class exercises; report of the work done by the P.-T. A. this year by the President, Mrs. A. C. Wells; presentation of diplomas by J. A. Peterson; and the awarding of medals by Luther E. Little, County Superintendent of Education.

The students receiving Senior High School diplomas were as follows:

Josephine Adams, Mildred Caldwell, Gail Gletty, Lillie Mae Lowery, Thomasine Dorminey, Eunice Murrah, Frances Killingsworth Helen Zuiderhoek, Leo Shaw, Jack Harrell, Charles Nix, and Joyce Howard.

Miss Josephine Adams was awarded the medal and first honor for being the most outstanding student in the Senior class judged by the faculty of the high school for character, leadership and service. Mr. Charles Nix was awarded a medal and second honor in the same contest. He is also the recipient of a $285 scholarship of Oglethorpe University, having made the highest grades (an average of "A") of any boy in the class.

The following were awarded diplomas at Thorsby:

Helen Albert, Mary Louise Bates, Willo Dean Bean, Winnifred Boring, Hal DeVan Broadhead, Melvin Dollar, Edith E. Foss, Lawrence Francis Gerald, Junior, Milton Higgins, C. B. Jean Lorene McGlawn, S. E. Maddox, Ida Lou Pate, Mary Sue Porter, Phares Raybon, Linnie Belle Reinhardt, Louise Robinson Rasmond C. Sammons, Preston Shaw, Conway De Cavanac Thornburg, Nell Tracy.

Exercises were held at the Isabella High School Monday night, when diplomas were awarded to six students. The Commencement was preached Sunday by the Rev. R. P. Cochran, pastor of the Clanton Methodist church J. B. Atkinson, Clanton attorney, delivered the Baccalaureate address.

Those receiving diplomas were:

Elizabeth Mims, S. L. Broadhead, Homer Morgan, R. C. Veazey, Louise Cox, Pauline Durbin.

Inspectors Must Aid Says Knight

Those Unable To Read, Or Physically Incapacitated Are To Be Helped

Montgomery, Ala.,—Thomas E. Knight, Jr., attorney general, has ruled that qualified voters unable to read or physically unable to mark their own ballot may be assisted in casting their vote only by election inspectors.

This interpretation of the 1931 election law under which the June 12 primary will be held was given at the request of J. L. Davis, of Columbiana, an election manager, who stated that he had been instructed by his probate judge to permit any person to assist in marking ballots.

"Watchers and other persons come into the election room and prepared ballots for voters without regard to physical or other disability," Davis said.

The attorney general ruled that the 1931 law provided that only election inspectors could assist in aiding those unable to prepare their ballot.

In an opinion writen for J. M. Gray, chairman of the Walker County Commission, the attorney general ruled that the commission might employ an attorney to represent the county at Washington in the interest of a PWA project.

Liberty Hill News

The W.M.U. of this church met with Mrs. Floyd Littlejohn. An interesting program was given from May number of Royal Service. Several members were absent and we want them to be with us next month. We were glad to have so many visitors and invite you to come again. We enrolled several new members also. After the program refreshments were served to those present.

The W. M. U. has helped the church in many ways and now the members are planning to enlarge the stage in order to have a place for the choir. Be with us our next preaching day and learn more about the project.

The W.M.U. meets on Thursday after the second Sunday in each month.

News from Thorsby

MISS EDITH JOHNSON, Correspondent

Announcements

There will be regular services at the Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening. Everyone is invited to attend the services.

The Thorsby Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Martin Peterson, Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. These demonstrations are conducted by Miss Ruth Pardue of Clanton and are very helpful and beneficial to all and anyone wishing to attend. The club meets once a month at the various homes. This meeting had to do with Home Gardening, and last month a demonstration on Home Dry Cleaning was conducted.

All boys over 12 years of age are asked to be present at the home of the Rev. Lawrence Stanley next Friday night at seven o'clock, as he has something interesting in mind for you.

The Congregational church will hold services next Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour, but there will be no services in the evening other than the regular Christian Endeavor meeting.

The W. M. S. met at the Thorsby Baptist church Tuesday afternoon.

News of the Thorsby Fruit Growers Association

Mr. J. M. Smith gives the following report of the strawberry season which is just past: Possibly thirty car loads of strawberries were sent from Thorsby and vicinity through the Thorsby Fruit Growers association. About twenty-four of those cars were sent by rail and the remaining six were trucked to nearby points. Out of the twenty-four, approximately half, or twelve, were sold outright here on the track and the rest were sent out on consignment. This is considerably less than in former years, but Mr. Smith has hopes for a prosperous year for the strawberry growers next year.

Thorsby Institute News

The Commencement recital of Miss Phillip's pupils was held at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. It showed much talent among several pupils. Miss Phillips is a very thorough teacher. After the recital, Miss Phillips entertained her pupils and their parents at an informal reception given on the campus between the Dining Hall and the Cottage. Delicious sandwiches and lemonade were served.

The Senior Class and Miss Jenkins were entertained by the Alumni last Saturday night in the Dining Hall. Salad, orange juice, ice cream and cake were served, interspersed with music and other entertainment. The scene was supposed to be laid in a pirate's den.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MISS BERTHA DENNIS

A pretty event on this week's social calendar was the miscellaneous shower given on Monday afternoon when Mrs. D. O. Manning and Miss Dorothy Manning were hostesses at their home at Isabella.

The affair was in compliment of Miss Bertha Dennis, whose wedding to Mr. David Vines of Tallasee is to be solomnized at an early date.

The appointments throughout the receiving apartments were elegant and a bright note of color was added by bowls and roses of a charming color scheme of pink and white carried out. The punch table in the dining room was covered with a lovely cloth and the punch bowl banked with beautiful Dorothy Perkins roses, which was presided over by Mrs. Arthur Martin.

During the afternoon the guests enjoyed three contests appropriate to the occasion, prizes being awarded to Mesdames Duby Chancellor, T. M. Dennis, and W. M. Mims.

Presiding over the dainty bride's book was Mrs. Wallace Cox.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MISS JOSEPHINE MARTIN

Miss Josephine Martin, charming bride-elect, was the inspiration of a beautiful party on Tuesday afternoon from four to six o'clock, when Mrs. Luther Little entertained at a Miscellaneous shower in her honor.

In the dining room was the attractive pretty home on First avenue, a profusion of summer flowers were used including Dorothy Perkins roses, dahlias, Snapdrgons and Delphinium, displaying in their arrangements the artist's abiilty of the hostess. A color motif of green pink and white was carried out in the decorations and in the dainty refreshments served.

In the dining rom was the attractive punch table covered with lace over green satin. The punch bowl was banked with sweet peas and was presided over by Misses Sarah Colley, Frances Gulledge and Clyde Smilie.

The guests were ushered into another room by Miss Bonnie Clyde Griffin and Miss Burks, sister-in-law of the hostess, where Mrs. J. T. Searcey assisted the guests in seeing the many lovely gifts placed on card tables and on clothes lines, fastened on by dainty minature bride's clothes pins. On one table was a unique bridal altar, which added to the atmosphere of the occasion.

Assisting Mrs. Little in receiving were the honoree, Miss Frances Moore, Mrs. Martin, mother of the bride-to-be, and Miss Allie Walker, sister of Lieut. Horton Walker.

Mrs. L. C. Warr presided over the dainty bride's book where ninety-two guests registered.

PLEASANT GROVE

Jemison

Well, here we are again. Most everybody around here is feeling very well these days.

Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. are progressing very nicely, but not what they ought to be. Dear people, let's attend and make a success of our Master's work.

Mrs. Clarence Marcus and little son, Aldene, are visiting her home folks, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wright, for a few days.

Mrs. Emmett Miskelley is on the sick list. We hope for her a speedy recovery.

The Misses Champion had as their guests Sunday their sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Will Kellum, and Mr. Joe Lucas and little daughter and son, Mary Nell, and Jimmy Glenn, all of Belle Ellen; also their sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davenport and children, Edith and James Frank.

A number of our people went to Providence Sunday and reported a real nice time.

Mrs. E. C. Davenport and daughter, Olis, and Mrs. John Davenport were guests of Mrs. Arthur Maddox Sunday afternoon.

A large crowd enjoyed a pleasant evening at the home of Miss Gail Gletty Saturday.

Someone was so unappreciative of the hospitality shown them as to take two small pure white Angora kittens, valuable pets of the family. Any help from the readers of this paper indicating their whereabouts will be appreciated by the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Waller and son, James, Jr., of Birmingham spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Miskelley.

Rev. Bryan of Birmingham, a young man who sang, and our pastor, Rev. Maurice Hodgens, were here Monday night. Rev. Bryan gave a wonderful lecture on Palestine and also the Oak Grove Quartet sang several songs and they were wonderful. We will be glad to have them all come back again.

Mr. Herman Freeman is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Arthur Maddox.

Mrs. Emmett Miskelley and Mrs. Hermie Hodgens are both taking treatment from Dr. Franklin. We hope that they will soon be well.

Home-Coming Day Is Enjoyed By Crowd

Relatives and friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gaines Silos on Mother's Day where everyone met old friends and made new ones.

A bountiful dinner was spread on a table under shade trees. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Manning. Everyone present enjoyed the day. There was music and singing. Everyone likes to go back home.

Go east, go west, but home is the best.

Mid pleasures and palaces tho you may roam.

Be it every so humble, there's no place like home.

Among those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Richards and daughter, Betty Sue, of Tuscaloosa; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Presley and children of Weogufka; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hollman and children, Nell and Boris, of Marion; Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Chapman and daughter, Jean, of Tuscaloosa; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thomas and children, Ruby and Norman of Enterprise; Mrs. Rufus Chandler and son, Glennis, of Tuscaloosa; Mr. Mack Silas of Tuscaloosa; Mr. John Sid Silas of Birmingham; Mr. Guy Silas, Elna, Lee, and Vivian Silas of Enterprise; Mr. and Mrs. Alonza Askins of Clanton; Mrs. Mattie Davis, Mr. Luther Davis, Mr. S. N. Davis, Mrs. A. L. Pierce and children, Nell and Dot; Miss Bernice Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Fate Askins, Mr. and Mrs. John Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Billingsley, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Jones and children, Ella Mae and Maudie; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jones and daughter, Clara Bell; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Levins and sons, Boris and Henry; Mr. and Mrs. John Yeargan, Mr. Carey Burkhalter, James, Turner, and Lucille Griffin; Mr. and Mrs. Mattie Ree Pince, Margaret Earl Stanley, Newton Strength, Houston Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Pince and children, Mrs. Crimmie Brigance, Mrs. Sam Brigance and children, Jesse and Wilbert Pince, Mr. Cop Pince of Cordova; Mr. Manning of Billingsley; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carter and son of Prattville; Miss Essie Johnson of Haynes.

Everyone joins in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Silas and children a long and happy life when they answer the home-coming call above. May they be an unbroken family in that heavenly home.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By
Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

To be right is to try to see the truth, tell the truth, live the truth and advertise the truh.

The American people are the greatest producers in the world, yet when we watch many of them investing their savings we cannot help but wonder how much serious thought they have given to the problem of making the money they have make more money for them.

By the force of will, the study of the situation and application of common sense, many cities determine the policy of their city, then with hard work, enthusiasm and persistency carry out the policy to a successful conclusion. These cities are known as growing cities.

Jim Barrett, managing director of the Oklahoma Biltmore Hotel, told me that he heard about an absent minded bootlegger in a neighboring city who walked two miles to a drug store to get something to poison his cat. I wonder why he walked so far?

It is a natural trait in human nature to lose patience. Now is the time to have lots of it.

The people of the cities as well as those of the country are entitled to every convenience that can make travel more pleasant and business more easily transacted. Better business follows better roads.

Enough knockers will soon make a live city look like an electric lighted graveyard.

Now is the time your city and business need advertising more than ever before.

When people read about the same goods or service day by day, it impresses their minds and tempts them to buy.

Good advertising makes the public stop, read and desire those things advertised.

The advertising of quality products vanishes sales resistance.

Advertisements are trade pullers.

Every business should be advertised. Only those concerns who advertise and let the public know who they are, where they are and what they have, ever get anywhere.

Dealers don't have to wait long to sell well advertised lines. They are in demand all the time.

Well advertised products are alwa showing a fast growing volume because they are most reliable sellers and render absolute uniformity in quality.

Antioch News

The people of this community are very busy farming.

The health is very good at present except a few who are still on the sick list. The measles are about to die down once more.

The Rev. J. S. Johnson's daughter who is with them now, is recovering from an operation which she recently underwent at St. Margarets Hospital at Montgomery.

The lalies of Antioch church are piecing a quilt to raise money to pay for the piano. We do not know just yet whether we will sell the quilt to highest bidder or not, but will announce it later.

The second quarterly conference will convene at Antioch church the 4th.

Saturday in this month everyone is invited to come, especially the officials of the churches of Chilton County.

The C. E. society and Sunday School are not doing what they should do at this writing. We are in hopes each and every one will take more interest and attend more regularly.

There will be a singing at Antioch next fourth Sunday afternoon; everybody come.

As there is not much news of this community, I will close if this does not escape the waste basket, will come again.

CONCERT AT FRIENDSHIP ON FRIDAY NIGHT, MAY 25

On Friday night, May 25, at 8:00 p. m., the students of the singing school at Friendship, one mile out on the Lay Dam road, will entertain at a concert.

This will be the closing exercise of a 20-day singing school, taught by Prof Emmett M. Wilson. Good music, singing, and special out-of-the-ordinary acts are promised on the program. The school has about 30 students, and all of these, together with other local performers, will appear on the program. A small admission charge will be made, the proceeds from which will go toward the piano fund for Friendship church

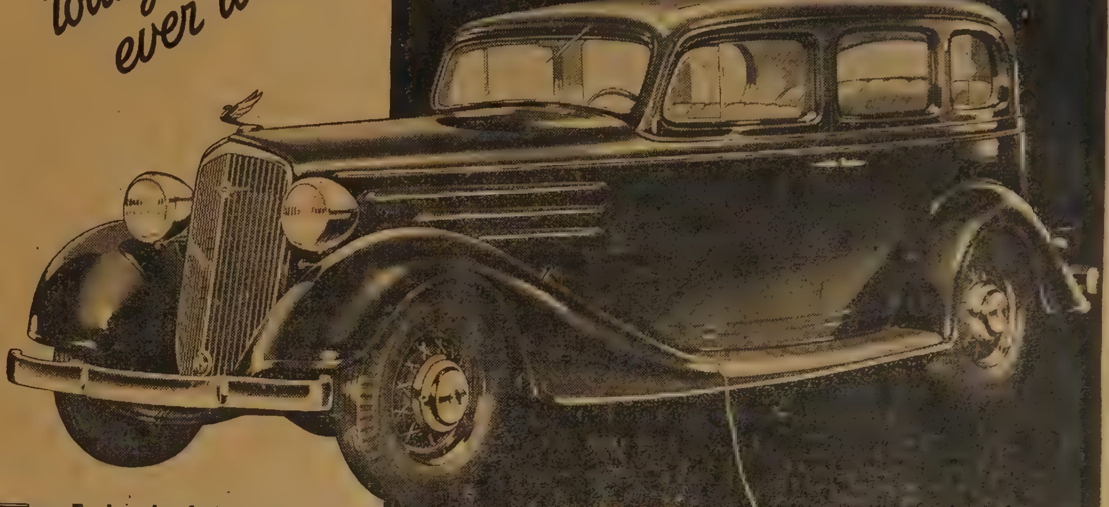
A SIX COSTS LESS TO RUN



CHEVROLET Engineering facts prove it. Experience in building nearly ten million cars confirms it. And the record of over 3,000,000 Chevrolet Six owners removes any shadow of doubt about it: The only way to get real economy in a low-priced car is to insist on SIX cylinders and OVERHEAD valves.

SIX cylinders—no more!—because extra cylinders mean extra cost for gas, oil, upkeep and parts. OVERHEAD valves—nothing else!—for the same good reason that airplanes use them. And speedboats. And racing cars. They get the MOST power out of the LEAST gas. That's why overhead valves are the choice of leaders—and champions.

Conflict Between search and Crop Cut

e is supposed to be a conflict be- agricultural science and the need ust agricultural science enables to increase crop yields per acre, ase the output of meat and er unit of feed consumed. As the agricultural improvements in- number, output increases un- balance.

t would happen were farmers to n science or even to use it with decreased efficiency? They ve to continue plowing, sow- reaping. But they would use hinery, poor technique, and eed. They would allow pests and s to ravage their crops and would inefficiently what remained. By g they would certainly reduce tput. But they would do so at ruinous to themselves. They would increase their unit costs of production out of all proportion to any conceivable gain in prices.

From its start the United States Department of Agriculture, the State experiment stations, and State extension farm. Efficiency in the old sense of the word, however, is not enough. As farmers well know, profits cannot be got just by improving plants and livestock, by fighting diseases and pests, or by reducing the wastes of marketing. Ordinary technical efficiency reduces only the cost of production. Low-cost production may mean loss to the farmer if it is excessive production. Under present conditions it is necessary also to adjust the output to a changed world market.

Action taken under the Agrcultural Adjustment Act of 1933 enables farmers to plan their prsduction. It seeks to transform blind competition into broadvisioned cooperation, and to correct the result of previous mistakes. Meantime scientists continue their research in various problems of farm production. These two kinds of departmental activity must march together.

Agriculture needs not less science in its production, but more science in its economic life. It is possible to have a full science, embracing the distribution as well as the production of wealth.

To produce efficiently is to release time and energy for other uses, adding to the enrichment of life. Not to produce as efficiently as possible would be silly. Not to regulate the total volume of production, to relate it to consumptive demand, also would be silly. No factory is expected to produce without segard for the market conditions. No factory is expeted to produce without regard for the market conditions. No factory is expected to fail, even when producing at less than capacity, to take advantage of new efficiencies. The same reasoning applies to agriculture.

CARDUI FOR WOMEN

FISHY CHURCH FOLKS

Down in Butler county, Alabama, according to the Greenville Advocate, is a colored preacher who has a keen insight into human nature, particularly as applied to sizing up the members of his flock. In a recent sermon he likened various types of church members to certain species of fish, somewhat as follows:

Some, he said, are like a trout, always jumping—from one church to another. Others were likened to the sucker—easy to catch, but quick to spoil. Then he mentioned the flounder, which can see only one way—he sees the faults of the preacher, but never sees his own. Another type was compared with the catfish, which hides on the bottom of the creek until a freshet arouses him—the church member who warms up when a revival is going on, but lies dormant at other times. Another type was likened to the eel—a slippery, slick fellow, hard to handle. And so on.

While the good colored brother's sermon was a bit droll, it included observations which might appropriately be applied, not only to the peculiarities of church members but to those of humanity as a whole. Most of us are rather fishy in some respects.

BARBECUE AT RANDOLPH WEDNESDAY, MAY 30TH

Plans for a big barbecue Wednesday, May 30th, which promises to be one of the biggest affairs of Bibb County, have been arranged by the people of Randolph. Both Major Dixon and Colonel Graves are expected to be present and speak during the day. Candidates for county offices will also speak.

During the morning the Woman's Club of Maplesville will play baseball with the Randolph women. The special feature of the afternoon is a double header baseball game between Selma and Randolph.

The menu has been arranged and will include barbecue and all the trimmings. The meat committee promises to have 1,000 pounds of barbecued meats ready to be served. All plates will be sold for 25 cents. The proceeds will go to help pay for the new school building.

Expectations are that attendance at this festivity will be large. The program will be of interest to people from all over the state, and the people of Chilton County are cordially invited to come and spend the day.

We especially invited the editors of both papers and the candidates of Chilton County.

"SAINTLY HYPOCRITES AND HONEST SINNERS"

Dear Friends:

We, the P. T. A. of Colera take great pleasure in requesting your presence on Wednesday, May 30, at 8:00 p.m. to see yourself as others see you in "Saintly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners", a three-act play presented by the well-known C. D. C. Players. The play is being presented for the benefit of lights to be placed on the new steps in front of the Calera Junior High School.

Note from the C. D. C. Players: "Saintly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners" is the best play we have had the pleasure of working in and we assure you a laugh, a good time every minute of the show. This play was presented by the Jefferson Theatre in Birmingham last year by the Amber-Stock Co. to a full house for an entire week at an admission price of 50c but look at our prices below and you wouldn't miss it for the world.

Yours for a moral leson and a good evening's entertainment,—C. D. C. Players.

So let's all help them help us and get the one chance in a lifetime to see our selves as others see us. "By The Fruits You Shall Know Them." Admission: children, 15c; adults, 20c.

Board Of Education To Meet Friday Afternoon

In a regular session of the county board of education will be convened Friday afternoon, when sealed bids for transportation routes will be opened and contracts let for the next school year, according to information from the office of County Superintendent Luther E. Little. Teachers for the schools in the county will also be selected at the Friday session, it is understood.

Fairview Station Attracts Attention

Motorists using the Birmingham-Montgomery highway, passing the Fairview Service Station a few miles north of Clanton have been heard many times to express complimentary remarks on the appearance of this attractive little place of Spanish design.

A glance will show one that it is a neatly kept place and that it is a service station, but on closer inspection one will find it to be conveniently arranged, not only for servicing automobiles but for the serving of sandwiches and drinks via curb service.

James M. Parrish, a likable fellow and who made countless friends as operator of the well known Pratt-Mont Service Station near Montgomery, has been operating the Fairview Service Station for several months. The delicious barbecue sandwiches served by Mr. Parrish have gained quite a reputation among local people as well as those pasing through. There is plenty of room to park your car and be served and the service is prompt. Next time you are up that way give "Jim" a honk on your horn, try one of those barbecues, and the things that go with it. Not only that but it might be found that the scenery at Fairview Service Station will make excellent background for snapshots on Sunday afternoon—or any afternoon, if the sun is shining.

Dr. Gragg's Appeal to Chilton County Voters

I take this method of thanking the voters for the splendid vote which enabled me to lead the ticket in the Senatorial race in the first Primary, in every County in the entire District.

The returns, as best I can learn, are as follows:-

	Smith	Thomas	Gragg
Autauga County	402	521	845
Shelby County	682	1532	1644
Chilton County	317	594	1081

In seeking your vote, I make my appeal for your support, strictly on my merits, qualifications and fitness for the office, and respectfully call your attention to the home County and home town vote, where we are best known. All three candidates being from Chilton County, and two of us from Clanton.

I would like to put our neighbors on the witness stand, and respectfully call your attention to their vote, in both the County and town vote, as evidence worth your consideration.

The vote in the four Clanton boxes follows:

	Smith	Thomas	Gragg
Box 1	51	31	122
Box 2	35	33	144
Box 3	18	25	66
Box 4	24	16	74

Born and reared on a farm in Beat 4, Chilton County, Alabama. Know the needs of farmers.

Taught in schools of Chilton County for nine years when a young man. Know the needs of the schools.

Practiced medicine at Clanton for more than twenty years. Know the needs of the people.

Will fully represent the interest of the people if elected to State Senate.

A HOME MAN

Asking for the support of his home people whom he has served and will continue to serve in the future.

It is Chilton County's time to furnish the Senator. Are you willing to take the evidence of our neighbors, who know us best?

Yours for honest and just legislation,

COOK BOOK MENACES ESKIMO'S DIGESTION

Modern Recipes to Inject Novelty Into Diet.

Washington.—Dyspepsia and finicky appetites are probably in store for Greenland Eskimos. Late news dispatches from Copenhagen state that a cook book of 450 recipes has been compiled to inject novelty into the simple Eskimo diet. The volume will be translated into the native Greenland dialect.

"Igloo cookery presents few problems," according to a bulletin from the National Geographic society. "The Eskimo wife has never known the strivings of her white sister to excel as a 'fancy cook.' Her husband has never regaled her with tales of the pies his mother used to bake, for he has never tasted pastry or candy of any sort in his life. Meat is his almost unvarying food. The meat of the polar bear, seal, walrus, caribou, white whale, narwhal, and musk oxen, are all palatable to him.

Simple Equipment.

"The average Eskimo bride starting housekeeping in a new igloo needs only four things in the way of furnishings: a meat knife, lamp, cooking pot, and sewing kit. The blubber burning lamp, which also serves as a stove, is usually near the entrance to the hut. Suspended from the ceiling above it hangs a large soapstone cooking pot from which comes the aroma of boiling seal meat. At the sound of the sleds returning from the day's hunting expedition, the Eskimo wife, crouching over the stove, stirs the pot of simmering seal meat for her husband's supper.

"Dropping in for an evening meal with an Eskimo family, one would see old and young squatting on their heels, and each ready with a knife. Each member of the group takes a piece of juicy, cooked seal or walrus meat in his left hand, shoves it into his mouth, and seizes a strip between his teeth. With a deft stroke of the knife, he cuts off a mouthful, just at the lips. Oftentimes liver and blubber are held in each hand, and eaten alternately. The meat is washed down with draughts of ice-cold water.

No Fruits or Vegetables.

"Fruits and vegetables are unknown items in the diet of the Eskimo. When the meat supply is exhausted, the Greenland Eskimos gather rockweed and kelp, and dig the bark of willow bush out of the frozen soil. This is cooked into a jelly in the soapstone pot. This food, however, is not pleasing to the Eskimo palate, and is eaten only to stave off starvation when more desirable food is unobtainable. The nearest approach to ordinary vegetable matter consumed by the Eskimo is the semi-digested moss found in the stomachs of the caribou. This material becomes the Eskimo's 'greens.'

"Fish eaten either boiled or raw, offer variety to the menu. Clams are also included in the seafood dishes of the Greenland Eskimo. He obtains them via the stomach of some freshly-killed walrus who has just feasted upon the mollusks. 'Stuffed head of walrus' is undoubtedly the subject of at least one of the new recipes designed for the Greenlanders. They are fond of the unadorned head, and could possibly cultivate a taste for an elaborate preparation of it.

"In the Greenland spring, the dovekie, or little auk, appears. This means another dietary change for the natives. Through the summer hundreds of these birds are netted and stored for food during the long winter months. The eggs of the eider duck, the brant goose, and the gull are the object of an intense search near the end of June each year. The family egg supply for the coming winter is stored in stone caches where the eggs become chilled first, and then frozen. They remain in this condition until eaten in the winter. Not all of the eggs collected are stored, however, for the Eskimo wife prepares an egg sausage, sometimes using as many as 300 eggs to one sausage. The eggs are broken and poured into a washed seal intestine, and in this state are eaten from time to time throughout the winter."

Coffee Stimulation Is Aided by Adding Cream

Norman, Okla.—Coffee with cream has a greater stimulating effect than black coffee, results of a scientific experiment at the University of Oklahoma disclose.

Mrs. Lottie Mae Russell, Norman graduate student, found that coffee with cream produces a stimulation of 7.7 per cent at the end of 30 minutes and 7.6 per cent at the end of an hour.

Black coffee produces a stimulation of 3.6 per cent after 30 minutes and 5.6 per cent after an hour. Basal metabolism tests were taken to arrive at the conclusions.

Indian Tribes Dwindle

Fort Worth, Texas.—Texas Indians, who once numbered more than 100,000, have dwindled to about 1,000 at present. Peaceful braves of the Alabama and Caushattis tribes live today with their squaws on a reservation in Polk county, Texas.

Must Light Up Horses

Cleburne, Texas.—A horse is a vehicle, according to an old Cleburne city ordinance. And like other vehicles listed in the ordinance, he must wear two lamps in front and two in the rear from 30 minutes before sunset to 30 minutes after sunrise.

29 Make Honor Roll At Jemison High S.

Twenty-nine students of the Jemison High School had their names inscribed on the two honor rolls for the second semester of this school year, according to information from J.A. Peterson, principal of the school.

They were: First Honor Roll: Mildred Caldwell, Josephine Adams, Frances Kililngsworth, Gail Gletty, Edna Gore, Willis C. Clements, Ernie Lee Robinson, Vesta Smith, Melba Patton, Parlee Henson Roy Satterwhite, James Littlejohn, Lorene Davenport, Katherine Green, Evelyn Martin;

Second Honor Roll: Thomasine Dorminey, Frances Gore, Muriel Killingsworth, Estelle McCarty, Frankie Earl Langston, Mary Helen Hays, Jewell Smith, Clarence Smith, Kate Kelly, Myrtlene Hays, Arnold White, Clara Thomas Payne, Lelia George, and Mildred Little.

In the first honor roll, no student's name was written if he had made more than one B during the semester, but the second honor roll students were allowed to make two Bs during the term, Mr. Peterson explained.

Firestone To Show Rubber Plantations at "A Century Of Progress"

Realistic rubber plantations with latex flowing from the trees and a background of African jungle will help give "A Century of Progress" of 1934 a world-wide aspect. It will be in a new portion of the Firestone Factory and Exhibition Building and will be representative of Firestone's plantation development in Liberia on the west coast of Africa.

The trees were shippd from the Firestone plantations, and the spectators will see these tapped with latex flowing. Animated figures will perform the steps in rubber production—tapping, pouring out the latex, and bringning it into the preparation mill on the plantation. In the mill will be seen four interesting steps. Coagulation, skeeting, smoking, drying, and baling. A native village will be seen in the distance, and the tom-toms of the natives will blend with the whir of machinery. A plantation expert will explain each operation.

Beyond the plantation will be scientific exhibits of rubber including:

Coagulation, the spectacular phenomenon of latex—dripping into a tank of acid where it is immediately congealed into a ribbon and then wrapped on a spindle.

The Brownian movement of latex. Latex, a milky fluid, is a suspension of fine particles ni a medium consisting largely of water, and these particles will be seen, continuously in motion, under the microscope.

Vulcanization, showing the difference in strength of rubber vulcanized with sulphur, compared with raw rubber. Then a step further—the still greater strength and elasticity of rubber vulcanized with sulphur plus an accelerator—which also reduces the time required for vulcanization.

The abrasion test, showing by sandblast that rubber of this type stands more wear than steel.

The plantation and scientific exhibits will be arranged in duplicate so visitors coming either entrance can see it without retracing steps.

The spectators will then view the factory production line which will be larger and more spectacular to show the complete manufacture of the new Firestone Air Balloons at the rate of 70 tires per day. Beyond this are interesting exhibitions dealing with other Firestone products.

The building wil lbe changed throughout—made much larger—and the Singing Color Fountains in the Firestone Garden will be more spectacular.

A STORY OF SEVEN

Everybody knows there are seven notes of music, seven colors and most diseases run in periods of seven days, and the fifth 7-day crisis often means the end. The moon phases are of seven days each. Glancing at the scriptures, everybody who has read Revelations has noticed the seven churches, seven spirits, seven candlesticks, seven stars seven angels, seven lamps, seven seals, seven thorns, seven eyes, seven trumphets seven thunders, seven heads, seven crowns, seven plagues, seven vials, seven mountains, and seven kings. In other Apostle books there are also seven other wicked spirits, seven loaves, seven baskets, seven husbands of one wife, seven devils, seven deacons and seven sons of Sceva and two or three sevens in the days of Noah in Ark. Jacob served seven years each for his wives.

Joseph explained the dream of the the seven good and seven kind and the seven good, seven bad ears of corn to be seven years of plenty and seven years of famine. There were seven days of unleaven bread, seven lamps on candlesticks, seven days a sheep was to be with its dam, and seven sprinklings of the blood before the Lord Priest served seven consecutive days. A woman was unclean for seven days. Lepers were shut up seven days and seven days more if necessary. When cleansed they were sprinkled seven times and after living seven days in the open were officially pronounced clean. In the case of trespass offerings some of oil which was offered was to be sprinkled seven times before the Lord. If leprosy broke out in a house, the house was to be closed seven days. It was cleansed by being sprinkled seven times with blood and water and perfumes.

An unclean man was to be unclean for seven days. The altar in the court was to be sprinkled with blood seven times. The offering by fire unto the Lord was to be made for seven days The Pentecost followed seven Sabbaths The wave loaves were to be offered with seven lamps. The feast of Tabernacles was to be for seven days when fruits gathered in a feast seven days, then there are the Jubilee Circle of seven times seven and also the seven symbolic times which ended in 1914 and the red heifer sprinkled seven times.

Balaam asked for seven altars, seven oxen and seven rams, and this done three times. The nations that Israel dispossessed were seven. Their enemies were to flee from them seven ways. In the taking of Jerico, seven priests with seven trumphets compassed the city seven days—seven times on the seventh day. Samson's strength was in the seven locks of hair. He could not be restrained with seven withs. Ruth was better to Naomi than seven sons. The temple was seven years in building. The Servant was sent seven times to look for rain in the days of Elijah and Ahab. A child awakened out of sleep of death sneezed seven times. Naaman was bidden to dip in Jordan seven times and Jobs fraud friends seven days and seven nights before speaking.

The words of the Lord are as silver, purified seven times. The furnace heated seven times as hot. A just man falleth seven times. Seven women take hold of skirts of one man and many more sevens.

33 GASOLINES TAKE "HILL TESTS" GULF WINS 7 OUT OF 12 TIMES!

LOOKOUT MT., TENN., where a borrowed Chevrolet, running in high gear and hauling 3200 lbs of goats, tested 13 brands of gasolines. GULF WON!

IS there a difference in gasolines? READ THIS

Tests on famous American hills—from Massachusetts to South Carolina—prove that the power of gasolines selling at the same price vary widely!

In each of these tests, gasolines bought from local service stations competed to see which could propel a car and heavy load up hill farthest before the motor stalled. Results? . . .

GULF WON MORE HILL TESTS THAN 32 OTHER GASOLINES COMBINED! Study the chart below! Then go to any Gulf station and test That Good Gulf Gasoline for yourself!

DRIVE IN AND TRY A TANKFUL!

a place on the Board 'of Revenue of Mobile County, voted for McCord on May 1st and will cast his ballot for Graves on June 12th.

Albert Freeland, one of the most prominent merchants of Grand Bay, Mobile County, announced that he is now lending all of his influence to Graves.

Nelo J. Gonzales, owner of the Star Fish & Oyster Company, Mobile, one of the largest seafood shipping concerns in the South, stated that his entire organization, without an exception is actively supporting the soldier-statesman.

O. P. Carlisle, of Dadeville, who managed the McCord Campaign in that secis withheld at his request, assured Col. he is now an avowed Graves supporter.

Upstate Cunties Swinging

Authentic reports from Marshall, Madison, DeKalb and Limestone counties indicate that those counties will be overwhelmingly for Graves. One of the most conservative political observers in that section of the State, whose name s wthheld at hs request, assured Col. Graves that the bulk of the McCord strength in his section has already aligned itself with Graves and that scores of prominent Dixon voters have openly declared their allegiance to the Graves era of prosperity. The informant was a McCord supporter.

Letters Pour In

The Graves headquarters are being deluged with letters from every county in the State, each pledging the writer's support to Col. Graves. A surprisingly large number of the writers are women, many of whom supported Divon in the beginning. One woman wrote, "My husband and I have always thought and voted alike, but on May 1st we saw fit to differ, my husband casting his ballot for McCord and mine going to Frank Dixon. We thought the matter over and concluded that both of us should vote for Col. Graves on June 12th, as we regard him better fitted and more seasoned to do the job well.'

VALEDICTORIAN'S ADDRESS GIVEN AT HIGH SCHOOL LAST MONDAY NIGHT

By Dan Smith, Valedictorian of the Graduating Class of 1934

Parents, Friends, Teachers and Schoolmates.

After all the display of brilliant wit with which you have been deluged tonight, after all the profound wisdom which has been poured into your ears and after the very intellectual orations to which you have given eager attention, I think that my address should be exactly the opposite. And, in fact, that is what you are going to be treated to—a plain matter-of-fact talk just between you and me. No brilliant wit—I'm not a humorist; no profound wisdom—I look brighter than I really am.

A plain matter-of-fact talk about the future—that will be the substance of my address tonight. And I will give it seriously, for with us tonight the future is a serious thing.

With the passing of the months the problem has grown bigger and nearer. We have been conscious of its shadow by our side as we went about our everyday affairs. We have realized that there were decisions to be made. Important decisions that will have their influence upon the rest of our life.

For some of us there is more education, a continuation of days we have known in the past. For others there is a change from the preparatory phase of life to the actual. All of us who are on the stage before you tonight have been thinking and thinking. What is the best for us? In which course lies success, happiness, and well being?

Those of us who will make that change from the preparatory phase of life to the actual will need some assistance. Our teachers have polished our talents and have brought out our abilities. But there is something that cannot be learned in school, something that must be learned by contact with the world. Here, our friends, is where we will call for help, not a weak and pitiful wail for help, but a willful and eager desire to learn. We feel that we are not wrong in expecting your asistance for we are sure that you possess that trust and interest in the youth of America which will cause you to want to do all you can.

Our decisions, whatever they may be, will be partly determined by the contact which we wil lmake with the world. They will be deeply influenced by the impressions that your standards and ideals will have upon us. It is your duty as men and women of today to place before us, the men and women of tomorrow such standards and ideals that are to be looked up to and not down upon.

Another word about the future. The future of Clanton and of Chilton County rests partly upon the shoulders of us who are on the stage before you tonight. Do you want the future of your state and nation safeguarded against corrupt and dispicable ideals? YES Any real American would and I am sure that all of you are real Americans. Therefore, as I said before, we are going to be influenced by our contact with you and upon you rests the great and important responsibility of insuring the fact that we will possess high and noble ideals.

Now let us come back to the present. We Seniors are proud of the work which we have done but more proud are we of the fact that we can truthfully say that we owe our success to our faculty—one of the finest in the country. Each of us will leave here with memories of happy days spent in C. C. H. S. Many times we have resented the work required of us but now we realize the value of it and we are thankful that our teachers did not let us have our own way.

Our association with one another as students has left many lasting impressions. Some were not so good of course but we are sure that the good ones will overshadow the bad ones.

In the future we will reflect upon the many lessons learned in high school and we will strive to uphold the honorable teachings o four school. We will try to carry on in such a way as to make our school proud of us.

And now it is time to say goodbye. As class Valedictorian it is my exclusive and honorable duty to bring the Commencement program to a close. I promised to be direct and matter-of-fact and this is a good place to keep that promise.

With hearts full of gratitude to our school, teachers, friends and dear parents we now accept the status of full fledged graduates and step out into the world with a new sense of growth and responsibility. As an audience you deserve the deepest thanks for your attentive and appreciative attitude. As and audience of friends and parents you are entitled to not only our thanks but our affection and respect.

Since we are soon to set forth on new ways there must be a parting from the old. We are in a way sad over having to leave our dear Alma Mater, but we are not shedding tears. NO! We are glad and eager to go forward and forward it shall be for every one of us. So, goodbye to the years of our childhood. Farewell to the school we have known so long. And au revoir to teachers and schoolmates left behind. We cannot expres sour feelings—they are too deep.

And to my audience, please do not forget my warning about the effect of your influence upon our future; please do not forget our plea for your sincerest help. With this statement I will close. And since there has been so much intimacy of neighborhood and community every one of you know the fullest meaning of my final, concluding word, "farewell."

Frances Perkins, Secretary Of Labor, Speaks At Montevallo

LAUDS WORKING PEOPLE AND THE SOU. FARMERS

Spends Busy Day In The South Conferring With Workers And Others

By Victor Norris

Montevallo—Continuing its custom of featuring on the commencement program some woman who is a pioneer in her particular field, the Alabama College added another distinguished name to the growing list of "first women" who have addressed graduating classes of the institution, Monday morning, when Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, delivered the baccalaureate address at the college's thirty-eight commencement exercises.

Miss Perkins the first woman to serve as a member of the president's cabinet, brings the list of women celebrities who have delivered baccalaureate addresses at Alabama College to five. Other women, first in their fields, who have been featured on the college's commencement programs are: Miss Jeannette Rankin, first woman member of congress; Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, first woman governor; Mrs. Ruth Owen, first woman ambassador; and Judge Florence Allen, first woman to serve as a member of the supreme court.

Amid the deafening applause of some 3,000 listeners the first honorary degree ever tendered by the Alabama College during its thirty-eight years was presented at the close of the exercises Monday mornng, when Dr. O. C. Carmichael, president of the college, conferred on Miss Perkins the honorary degree of "Doctor of Laws."

"The Challenge of Industry" was the subject of the address with which the speaker held the interest of her audience for more than an hour, while she painted a picture of further development in this country, with much improved conditions for the working classes, which she stated is the aspiration of the New Deal. Declaring that the American people need and must have more security of earning and spending power before this country can reach that high degree of civilization for which it is destined, she made a plea to industry to join in a cooperative effort to give more buying power to the wage-earner and the farmer of this nation.

It is only by increasing the buying power of these people that a market can be created for the production of our industries, she continued. Never in history have our exports amounted to more than eight per cent of the output, thus it is easy to see that the trouble with this country is from the inside, she averred. In judging the New Deal and its efforts to restore business normalcy in this country, we must try to ascertain its effects on the entire country. For this reason, Miss Perkins stated, that she was especially glad to make a trip into the South.

"I do not believe that we are facing a new era, as many seem to think, but are just entering into another phase of evolution and development of that same civilization for which the pioneers of this nation dreamed and worked." Even during the past fifty years, she pointed out, this country has developed in a manner that is almost beyond comprehension, which came not as a result of eras but as a gradual evolution; and of all the almost miraculous inventions we have today, she said they are no more astounding than the first steps made by the pioneers, for they had nothing with which to begin while we have built on the principles which they discovered, she continued.

Miss Perkins left Washington late Sunday evening and came by train to Atlanta, where she was met by Dr. Carmichael and driven to Montevallo in time for the exercises at 10:00 o'clock. She was ushered to the speakers stand by Miss BeBe Fant, of Macon, Miss., who is editor-in-chief of the "Alabamian," the school journal. Dr. O. C. Carmichael introduced the speaker and expressed appreciation in behalf of the faculty and the graduating class for the interest taken by the noted secretary of labor in leaving her work to come to Alabama College.

In her address, Miss Perkins paid a high tribute to Rep. W. B. Oliver for his efforts in behalf of the New Deal, declaring that the Sixth District is especially fortunate in being represented by so able a statesman. She also paid tribute to Senators Black and Bankhead.

"Not until recent years, Miss Perkins remarked, have women begun to play a very active part in the public life of this nation. The reason women of today are taking a more active interest in public affairs, she declared, is because they have more leisure time than before, as a result of inventions and improved conditions. This advancement will be true of giving the working classes more leisure time, she said. When men and women are given more time from their daily tasks to think of things outside those tasks, they immediately become better citizens, contributing more to the public welfare.

The requirements of graduates of 1934 are not so different from those made of graduates of 1834, she said. Character and the ability to recognize right from wrong, with the courage to follow right, is still the outstanding requirements for better citizenship, which should be the aspiration of every member of any graduating class, she said in urging the 116 members of the senior class to give their best to their chosen vocations.

"Mass production is alone responsible for the present standard of civilization. Without mass production few of us could be here today; for it is the mass production of automobiles, resulting in comparatively low prices, that has made long journeys with comparative ease and comfort possible. In the earlier days of industry, there was a necessity to continuously invest sums of money for further development, but today that necessity is not so urgent. Our industries can easily supply all demands with present facilities, thus making it possible to divide more liberally with the wage-earner."

She cited the present health standards, sanitation methods, better living conditions, better modes of travel and others as results of mass production and the machine age. Declaring that it is foolish to blame the machine for the present and past unemployment conditions in this country, Miss Perkins said the machine should be made an asset for all the people, whereby workers are able to earn the necessities and some luxuries of life in shorter hours and with less work. The goal of this country should be good jobs for all the workers in the country, because the country's production will be controlled by the consumption, and the consumption will surely be governed by the buying power of the wage-earners. The national wealth is measured by the velocity of our money, she said. "The working people are this country's most precious heritage and their security is of vast importance."

Following the conferring of degrees upon all the candidates for graduation, Dr. Carmichael presented Miss Perkins with the first honorary degree ever conferred by Alabama College, the degree of "Doctor of Laws."

W.M.U. Mission Study Is Set For June 1-7

Beginning Friday, June 1st and running through the 7th, will be Mission Study week for the W. M. U. of Chilton Association.

Miss Florence Thomasson, Field Worker for Alabama, will assist the Chairman in the work. The following is the schedule for the week's study:

Pleasant Grove, No. 1, Friday, 1st; Jemison, Saturday 2nd; Poplar Springs, Monday, 4th; Chestnut Creek, Cooper, Tuesday 5th; New Harmony, Wednesday 6th; and Bethsalem, Thursday, 7th.

We will spend the day together in studying the "Why and How" of W. M. U. work beginning at ten a. m. We urge all women in reach of either of these places to attend these classes, each woman bringing her lunch.

—Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mission Study Chairman.

WOODMEN TO PAY HONOR TO FOUNDER SOON

Program Will Include Many Outstanding Speakers At Maplesville Camp

Preparations are fast being completed to take sixty to seventy-five new members into the Maplesville Camp of Woodmen of the World on Thursday evening, June 7th. A splendid program will be featured, and the thought running through all activities at this time will be that of paying honor to Joseph Cullen Root, original founder of this institution. Col. L. A. Ellington of Montgomery will have charge, according to E. N. Shanks, local deputy.

Outstanding speakers from Birmingham, Montgomery and Tuscaloosa will be present. A well-trained and experienced degree team will be present, assuring the new members a good start into Woodmen activities. A delightful time for all is a big part of the program and all Woodmen are invited to attend.

Supt. Of Hospital To Take Advanced Course

Miss Grace Robinson, superintendent of the Central Alabama Hospital, will leave Clanton Sunday for the University of Alabama, where she will enroll in the summer school for a special advanced course in nursing.

Miss Robinson has been connected with the Central Alabama Hospital since its organization more than eleven years ago and her efficient work as supervisor of the nursing staff is one of reasons that this institution has grown to be one of the outstanding small-town hospitals in the State.

GRAVES FORCES LAUGHING AT OPPOSITION

Former Governor Insists That Working Man Get Fair Compensation

Montgomery, Ala., May 30.—The outstanding development of the past week in the gubernatorial campaign was the pronounced switch of Dixon supporters to the Graves ranks. This reversal of support was particularly noticeable in Jefferson County, the home of Col. Dixon. Several upstate counties, including Madison, DeKalb, Marshall and Morgan, reported rather definite switching of Dixon followers to Graves.

Col. Graves carried his activities to North Alabama during the latter part of the week, after speaking to capacity crowds at Wetumpka, Monroeville, Camden, York, Butler, Demopolis and Leeds. In his speech at Leeds Col. Graves said thot the death-knell of the fading hopes of his opponent had been sounded and that he (Graves) would carry 65 counties on June 12th.

"It is clear to all political observers that the tactics employed by the opposition are indicative of the overwhelming defeat of my opponent," declared Col. Graves. "When they attempt to stir up race prejudice through such vicious means as charging me with spending the pay of white teachers to erect a school building at a negro normal school, as they are doing in Huntsville and other points where the Rosenwald fund was invested, surely they grope in desperation to find something with which to stem the Graves tide."

The candidate also cited the "startling reversal of Dixon sentiment" as an omen of admitted defeat. "Not only in Jefferson but through the State, Dixon followers are seeing the light of day and lurking danger in the Dixon short-ballot scheme," Col. Graves asserted. "This is not idle political gossip; we have the records to prove it. If one Graves man has gone over to Dixon, nobody in our ranks has been able to locate him. That, to my way of thinking, is unimpeachable evidence that the people of Alabama want prosperity and not glittering decoys."

Col. Graves said that one of his first official acts will be to insist upon a workman's compensation law that will "compensate, not liquidate". He stated that with a legislature in full sympathy with his platform and policies he does not have to make mere promises when "I can assure the fulfillment of every pledge I have made to the people of my State."

Col. Graves is scheduled to speak in Birmingham at Woodrow Wilson Park on Friday night, at eight o'clock.

New Clanton Store Finds Business Good

No evidence of a depression can be seen in Clanton, according to D. L. Blackketter, manager of the new Yellow Front Store, which was recently opened in Clanton. Mr. Blackketter declared in a conversation with a representative of the News that business has been much better with the Clanton store than the company even hoped.

At the opening Saturday, May 19, the store was crowded from early morning until closing hour Saturday night. The new Clanton establishment features a complete line of general merchandise, including quality groceries, dry goods, and notions.

One reason given by the amiable manager for the firm's favorable reception into Chilton County is the advertising program, which has been conducted in the local newspapers, acquainting the buying public with the bargains that may be had by trading at this store.

Cupid's Business Shows Slump During May; Pick-Up Expected During June

Doubtless June, the proverbial month of brides, will bring plenty of work for Cupid and his arrows in Chilton County. With only thirteen marriage licenses, perhaps the fewest during any month in several years, issued in the county during May, clerks in the probate office declare that they are anticipating a rushing business when Cupid puts on his June honeymoon specials.

The average number of marriage licenses issued by the probate office is between twenty and thirty during a month, and clerks aver that they can not account for the abnormal slump this month unless the midget marksman is making preparations for a record breaker in June.

Those applying for licenses this month were: Osmond Lett and Miss Dera Mae Boyd; George H. Ronzee and Mrs. Helen M. Watt; Jones Taft Gill and Miss Annie Lou Arthur; W. E. Turnipseed and Miss Jewell Mitchell; O. L. Tate and Miss Mearlie Mims; Grady Wyatt and Miss Rilla Blackmon; F. D. Green and Miss Frances O'Neal; Floyd Smith and Miss Lorene Carlee; W. M. Epsey and Miss Margaret Rowell; John Causey and Miss Elizabeth Boyd; Pascal Ryan and Miss Dorothy Wallon Conner; William Brannon and Miss Claudie Marie Penton; Hubert Aycock and Miss Dorothy Littleton.

Negro Youth Dives; Fails To Come Up

A verdict of "accidental drowning" was returned by Coroner J. Mell Martin, following an investigation of the death of O'Neal Knight, 20-year old negro, whose body was recovered last Saturday morning from the backwaters of the Mitchell Lake, near Higgins Ferry.

Knight, a caretaker at one of the camps in that vicinity, was said to have met his death when he leaped from a boat into the water while fishing late Friday afternoon. Other negroes, who were with him, declared that Knight had been drinking and leaped into the water with the declaration that he "was going to take a high dive." Efforts to rescue him were unsuccessful and his body was not recovered until the following day.

Clanton To Have New Dentist In Near Future

Clanton will have a new dentist after this week. Dr. Jesse Sam Gowan, son of Dr. and Mrs. Earl Gowan, who was awarded his BDI. degree Wednesday night, following completion of a four-year course in Atlanta, will be associated in the office with the elder Dr. Gowan.

Dr and Mrs. Gowan motored to Atlanta Wednesday to be present at the graduation exercises. Young Dr. Gowan is a native of Chilton county and is a graduate of the Chilton County High School at Clanton.

INFANT SON OF MR. AND MRS. PRESTON EASTERLING DIED

Barney, the eight months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Easterling, east of Clanton, succumbed at his home on Tuesday night following a lingering illness.

The whole community was saddened by the death of this infant. Funeral services were held Wednesday.

Thank Firms For Aid In 4-H Club Rally

Mr. J. W. Fant, County Agent, and Miss Ruth Pardue, Home Demonstration Agent, wish to express their appreciation to the following firms and individuals that cooperated with them in holding the annual 4-H Club Rally May 16th:

The following donated lunch for the boys and girls: Clanton Cash Store, Hill's Grocery Company, Wade's Grocery Company, Culver's I.G.A., Southern Seed & Plant Company, Mertita Bread Company, J. Lee Smith, Barnett Deramus, Verbena, A & P Tea Company Broadhead's Market, B. L. Jones Peoples Cash Store, Easterling's Cash Store, Ward Bread Company, Chilton County Commissioners, Gulledge Bros., Verbena.

Especially do they wish to thank Mr. Wade of the Wadesonian Theater who so graciously gave those attending the rally a free ticket to the show. This was a very attractive feature of the program.

Appreciation is also expressed to the following who gave very interesting and inspiring talks to the boys and girls: J. Lee Smith, Mayor, Judge L. H. Reynolds, John Hollis.

Clanton is sad over having to lose one of their most prominent and well liked families, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Broadhead and son, Hal. Mr. Broadhead has a position with the Service Burial Insurance Company and will be located in Montgomery. The family moved to their home in Montgomery Thursday of this week.

MAIL CARRIERS ENJOY OUTING AT BLUE CREEK

Members Of Chilton County Letter Carriers Assoc. Met Wednesday

Members of the Chilton County Rural Letter Carriers association celebrated Declaration Day, Wednesday, with an all-day outing at Blue Creek Fishing Camp, on Lake Mitchell, when they forgot for several hours the many worries connected with trying to please hundreds of subscribers on their various routes.

The group gathered at the camp early Wednesday morning and began preparations for a day of fun. Facilities for trying their catch were hurriedly thrown together; fishermen nervously surveyed their store of bait and checked their supply of hooks. Other members held the old bathing suit between themselves and the sun to ascertain the advisability of risking its dependability.

Besides the eighteen members of the association, carriers in Chilton County—invitations were extended to several carriers from adjoining counties.

Members of the association are Grady F. Harris, John D. Armstrong, Grover C. Harris, Ed W. Miller, J. J. Mims, David D. Easterling, [illegible] sions, of Clanton, L. B. Langston, A. H. Glasscock, E. Herrod, Stanton.

"Sons" To Meet "Dads" In Nine Inning Battle

The outstanding baseball meet of the season is scheduled for Thursday, June 7, when "the boys of the Clanton Baptist church will play their dads."

The game, which will be played on the high school diamond, will be a hard fought contest between two Sunday school classes in the Clanton Baptist church. The young men's class, taught by H. A. Harris, will meet the men's Bible class, for a nine inning dual.

Featured on the young men's team will be: Mack Wyatt, Pea River Row[illegible] Cornelius Hand, Sam Martin, Earle Parrish, John Durwood Mullins, Edwin Mullins, Britches Jones, Joe Moore and Grover Harris, Jr. "The Dads" are: Horace Popwell, H. S. Shaw, Will Robinson, Dewey Rockett, Chester Mims, Webb Parrish, Grover C. Harris, Sr., George Wyatt, Joe Mims and Jesse Jones.

Clanton Boy Wins Honor At G. M. A.

Alec Hayes, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes, recently won the distinction of being the best drilled cadet at the Gulfcoast Military Academy where he is a popular student.

In the contest last Saturday at the academy which is located in Gulfport, Mississippi, Alec was awarded a medal for his proficiency. The contest was judged by Captain O. W. Chalker of New Orleans.

Alec graduated from Gulfcoast Military Academy this year.

SUNBEAMS TO MEET FRIDAY AT HOME OF MRS. ATKINSON

The Sunbeams of the Clanton Baptist church will meet Friday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. B. Atkinson, according to an announcement given the News. All Sunbeams are requested to remember the attendance contest that is underway and make special effort to attend the meeting Friday afternoon.

DEMOCRATIC PROGRAM IS AS PROMISED

Roosevelt's Relief For The Poor And Needy Gets Hearty Applause

CHILTON COUNTY IS WELL CARED FOR

Montgomery, Ala., May 3[illegible]—An insight into what President Roosevelt, through Democratic policies, has [illegible] to relieve human suffering and in some cases to avert starvation in Chilton county is contained in a report to Thad Holt, director of the Alabama Relief Administration, showing that a total of $282,632.05 had been expended to April 1 in the county through the Alabama Relief Administration and the Civil Works Administration.

The CWA expenditures in the county covered the period from the latter part of November, when the CWA was inaugurated, to April 1 and totaled $159,342.05.

Expenditures by the Relief Administration in the county are for the period of from Jan. 9, 1933, when the ARA began functioning, to April 1 and totaled $123,290.00.

Amounts of CWA disbursements varied in each county in proportion to the population, unemployment and relief load. Relief disbursements varied in proportion to the number of destitute families. The greater part of this money was released into local channels of trade.

The totals do NOT include amounts contributed by the local county and city authorities and the State of Alabama. They do NOT take into consideration amounts disbursed by other recovery agencies, such as the AAA which handles the acreage reduction and kindred farm programs, and the Public Works Administration, which has charge of road paving and other public construction projects.

For the entire State to April 1 there was expended by the CWA $16,491,577.25 of which $2,000,000 was contributed by the State and local governing bodies

The Relief Administration to April 1 expended in the State $11,801,[illegible] in FERA funds.

The CWA program closed April 1. Like the Relief Administration it was organized to meet an emergency and to relieve human want and misery, a part of the great program for recovery sponsored by Democrats.

Confidence

Readers Of The News Given Protection Against False Advertisements

Some time ago the News received one of the [illegible] advertising orders it has seen in many a day. And coming at the time it did it certainly looked good to us. The order called for an advertisement to appear in the News every week for three months, amounting to $67.20.

Not only that but a fine looking check accompanied the order. The order and schedule was from a firm claiming to be able to show teachers how to make more money and get bigger jobs.

However, the check was pre-dated June 22, and a check-up by the News before we would allow this advertisement to run, gave us such information that we refused to allow this advertisement to appear in the News. We try to maintain the confidence of our readers, not only by trying to give them facts in news articles but also by trying to protect them from false advertisements. The News will appreciate it if its readers will inform them of any false statements found in any of the advertisements carried, or that goods advertised in the News are not as represented in the advertisements.

Why Not A "For Clanton" Club

One of the most interesting news items of recent date comes to us from our neighboring town of Prattville under date of May 17th. A congenial group of young men met and organized a "For Prattville" club. The declared purpose of this club is to work for the betterment of Prattville. A delightful steak and fish supper was enjoyed. Talks were made by several young men and a round table discussion was another feature of the meeting. "Enthusiasm was high, . . . and it appeared that all were of the same mind." Twenty-one were present and more have declared themselves as for the move. Officers and committees have been selected, and places for the meetings have been offered to the young men.

All of which is highly commendable, auguring well for the future of Prattville. We, too, have civic-minded young men who are interested in the development and growth of Clanton. Why not a "For Clanton" club? A pleasant time may be had and much good can be done. Who'll make the first move?

The Church And The Public

In a telegram of greeting to the Baptists of the South, in convention at Fort Worth, President Roosevelt said that "the need for practical application of the principles of Christ's teachings is of paramount importance" and that "the churches of today have an unsurpassed opportunity for service to the nation."

There is nothing new in these observations. They present truths that are familiar to all who are identified with religious activities and who are at all observant, but coming from the high source that they do, they should awaken more widespread appreciation of their imperative importance.

The obligation upon the church is enormous under the best of circumstances, but they increase in times of stress, while resources are tending to decrease. Thus a situation is presented under which the ingenuity, resourcefulness and faith of the church are challenged perhaps as never before.

In common with all other institutions, churches have suffered heavy losses in revenues while demands have grown, and the situation of today constitutes a challenge to the citizenship generally as well as to the churchman.

The whole of society is debtor to the church and support should come from all who are interested in the progress of the race, regardless of church affiliation or nonaffiliaton.

Facing difficulties almost if not quite without precedent, the church needs the help of all who sympathize with the efforts to make virile in the lives of the people the qualities stressed by President Roosevelt, and this help should be extended. The job is too big and too imperative in its importance to be left to the churchman alone. All who are the beneficiaries of the church's labors should lend a hand.—Tuscaloosa News.

War On Tuberculosis

Although many more battles remain to be fought, it is encourging to note the remarkable progress which has been made in the war against tuberculosis during the last 30 years, in which the death rate has been cut in half

In 1904 there were only 9,107 beds available for tuberculosis patients in hospitals and sanitoria in the United States, as compared with 73,695 beds at present.

Much of this advance is due to the work of the National Tuberculosis Association during more than a quarter century of its existence.. By emphasizing the need for rest, fresh air, sanitary living and working conditions, as well as the need for suitable institutions for the treatment of cases in their various stages this association has made a wonderful contribution to the public welfare.

But there are still 500,000 cases of tuberculosis in the United States. The work of the association, supported by the sale of the Christmas Health Seal, must go on—Florence Times.

Eight Hundred Thousand New Homes A Year

According to the Research Department of the NRA an annual building volume of 800,000 residential units is required to supply the need for new dwellings. This takes no account of replacement of existing sub-standard homes, and until these are replaced the needed volume could easily be at the rate of 2,000,000 structures a year.

A building revival could fall far below these high limits, and still be the most powerful factor in fighting depression. No dollar we spend does more work in stimulating domestic trade and providing employment, than does the building dollar. Surveys show that 37.3 per cent of all the money spent goes to labor at the site—to excavators, graders, carpenters, masons, plumbers, plasterers, etc. The balance of 62.7 per cent goes to buy needed materials and supplies—and the great bulk of that is paid to workers in the plants and factories manufacturing them. In general about eighty cents out of each dollar goes to labor, directly or indirectly.

The heavy industries—those supplying such manufactures as steel, lumber, cement—were hit hardest by hard times. They are facing the gravest difficulties in recovering from them. Spurring construction would do much to solve a legion of our most troublesome problems.

People Behind President

At this writing the Literary Digest's poll of presidential popularity is flowing strongly in favor of the president and the probabilitics are that the trend will continue in this direction until the end.

As a matter of fact, there seems to be no dimunition in the hold the president has upon the imagination of the American people. His frank face, engaging smile and air of candor, have won for him almost universal respect and confidence, quite aside from the strength he has gained in consequence of economic gains, and faith in him is perhaps more widespread than in the past.

This is a remarkable situation, considering all the difficulties that have been experienced in getting various recovery plans in progress, and is a tribute to the patience of the people as well as to the patriotism and sincerity of the president. The feeling is predominant that the nation is "coming through" and the majority continue to trust in the quality of leadership being displayed at the White House.—Tuscaloosa News.

Industrial Revival And Fire Safety

On every side one hears of new efficiency in industry. In such a regime there is no place for fire, the great waster of lives, materials and time. This is a particularly good time of the year to consider ways of banishing fire from industry. The stir of spring is in the air, people are beginning to clean up and paint up their property and beautify their premises. In industry there is a very definite place for such activities, and they should go much further than when limited to private dwellings. In addition to the usual inspection for common fire hazards, there should be a careful search for special hazards peculiar to the manufacturing processes of the business.

In order to minimize the possibility of fire, it is best to formulate a set of rules for the guidance of the concern's employes. These should be prominently displayed and explained to all, and any infraction promptly dealt with. In addition, it is worthwhile to organize the employes for the purpose of preventing and fighting fires on the premises. Employes may be trained in handling a limited amount of fire fighting equipment to extinguish or control fires until local fire department can arrive at the scene.

The "spring clean-up" idea has been highly successful in banishing fire. It is a worthwhile project in which our town might well engage, in order to conserve life and property.

A Hundred Years From Now

All people wonder at times what life will be like fifty or a hundred years ahead. Perhaps it is natural to think more about such matters when things have not been going so well, as is the case now. That makes it all the more creditable to be able to examine the future clearly and to find that it looks good.

A case was the General Motors dinner at Chicago in the Company's building which so many people had a chance to admire last Summer at the Century of Progress Exposition. Three hundred leaders from business and science studied the future together. They had been invited by Mr. Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the General Motors Company. There were some inspiring speeches and many interesting statements communicated in writing.

The consensus was that bright times and wonderful things are ahead of us for the next hundred years. These experts did not say just when, but from their tone we gather that it will not be nearly so long as we had feared. The list of concrete improvements was too long and too dramatic not to be impressive, from electric motors run directly by sunlight, to the cleaning up of the slums by the use of cheap pre-fabricated steel houses.

Scientists who spoke at the dinner did not believe that progress had ended. They foresaw and forecasted still greater inventions, still more new goods and types and kinds of services. Research has not been unemployed during the depression. Science has gone on just the same. These things are of the spirit and they do not stop unless the spirit is defeated.

It is comforting to see that there is no room for defeatism in the minds of the three hundred representative leaders from all lines, and typical of all Americans and successful men. It was a fine demonstration on the part of Mr. Sloan and he should be congratulated and praised for it. Such occasions are not only the signs of better times, but they actually help in improving things.

Government And The Cooperatives

When it comes to helping the farmer, the government can pursue no more effective course than to work with and for the farmer-owned and controlled cooperative associations.

That is the opinion of many agricultural economists, and of officials in the Department of Agriculture and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. And Mr. Roosevelt has said substantially the same thing many times.

It is better to help a person do a thing for himself than simply to do it for him—and that applies to farmers and everyone else. The cooperatives are here to stay. They do not change with administrations and parties and shifts in political sentiment. A farm relief law may be drastically revised overnight, and the entire course of procedure changed; cooperative policy is fixed and permanent so far as basic principles are concerned. It is designed for the long pull, and not for temporary emergencies.

It is an encouraging fact that the federal government is constantly seeking to strengthen the position of the cooperatives. It is working with them in its acreage reduction program, and the cooperative leaders have been freely consulted when farm legislation and policies were being considered. The fine progress the co-ops have made during depression, in the face of great obstacles, is the most encouraging sign on the agricultural horizon.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

I was sitting in the office of a prominent doctor. The phone rang and I heard just half of the conversation. Here is what I heard: "Let's see, tomorrow is Sunday. I am engaged from eleven to twelve o'clock that day. Yes, I will be glad to meet you here at my office at one-thirty in the afternoon. All right, I'll be there." The doctor leaned back in his chair and made this explanation of the phone conversation. "That was Mr. 'Constant Complaint,' and as usual he wanted to come to my office for a consultation at the eleven o'clock hour on Sunday, and I make it a rule to spend that hour in my church worshipping God and that is why I told him that I was engaged." The doctor was right. If that had been an urgent case, the physician could have missed the church service to help him, but it was not right for the thoughtless patient to rob him of his communion with God. Have you an engagement at the eleven o'clock hour on Sunday? If not, you should have. That is the time when you should be in the house of God. Make arrangements for a year ahead.

Unexpectedly I knocked on the door of a young mother. She was in the midst of giving her little brood a bath. She left off the task for a few moments of conversation, and while we were sitting in the reception room, two little fellows came strolling in. One was washed and well clad in clean garments, while the other was unwashed and was black with the filth and dust of play. There was quite a contrast between the two children. Often have I seen that same condition prevail in families where the children have reached the years of maturity and accountability. One member of the family would be washed and made clean in the blood of the Lamb, while another member would be filthy and unclean with the ways of the world. Blessed is that family when all the children are made clean by the shed blood of the Son of God. How about your family? Are some of them clean and others unclean?

In one of my parsonage homes I lived near a neighbor who was obsessed with a desire to follow every new thing that came along. He had a cultivator that was doing good service but one day while he was engaged on his plantation he looked over the fence and saw that his neighbor had one of the new models. He crawled over the fence and made a close inspection of the new cultivator and then on returning to his, he drove it to the shop, tore it to pieces and did his best to install every new thing in his old machine. This farmer spent the most of his time in the shop tryng to remodel his tools so as to be up to date with those who were buying the new things. Many people have a morbid appetite to grab every new thing that comes along. They spend much valuable time and effort changing from one thing to another. It is a good policy to cling to the old as long as it is giving good service. Why buy a new cultivator, a new car, a new hat, when the old will do just as well? There is a world of waste in sacrificing to possess the new things.

An aged gambler sat at the table and nervously carressed his deck of cards with hands shoved deep into braided gloves. His body seemed to be held together with adhesive tape. He was a bloated and burned out specimen of humanity. One of his pals ventured to ask him "Why is it that you always wear gloves when you are handling cards at the table?" The old gambler made this reply: "Sir, when I was a young man my mother died and I promised her on her death bed that these hands of mine should never touch cards or chips as long as I lived." By wearing gloves that man patted himself on the back, making himself believe that he was keeping his vow to his dying mother. To be honest, how many of you are deceiving yourself in like manner? Not guilty of the overt act but in spirit we often do the things that we know that we should not do. We do not touch the cards in reality, but we are playing the game of sin. What about those braided gloves that you are wearing?

A friend of mine had a song bird. Seeing that her songster only learned snatches of songs from other birds, she covered the cage over with a dark cloth. In the dark the little bird learned to sing the most beautiful notes that ever came from the throat of a bird. I sometimes think that God allows us to be in the dark that He may put a song into our mouths.

Letters To The Editor

WRITES ON CANNING FACTORY

Editor, Chilton County News:

Just let me say a few words in your paper. There was a letter carried in your paper last September 7, 1933. I decided I would not have any more to say about the canning factory, as I have heard Bean has circulated in this county of late that I had told falsehood concerning the canning factory about him, I will admit that I was mistaken about him being secretary instead of him being treasurer. If he made his statement correct.

I talked to some of the other members about this matter and they thought like I did. But, however, he acknowledges that he was an officer and that is where I went to learn the condition that this canning factory was in. After insisting on him to know about these things he finally told me that the canning factory was not paid for. So after noon the same day the stock holders meeting at the court house I went up there and reported to the body that the canning factory was not paid for, and Baxley disputed my word on it several times, and also said Bean did not tell me so, and other people were there would be kind enough they will acknowledge the same and after the rally was over, myself and Baxley went down to Bean's office and raised the subject, and Baxley and Bean and two or three more of his chums whispered about a little. Then Bean went to his show case and got out a big double-jawed knife, and what I mean is a knife, with jaws at each end of the handle, and handed it to Baxley. In a minute or two afterwards Baxley called me out at the back of Bean's place of business.

I was thinking that Baxley was wanting to talk this matter over with me and Bean and his two others crammed the door so people in the store could not see out and see what was going on, and Baxley hit me with that knife shut up in his hand and liked to have knocked me to the ground. In other words, I caught on my knee with one leg. Bean and his two other chums, with a great smile on their faces as long as the scrap was going in Baxley's favor, but after they saw the thing was changing, Bean ran out and grabbed Baxley and carried him back into the store, and hollowed to Baxley, look out, Baxley, he has got his knife.

I want to say to the people that I was sick just up from the flu. The doctor told me he was surprised to see me out so early. I am writing this to let people know I claimed Bean must have had something to do with the frog and I hope that people will not think that this is a political letter.

I hope this will not cause anybody not to vote for him if they want to, but I have to let the people know that I have a just cause to claim that he was connected in some way and I will leave it to the people to judge and write next week on this subject if the Lord is willing.

I. W. BICE.

THE SEVEN WONDERS

Nearly everyone has heard of the seven wonders of the world, but probably few could name them and fewer could tell what became of them. Those interested in such things might clip this out for their scrap book.

The seven wonders of the world were so named by Antipater, a writer of Palestine, about 200 B. C., as follows:

The Hanging Gardens of Babylon, destroyed in 484 B. C. more than 100 years before they were listed among the wonders.

The Temple of Diana at Ephesus, burned in 262 A. D.

The Statue of Zeus at Olympus, destroyed in 408.

The Collossus of Rhodes, sold for junk in 653.

The Lighthouse of Pharos at Alexandria, fell in an earthquake in 1375.

The Mausoleum of Artemisia, destroyed in 1402.

The Pyramid of Cheops, the only one of the "Seven Wonders" still in existence.

Such were the seven wonders of the ancient world. Many lists of modern wonders have been made, but a recent writer selects not the perisable works of man, but the discoveries and inventions which have revolutionized civilization.

He names the radio, the telephone, the airplane, antiseptics, spectrum analysis and radium. Whether his list is the best that might be made or not the wonders mentioned will survive as long as humanity exists, bestowing untold benefits upon mankind.

Hairbreadth Accuracy In Chevrolet Ignition

Haribreadth accuracy in timing motor ignition, heretofore a job for a trained expert, is made so simple that anyone can do it in a few minutes by an ingenious application of stroboscopic principles developed by Chevrolet engineers. As a result, the owner of any 1934 Chevrolet car or truck may roll it into an official service station and have his timing perfectly adjusted with even less trouble and delay than are involved in having his battery checked; in fact, without even stopping his engine. An accuracy in timing to one-half of one degree is readily obtained.

The Chevrolet arrangement is to use a polished steel, pressed into the rim of the flywheel, as a marker, instead of the usual faint groove; and to provide a simple and inexpensive means of making the ball clearly visible and seemingly standing still every time the spark plug of No. 1 cylinder fires while the engine is running at idling speed.

This stroboscopic effect is obtained by using a special Neon lamp connected to the spark plug. With the engine running at 500 r.p.m., the lamp illuminates the ball for an instant 250 times a minute. If the timing is correct, the ball appears directly under the fixed pointer. If it doesn't, correction is effected by loosening the distributor clamp and rotating the unit gradually until the ball and pointer line up exactly. Locking the distributor in this position ends the operation.

Chevrolet engineers have found that the ability to time an engine while it is running brings better results than even an expert job with the engine stopped.

Ordinarily, timing is checked only during infrequent engine tune-up jobs at service stations. By simplifying the job, Chevrolet enables owners to keep their engines at maximum performance capacity by frequent timing.

FEAGIN ACTIVELY SUPPORTING COL. GRAVES

Dixon Ties Feagin To Graves Camp; Exposes Sinister Forces At Work Under Feagin Over State Today

By GEORGE L. DAVIS

William F. Feagin, who could find no candidate in the first primary willing to publicly accept his support, has found him a man now and "is sitting in the midst of his usual spider web of plots and plans" using the resources and influence of his position as president of the State Board of Administration to bring about the nomination of Col. Bibb Graves, former Governor of Alabama, Frank M. Dixon last night told an audience that filled the Grand Theatre.

"About a week ago, to the certain knowledge of my headquarters in Birmingham, Mr. Feagin became active in this campaign," Mr. Dixon said. "He is supporting former Gov. Graves. His activity has extended to every section of the State . . . Through his position at the Capitol, he has been able to build up a political machine, and those who hold office by appointment of his, and who are dependent upon him for their livelihood, have been instructed in no uncertain terms to go to work for Gov. Graves.

Mr. Dixon said he did not believe Gov. Miller was privy to Mr. Feagin's new political activities. "I wish to state," he interpolated, "that I believe that Governor Miller has absolutely nothing to do with the activities of this man (Feagin) and is not aware that they are going on. He would not be a party to them."

Calls Names

In his disclosures of Mr. Feagin's espousal of Col. Graves' fortunes, Mr. Dixon called names. He said H. H. Stewart, chief assistant to Mr. Feagin, was carrying the message to convict guards and other employees of the convict department that if they expected to hold their jobs they would have to vote for Graves.

The same word, Mr. Dixon said, had been passed down through the highway department. The orders have been issued from Mr. Feagin's seat of operations to State employers in the Jefferson County courthouse, the speaker declared.

Mr. Dixon recalled that at a former appearance in Montgomery he had apologetically remarked that his and Feagin's fortunes were not allied. "When last I stood on this platform," he said, "I mentioned the name of William F. Feagin, for the whispering campaign had gone all over the state in the effort to connect me with him. Yet, I mentioned his name reluctantly and with apologies to him, since I did not regard him as an issue in the campaign, and, so far as I knew, he was not at that time active. It was necessary for me to answer the whispering charges on account of the distrust which the people of Alabama have toward this gentleman.

"About a week ago, to the certain knowledge of my headquarters at Birmingham, Mr. Feagin became active in this campaign. He is supporting former Gov. Graves. His activity has extended to every section of the State. He has been on the telephone nearly continuously at such times as he has not been engaged in going from place to place, conferring with Graves supporters. Through his position at the capitol, he has been able to build up a political machine, and those who hold office by appointment of his, and who are dependent upon him for their livlihood have been instructed in no uncertain terms to go to work for Gov. Graves.

"Mr. H. H. Stewart, chief assistant to Mr. Feagin, has been carrying the the message to the convict guards and other employees that if they expect to hold their positions they will have to vote for Graves. Arthur Heustess, chief clerk in the convict department, and John Reese, chief clerk for the State Board of Administration, both Feagin appointees, are active in this campaign for former Gov. Graves. The word has been passed out through the highway department— every possible influence that could be thrown into the campaign by Mr. Feagin has been put to work, and he is sitting in the midst of his usual spider web of plots and plans, determined to secure again his lucrative book contract.

"The State employees in the court house at Birmingham have been called over the telephone about a week ago by Mr. Feagin himself and thrown into actions there. The same thing has occurred, so I am informed, in every section of the State into which his influence can reach.

Absolves Governor

"I wish [illegible] state at this time that I believe that Gov. Miller has absolutely nothing to do with the activities of this man and is not aware that they are going on. He would not be a party to them.

"Since Mr. Feagin has thrown himself actively into this campaign and lined up with those forces which are determined to keep their hold on public affairs and to perpetuate the present tax load of our people, he becomes an issue in this campaign. I therefore have no hesitancy in discussing his connection with it.

Book Trust Linked

"The Book Trust is active in this campaign. Joe Loveman, of Loveman, Joseph and Loeb, in Birmingham, who is at present the chief beneficiary of the Graves-Feagin contract, is active in support of Col. Graves. Benjamin Leader, of Birmingham, attorney for Loveman, Joseph and Loeb, and for the Book Trust, introduced Col. Graves at this rally in Birmingham. Mr. Loveman has actively sought to secure the support of the Birmingham merchants in behalf of Col. Graves. Mr. Feagin, who sits in the middle of his spider web here at Montgomery, with its meshes going into each precinct in this State, has now swung into action. His influence now is, as it always has been, distrusted and feared by the people of the State. It is one of the worst influences in the politics of Alabama and it is enlisted in the cause in which the people of this State would have every reason to believe that it would be enlisted.

"I make this statement to the people of my State:

"My first official act as Governor of this State will be to see that William F. Feagin moves, bag and baggage, out of the State Capitol. I go further than that. I notify the Book Trust at this time that no book contract will be signed by the State of Alabama while I am Governor, with which William F. Feagin has the slightest connection.

If they wish to do business with the State of Alabama, it will be necessary to do it through some other agent than Mr. Feagin. I expect to do my best to remove that particular influence from any place in the public affairs of our State. I want the people of this State to be awake to the fact that it is on influences such as these that Col. Graves is relying for his election."

Makes Himself Clear

"Do I make myself clear?" he asked.

The answer was an outburst of applause the like of which has not resounded in the Grand Theatre in many moons.

Upon first mention of Feagin as a Graves supporter, the crowd roared its approval of the attack. The applause grew louder as Dixon reviewed the past affiliations of Graves and Feagin in the school book contracts now in force. But when he declared that his "first act as Governor of Alabama" would be to see that Feagin "leaves the Capitol bag and baggage" the applause reached a crescendo of cheers and yells.

A WEDDING WRITE-UP

Most newspaper men shrink from the task of writing up a wedding and prefer to pass that responsible duty to the female society editor. Yet there are exceptions. Occasionally an editor is found who can paint a word picture of nuptial events that any lady reporter might envy.

We discovered one like that who appears to be hiding his great talents in an obscure Kansas town, while he ought to be holding down a big city job. Here is a sample of his literary ability, which proves our point:

"It was a wonderful wedding. The girl was as sweet as any girl who ever lived; but modern. As she walked up the aisle on her father's arm, her lips lightly tilted at the corners with a happy smile, she was a picture of modest beauty. Her filmy wedding gown and gossamer veil floated around her fair blond head like a halo. She was as nearly an angel as girls get to be in this world. At the altar, as she passed from her father, the man she always loved, to the other man to whom she would devote the rest of her life, her dainty slipper touched a potted lily resting on the floor and turned it over. Smiling again, she turned to the dear old pastor waiting at the chancel and said: "That was a hell of a place to put a lily."

John and Priscilla Alden's home at Duxbury Mass. is still standing and is near a monument to Captain Miles Standish.

Dixon Is Pledged To Re-Apportionment

Warns People Against Political Trickery In Changing Present Law

Birmingham, Ala. — Declaring that he has pledged himself to use every effort to obtain reapportionment in the legislature, Frank Dixon went thoroughly into this plank of his platform in his speech here today.

The speaker warned the people against any trickery in connection with the reapportionment and stated that care should be taken to see to it that any law reapportioning representation should conform with the constitution.

"I favor and will use every effort to obtain reapportionment of the membership of the House and Senate in my platform, in accordance with the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, namely, on a basis of population and county units, which would provide that each county shall continue to have at least one representative in the House as provided in the constitution," Mr. Dixon declared.

"Because of Section 200-201 which provides in effect that reapportionment must take place at the first legislative session following each decennial census of the U. S., it is doubtful whether reapportionment by legislative enactment at the next session of the legislature would be constitutional. For that reason, these sections of the constitution would probably have to be amended. It has been my position throughout this campaign that any amendment to these sections of the constitution should protect the people of this state against any increase in the total number of Senators or Members of the house of representatives. Therefore, I have repeatedly stated that I am opposed to any reapportionment which either deprives the smaller counties of their present constitutional safeguard of one member of the House, or makes possible an increase in the total legislative membership with its attendant added expense to the state."

Mr. Dixon further charged that his opponent has stated his intention of passing a law immediately calling for reapportionment. He urged his listeners to guard against any political trickery which might be involved in that promise and added that in view of Colonel Graves' failure to carry out his promises for reapportionment made when he was last a caniddate for governor would indicate that Mr. Graves is familiar with the section of the Constitution covering this matter and that it would be easy to pass reapportionment legislation without the safeguard of amending the constitution, in which event the law would probably be declared unconstitutional.

"Either Colonel Graves is familiar with this situation and is willing to steer through the assembly legislation which would probably be constitutional or he is not taking the trouble to ascertain the provisions of the constitution in reference to reapportionment."

GOODS NOT ORDERED

For several years numerous individuals and firms have greatly annoyed citizens throughout the country by sending them articles of merchandise, which had not been ordered, by mail, "on approval."

Recipients of these unsolicited packages of merchandise, usually hosiery, neckties and other articles of no great value, have apparently accepted the stuff and paid for it in a large percentage of cases, thus encouraging the spread of the practice.

Senders of these goods have attempted to secure payment from unwilling customers by means of tracers sent through regular postal channels, thus apparently making the Post Office Department a party to the scheme. This has been resented by the Department, which now proposes legislation making this annoying practice an offense against the postal laws, a measure which will doubtless meet with general approval on the part of the public.

Until this nuisance shall be curbed by official action, intended victims might adopt measures of ther own similar to that employed by a certain physician, who received a $2 package of socks which had not been ordered.

Instead of sending the money, he wrote a letter enclosing a prescription which he assured the sender of the merchandise to be worth $2, and asked that the account be balanced accordingly. The mail order man evidently possessed a sense of humor—at any rate he accepted the prescription and let it go at that.

Each member of the Bachelors' Club of High Wycombe Eng., is put under oath to pay a fine of 6 cents every time he kisses dances with a girl, or takes a girl out for a ride in a car.

Some Things Frank Dixon Stands For In His Race

The Rev. A. T. Fant Honored With Surprise Party

The Scandanavian people of Thorsby delightfully surprised the Rev. A. T. Fant last Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg. Mr. C. R. Foss gave a short talk and presented Mr. Fant with a gift in money as a token of gratitude for his services rendered while in this community. Mr. Fant has been holding Swedish and English services at the Lutheran church during his stay here.

Mr. Fant is from Elgin, Illinois but before returning to his home there he plans to visit in South Carolina and visit with his two sons in Pennsylvania, who are also ministers. He left Tuesday and we hope he will visit us again in the near future.

Those present at this party were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Konrad Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Karlson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Petersen, Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Sutlive, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Foss, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson, Mrs. Suza Anderson, Mr. Arne Helland, Mr. R. L. Primm, Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald, Mrs. Janie Sutlive, Mrs. Anna Villadsen, Mrs. Marie Petersen, Mrs. Johanaa Lefstead, Miss Alma Lefstead, Mr. J. L. Foss, Mr. Turnquist, Mrs. J. A. M. Bosworth, Mrs. K. A. Ekblad, and Mr. Verner Carlson.

Miss Dera Rowell was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Reinhardt Sunday.

Thorsby Institute News

Last Wednesday night was Senior Class Night. The play given was "Dr. Pepp" and was well acted.

Conway Thornburg read the class prophecy. Nelle Tracey, the class poem. E. E. Maddox the class history and Mary Louise Bates the class will.

Thursday morning at ten-thirty the graduating exercises took place. Linnie Belle Reinhardt and Hal Broadhead who have received the highest grades for three years, read their Senior essays. The Girls' Chorus under the direction of Miss Phillips sang "The Swan," by Saint Saens. Ruth Foss, who is very talented in music, played a sollo, Rondo Capricioso by Mendelssohn.

The address of the day was given by the Rev. A. W. Dycer, D. D., of Birmingham. He is pastor of the Community Congregational church there. His address was entitled "The Road of Life" and was very attentively listened to by young and old.

The college scholarships for Piedmont College were awarded to Linnie Belle Reinhadt and Hal Broadhead with C. B. Jean and Phares Raybon as alternates.

The undergarduate tuition scholarship one semester next year was given to Mary Louise Reinhardt. She also received the five dollar prize for excellence in English.

The French prize of five dollars was awarded to Ruth Foss. Prizes were awarded for perfect attendance to Hal Broadhead, Hoyt Burnham, Ruth Cox, Melvin Dollar, Sarah Green, Ruth Higgins Irvin Hudman, C. B. Jean, Julia Pratt Johnson Norwood Johnson, Kathleen Langston, Gladys Martin, LeRoy Petersen, and Lois Rister.

A splendid community dinner was served on the grounds after the exercises.

The Senior Class gave the undergraduate scholarship of $13.00, also $21.00 for concrete posts to be placed at the driveway entrance to the campus and $48.91 for a fund to enlarge the library. All of these gifts were very much appreciated.

The new music teacher for next year will be Miss Mabel Allen of Wilmore, Kentucky. She is a grduate of Asbury College with an A. B. degree. She majored in English. She is also a graduate of the Asbury College Conservatory with a Bachelor of Music degree.

She also has a certificate in voice. She has studied the violin and could teach beginners, but prefers not to teach more advanced pupils—if there is time to offer instruction in violin.

Asbury College and Consevatory are well known and rank high. The past year the Glee Club has broadcasted over the radio very often in the morning through the Louisville station.

Miss Allen is a young woman of talent, pleasing personality and excellent character. Her father has been a Professor at Asbury college for several years.

We wish to thank very much the many who have given money or provisions for dormitory use. These things have been a big help. Interest shown in the school in this way encourages outsiders to help.

Mrs. H. R. Maddox will be in charge of the office this summer. The office will be open each day from 8 until 12 in the morning. Those who have not registered may see her. Any who wish to register for music should see her. There will be a chance for those outside of school to take music. The charge is $8 00 a semester (half year) for one 45-minute lesson a week, or $10.00 for two 30-minute lessons a week. The rate is more if paid by the term (six weeks).

NAMING AMERICA

Modern science and research are repealing so much of what the older gentration was taught in school that we may well conclude with John Billings that "it is just as well not to know so much as to know so much that ain't so."

The old text books told us, for example, that America was named for Amerigo (or Americus) Vespucci, an Italian explorer who closely followed Columbus and stole Christopher's thunder.

Now comes an ancient document unearthed in Prague, which is said to be a report of his adventures by Vespucci himself, in which the navigator signed his first name as Alberico. Thus, if he were to have been honored in naming the new continent, it should have been called Alberica.

But a further complication has arisen through the assertion of another authority that an Indian tribe of Columbus's time called themselves by a name which sounded very much like "America," and that perhaps the New World got a legitimate name after all.

Anyway, at this late day it probably doesn't make much difference, except to those who like to argue about such things.

A wedding ceremony during which the officiating justice of the peace, the bride, bridegroom and attendants were on roller skates, was recently performed at Revere, Mass.

For dumping a huge pile of earth on the estate of Mrs. J. Borden Harriman without her permission, Raymond T. Baker, former director of the mint at Washington, must pay her $850, a jury has ordered.

Sardis News

The health of our community is fine at present.

The P.-T.A. met last Thursday night with a very good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Philemon Smith spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. David Sansom.

Mrs. Verge Klinner had as her Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. G.L. Adams, Mr. Carson Williams, and Mr. Tom Deramus.

Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Adams were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Sansom Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Williams spent Sunday with the Rev. and Mrs. Johnson.

It seems like our Sunday School and B.Y.P.U. are on the drag at the present. We can't account for this unless it is that we as people get careless of the things that we know are our duty. We know that it is our duty to go and take part in the Lord's service. May I plead with you to come and be with us. People, we will never have Sunday School and B.Y.P.U. if we don't try. We haven't put on a program in B.Y.P.U. in several Sunday nights, but we expect to put on a program next Sunday night at 7:00 o'clock. We invite everyone to come and be with us. If we can't do you any good we will assure you that we will do you no harm. We feel if you will come for that purpose you will get some good from our programs from time to time.

PLEASANT GROVE

Jemison

Sunday was our regular preaching day. There was quite a fair congregation morning and evening.

Our efficient young pastor rendered us two real good sermons. We thank our heavenly Father for this young man that He has sent into our midst to do service for Him. May heaven's richest blessings be with him in his great work for the Master.

Misses Gail Gletty and Willie C. Clements went to Birmingham Friday and reported a grand time.

Mr. Clarence Marcus, who is working at Sylacauga, came to visit his wife and little son Friday who are staying with her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Wright. He returned to his work Sunday p.m.

Mrs. Drusilla Wright visited her son and family, Mr. J.A. Wright, Saturday night. She also visited the Champions Sunday.

Mr. Lance Franklin, who has been in the C.C.C. work for some time is in the hospital for an operation.

Mr. Bernie Davenport, who has been in school in Talladega, is at home. He has made good in school.

Mr. Frank Davenport spent Saturday night and Sunday with his father and mother and family, Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Davenport.

The Rev. Maurice Hodgens is home after spending a year very profitably in Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Carlton of Birmingham spent Saturday night and Sunday with her cousins, Misses Champions. They carried her mother, Mrs. Margaret McMahon back home after an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. Martha Wilson and nieces, the Champions.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dawson of Thorsby spent a few days with his aunts, the Champions, last week and they are now visiting his uncle, Mr. Clyde Champion and family.

Mrs. E.C. Davenport and son, John, motored to Clanton Friday and also Mrs. Davis Hodgens and son, Hermie, and little daughter, Arlis went to Clanton Friday.

Mrs. Emmett Miskelley and Mrs. Hermie Hodgens are still on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marcus were guests of the Misses Champions Saturday night for a while.

There will be a W.M.U. meeting here Friday, beginning at 10:00 o'clock. We hope for a good attendance. We are also going to clean the cemetery and church grounds. Everybody that is interested come Friday morning.

We had with us in our services Sunday morning Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Popwell, Mr. Leo Spivey and three ladies. They went home with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Zuber for dinner.

Mrs. Dovie Dawson is spending a few days with her sisters, the Champions.

Bean Beetles

(By J.W. Fant, County Agent)

The bean beetle is doing lots of damage in this county at present. This beetle is very difficult to control, however it can be controlled sufficiently to produce a good crop of beans if properly treated. Below is a formula that if properly applied will help to control the bean beetle:

One part of Magnesium Arsenate; five parts of hydrated lime. Mix thoroughly and use as a dust.

This beetle works on the under side of the leaves and it is very necessary to get the poison on the bottom of the the leaves to be effective.

The best way to apply it is to use a dust gun of some kind, as it should be applied with force. Apply once per week and you will get fairly good results.

There is a small dust gun on the market that is all right for the home garden that can be bought for $1.50.

Farmers producing beans for the market should be careful and not put beans on the market with dust on them. If the beans are thoroughly washed there is no danger in eating them, but a little dust would cause you to have trouble selling the beans.

SINGING CONVENTION HELD AT NEW HARMONY CHURCH

The Chilton County Sacred Harp Singing Convention met at New Harmony church last Sunday, May 20th.

Opening song was sung by Mr. A.A. Jackson, followed by prayer by Mr. J. W. Hays. The Chairman appointed Mr. M.C. Jackson, Mr. J.R. Scott, J. W. Hays and Mr. A.A. Jackson as arranging committee for the day. Directors were as follows. Mr. Virgil Crocker of Perry County, Mr. J.W. Hays, Mr. W.M. Brown, Miss Viluna Shirley, Mr. J.H. Willoughby, Hr. E. W. Hand of Shelby County Mr. G.W. Akers of Sylacauga, Mr. T.C. Jackson of Sylacauga, Mr. T.R. Scott, Mr. A. A. Jackson, Mr. W.L. Sanders, Miss Carol King of Perry County Mr. C.P. Ratleigh of Perry County, Mrs. George Stewart of Perry County, Mr. J.A. Barnett of Birmingham, Mr. J.H. Scott, Mrs. Era Culver, Mr. M.C. Jackson, Miss Ida Scott Mr. Marlou Williams, Mr. W.B. Cooper, Mr. Ellie Shirley, Mrs. Sarah Bates Mrs. Ruth Henley, Mrs. Pauline Lecroy and we must not forget to mention little Thomas Jackson who directed "Oh, When Shall I See Jesus," in the afternoon. It looks so sweet to see a small child like he is take so much interest in singing.

At eleven o'clock the memorial services began, singing in memory of loved ones that have passed away. Mrs. Era Culver, Mr. T.C. Jackson, Mr. J. R. Scott and Mr. W.L. Sanders sang in memory of Major B.F. White, the author of our dear song book, which gives us so much comfort and consolation to sing from. Mr. M.C. Jackson sang in momory of Mr. Martin Jacks, one of our beloved brothers of the convention, who has lately passed away. Mr. J.W. Hays sang in memory of a Mrs. Edwards. Mr. A.A. Jackson sang in memory of Elder Joe W. Howell, another man whom we all loved. Mr. J. R. Scott sang in memory of Mr. D.T. Popwell, another one of our beloved brothers of the convention. Mr. T.C. Jackson sang in memory of Brother Nelson, a man whom everybody loved.

Late in the afternoon several special songs were sung which was enjoyed by all. They were directed by M.C. Jackson, J.A. Barnett, G.W. Akers, Mr. Crocker, J.W. Hays and T.C. Jackson.

We want to thank New Harmony community for their interest shown in this convention last Sunday. We sure thank each family that brought a box of dinner for we had a beautiful table set before our many visitors in which I am sure they all enjoyed. We hope each and every person enjoyed the day at New Harmony last Sunday and will come back again. Everybody has a welcome here at any and all times.

Closing song by the Chairman, W.L. Sanders and prayer by J.W. Hays.

—Mrs. Winford Jackson, Secretary.

RE-ROOF for all time

DON'T take chances with an old roof when it is so easy to have Careystone applied right over it. Made of asbestos and cement formed into shingle-shaped units, these roofs have all the advantages of slate or tile without the heavy weight, high cost and tendency to crack.

Permanent and Fireproof

Careystone is a permanent roof—first cost is last cost. And it is as fireproof as stone.

Roof Beauty

Careystone is made in five attractive colors. And at no extra cost you can have the "Weather-Age" finish—made only by Carey.

Low Cost...Free Estimate

Careystone costs much less than many roofs which do not approach it in appearance or durability. Let us give you a free estimate on reroofing your home. Call, phone or write.

CAN A ROOSTER COUNT?

Experiments in psychology are being carried on enthusiastically with many kinds of animals as subjects. A test reported from the University of Chicago is quite interesting.

Kernels of corn were placed in a row on the floor, with every third kernel tacked down, and a rooster was permitted to help himself. Failing to lift a fastened kernel, he would pass on and ear the next. The missing kernels were replaced and the next time he made no attempt to devour the stationary kernels. Then the third kernels were loosened, but he still passed them by until his foot struck one and moved it; when he went back and ate them all.

Some who witnessed the experiment believe that it proved the rooster's ability to count, while others were skeptical. Possibly he was an unusual bird, or had been influenced by his university environment.

We don't vouch for this story, but if you doubt it try the experiment on your own rooster.

PRESS TO REMAIN FREE, ROOSEVELT WRITES N. E. A.

Columbiana, Mo.—There has been no attempt in Washington to "gag" newspaper men or stifle editorial comment and there will be no such attempt, Franklin D. Roosevelt told members of the National Editorial association and Missouri newspaper men in a telegram at the annual banquet, the closing event Journalism week here. The text of his message follows:

"Please voice to the Missouri newspaper men and delegates of the National Editorial association, gathered for your annual journalism banquet, my sincere regret that because of duties in Washington I cannot be with you tonight. I understand that at your table tonight are assembldd some of the foremost representatives of the relatively small but extremely influential newspapers of the country.

"To these representatives, please express my appreciation of their effective support of the national recovery program. Recovery cannot be achieved entirely by proposals from Washington. There must be co-operation from all our citizens, those in the cities, the smaller towns and the rural areas. American editors have performed a notable service by presenting the facts of the recovery program to their readers and they have been of immense help to us in Washington in reflecting the conditions and views in their own communities.

"Neither the millions and millions of people constituting the reading public nor the hundreds of individuals representing the overwhelming majority of newspaper publishers can, in any way, be concerned with or wrought up over the silly ond wholly unjustified conversation on the part of a small minority who suggest that the freedom of the press has been either destroyed or assailed.

"Freedom of the press means freedom of expression, both in news columns and editorial columns. Judging by both these columns in papers in every part of the country, this freedom is freer than it ever has been in our history.

"There has been no attempt in Washington to 'gag' newspaper men or stifle editorial comment. There will be no such attempt.

"On the basis of years of personal experience with newspaper publishers and newspaper workers—and they have been many—I believe the publishers, with few exceptions, agree with me in all I have said on the subject or freedom of the press and that they, in the great majority, have the interest of their employees close to their hearts."

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By
Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

W. F. Prisk editor of the Long Beach (Calif.) Press-Telegram, says:

"Did you ever stop to think that advertising makes the balanced newspaper?

"Advertising balances the newspaper by acquainting readers with the latest developments in the markets as well as the latest happenings in Washington, in London, in Moscow in the State Capital the county seat and the home town.

"The housewife is interested in what the food stores are offering today, in what the department stores have to say about the progress of fashions as displayed in the 'show windows' of the advertising pages. Even the classified columns have their human interest stories.

"Because of this all-around service, the newspaper is the dominating advertising medium.

Because advertising is as current as news—or should be—advertisers find the newspaper the most productive agency as measured by actual results. It is the dependable, day-by-day voice-piece of changes and bargains in the merchandising program.

"To achieve the best results, to be sure, advertising in newspapers must be attractive, newsy, consistent and truthful."

John Garland Pollard while Governor of Virginina, said:

"My early conception of a good man was one who is will behaved, does not swear, never gambles, never gets drunk, pays his debts and goes to church on Sunday; but with experience and observation I soon learned that a man may be al lthis and yet be so selfish as to be justly called a very bad man.

" I came to believe that if one is to be truly a good man he must not only behave, he must also serve. The greatest of al lsins is selfishness and the greatest of all virtues is love expressed in servec."

Firestone

Tires have been on the winning cars in the gruelling Indianapolis 500-Mile Race FOR 15 CONSECUTIVE YEARS

EVERY winner in the 500-Mile Indianapolis Race—the most gruelling tire test in the world — drove to victory on Firestone High Speed Tires.

Race drivers know that heat generated by friction inside the cotton cords is the greatest enemy of tire life. These men will not risk their lives on any but Firestone Tires, because they know the high stretch cords in every Firestone Tire are protected by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

Gum-Dipping soaks the high stretch cords in liquid rubber and saturates and coats the millions of fibers inside the cords, counteracting destructive friction and heat. It provides greater adhesion between the plies of the tire, and between the Gum-Dipped cord body and the tread.

Firestone chemists and engineers kept pace with new car developments by building stronger, safer tires to meet the exacting demands. Drive in today and equip your car with new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934, with deeper, thicker, flatter, and wider non-skid tread, more and tougher rubber, more traction, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

Remember, in Firestone High Speed Tires there is Greater Strength—Greater Safety—and Greater Blowout Protection than in any tire made.

THE NEW Firestone HIGH SPEED TIRE FOR 1934

SIZE	PRICE

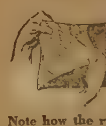
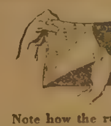
THE ADHESION TEST



Note how the rubber in a Firestone Tire clings to the high stretch Gum-Dipped cords. This greater adhesion and strength is made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.



Note how the rubber in an ordinary tire pulls away from the cords that have not been soaked and insulated with rubber. This causes friction and heat within the cords, resulting in separation.

Chilton Summer Term Starts Next Monday

The faculty of the Chilton County High School announces that a private summer school will begin next Monday morning, June 4. All pupils interested in taking special work this summer are requested to meet the faculty at the high school Friday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

Mr. Warr, principal of the school, explained that the summer term will afford pupils who failed grades an opportunity to make up this work and be ready to begin the next term with their classes. It is understood that pupils may complete necessary work for one unit during the six weeks course.

Magician Will Appear Collins Chapel School

Prof. Alzora, magician, who is being featured Wednesday and Thursday night of this week at the Wadesonian Theatre, will also appear at the Collins Chapel school next Saturday night at 8 o'clock, according to an announcement by H. G. Daniel, principal of the school. The small admission of ten and fifteen cents will be used for the benefit of the school.

Prof. Alzora can call you by name, locate scars or birthmarks on your body. He also eats fire, dances with bare feet on sharp nails, and allows bricks to be broken over his head.

FACT VERSUS FANCY

Dabbling with spiritualism or other supposed occult ideas are dangerous to one's integrity of mind according to Dr. William J. Mayo, eminent surgeon and medical scientist, who points out that many men of brilliant attainments have been misled by imaginary phenomena.

He mentions Sir Conan Doyle. Sir William Crookes and Sir Oliver Lodge as three outstanding examples of men of science who interested themselves in phychic phenomena and came to believe in the reincarnation of the dead. But he points out that these eminent men go that way late in life, after their mental powers were on the wane.

Dr. Mayo further points out that many things we experience today and understand as perfectly natural phenomena would have been attributed to the supernatural if they had been produced in earlier times. For example, if someone had invented the radio during the dark Ages he would have been considered in leagues with Satan and would provably have been burned at the stake. So, he concludes:

"Whenever we do not understand existing phenomena let us lay the blame where it belongs—to the failure of our understanding which the future may clear up—and not allow ourselves to prostitute intelligence by talking about fairies, ghosts, spirits and reincarnation of the dead."

A Pure Food Law For Plants? Never!

Editor Says Death For All Creatures Would Result

News from Washington these days has much to say about new regulations covering food and drug products—stricter laws covering the labeling and sale of food and drugs.

These dispatches from correspondents and news-services in the nation's capitol are being read with interest. Strangely enough however, an exactly opposite view applying not to human foods but to plant foods, is being read with equal interest, particularly through the agricultural sections of the South.

"A pure food and drug act for plant, says the editor of Scientific American, "would be a death warrant to all living creatures."

This statment by the editor of a publication which is an unquestioned authority in its field, is being widely circulated through the South. It is featured in advertisements of Chilean Nitrate of Soda, the natural nitrate which has enjoyed first favor with Southern farmers since its introduction here more than 100 years ago. It appears under the startling headline, "Without Impurities . . . . DEATH", in this paper and many others, to emphasize the importance of certain rare elements popularly called "impurities" which because of this nitrate's natural origin, are present only in Chilean Nitrate in Nature's own balance and proportions. These "imprities, boron, magnesium, iodine calcium, potassium sodium, etc., are the subject of much research on the part of soil scientists and other agricultural authorities. More and more is being learned about them. Today they are considered absolutely essential to successful crops.

Can Cure Meat In Hot Weather

Auburn, Ala.,—Hot weather is here but that does not mean that pork cannot be slaughtered and saved for the Experiment Station here have developed a method for curing pork in summer as well as in winter.

Two essentials of curing pork are taken into consideration in the method. They are that it is necessary to remove the animal heat and chill the meat immediately after killing and that it is necessary to salt the meat thoroughly. Prof. J. C. Grimes, of the Experiment Station, gives directions a follows:

"Kill the hog and cut the carcass as wanted. Rub salt over meat. Place it in water-tight barrel. (Each 300-lb. hog or equivalent will require one ordinary barrel). After meat is placed crack and place over it 200 pounds of ice for each 00 pounds of meat. Let it stay 24 hours. Take it up and rub it with a curing mixture composed of 12 pounds of salt, 3 pounds of sugar, and 3 ounces of saltpeter. (Each 100 pounds of meat needs 50 pounds of this curing mixture). After rubbing meat with it, repack it in iced brine in barrel. Pour remainder of curing mixture over it. Cover barrel with cloth or boards. Let it set 5 days for hogs weighing 200 pounds or less; and 30 to 35 days for hogs weighing more than 300 pounds, depending upon the size. Take it out, wash with warm water, hang and smoke."

Practical Uses Of Surplus Milk

Auburn, Ala.,—Two practical uses of surplus milk at this season of the year are recommended by F. W. Burns, extension animal husbandman at Auburn. The first is to feed a portion of this milk to calves and heifers with a view to producing larger cows.

Full grown cows, said Mr. Burns, can be produced only by liberal and proper feeding of cows and heifers. Feeding a liberal quantity of surplus milk together with small amount of grain and hay will produce full grown heifers instead of the scrawny, undersized kind so frequently seen when dairymen attempt to develop their calves with minimum milk.

Mr. Burns cited figures from the U. S. Bureau of Dairy Industry showing that the larger cows excel in both milk and butterfat production.

Feeding milk this way should be restricted to the heifer calves from high-producing ancestry on both sides.

"For producing milk-fed veal calves the bull calves or the inferior heifers should be used," said Mr. Burns. "While some dairymen permit their low-producing cows to raise one or two such calves it is advisable to teach them to drink out of a bucket if care can be given to their feeding. Regular amounts of sweet, warm milk fed out of clean buckets is necessary under this system to prevent scouring the calves. They should be given as much grain as they will clean up twice daily and it should be fed immediately after the milk. Clean bright hay is preferable to pasture for calves that are being pushed for the early market," added Mr. Burns.

Forestry Camp Aids Hurricane Sufferers

Montgomery—One of President Roosevelt's Alabama Forestry Camps demonstrated the availability of the young men of the woods for public service in an unexpected way when a detachment of workers was directed to assist the local authorities in clearing up hurrican debris in the city of Livingston during the past week. Recently various parts of west Alabama suffered severely from terrific winds. In the city of Livingston in Sumter County the damage was quite heavy.

About this time, however, a forestry camp was established on the highway between Livingston and York. It was but natural that the afflicted community should turn to this organized body of able workers for assistance in relieving the situation. Unfortunately this help could not be furnished immediately due to the iron clad regulations of the Federal Government specifying the exact kinds of work on which the men of the forestry camps may be employed. This difficulty was obviated by Representative W. B. Oliver who secured Washington authority for the State Forester to assign men to the necessary task. Immediately upon receipt of this authority the husky woodsmen of the camp went into action.

News In Brief

A plan to replace sand and other materials now used in fertilizers as fillers with dolomite, a form of limestone, has been recommended by the Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Brief, concise information for the rural housewife who wishes to conserve food on a budget basis this year to insure adequate, well balanced meals the year-round is to be found in a booklet published by Miss Margaret Garrett, extension food preservation specialist. It may be obtained from county home demonstration agents.

Proper terracing the past winter has resulted in increasing the value of 6,000 acres of Tallapoosa County land about $10 per acre, according to County Agent, F. N. Farrington.

County agents report that around 1,000 trench silos have been constructed in Alabama. The trench silo is simply a ditch dug in the ground, but it is a very inexpensive way of saving silage.

Of the 3,421 cases of voluntary bankruptcy in Alabama last year 167 were farmers. Increases in farmer bankruptcies last year were chiefly in northern and eastern states. The number of cases in the South and West decreased.

Black-Draught Brings Refreshing Relief of Constipation Troubles

Constipation produces many disagreeable sensations, several of which are mentioned by Mr. T. E. Stith, of Boonville, Ind., who writes: "I have used Thedford's Black-Draught many years when needed for biliousness and other minor ills when a laxative was needed. I have a tight feeling in my chest when I get bilious. I get dizzy and feel very tired, just don't feel like doing my work. After taking Black-Draught, I feel much better. This is why I continue to use it when needed." . . . Thedford's Black-Draught is a good, purely vegetable laxative, obtainable for 25¢ a package.

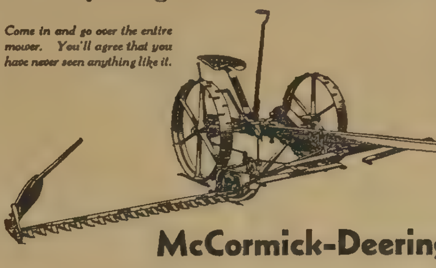
This is the New Mower the Crowds Admired at A Century of Progress Last Year

Come in and go over the entire mower. You'll agree that you have never seen anything like it.



McCormick-Deering No. 7 Enclosed-Gear Mower

WE are anxious to have all of our friends see the New McCormick-Deering No. 7 Enclosed-Gear Mower. We think it is one of the finest pieces of farm equipment we have ever sold!

Everybody who has seen it says they never had any idea that a mower could be built as this one is.

For example: The entire operating mechanism, including drive gears, differential, and countershafts, is assembled compactly in an oil-tight gear housing and runs in a bath of oil. There are four high-grade roller bearings. Operation is so smooth and noiseless that you can scarcely hear the light hum of the sickle!

Special oil seals at the ends of the main axle and flywheel shaft, and the oil-tight gear box prevent leakage and protect all working parts against the entrance of dirt and other abrasive materials. Floating action of cutter bar provides ample play without disturbing knife registration.

NATURAL NITRATE

The Only Nitrogen that Comes from the Ground

—And You Know What that Means to You

THE ground is Nature's treasure chest where she created and stored her gold, her diamonds . . . and Chilean Natural Nitrate.

This natural nitrate is the only nitrogen that comes from the ground. It is the genuine Soda, the kind you know about, the kind that contains all the vital "impurities." It is the ideal side-dresser.

As you know there are two kinds of genuine Chilean Soda—Champion Brand (granulated) and Old Style. Both are Chilean Natural Nitrate. Both contain the vital "impurities" so essential to good crops.

Protect yourself by telling your dealer you want Chilean. This is necessary and important if you want the genuine article. Say Chilean and be safe.

Jemison F.F.A. News

o

The Jemison F. F. A. put through a successful year this year with many outstanding credits to her chapter. The year began with an enrollment of fifteen green members and when the term ended we had nineteen green hands and four who reached the Future Farmer degree.

We conducted a rat poisoning campaign through the town of Jemison and the surrounding farms which was very successful.

In October we had the privilege of entertaining Congressman W. B. Oliver at a banquet held in the auditorium. Five chapters, representing three counties, were present. Mr. Joyce Howard and Mr. Ernie Lee Robinson were our representatives in giving the addresses from which many good comments came back to us from outstanding men.

If you want to see our cotton experiment visit Mr. Leo Cobb's farm, about four miles west of Jemison, on the Center Hill road. The Arcadian Nitrate of Soda people gave 300 lbs. of soda to the boy in each chapter in Alabama who made the best public address on some subject pertaining to the AAA. Mr. Ernie Lee Robinson was the boy who won it in our school. Mr. Endist Atkinson won the second prize of $1.00 offered by Mr. Montgomery, our chapter advisor.

One of the most outstanding things that happened was when we were notified that two of our boys received first and second prizes in an essay contest in Alabama. Mr. Ernie Lee Robinson received the first prize of $25.00 and Mr. Charles Nix the second prize of $20.00.

Mr. John Busby and Mr. Joyce Howard are our representatives at Auburn this summer at the Annual F. F. A. Convention.

Our officers for this year were: President, J. T. Cobb; vice-president, John Busby; secretary and treasurer, Joyce Howard; and reporter, Ervin Beasley.

We are sorry to say that two of our prominent members are leaving us who graduated, our secretary, Mr. Joyce Howard, and one of our faithful workers, Mr. Charles Nix.

Those in this section who failed to hear Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of Labor, Monday, when she delivered the baccalaureate address to the graduating class of Alabama College, missed a rare treat. Not only was it a unique experience to see and hear the first woman who has ever been honored with a place in the president's cabinet, but her simple address rang with a sincere message of truth that no listener could fail to understand and appreciate.

Her "Challenge to Industry," in which she voiced the opinion that the only salvation for over-production lies in the increase in consumption by a more liberal sharing with the wage-earner, Miss Perkins struck a keynote that anyone must recognize as logical. "The national wealth is measured by the velocity of our money," is as simple and true as is the golden rule.

No doubt her brief, but very busy, stay in the South was as great a revelation to the busiest secretary of labor this country has ever known as her simple understanding of the economic problems of this nation was to her audience. Unfamiliar with the South, Miss Perkins doubtless has failed to appreciate to just what extent the South has developed within the past half-century.

A glance at her schedule for Monday affords a wonderful opportunity to realize just what a national celebrity must endure. Even after an all-night ride on the train, a motor trip from Atlanta better than an hour address, shaking hands with at least 1,500 admirers—dozens of thoughtless persons requested her to autograph books, cards, and various objects.

See that the Zephyr, new streamlined train belonging to the Burlington & Quincy Railroad, streaked across a little more than a thousand miles of country between Denver and Chicago, Saturday, for a new world record, averaging 77.5 miles per hour. Its maximum speed was 115.2 miles an hour, and on part of the trip an average of 93.6 miles an hour was maintained.

An AP writer describes the accomplishment in the following language:

"Hurtling over ribbons of steel, flying like a giant arrow on straight stretches, darting like a snake around curves, the Zephyr beat its own previous speed of 109 miles per hour by thrusting its nose forward in amazing speed as the train crew pushed it to its utmost."

What a revelation this news would be to the editor who wrote of the first train and its amazing speed of 12 miles per hour: "Twelve miles an hour! Great Scott! One might as well allow himself to be shot from a cannon." Less than fifty years ago, an employe in the patent office at Washington gave as his reason for resigning his position that there could be no future there because every possible invention had been made already.

Comparing these two train's speed records gives opportunity for speculation as to what may happen a century hence. Twelve miles an hour was beyond the comprehension of the leading men of less than a hundred years ago; today, a trip to Mars and the other planets by being shot from a gun seems to us equally preposterous—but what the future holds for a few generations hence is perhaps as far beyond our comprehension as the accomplishments of today surpass the grasp of that editor that wrote of Stephens and his crude locomotive.

Physicians of Chilton County are doubtless finding themselves placed in rather embarrassing positions these days, when asked for advice regarding the treatment of an entirely new disease that has rapidly spread over this section during recent weeks. "Bull Fever" is the name being applied to the new epidemic. The first evidences of this malady in this county were noticed shortly after the arrival of the first cargo of steers being furnished the rehabilitation families.

Especially is this epidemic spreading, it is understood, among the plowhands in these families. A few days ago, we were in the relief offices and overheard a sufferer from this new malady describing his symptoms. "My steer is too small—he isn't even broke—he won't plow—and he isn't a steer anyway."

Health is very good here at present.

We have a good Sunday school here we are glad to see the young people take an interest in the good work. We were glad to have Brother Horace Nabors with us Sunday. He delivered an especially good sermon. His subject was "Love". If we had more of the love of God in our hearts for our fellow man our country would be a better place to live. It would be a better place to rear our children. We hope to have Brother Nabors with us the fourth Sunday in June.

Brother Horace Nabors and wife were dinner guests Sunday of his brother, G. G. Nabors.

Let us all remember the subject, "Love," and love one another. We can love a person and not love their ways.

Brother A. B. Canant of Wilton will preach for us the second Sunday in June at 2 p.m. So, let us all come and hear a good sermon.

Carroll Reunion

o

A wonderful time was enjoyed at the home of Mr. N. G. Carroll Sunday, May 20, by seventy-three people. Beginning at sunrise Sunday, May 20, although no one had a birthday, just honoring the father and mother of seven living children and their families. Mr. Carroll is sixty-seven years old and has seven living brothers and sisters. Mrs. Carroll is sixty-four and has eight brothers and sisters.

All of the children were present and all of Mr. Carroll's brothers and sisters were present. A bountiful dinner was served under the shade of the oak grove. Those present for the morning were:

Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Carroll, Mrs. G. L. Messer and family, Jessie, Willie, Grady, Oscar and Alma; Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Carroll and family, Melba, Jewel and Voncille; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Carroll and Mr. John Carroll, all of Wetumpka; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bowen and son, Junior, of Talladega; Mr. and Mrs. George Morris and son, T. J., of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Messer and little Bobby of Wetumpka; Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Hightower and son, Curtis, and Mrs. Hightower's mother, Mrs. Sims; Allen Ruff, Glennie Wyatt, Mr. Henry Lewis, George Moore.

In the afternoon there were Mr. and Mrs. Judson Messer and children; Mr. Gip Johnson; Mr. Riggins; Allie Mae Moore and Mr. West; Mrs. D. A. Jacks, mother of Mrs. Carroll.

About two o'clock Rev. J. W. Hightower preached a wonderful sermon suitable for the day.

Ice cream was served. Everybody had a wonderful time, and about four o'clock all said good-bye and went on their way home, hoping to meet again next year on May 20. Best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Carroll.

GRAGG ANSWERS OPEN LETTER

o

To The Voters of Chilton County:

My attention has just been directed to an open letter written in the interest of Mr. Earl Thomas and published in the county papers last week, concerning my race for the Alabama Senate. I regret that I did not know of this in time to publish a reply in this issue of your paper. There is certain data that I am having compiled concerning this matter, which will be ready for publication in the next issue of your paper. These facts will, I am sure, clear up this situation to your entire satisfaction.

In the meantime I want to again thank my many friends for their loyal support in the May first primary. I am deeply grateful to you.

Sincerely,
DR. V. J. GRAGG.

CHANGE IN DATE OF DEDICATION FOR ROCKFORD CHURCH

o

Owing to a conflict in dates on June 24th, the dedication of the new building of Rockford Baptist church will be held on Sunday, July 8, 1934.

All friends, pastors in Central Association, former pastors, both present and former members will please note this change.

We are especially anxious to make this a Red Letter Day in the history of our Church.

We want this occasion to be a "Home Coming" event with all former pastors, members, our entire present membership; friends who contributed to the building and others directly interested in its dedication to be present.

The Program Committee is arranging a splendid program for the entire day. A dedicatory sermon by a former pastor, special music, roll call of members, and inspirational talks by other out-of-town guests, will be features of the program.

Lunch will be served at the church.

Remember the date, Sunday, July 8, 1934.

—Mrs. J. S. McEwen, Chairman of Publicity Committee.

AUTOMOBILE ECONOMY

o

Because of its lightness and its ability to rapidly conduct heat, aluminum is highly valuable to many industries, but it has recently reached its highest degree of usefulness in automobile engine manufacture.

So much aimprovement has been made possible in the performance and economy of automobile engines by making certain vital parts of this metal, that Charles B. Bohn, president of the Bohn Aluminum & Brass Corporation of Detroit, and other authorities predict that within the very near future there will be few if any cars built that are not equippe dwith aluminum cylinder heads, aluminum pistons and probably in the medium and high-priced fields, at least, aluminum connecting rods.

The aluminum cylinder head, introduced on nearly half the automobiles made in this country last year ,saves thousands of gallons of gasoline annually to the owners, yet gives performance which far exceeds that possible with the iron cylinder head. Because of the heat dissipating qualities of aluminum, higher compressions are possible, increasing the power of the engine but using less fuel.

Definite advantages also are secured because of the use of aluminum pistons, which are almost universally used in airplane engines, on the higher priced cars, and are becoming increasingly available on cars of lower price.

Car buyers will do well to inform themselves of the advantages possible with aluminum. Its growing use is in line with advanced engineering thought which is producng strength, safety, speed and economy, with lightness. The railroad industry with its aluminum-equipped motors are taking the lead in a trend that is a real advantage to all who travel by road or rail.

Why Bibb Graves Will Be Our Next Governor

1. Graves will give back our 7 months school.
2. Graves will continue our law to allow the people to elect their own officers.
3. Graves will give us a homestead tax exemption law exempting all home owners $2000.00 in their taxes.
4. Graves will reduce our auto tag tax. A tag, $4.00; B tag, $7.00; C tag, $10.00; D tag, $12.50; and E. tag, $15.00.
5. Graves will continue our law for equal distribution of the Gas Tax to all counties. This will keep work going on on our county roads.
6. Graves is against Sales Taxes and Tax Sales.
7. Graves did what he promised in 1927. He will do it again in 1935.

Why Dixon Will Not Be Governor

1. Dixon Is Birmingham's Candidate. He got 1-4 of his total vote from Jefferson and Mobile Counties.
2. Dixon Promises the Short Ballot. Dixon claims to be the Roosevelt of Alabama. This is not true. Roosevelt is trying to take the Government from the Big Boys and give it back to the people. Dixon, with his short ballot, is trying to take our Government and give it to the Big Boys in the Birmingham skyscrapers.
3. Dixon's Platform Is Silent on the Equal Distribution of Gas Tax to Each of the Counties. This means that he and the money masters who finance his campaign want Jefferson County to have its gas tax and our county to have its gas tax. This will stop work on our county roads.
4. Dixon Will Not Tell What His Plans of County Government Are. Should not the voters and tax payers be allowed to know these plans at this time?
5. Dixon Strongly Opposes "Ear Marking" Funds. This means he could put school funds, game and fish funds, department of agriculture funds, road funds and all other funds into one pot and then with his appointed Attorney General to rule he could spend all the tax payers' money on convicts or any other department.
6. Dixon in his speeches so far has opposed any homestead tax exemption.
7. Dixon, born in California, educated in New York and Virginia, wants to copy the Government of Virginia, Indiana, and other Northern States in Alabama. In 1930, the last year of Graves' Administration, total State and local taxes amounted in in Alabama to only $20.77 per capita. For the same year in Virginia the government cost every man, woman and child an average of $33.12.

STORES WILL CLOSE DOORS FOR HALF DAY

Half Holiday Will Continue Through June, July And Aug.; Begins Today

Beginning Thursday of this week, all the stores and other business establishments in Clanton will be closed on Thursday afternoons during the months of June, July and August, to permit clerks and business men a half-day holiday during the hottest part of the summer.

For several years, an effort has been made to get all the establishments to cooperate in order that tired officials and their clerks might have a half-day's rest each week during the summer months. About a week ago, a petition was circulated over the town asking the merchants to close their stores on Thursday afternoons, and it was met with hearty response, according to those carrying the petition.

The following firms are cooperating in the movement:

GRAVES SPOKE TO A LARGE CROWD HERE

Applauded As He Told Of His Plans For The State's Interest

Charging that Major Frank Dixon expects the people of Alabama to make him "Santa Claus" without giving them the remotest idea with what he intends to fill their stockings, Col. Bibb Graves attacked the Dixon short ballot in his first campaign visit to Chilton County last Saturday afternoon, when he addressed an audience that packed to capacity the court house at Clanton.

Declaring that the Birmingham attorney's platform is too full of generalities to give the voters of Alabama a proper conception of what he stands for in regard to the reorganization of the State's government, Colonel Graves labeled the Dixon platform a "prize-box."

He was introduced by Grover C. Walker, Clanton attorney, who presented him as the next governor of Alabama, Walker was formerly a staunch supporter of Judge Leon McCord and introduced him when he spoke in Clanton several weeks ago.

Continuing his attack on the short ballot, the speaker declared that the governor of Alabama has too much appointive power already without vesting in him the power to appoint several of the State's most important officials, thus giving opportunity to build a political machine such as even Tammany Hall never dreamed.

The adoption of this system would be one of the most dangerous steps this state could possibly take, Col. Graves declared as he compared Dixon's ideas of government to a prize-box from which the people have no idea what they will draw. "If the governor appoints and fires the attorney-general,

First Plane Lands On Clanton Airport

Clanton formally took its bow and definitely became a part of aviation development in Alabama last Friday morning, when L. L. Brabham, chief flying instructor at the Montgomery School of Aeronautics, glided his light, two-passenger plane to earth out at the new airport, becoming the first pilot to land on Chilton County's flying field.

The Montgomery flying instructor after trying the field from almost every angle, was enthusiastic in his praise of the county airport, declaring that the field is ample to land any average size passenger, or mail plane. However, it is understood that he advised increasing the length of the runways to insure safety when weather conditions are a handicap to flying. Members of the commissioners court, Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds, and Dr. V. J. Gragg were taken for an airview of Clanton.

After soaring over the county at a several hundred foot altitude members of the commissioners court became thoroughly convinced that they made no error in lending their cooperation to give to Chilton County this latest feature of development, according to C. D. Duke, who described his first flight as "the greatest thrill in my whole life." Commissioners Cobb and Atchison were equally jubilant over their initial aviation excursion. CLANTON LAUNDRY IS MODERN, GROWING BUSINESS CONCERN

News Reporter Gets Head Full Of Swirls As He Listens To Explanation Of How Up-To-Date Laundry Work Is Now Carried On

This writer strolled over to the Clanton Laundry and Dry Cleaning Company a few days ago to inquire of Leo Thompson just how he cleans up on the laundry business. Leo launched into the subject with the gusto of a political candidate, but after more than an hour of explaining and demonstrating—the most we understand is that a laundry cleans clothes.

The amiable operator of the establishment conducted us throughout the plant, explaining every phase of the work from the time the clothes reach the place via the trucks until they are wrapped and ready to be returned. "Here's where we check in the bundles; here's where the garments are stamped to avoid confusion of bundles; here's where the washing process begins—and on and on, until our head was whirling at about the same rate of speed as that revolving basket contraption through which clothes are run at the rate of 1,500 revolutions per minute—the drying process, without wringing.

Only a few glances are necessary to be convinced that the laundry business has traveled a long road. Not so many years ago when mention was made of a laundry, the mind immediately registered a picture of a Chinese, with pigtails swinging down his back, pottering about with a few stiff collars and sputtering some unintelligible jargon which no one bothered to try to understand. In those days, the laundries only served a select class—and then in a not very general way.

Today, the laundry is an up-to-the minute scientific process, employing persons highly skilled in their work. Much advancement has been made even in recent years in the processes employed in assuring the best services with the least danger to fabrics. The Clanton Laundry and Dry Cleaning Company is far from an exception—it's the last letter in quick, and efficient service.

When clothes are checked into the laundry, they are classified according to color and texture, Mr. Thompson explained, to render the highest degree of efficiency. Dainty fabrics can not successfully be washed with coarser and heavier garments, because of the unequal texture and weight—too, colors are segregated to avoid danger of splotching.

After the checking and stamping, the bundles are put into the revolving cylinder washer—next into the rincer, where six different rincings are applied—then comes the whirring basket dryer—and on into the roller pressers—and on and on until finally they are wrapped and ready to be returned to the housewife, who has been saved much time and trouble.

The recent installation of the fast color process, which was perfected only a few months ago, assures the customers of the Clanton Laundry of the continuation of that efficient service, which in eight years has built it from a small unknown concern to one of the town's most enterprising business establishments, Mr. Thompson proudly asserted.

With this new process, it was explained that there is very little danger to the most delicate dyes and fabrics. Fading of good dyes is almost a thing of the past, he declared. Proudly exhibiting numerous samples of fabrics, from the cheapest prints to expensive materials, the owner of the Clanton establishment explained that these samples had been subjected to twenty-five launderings and still the colors were intact even in the cheapest.

So, he declares, there is nothing but wisdom in adhering to the philosophical reasoning of "Let the laundry do it."

Mr. Thompson stated that visitors are cordially invited to visit the plant and inspect the methods used in cleaning and laundering clothes.

E. M. Vann To Speak For Dixon Sat. P. M.

E. M. Vann, of Birmingham, will speak at the court house in Clanton Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in behalf of Major Frank M. Dixon's candidacy for governor, according to information given the News.

C. Fenn Jones, county campaign manager for the Birmingham attorney, expressed optimism for the New Deal candidate's success in this county, declaring he believes Major Dixon will poll at least fifty per cent of the votes in Chilton County in the primary next Tuesday.

He stated that Major Dixon expressed regret that he will be unable to pay another visit to Chilton County before the primary, but because of a streneous campaign in almost every section of the state during recent weeks and the brief period of time between the primaries, it will be impossible for him to come.

W. W. FOX DIED FOLLOWING LONG ILLNESS

Highly Respected Citizen's Passing Is Loss To Entire County

Funeral services for W. W. (Daddy) Fox, 68, retired Clanton business man, who died Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o' clock at his home in Clanton, following an illness of more than a year's duration, were held Tuesday morning from the Clanton Methodist church with the Rev. R. P. Cochran officiating. Burial was in the Clanton cemetery with Martin & Sons in charge.

The death of Mr. Fox ended a fight for life which has lasted for more than a year and has taken him into all parts of the United States in search for relief. Only a few months ago, he returned to his home in Clanton from a western health resort, after physicians had told him that his condition was beyond cure. He is survived by his widow.

A native of Sunset, Kentucky, Mr. Fox removed to Clanton about twenty years ago and since that time has been engaged in various mercantile enterprises. He was well known throughout this section as an auctioneer, having conducted sales in almost every section of the state.

Before removing to Clanton, he made his home for a number of years at Huntsville, where he operated a mercantile establishment and conducted sales. He was a member of the Clanton Methodist church, and also a member of the Junior Order of American Mechanic.

The following friends served as active pallbearers: L. C. Warr, J. P. Lawrence, Sr., O. R. Mullins, Eric Hart, Dr. J. E. Gowan, and J. B. Atkinson. Honorary pallbearers were: V. J. Elmore Dr. V. J. Gragg, Dr. N. S. Johnson, W. H. Sartor, W. D. Spigener and W. M. Polk.

W. M. LOWERY, WORLD WAR VETERAN, DIED LAST THURS.

Funeral services for William Monroe Lowery, 46, World War veteran, who died last Thursday at his home near Jemison, following an extended illness, were held Friday afternoon from the Rocky Mount church with the Rev. Green officiating. Burial was in the churchyard cemetery with Martin & Sons in charge.

RUN-OFFS TAKE SPOTLIGHT ON NEXT TUESDAY

Second Primary Will Tell Story And Answer Many Questions

by Victor Norris

In most of the counties in Alabama, next Tuesday will bring to a close one of the most sensational political years in several decades. Chilton is one of the few counties in state where Republican strength makes the November election the deciding round in the political bout. To more than ninety per cent of the state's counties, the election in November is no more than a mere gesture, for the second primary in realty settles the issue.

However, political economists throughout the state attack the second primary as needless expense, charging that in very few cases does the second primary change the results of the first. In Chilton County, it is estimated that the expense of picking winners in only five state and county races will run into hundreds of dollars.

With less than a week until June 12, the battle continues to rage. The two-soldier candidates for governor of Alabama are still cannonading up and down the state. From the Tennessee line to the Mobile Bay, voters are hearing the shouts of "down with the political ringmasters," and "let's hitch the big mules to the wagon."

Col. Bibb Graves, candidate for governor, made his first campaign visit into Chilton County last Saturday afternoon, when he spoke to an audience that packed to capacity the court room in Clanton. With a 35,000 lead in the first primary, the "little colonel" declared that he has the ball under his arm and is headed for the goal-posts and a touchdown next Tuesday. In another section of the state, Major Frank Dixon, "the New Deal candidate for governor," continued his pleas of "down with the political ringmasters," and defended his short ballot, which has caused him so much worry during recent weeks.

Although Dixon polled less than twenty-five per cent of the votes in this county in the May 1 primary, his supporters antcipate that he will get fifty per cent, or more, in the coming election. On the other hand, Graves supporters enthusiastically proclaim an even larger vote for thir candidate than in the recent primary.

Howell Turner, leading candidate for secretary of state, has put in busy weeks since May 1 in an effort to hold his substantial lead over his opponent, Gilbert E. Davis. With the endorsement of James M. Bowman, who was eliminated in the recent primary, Harry T. Hartwell, former mayor of Mobile and one of the state's most progressive leaders, declares that he is confident of overcoming Frank P. Morgan's lead in their battle for the office of associate member of the public service commission.

This brings us back to Chilton County and to a discussion of the home-county candidates. The contest between Dr. V. J. Gragg and Earle Thomas for state senator from this district, composed of Chilton, Shelby, and Autauga counties, has been one of the hardest fought fights of any of the local campaigns. Although Dr. Gragg led in all three counties by a substantial vote, Thomas hopes to pull enough strength from the vote of Raymond C. Smith, eliminated candidate, and to secure others to overcome this lead.

The only other race to be decided in the Democratic primary of June 12 is the selection of a nominee for tax collector. T. L. McKee lacked only a small percentage polling enough votes in the recent primary to give him a majority over four other candidates. Newton A. Popwell, who defeated Geo. C. Polk by only one vote, is opposing McKee for this nomination.

Recent weeks have developed a bit more enmity between factions of the Republican party in Chilton County. The battle between Judge L. H. Reynolds and J. Z. Mims for nomination for probate judge has become the cynosure of all eyes in both the Republican and Democratic parties in the county.

Another fight in the Republican party that is a center of speculation is the race between Percy M. Pitts and W. L. Sanders, candidates for representative. Com. Joe E. Cobb faces J. P. Bean for the place of commissioner from the First District; and A. J. Davis and T. P. Gore vie for the same honor from the second district, and the voters will choose between W. T. Bean and J. E. Daniel for nomination for county superintendent of education. J. L. Smith and D. S. Robinson complete the ticket with their candidacy for member of the board of education.

COUNTY BOARD OF REVIEW MET 4, 5 TO STUDY TAXES

The Chilton County Board of Review was in session Monday and Tuesday of this week at the court house in Clanton studying petitions for reductions in taxes in the county and hearing various complaints.

Composing the board of review are: Commissioners C. D. Duke, J. C. Atchison, H. E. Robinson, J. A. Cobb and Hugh Simpson, license inspector, and Akins Collins, tax assessor.

Don't Fail To Vote On June 12th

On May 1st Chilton County and the State of Alabama broke all past records for the number of people voting Few things could indicate a healthier condition in our government than a wide-awake active interest of all voters in their govenrment.

But we have a different situation this year. Another election is set for June 12. We are not very well accustomed to a second election until November. And that is the reason for this editorial. We must not minimize the importance of the election on June 12th. It is the final verdict insofar as party nominations are concerned. Apparently there is some tendency to overlook ths election.

The law providing for a second primary intended to give opportunity for a more perfect expression of the will of the people, but if we fail to make use of the second primary it defeats the primary purpose. Let us not be overconfident because our favorite candidate won a plurality on May 1st, let us not fail to cast our vote for the man we believe is right on June 12th, and let us not be too busy to exercise our privilege as citizens, for it is important that we vote in the second primary, and we should cast as large a vote on June 12th as we did May 1.

Here's a thought for the wise property-owner to start considering right now: If building is greatly accelerated prices for everything involved are going to rise. They're going to leave depression levels behind and return to the normal average—that, in fact, is one of the cardinal aims at ths time. Those who can afford to repair and build now have an opportunity that may never be repeated in their lifetimes.

"Anticipate It"

The following editorial appeared in the June issue of The Kiwanis magazine. It was written to apply particularly to the deals and activities of Kiwanis clubs, but it has so much of sound philosophy for all the rest of us that we are reprinting it:

"Dead Man's Curve" is rarely straightened out until there have been many wrecked automobiles there, and several dead and maimed people. Fire trap tenements usually stand until there has been a holocaust in which children have been burned to death. It is not until the bridge falls under a loaded truck and kills the driver, that new one is put in.

"Reform usually waits on tragedy. There must be enough deaths to wake the public conscience and cause a cry of protest before safety is attained.

"Kiwanis can never interfere in the home life of citizens. It cannot say that such and such a child should be taken from school and placed in a summer camp where the actinic rays will do their work. It cannot say to a housewife proud of her hardwood floors that the safety of the old folks is more important than the appearance of her living room.

"But Kiwanis can educate and agitate until there is public sentiment against fire-trap tenements, weak bridges and dead man's curves. Not only can the clubs do these things in behalf of safety, but they should anticipate and prevent the accident rather than wait until death stops taking a holiday and takes its toll of human lives."

Government Behind Home-Building

The next major activity of government will be an attempt to stimulate heavy industries—which normally provide the bulk of employment, were hit hardest by depression, and have been the most lethargic in recovering from it. And the first step in doing that will be to unloose capital for home-building and repairing, through Federal guarantees of mortgages. Mr. Roosevelt has sent a special message to Congress to expedite such legislation.

Experts estimate that it is possible to unloose credit to the tune of $1,500,000,000 or more in ths manner. That money would go to painters, carpenters, masons plumbers cntractors. It would buy cement steel, paint, lumber, roofing, electric fixtures. It would pass through a hundred great industries, creating jobs and opportunities as it went. of its influence in pulling businesses of all kinds out of It doesn't take much imagination to visualize the extent the doldrums.

Our Half-Holiday

Clanton business men are to be highly commended on their move to close up shop on Thursday afternoon of every week during June, July and August. Otherwise many employees would have no opportunity to enjoy a little recreation during the hot days which are here. Thursday afternoon closing in Clanton hos been tried before. It has not always been successful, but indications are that cooperation is strong enough now to put it over in a big way. We take this opportunity to predict that it will prove highly pleasing to employers and employees alike. No one will lose anything by it. Clerks and craftsmen will be more energetic, more loyol, and more work will be done in shorter time than if we omitted the half-holiday.

Customers will quickly become accustomed to the change. No loss of business will result to anyone. A chance to meet on the playground, the swimming pool, and the fishing places will develop a spirit of friendliness which should mean much to our town.

Equality Of Opportunity Vital

In its most recent annual report, the Interstate Commerce Commission presents an exaustive analysis of transportation problems, and says that there can be no equality of opportunity until three things are effected. These are: Comparable wages for comparable skill; efficient and adequate service without discrimination; comparable taxation of all transport agencies.

Not one of these conditions exists today. The Commission has jurisdiction over but one carrier-the railroads. It has the power to regulate practically every phase of their operation. Stringent rules protect the traveling and shipping public and railroad workers. Rates are fixed and absolute, and cannot be changed without a cause whch the Commission, after exhaustive inquiry, believes adequate.

Compare that to any other carrer. The waterways are publicly subsidized for the most part. They are free from the heavy taxes borne by the rails. The public treasury is handy to take care of deficits.

Buses and trucks, most important of railroad competitors, have few restrictions outside of those recently created by the NRA, determining wages paid employes, and hours of work.

Transportation today is literally in a state of chaos. Only legislation that gives all carriers a fair deal and allows no special privileges, can bring order.

Who Counts---The Critic Or The Doer?

(From Speech by General Johnson, January 18, 1934)

"It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; who does actually try to do the deed; who knows the great enthusiasm the great devotion spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat."

o-o-o-o

Stupidity Of War

Everyone who thinks about it must realize the absurdity of placing two armies of men in the field to kill each other, when the men themselves have no personal grudge against those whom they are supposed to kill, nor any definite idea of what it is all about.

This was strikingly illustrated some time ago in China, where two opposing generals, Marshal Ho and General Lu, both secretly deserted their armies and fled to Japan. Not knowing that their leaders had departed, the contending armies fought on for eight hours.

When it was discovered that the generals had gone, the two armies threw down their arms and mingled with each other in friendly fashion. This incident is vouched for by the treasurer of the Episcopal mission at Shanghai.

Opposing troops of civilized nations, especially, have fraternized in many wars during periods of truce. A large number of American soldirs married German girls after the World War. The common people have nothing to do with war, except to do the fighting, the suffering and the dying.

While America must not allow a misguided pacifism to weaken her capacity for defense, her voice always should be raised in protest against th stupidity of war.

Speed Is The Danger

The world's record for throwing the 16-pound shot, one of the regular events at all track and field meets, is 53 feet.

The amount of energy possessed by an average-sized automobile traveling at 60 miles an hour would be sufficient to throw that shot 52,800 feet—nearly ten miles.

To use another illustration, a car traveling at 60 has the same capacity for inflicting damage as if it were driven off a twelve-story building.

Those facts, brought out in a recent report of the Travelers Insurance Company, give some idea of the potential menace of speed on the highway. During recent years the death and injury rate per accident has been rising—and the increase was especially marked in 1933 Th chance of a person being seriously hurt or killed in an accident is substantially greater now than it would have been five or ten years ago in a similar accident. The reason can be expressed in one word: Speed.

Today's cars have better brakes, better steering, better lights and stronger bodies than those of the past. By all engineering standards, they are safer. What has happened is that the public has exaggerated the increased safety factors—and actually turned these improvements into dangers.

Watch your speed—adapt it to local conditions at all times—and you'll have taken a long step toward becoming a safe driver.

Giving a lady driver plenty of roadway is always polite and often prudent.

Some employees might work faster if they were not too modest to show off.

Most folks seem to enjoy their crime news more when there's a preacher mixed up in it.

A New Yorker was found living in a sewer. Probably a playwright searching for atmosphere.

A suitor for the hand of a movie actress should never despair. His turn will probably come sooner or later.

As we understand it, this "truth in advertising" movement is designed to confine fiction to the news columns.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

We had a pet pig at our home that became an expert in finding rotten rails and broken places in the fence.. He could get into mischief the easiest and be the hardest to get out of any animal I ever knew. It would usually be my job to run him out of the yard, or the corn field and that pig could not see an open gate while I was chasing him. He would run by every hole in the fence, pay no attention to open gates and stay where he did not belong. Many a time did I have to catch him and drag him out. Had it ever occurred to you that with the most of us it is much easier to get into mischef than it is to get out? I have bee chasing folks in mischief all my life. They will run by every opportunity to get out of their sinful way of living and make as though they never knew it was there. Remember that it is harder to get out of mismhief than it is to get in, and remember that you can usually get out where you got in.

I lived near a busy lumber yard and saw the lumber as it came in and as it was carried out. The yard never looked the same two days in succession. Nothing on the yard was stationary. Some folks seem to think that a man's character should be like that lumber yard—character elements coming and going all the time. A man's life is not a lumber yard where character elements come and go, but it is stationary. Character is a structure that is erected and remains the same all the time. When a man's character is what it should be, he can be trusted at work and on a vacation. He can be trusted at home and abroad. Honesty, purity and loyalty are virtues that should linger and be forever stationary.

And it came to pass that a farmer addressed his garden in language like this: "I have decided not to plant anything in your soil this year. I am going to leave you to your own choice and see whether you will grow weeds or vegetables." That farmer was true to his word and walked around his garden for six months never touching its soil with hoe ar blow and seemingly he was indifferent as to the growth that found ts way into his garden. In the fall he was very much surprised and disappointed that his garden had no vegetables. The soil left unplanted and uncultivated grew nothing but weeds. Verily I say unto you the parents who leave their children unto themselves without planting and cultivating need not be surprised and disappointed when they find nothing but weeds in their lives. It is poor reason and logic to think that character elements will grow where they are not planted and cultivated. Hence the tragedy of delayed planting.

At one of my parsonage homes there was a very productive garden. It was a joy to cultivate the soil and see the vegetables grow. I moved to another charge, and three years lated I visited some friends back at my former home. The pastor occupying the parsonage made no effort to cultivate the garden that was such a joy to me, and for three years it had been neglected. Needless to say that there was nothing in that garden then but weeds. The neglect invited the weeds to come and with great abundance they invaded the spot where vegetables should have been. When we neglect anything that demands care and attention we invite destructive forces to occupy. Married life will be invaded with weeds when there is neglect. That is why the divorce courts are overworked, men and women neglect each other and the weeds grow Cultivate all life and see how it will produce.

I stood on the river bank where the government had built a lock. Down the stream there was a tugboat slowly approaching. It entered a tunnel like enclosure with its barges and I thought that it had reached the end of its journey. Doors were lowered and traps were lifted and the water entered the enclosure where the boat and the barges were. Soon they were lifted to the livel of the water in the bond above the dam and the little tug steamed away on its journey up the river. This is like unto human life. Often we reach places in our experiences where it seems impossible to proceed. We enter an enclosure where it seems impossible for us to be realeased, but somehow God lifts us and on we go. Often we are ordered to be still and know that I am God. When the power from above lifts us we are ready to continue our journey. Blessed be God—He lifts us and leads us.

BONE AND FOSHEE ENDORSE GRAGG

Dear Friend:

If it was left to you to judge the ability of a candidate to fill an important office, what criterion would you use? Would not the esteem and honor accorded in his home county and voting precinct be a splendid basis for your judgement? Most assuredly these would go a long way. These combined with interest manifested by him in the vital issues of the community through a long period of time would be a splendid collection of data for the basis of your decision.

Now that the senatorial race in your district, between Doctor V.J. Gragg and Mr. Thomas must enter the second primary in order to determine the nominee, and considering at the same time that they are both citizens of Chilton County; is it not sensible to study the primary returns from Chilton County to determine which of these candidates enjoys the greatest confidence of the people with whom they live?

In the county at large the vote was as follows: Dr. Gragg, 1081; Mr. Thomas, 594; Mr. Smith, 317.

In the Clanton beat the vote was as follows: Dr. Gragg, 396; Mr. Thomas, 105; Mr. Smith, 128.

The tabulation of this vote testifies to an established confidence in the ability of Dr. Gragg. The people of Chilton County who know him best are heartily recommending him to you. Can we ignore these significant facts?

Again, in this strategc hour of educational needs, when one measure in favor of our schools would mean so much to our children, would it not be timely for us to know that Dr. Gragg has been a staunch friend of education for more than thirty years? He was at one time a prominent teacher and has ever been a good friend of the schools of Chilton County and of the State. Since he has been practicing medicine he has also been a leader in the education of the children of his town. This is shown by his long detention on the school board and the high esteem accrded him by the prominent educators throughout the state. At this time he is the logical man for our state senate. If elected, he will wield a great influence as a member of the Alabama Legislature. Won't you remember to give him your hearty support?

Respectfully,

J. F. Bone and Howard L. Foshee.

Gragg's Answer To Open Letter

To the Voters of the Fifteenth Senatorial District:

Regardless of how much I dislike to be drawn into any needless controversy, my opponent and his "Club Chairman" have forced me to say something. Therefore, I am going to give them the facts as follows: My name was on the Jeffersonian Democratic ticket in 1930. I am making no effort to conceal that fact. Everyone who was a voter four years ago knows it and their general feeling in the matter is evidenced by the fine lead that was given me in every county in the district in the first primary with Mr. Smith a known regular and a young gentleman of fine reputation in the race.

Now, in the second primary with Mr. Thomas, my only opponent, and he having voted the Heflin-Locke ticket and having been a watcher, for Heflin, at his box; I can see no reason for raising the question. It seems to me it is just another case of the "pot calling the kettle black."

If there is any doubt as to Mr. Thomas having voted the Heflin-Locke ticket I think he will admit it; and if he does not, I will refer you to the reprint of the Congressional record of the Heflin-Bankhead contest for Chilton County and Beat 3, page 5 thirty-third name.

Trusting that you will read my advertisement in this issue for further figures and thanking you sincerely for all past favors I here and now assure every voter that their support in the coming primary will be highly appreciated, regardless of how they voted in the first primary.

Yours sincerely,
V. J. GRAGG.

Chicken Insects Are Very Harmful

Auburn, Ala.—With the arrival of hot weather two very harmful poultry insects become very active. They are lice and mites, each being well known.

H. R. Bailey, extension poultryman of Auburn, is advising poultrymen to watch carefully for lice and mites. If hens become thin, droopy, and unthrifty it is probable that lice is the trouble. If present lice can be seen scurryng in all directions when feathers are pushed back.

Hens cannot do their best when affected with lice or when they suffer with mites which suck their blood at night, Mr. Bailey points out. He advses the use of nicotine sulfate and oil spray or coal tar preparations for mites.

Mites do not as a rule stay on the hens, but are occasionally found on individual hens. They attack them at night, suck their blood, and stay in the cracks and crevices of the roosts during the day. Mites are grayish in color until they become gorged wth blood and become red.

Mr. Bailey notes that one of the most common treatments for lice is nicotine sulfate. Paint a small amount on the roost poles about thirty minutes before the hens go to roost . The cost of nicotine sulfate prohibits wide use for mites.

To destroy mites, spray the roost poles, nests, and dropping boards with carbolineum, creosote, a mixture of kerosene and old motor oil, or any of the coal tar preparations.

New Bulletin On Corn Is Written

Auburn, Ala.—Important facts about corn and its production in Alabama are contained in an Extension Servcie bulletin by J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. In writing it the author had in mind practical use for farmers, 4-H club boys, and teachers and students in vocational agriculture.

Corn grew on 3,000,000 acres in Alabama last year. It is the basis of livestock feeding, in addition to being used extensvely as food for the family.

"Much of the land in Alabama," continued Lowery, "is too poor for profitable cultivation of corn—a crop which thrives best on fertile land. The average yield of corn in Alabama is 12 bushels per acre for the north-central states. It is estimated that Alamama is failing annually by more than 25 million bushels to meet the actual needs of the State for an adequate live-at home program."

Mr Lowery estimated that 60 to 75 bushels of corn should be produced yearly for each mule, 20 bushels for each milk cow, 15 bushels for each meat hog, 60 bushels for each brood sow, and 1 bushel for each hen.

"A farm family of five, therefore, having two mules, two cows, 4 hogs, and 50 chickens will need each year approximately 300 bushels of corn, including 30 bushels for food for the family.'

Mr. Lowery's new pumlication discusses the influence of winter legumes on corn yields, in addition to proper fertilizers, varetes, cultivation, seed selection, dseases, and a brief summary of corn marketing.

Black-Draught Good For Biliousness and Bad Taste in Mouth

"I have found Thedford's Black-Draught so good for biliousness, bad taste in the mouth and other disagreeable feelings due to constipation," writes Mrs. Mary Garner, of Burleson, Texas. I sent for it and gave it to my children (as a laxative) for colds and when they felt bad. Soon they felt fine." . . . Oxen Are Again Coming Into Own

Montgomery, Ala.—The humble ox, which in Biblical days was used for money and through the ages had done his part in the progress of civilization has again come into his own, as an important part of the Alabama Relief Administration's plan to restore nearly 6,000 destitute farm families to a self-supporting basis.

Not since the days of Reconstruction, according to R. K. Greene, Alabama Rural Rehabilitation Director, has the ox been the object of such popularity and demand. In virtually all Alabama counties where steers were available, thousands have been purchased by the Relief Administration, and trained to plow and work to wagons.

The success of the use of steers in the program, has encouraged private landowners to turn to the steer as a work animal of economy and ability. One Wilcx county farmer is reported to have purchased 30 steers for use of his tenants instead of providing them with mules as has been his custom.

The principal economy in using the steer is in his initial cost, which ranges from $20.00 to $25, and in the cost of feed. A mule usually consumed about $10.00 worth of feed each month, whereas a steer can be grazed and only a small quantity of cotton seed meal is required to supplement pasturage.

Through May 31 a total of 67 families had been enrolled in the Rural Rehabilitation program in Chilton County, and the cost of rehabilitating these families has been estimated at $7,084.61. This is approximately the same amount that would have to be spent by the Relief Administration if these families were maintained on the direct relief rolls.

The families have agreed to repay the Relief Administration in produce or in work relief labor, and when this is done the famlies will own the steers, plows and other equipment provided by the Relief Administration.

J. W. Fant Quotes Letter From Roy Moore, Leader Of Rodent Control, State College Miss.

To County Agents:

In the present government proposal to retire submarginal lands from production an opportunity is provided which may enable you to directly assist both farmers and sportsmen of your county.

Under this proposal large areas of lands that are now being cultivated unprofitably will be purchased and set aside for bird and game refuges and other purposes just as soon as they can be carefully examined and found suitable. Bird and game refuges acquired in this way will be devoted to the restoration of wild life and to game management with a view to giving all who so desire the opportunity to hunt fish or to enjoy other forms of outdoor recreation. Lands now contributing to surpluses will thus be made to yield something for which there is an ever increasing demand.

The first step in this program is for the government to get carefully considered and accurate information about the proposed areas in order to facilitate the acquisition of suitable tracts. If one or more such areas are to be located in your county, it will require that they be described and recommended promptly. It will be appreciated if you will see that this is done. You are the one best qualified to determine the areas in your county that should be classed as submarginal. It is suggested that you confer with the men in your county most interested in game development and best qualified to give sound advice on this matter.

In order to qualify as a wild life restoration area the land must comply with the following specifications:

1. Submarginal.
2. At least 40 per cent now in cultivation.
3. Yield insufficient for adequate living standards.
4. Crops contributing to market surplus.
5. Under game management the soil may be restored and erosion and other destructive tendencies retarded.
6. A game crop may be produced of sufficient value to justify its allocation to game uses.
7. Such areas may in general run from 3,000 to 35,000 acres or more.

Yours very truly,
ROY MOORE.

Leader of Rodent Control, State College, Mississippi.

People who are interested in this project and know of land that might comply with the above specifications, see the County Agent for details.

News In Brief

Where turkeys are confined throughout their growth it takes about 4.2 pounds of feed to grow a pound of turkey, live weight.

Pork can be saved any day, regard less of the temperature, by a method developed by the Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. County agents can give full particulars.

A little time might be spent very profitably in an attempt to accumulate all the available information relating to the food value of milk and its products.

Three hundred pounds of corn and cob meal, 100 punds of oats or wheat bran, and 100 pounds of cottonseed meal is an excellent grain mixture for cows on pasture.

BORROWING YOUR NEIGHBOR'S TELEPHONE

By T. E. Harris, MANAGER
SOUTHERN BELL
Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Neighbors may borrow for years and remain friendly, so long as each is careful to promptly return, in full measure, that which is borrowed. But let one get careless and forget to return items borrowed; then loss of friendship is almost certain to result.

If we haven't a lawn mower, for example, and continue borrowing our neighbor's, he is soon likely to feel that he is being imposed on. And so it is when we make a practice of borrowing the use of our neighbor's telephone. Every time we do it, we are borrowing something we can't return, and soon our accommodating neighbor grows weary of the one-sided arrangement. He may not say anything to us for fear of hurting our feelings, but he is wondering, since it is apparent that we need a telephone, why we don't get one of our own. If we continue this telephone borrowing, we will probably force him to intimate that it isn't convenient to have us running in to use his telephone, or else to avoid trouble he may remove his telephone.

When people start borrowing the use of a neighbor's telephone, they don't intend to impose on him. They just don't stop to think how much they may be inconveniencing their neighbor. They apparently forget the important fact that when they borrow a telephone they assume an obligation they can't pay back, and that just won't work. But why run the risk of inconveniencing friendly neighbors and possibly losing their friendship, when you can have a telephone of your own for only a few pennies a day? Call the telephone business office and order yours now.

Nature Provides Only One NITRATE FERTILIZER

CHILEAN Natural Nitrate is the only nitrogen that comes from the ground. It is the only natural nitrate—the only nitrate with Nature's blending of vital rare elements or "impurities" so essential to good crops.

Quick-acting—safe—dependable. Chilean Natural Nitrate is the perfect side-dresser, proved by over a century of use.

There are two kinds of Chilean—Champion Brand (granulated) and Old Style. Both are the genuine original soda—the natural material. You are perfectly safe with either one. But make sure you get what you want when ordering from your dealer. It's just as easy to get what you want instead of—something else. Simply tell him—"Champion Chilean" or "Old Style Chilean", and you'll be safe.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By
Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

J. F. Easley, editor of the Ardmore (Okla.) Ardmoreite, say:

"Did you ever stop to think that newspaper advertising is one of the few media which is "invited publicly?' We do not seek the sales talks that we get on the radio. We do not ask for sign boards to almost obliterate our view of rural scenery when we are motoring. We do not ask for those circular letters which half fill our mail boxes and later find themselves in the waster basket.

"Newspaper advertising is newsy in itself. It is informatve of the business trends, inventions and styles. It is backed up with reader interest of all kinds. Personal mentions, world news and community goings-on surround the newspaper advertisement and cause it to be read. But it is not thrust upon the reader. He can peruse it or pass it by. No other medium has as yet been so effective as the printed word in the newspaper."

WHY Frank Dixon

MAJ. FRANK M. DIXON

WILL BE OUR NEXT GOVERNOR

Frank Dixon is a real disciple of President Roosevelt and was one of the original Roosevelt men in Alabama.

Frank Dixon is a REAL DEMOCRAT and will be loyal to the Democrats of Our County.

Frank Dixon WILL NOT send a man from an outside county to raise our taxes.

Frank Dixon will keep his promises. He is from Birmingham, the market place for Chilton County truck and farm products.

Dixon represents the New; Graves, the Old.

Dixon embodies the ideals, hopes and aspirations today of the great majority of the citizens, not only of this state, but of all States, for revitalized, modernized government, free from the paralyzing hand of sordid, venal politics, and dedicated to the unselfish task of lightening the back-breaking load of public debt.

Graves is the personification of the old line politician. His main concern is the dispensation of political jobs, the feeding of a hungry mob of office-seekers.

Why Bibb Graves Should Be Defeated

While Governor of Alabama, Graves sent Frank Ellis, a non-resident of Chilton County, at a large salary, here to raise our tax values and taxes.

Graves did not speak in Chilton County during the 1928 and 1930 campaigns in behalf of the Democratic Party.

When Bibb Graves brags to the farmers about how he hitched up the Big Mules during his term, he neglects to tell them how many farms were sold in Alabama for taxes during his four years of spending.

These figures, however, are of interest to the farmers, and watch how they mounted during this period of prosperity:

In 1928 the number of farms sold for taxes due Oct. 1, 1927, was 570.

In 1929 the number of farms sold for taxes due Oct. 1, 1928 was 1,089.

In 1930 the number of farms sold for taxes due Oct. 1, 1929 was 1,957.

In 1931 the number of farms sold for taxes due Oct. 1, 1930 was 3,815.

This is a grand total of 7,431 homes of Little Mules that were auctioned off for delinquent taxes.

And what about the number sold in Houston, Henry, Dale, Coffee and Geneva counties during the bumper years of the Graves administration?

In Houston there were 83.

Henry, 59.

Coffee, 108.

Geneva, 103.

Thus, in five Wiregrass counties, 394 farmers who were Little Mules were forced to lose their homes for taxes during the Graves orgy of spending. Many other farmers—probably most of them—remained perilously on the brink of bankruptcy during the years 1927-1931. And all of them were Little Mules.

And where did we get our figures? From the county courthouses. You may go there and check them.

Thomas Defends Self In Senatorial Race

To The Voters of Autauga, Chilton, and Shelby Counties:

My many friends have repeatedly called my attention to certain propaganda promulgated by my opponent, Dr. Gragg, which of course is false and unfair. Because of this, I feel constrained to reply, deny his accusations, and out of fairness to you and myself, disclose to you a few of his shortcomings; some of which I have personal knowledge; all of which I now call upon you to investigate.

The people who know me or who know of me have every reason to believe that I am not a "mud-slinger." I would rather not resort to "eleventh-hour" statements or publications. But the circumstances are such as to not only justify this answer but they even demand that this article be written.

From all that I can ascertain, the conduct of the Senatorial Campaign, with the three candidates, up to and including the First Primary, was very good as a whole. I had a part in making it such; I still believe in wholesome campaigning and fair play. But it seems that the opponent I am now facing does not; he has "jumped the track." For this reason I must use a few of his tactics; in other words "some of the same type of ammunition." But I will not borrow the "poison gas."

Up to a short time ago, Dr. Gragg was one of the Trustees of the City Schools of Clanton. When the time came to elect or re-elect professors or principals for the ensuing year, what did Dr. Gragg do? He "ducked;" in other words he did not sit with or vote with the other Trustees, and made it impossible under the existing rules for this Board to function at all. Why did he do this? Because there was a "political trade" between him and his two strong supporters in Clanton. What was the trade: That if he would help them "move" a certain principal in our School (which said Principal the almost unanimous citizenship of Clanton desired to retain, and did retain) they would help him in his "race." By his conduct in this matter he made it necessary for the School Board to rescind and rewrite their rule for electing their Principals, in order to go "around" him; he had refused to resign. It is yet a few days until election; ask the people of Clanton whether or not the above is true.

Dr. Gragg is personally and politically "dry," very "DRY." It is not consistent for him to believe in the legalization of light wines and beer. And if he is elected he will not vote for such. The people of Alabama know that this law should be changed and beer sold legally; cafes and filling stations are now selling it anyway, and of course without revenue to our State. Dr. Gragg ran on the "dry Ticket" two years, and because the issues were misrepresented or not explained to the voters, the ticket carried in Chilton County and he was nominated to go to the Convention in Montgomery. But when the Convention was called, where was he? In Mobile on a fishing trip. "DUCKED AGAIN." If Dr. Gragg can prove that he attended the Convention to which he was elected by the voters of Chilton County, I will withdraw from this race. I know that he was not there and cannot prove that he was.

Repeated paid political ads have appeared in the newspapers in which he advertises the fact that he received such a good vote in this place and that place," etc.; and that he is a good "Jackson" or "Jeffersonian" Democrat, etc.

Dr. Gragg ran for this office four years ago on the "Klux Klux" or "Polywog" ticket. Check up on the votes he received then; it was only a few, only 167 in one county. No one knew what his political affiliations were going to be in the present election until about eight months ago he began "running" for this office. He supported the Republicans in 1928; prior to then his political affiliations were always uncertain and inconsistent. It is also unknown what they will be four years from now. Would the time honored Jackson and Jefferson appreciate the phrases he uses. Dr. Gragg is not even a "Democrat".

Dr. Gragg fought the Income Tax Amendment when it was before the people for ratification. He will fight it if he is elected to the Senate. Beware of candidates who have high incomes, such as that of Dr. Gragg. He is after self-protection. There are several doctors running for the legislature at the present time. "Something is up"; "there is a negro in the woodpile somewhere."

Considerable money has been spent in Dr. Gragg's campaign for newspaper advertising, circulars, dodgers, photographs, etc. He says this is what gets a "big vote". This office only pays $4.00 per day. That would not even pay his expenses in Montgomery, to say nothing of his loss incident to his absence from Clanton and the hospital. Can you explain this? He has "something up his sleeve". Do not vote for him. He is not a farmer; nor a teacher. He is a doctor and intends to be along with the other several doctors in Montgomery if they are elected.

Yours for Better Government,

EARLE THOMAS.

After the dinner had been served was presented with a nice suit clothes, as a birthday present, in pocket of the suit a note was fo that said: "To our pastor, Rev. A. Nelson, given by the Eastview Congregational church by Silas Nelson, L. P. Rushing, J. A. Dobbs, S. P. Smith Otis Coggins, Mrs. Clara Rushing and Elva Mims." God loveth the cheerful giver.

In the afternoon Mrs. F. P. Ensmi er and two sons, John and Bill, all Birmingham drove down and prese him with a nice pocket camera as birthday present.

The day was enjoyed by all present

The pastor and family wish to expr their highest appreciation for these kind and loving favors. One may be poverty-stricken, but if he has friends he is rich. Real friends should be prized more than great riches.

The ice cream and hot dog supper last Saturday night was enjoyed by a large crowd. Herman Nelson won guest cake and Otis Traywick and M zell Kelley won the cake in the cak walk.

The Missionary play rendered by the Christian Endeavor Sunday night was very impressive, and two beautiful duets were sung by the Hull sisters. The play was followed by a missionary appeal by the pastor and an offering was taken for missions.

Mr. Osmnd Nelson is taking treatment for rabies from being bitten by a dog on Tuesday of last week.

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular meeting days, and the church will plan for the summer revival at these services. If you are interested in the revival meeting be sure to att these services.

SPEAKING AT COURT HOUSE

Mr. E. M. Vann Will Speak at 2 o'clock

Saturday, June 9th

in the Interest of Major Frank M. Dixon for Governor of Alabama.

Mr. Vann is a capable speaker and will discuss the issues before the people in a thoroughly competent manner.

Everyone Invited

The Ladies Are Especially Requested To Be Present.

(Pd. Pol. Adv. by Chilton County Dixon for Governor Club)

A STATEMENT FROM

T. L. McKEE

To The Voters Of Chilton County

Allow me to urge every voter in this county to go to the polls on June 12 and perform the highest duty of a citizen by casting the most intelligent vote for the best interest of the most people. May I also ask you to confer the greatest favor on me within your power to give by voting for me.

At this time I wish to commend both county papers for their interest in good government by aiding in keeping this campaign free of mud-slinging; and appreciate the high character of all the candidates, my opponents included, from engaging in, aiding, or abetting anything of an unpleasant nature in this campaign.

Should I receive the nomination my sincerest endeavor will be to live up to a standard that will meet the approval of the people of my county always bearing in mind the necessity of the confidence and good will of the people whom I will serve if elected in November.

T. L. McKEE.

A CHINESE GIRL STAR

Considering Bryn Mawr's high rank among the women's colleges of the country, it is rather surprising tolearn that this year's brightest junior at that institution is a Chinese girl, Miss Yung-Yuin Ting.

For attaining the highest scholastic record in her class Miss Ting has been awarded the Mara L. Eastman Brooke Hall memorial scholarship, and for standing highest in her major subject chemistry, she will receive the Charles H. Hinchman scholarship. After her graduation at Bryn Mawr next year she will enter the medical school of the University of Michigan.

Her father is Dr. Zoong Ing Ting, a leading physician of Shanghai, with whom she expects to practice after obtaining her degree of doctor of medicine. Her aunt is China's greatest woman physcian and is the head of the Women's Hospital in Tientsin.

Miss Ting is treasurer of the Bryn Mawr Atheletic Club and was last year president of the International Club. She is 5 feet tall, weighs 98 pounds, and is said to be one of the most popular girls in the college.

She is one of many bright students from the Orient who have demonstrated their ability to equal or excel their Occidental college mates in scholarship in spite of what would seem to be a serious linguistic handicap.

Plymouth Announces Reduction Of Prices

According to Geo. C. Polk, sales manager for Polk Brothers Motor Co., Plymouth announces substantial price reduction on all model Plymouth cars, amounting to as much as $45.00 on some models.

According to Mr. Polk, this reduction is made possible by Plymouth's continuous record breaking sales month after month.

By April 30th 145,909 brand new 1934 Plymouth cars were on their way to happy Plymouth owners—an increase of 177 per cent over the first four months of 1930. Latest complete registration figures show sales to retail buyers keeping well abreast of shipments. In the first quarter of 1933 Plymouth secured 13.1 per cent of total motor car sales. This was boosted to 17.4 per cent in the first quarter of 1934.

Mr. Polk states that Plymouth is America's best engineered low-priced car and that this reduction makes prices virtually identical with the very lowest priced car on the market. Their advertisement showing the amount of price reduction through the entire line will be found elsewhere in this issue.

GULF WINS MORE "HILL TESTS" THAN 32 GASOLINES COMBINED

A BORROWED FORD tests 12 competing gasolines on Muldrough Hill, near West Point, Ky., to see which gas can pull the car and 3500-lb. load farthest up hill in high gear.

Will your car have more power on any one gasoline? HERE'S YOUR ANSWER..

Gulf tested a total of 33 gasolines on famous American hills—12 hills in localities from Massachusetts to Georgia—and here is what they found...

The power of different gasolines varies widely! And of all 33 gasolines, Gulf is uniformly best. 7 out of 12 times, it propelled a car and load up mountain grades farther than any other gasoline tested!

It won more hill tests than 32 other gasolines combined! Prove it! Drive into a Gulf station, fill up, and test the power of That Good Gulf for yourself!

DRIVE IN AND TRY A TANKFUL!

Harry Hartwell Visitor In Clanton Last Mon.

—o—

Harry T. Hartwell, former mayor of Mobile—and candidate for associate member of the public service commission, was a visitor in Clanton Monday afternoon. For many years, Mr. Hartwell has been well known throughout the state for his progressiveness. While a member of the dock commission of Mobile, he contributed much tward the promotion of Alabama's seaport.

During the past few weeks, he has been receiving the endorsement of many outstanding busines leaders and newspapers over the state. Only a few days ago, Donald Comer, president of the Avondale Mills, Birmingham, enthusiastically endorsed Mr. Hartwell's candidacy.

Mr. Hartwell was accompanied by James M. Bowman who was eliminated in the recent primary, and who is now lending his support for the promotion of Mr. Hartwell's candidacy.

PLYMOUTH
Reduces Prices

If ever there was a time to "look at all three" . . . this is it. Effective today, without change in product, Plymouth announces very substantial price reductions printed in the box at the right.

Study those figures carefully. Compare them with the prices of Plymouth's two competitors.

You probably never realized that you could buy a big, luxurious Plymouth with all these advantages . . .

HYDRAULIC BRAKES — SAFETY STEEL BODIES — PATENTED FLOATING POWER

. . . at prices virtually identical with the very lowest priced car on the market.

For three years now, Plymouth has set the pace in the low priced field. Year after year Plymouth has made sensational gains. It is the only low priced car that is selling more today than ever before in the history of the company.

What's the reason for this tremendous growth? It's simply this. The challenger must be better to forge so quickly ahead . . . Plymouth is America's best engineered low-priced car. See it today. . . don't buy any low price car until you do.

FARM RECORD BOOKS
(J. W. Fant, County Agent)

—o—

Farm Record books are being furnished for the convenience of the farmers of Chilton County in keeping certain information of importance in connection with their cotton acreage control contracts. For example, a record should be kept of the amount of lint cotton on hand Janoury 1, 1934, the pounds of lint bought in 1934 not covered by contract, pounds of lint sold under contract and names of buyers, amount of lint on hand at the end of the year, and the use of rented acres. The record has very convenient forms for keeping this information needed in connection with the contracts and in addition has space for keeping other information of value to the farmer.

4-H Club members, and members of agricutural classes can render valuable service and gain considerable experience by helping their fathers keep the record.

Farmers who do not understand how to keep the book should get help from their local committeemen, 4-H Club leaders, agricultural teachers, or from a neighbor who understands how to keep it.

Every farmer in Chilton County who signed a cotton contract is urged to keep this record.

Additional books have been requested for those farmers who have not yet received a record book.

Trend Toward Longer Term Bonds To Replace Short Time Credit Noted

—o—

Washington—A definite trend toward longer-term securities to replace much of the government's large short-term debt was seen Monday in Secretary Morgenthau's offer of two issues totaling $800,000,000.

This financing operation—which may go far beyond the $800,000,000 and reach $1,320,000,000—also indicated to some observers that the administration expects increased emergency spending during the summer.

Some congressmen feel that as much as $1,000,000,000 may be needed for drouth relief. Public works outlays also are expected to be heavy.

Secretary Morgenthau offered investors two security isues—$3000,000,000 in 12 to 14-year 3 per cent bonds and $500,000,000 in five-year 2 1-8 per cent notes. In addition the Treasury reserved the right to increase the bond issue by a maximum of $520,198,100.

This would be sufficient to exchange new bonds for $174,905,500 in 1-4 of 1 per cent certificates maturing June 15, and for $345,292,600 in 2 1-8 per cent notes maturing Aug. 1.

This means that after garnering the $8000,000,000 to meet expenses of recovery the Treasury stands willing to increase the 3 per cnt bond issue by whatever amound holders of maturing certificates and notes wish to swap them for bonds.

The life of the new issues, set at 5 and 12 to 14 years, was considered as one more indication of the Treasury's trend toward longer-term securities.

Another feature of the announcement was the interest rate. The 3 per cent figure on the bond issues was the cheapest to the government since "Mellon's 3's" at $755,000,000 sale of 24-year bonds in the Fall of 1931.

In addition to the Aug. 1 maturities for which new bonds will be issued, the government must meet huge maturities during the 1935 fiscal year beginning July 1. Besides more than $1,000,000,000 in three and six-months bills already outstanding, the Treasury has obligations totaling $4,007,242,000 falling due.

Plan Now For Winter Feed For Your Cattle

(J. W. Fant, County Agent)

There is an old saying to the effect that is is impossible to starve profit into cattle.. Many of us have tried to do this during the past winter and have found how true this statement really is. With low priced beef cattle and dairy products the only economical method of feeding is to use an abundance of roughage and a limited amount of grain. All beef cattle producers and dairymen with five or more cows will find silage the most economical form of roughage t produce now that it is no longer necessary to build expensive upright silos.

From now until the middle of May is the time to plant sufficient silage to have at least two tons for every cow on your farm. Texas Seeded Ribbon Cane Sorghum is recommended as it is almost equal to corn in feeding value and you can safely figure on producing from 8 to 10 tons per acre with a favorable season. Bottom land with plenty of available moisture is recommended for this crop. Barnyard manure is excellent to use as fertilizer if available, or 300 pounds of nitrogenous fertilizer applied at the time of second cultivation can be used. Approximately one peck of seed per acre will be required if you plant in 3½ feet rows. Cultivate like corn but do not thin much as tonnage is what you need in making silage.

We will furnish you instructions for making and filling a trench silo later in the summer but you must first produce something to put in it. We want a minimum of 25 new silos in this county this fall and want you to do your part by planting the necessary sorghum now and getting several of your neighbors to do likewise.

If you need additional information I will be glad to furnish it upon request.

o-o-o

The black locust is a good tree crop for Alabama. It furnishes excellent fence posts. Its flowers aid bees to produce good honey. It is a legume and will add nitrogen to the soil.

Cows which produce two gallons of milk daily should be fed grain even on good pasture. One pound of grain to each 3½ pounds of milk will help keep up more profitable production.

Fourth Will Be Big Day In Enterprise

Plans are getting underway now for a big day at Enterprise school, eight miles south of Clanton, on July Fourth. The P.-T. A. is sponsoring the program, and barbecue, ball games, cold drinks, ice cream, etc. are on the menu.

Other interesting features will be included in the activities for the day, and everybody has an invitation to make their plans to be there without fail, as a good time is in store for all who attend.

GRAVES SPEAKING

he can always expect favorable rulings on all legal questions; and if he had the power to appoint the superintendent of education, he would likewise have 14,000 school teachers under his thumbs.

"We cannot know how Major Dixon would utilize this power if elected to the governorship of our state, but we can judge a fisherman by the bait he uses. His system is not practical anyway," the former governor stated, "for what we need now is immediate relief for Alabama. Dixon's plan offers no immediate relief. Under no circumstances can Frank Dixon put his system into operation during his term of office, because those officials he seeks to appoint have already been elected for a term of four years."

Bitterly denying charges that William Feagin will hold a responsible position in his adminstraton, the former governor termed these charges mere smoke screens. "Since the days of Adam and Eve, people have been making smokescreens with which to hide their nakedness when they find themselves exposed. In the very beginning of my campaign, I stated that when I am governor of Alabama one of my first acts will be to remove William Feagin, bag and baggage, from the state capitol. This statement still stands today.'

Reviewing his former administration, Colonel Graves pointed out that schools operated seven months a year with full pay to all the teachers and this will be true again, he said. "I believe in hitching the big mules to the wagon and letting him pull the load. During my former administration I did not put an extra cent of taxes on the poor man, nor will I increase his taxes next time." Chilton County's state school funds increased from $40,000 to $77,000 during Graves' administration, according to figures cited by him during his speech Saturday afternoon.

THORSBY INSTITUTE LIBRARY NOTES

The library had an unusual experience recently. A copy of "The Old Curiosity Shop", which had been missing for nearly two years was sent back from the Prattville High School. Principal Moore happened to notice our ascession slip in it and took the trouble to write and ask if we wanted it. The incident suggested that it might be possible to find some more of our stray volumes by means of a little advertising. So here is a list of a dozen which the library would be very glad to welcome home once more: Bacheller, Dawn; Curwood, Gold Hunters; Kingsley, Water Babies; Kipling, Soldiers Three; Longfellow's Poems (three copies); Manly, English Poetry; Tenneyson, Poetical Words; Wright, That Primter of Udello; and Weymouth's translation of the New Testament. Any information about any of them will be appreciated .

Not many new books have been given the library this year but among the few that have been received are some very good ones. They will be kept durthe vacation on the table by the window where they can be easily seen.

After this week the library will be open only in the morning from 8 to 11. The days will be the same as formerly—Tuesdays and Fridays. Books may be returned at any time. When the schoolhouse is not open they may be left in the box near the front door.

Insects

There is considerable compaint coming to me about insects of different kinds.

The cabbage worm is doing lots of damage now. This worm is easily controled if you get the poison on the cabbage before the worm eats its way into the cabbage.

Use any kind of arsenical. Arsenate of lead, arsenate of calcium, or arsenate of magnesium. Either of these poisons at the rate of 1 part arsenate, 5 parts of hydrated lime, applied as a dust will help to control the cabbage worm.

Watch for the potato beetle on the tomatoes. The same treatment given above will control this insect.

A LETTER FROM RAYMOND C. SMITH

To the Voters of the Fifteenth
Senatorial District:

The information has come to me that I have been quoted as saying that I would now support the campaign of Dr. Gragg in his race for State Senate. I have not made that statement, nor that in substance, nor anything from which such a conlcusion could logically be drawn.

I have said and here and now say, that for reasons which I consider sound and logical, I intend to vote for Earle Thomas.

When I announced in that campaign, it was done for reasons well known and approved by many of my friends. I conducted my campaign with the minimum expenditure of time and money, as was the custom for this race. I have not regretted my defeat. The votes I received are very much appreciated.

I shall always be with you for better government.

Yours very truly,
RAYMOND C. SMITH.

So The Voters May Know

When any man aspires to important public office it is only fair that matters pertaining to his personal integrity should be known to the voters whose support he seeks. Mere rumors or unsupported statements by political opponents should not be given much consideration, but when a solemn judicial decision is directed against a man by the highest court of the state, and the same is made a matter of public record. the voters are entitled to the facts.

In the case of Harry T. Hartwell, candidate for membership on the Alabama Public Service Commission, the foregoing applies with particular force. An editorial published several weeks ago in the Eufaula Tribune, and circulated throughout the state since, is republished for the information of the voters of Lauderdale county.

MORGAN CLEAN AND HONEST

(Eufaula Tribune)

The gall of this man Harry Hartwell of Mobile, who is campaigning for a place on the public service commission passeth understanding. For several years this same gent who misruled Mobile for a season has been seeking a coat of whitewash to cover his infamous record while with the Mobile Towing & Wrecking Company. A suit filed by the wrecking company, of which Hartwell was secretary and treasurer and also a director, reached the supreme court and here is what that body had to say about Hartwell:

"Hartwell's unauthorized appropriations of complainant's (Mobile Towing & Wrecking Company) money to his own uses were not loans to him by complainant in any sense of the word, but were in fact simple embezzlements."

Honest Alabamians do not want this type of man handling the duties of an important office.

The safe plan is to elect a man who has been tried, one who has fully measured up to expectations and against whose record there is no stain.

That man is Frank P. Morgan, who is seeking another term on the Public Service Commission.

The record of the case referred to above shows that the amount of money involved was approximately $58,000. The decision quoted was written by the late Judge Ormond Summerville, and concurred in by Chief Justice John C. Anderson, Associate Justice A. D. Sayre and Associate Justice Virgil Bouldin of the Supreme Court of Alabama.

CHECKS FOR LAND RENTERS ARE ARRIVING

$47,391.93 Ready For Distribution To Farmers Of Chilton County

Again the farmers of Chilton County are sharing in the generosity of their government as it attempts to render aid in overcoming the effects of the depression that left the farmers of the South in the most deplorable financial straits in the history of the nation.

Checks amounting to $47,391.93 were received this week by County Agent J. W. Fant to be distributed among more than 2,000 farmers in the county who joined in the cooperative effort of the government to reduce the cotton acreage and thus stimulate the price of the product on this fall's market. These checks, which are the first payment of the approximately $165,000 rentals due the county this year, will be distributed this week, according to the following itinerary:

Clanton, Wednesday, June 13, all day; Verbena, Thursday, June 14, all day; Thorsby, Friday a. m., June 15, 8:00-12:00; Jemison, Friday p. m., June 15, 1:00-5:00; Clanton, Saturday, June 16, all day; Maplesville, Monday a. m., June 18, 6:30-11:00; Stanton, Monday, June 18, 12:00-2:00; Pletcher, Monday p. m., June 18, 2:30-4:00; Pool's Cross Roads, Monday p. m., June 18, 4:30-5:30.

Continuing the splendid cooperation shown during the plow-up campaign of 1933, the farmers of this county rented to the government this year 17,817 acres, and contracted 43,256 acres, Mr. Fant stated. Rentals from this acreage taken out of cotton production will pay these cotton farmers approximately $165,000, it was explained, and even more provided the guranteed parity price of one cent per pound may be increased with the possible increase in the prices of the stable on the fall market.

Mr. Fant stated that $63,997.54 is now due on the first installment of the 1934 rentals and he said that he expects to receive checks bringing the amount to that figure during the next few days. A lack sum will be paid in December, he explained.

Rentals on the lands taken out of cotton production amount to approximately $110,000 and the parity gurantee of one cent per pound will amount to $56,00. One-half of this amount is beng paid now and the remainder will be paid in December, the county agent explained.

The program brought into the county little more than $150,000 during last year's campaign, records show.

Wadesonian To Give Matinees Thurs.-Fri.

In order to give the theatre-goers of Clanton and vicinity a better opportunity to see the outstanding pictures being shown at the Wadesonian Theatre, beginning this week matinees will be given on Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons. Matinees have been given only on Saturday afternoons before.

The management stated that because the schedule calls for only one showing of the pictures on Thursdays and Fridays, thus making it impossible for many patrons to see the shows on these days, it has been decided to give matinees on Thursday and Friday afternoons in order to give them an opportunity to see these shows.

Thursday's matinee will feature Dorothey Weick, Baby LeRoy, and Alice Brady in "Miss Fane's Baby is Stolen." "Bombay Mail," featuring Edmund Lowe, will be shown Friday afternoon.

Retired Hardware Merchant Urged By Friends To Announce

C. Fenn Jones, prominent retired Clanton business man who for some time has been mentioned as a prospective candidate for the office of mayor of Clanton, declared this week in a conversation with a representative of the News that he will make the race for the city office provided the people want his services in that capacity.

Declaring that he has been solicited by dozens of his friends, including many of the town's leading business men, to enter the race, Mr. Jones stated that in all liklihood he will be a candidate. "During recent months, many of my friends have been kind enough to urge me to offer my candidacy for the office of mayor of our town, and since I have no business connections which would conflict with, or prevent, me from giving my entire time to the office, I think I shall offer my services to my people in this capacity," Mr. Jones

CHARLIE GLASS IS VICTIM OF KNIFE WOUNDS

The bodies of two men lay in the parlors of Clanton funeral homes; two other men were held in jail on charges of slaying them—and tragedy hovered over four homes in Chilton County Tuesday night, as a result of two slayings that occurred within less than two hours Tuesday afternoon.

Charlie Glass, 28-year-old sawmill worker, died enroute to the Central Alabama Hospital, where he was being taken for treatment, after he had suffered several severe stabs and cuts in his mid-section during an alleged altercation with Arthur Varden over the election at Mineral Springs. Glass died at about 3:30 o'clock, which is said to have been approximately twenty minutes after he had been cut to the ground by young Varden.

Charlie Henderson, 32, met his death at the hands of his brother, William Henderson, who is said to have fired a 32 calibre bullet into his chest during

The Victory March Is On!

(AN EDITORIAL)

Chilton County and the State of Alabama have just passed through one of the most active political campaigns in years. Victories have been won, and battles have been lost, but whether our cry is a shout of victory or a wail of defeat, all of us still have work do.

So far as state officials are concerned their nomination amounts to their election, but all the people of Alabama now owe it to their state to give their very best toward helping the men we elected solve the pressing problems facing us. Taxes, schools, reorganization of various kinds, and many other things call for the best we have. Our new officials will have a right to expect our cooperation. This is not, however, a plea for blind following of any leader, but rather a plea for a wise and judicious spirit of helpfulness; and, if we must criticize, let us give that criticism the third degree of impartiality and be sure that it is constructive—not destructive.

In Chilton County we have a different story. The lines are clearly drawn, and the big drive is just beginning. Nominees of the two parties, Democratic and Republican, have been selected, but the final verdict is dated for November.

There comes times when loyalty to a cause rises paramount to our individual likes and dislikes. That time is at hand for the months between now and November. The cause is Democracy, and its victory or defeat rests in the hands of our citizenship. "United we stand, divided, we fall."

Republican spokesmen will claim that the kind of government given by the Democratic party is not good government. They will cite Judge Deason and his administration as an example, but they will not explain that we had no large sums of money coming into the county treasury from the gasoline tax then to build roads. They will not call your attention to the fact that Chilton County had no large hydro-electric plants to pour thousands of dollars annually into the tax coffers of our county at that time. Nor will they impress upon your mind that all of the commissioners during his administration were Republicans, and as such had a hand in whatever actions the county government took. High officials in the Republican party also declared in the last presidential election that "grass would grow in our city streets if Franklin D. Roosevelt should be elected."

The American people thought differently, and Republicans and Democrats alike have joyfully shared in the better times resulting from his program. Not so long ago some of our Republican friends thought democratic policies and principles could not be used to advantage in the administration of our county educational affairs, but the citizenship of Chilton County thought differently, and Luther E. Little was elected over a Republican opponent.

The News respectfully submits to the people of Chilton County of whatever political affiliations the belief and opinion that our citizens have had no reason at any time to regret the selection of these men to serve as public officials.

J. Lee Smith, candidate for Probate Judge on the Democratic ticket, has served well in public office as Mayor of Clanton. He was not elected to this place on a party ticket, but he is a Democrat of high order, and we believe that even those who oppose him on the basis of political differences will not attack his administration as Mayor as lacking in the wise and efficient discharge of his official duties.

All of which goes to show that the old order changeth, and a "New Deal" is here. The Republican party had control of national affairs from 1920 to 1932, and its leaders failed to solve the problems confronting our country. They still maintained, however, that it would be disaster to let the Democrats into power. Leaders in that same party in Chilton County still contend that it would be unwise to let Democrats have charge of county affairs. The Chilton County News, however, believes that the record of recent months will not bear out that contention, and further, that national and local Democratic officials have proven themselves to be highly competent and thoroughly efficient.

This editorial is not a bandwagon call. The parade will come later. But voters are rapidly changing the old order of things. We believe that change will be Democratic in November. We realize there must be no let-up, for the march to victory has only started. Our appeal is that all Democrats—all citizens—will lend their aid to this cause which has for its goal a better government than we have had heretofore.

BIBB GRAVES IS NEXT GOVERNOR OF ALA. WITH BIG LEAD IN STATE

Unofficial Returns Give Gragg Lead In Chilton With District For Thomas; Graves Gets Big Vote In County; McKee Wins

With almost all the boxes in late Tuesday night, the second chapter in the 1934 election in Chilton County had been written, leaving only the finis to be written in the November general election.

With only one box not heard from in the governor's race, Col. Bibb Graves led his opponent, Major Frank M. Dixon, little more than a hundred votes in Chilton County in Tuesday's election. Colonel Graves polled 860 votes, according to the unofficial returns, while Major Dixon was given 737 votes. Late returns from over the state indicated that Colonel Graves had led his opponent between twenty and twenty-five thousand votes.

Howell Turner, candidate for secretary of state, polled 684 votes, leading his opponent, Gilbert E. Davis, 145 votes in the county.

Frank P. Morgan will apparently be successful in his race to succeed himself as associate member of the Public Service Commission, according to late reports from over the state, which give him about a 4,000 lead over Harry T. Hartwell, former mayor of Mobile. Morgan received 720 votes in this county, while Hartwell polled 562.

At an early hour Wednesday morning, indications were that Earle Thomas had received the nomination for state senator from this district, composed of Chilton, Autauga, and Shelby counties. An unofficial count furnished by Mr. Thomas from the three counties gave him a lead of little more than a hundred with only three or four small boxes not heard from. The unofficial vote, according to latest figures available, was: Chilton, Dr. Gragg 865; Thomas 669; Shelby, Dr. Gragg 1,642; Thomas 1,936; Autauga, Thomas 855, Dr. Gragg 869.

T. L. McKee is the Democratic nominee for tax collector, having defeated Newton A. Popwell by a substantial vote. McKee led Popwell by a vote of of 869 to 535. The entire vote in the Democratic Party was much lighter than in the May 1 primary.

In the Republican ranks, J. Z. Mims defeated Judge L. H. Reynolds for re-election to the office of Judge of Probate by 179 votes, according to the unofficial count. Mr. Mims polled a vote of 1,478 against Judge Reynold's vote of 1,299. Judge Reynolds has been judge of probate for more than twenty years, never suffering defeat at the hands of his own party before.

H. A. Harris led Grover C. Bice in the race for the nomination to the office of circuit clerk. Mr. Harris polled 1,517 votes, against 1,217 for Bice.

Rep. Percy M. Pitts defeated W. L. Sanders in his race for nominee for re-election when he received 1,482 votes, while Sanders polled 1,201.

W. T. Bean was given the nomination for county superintendent of education, defeating J. E. Daniel by little more than 100 votes. D. S. Robinson chalked up a 26 vote victory over his opponent, J. L. Smith, in their race for member of the county board of education.

Commissioner J. E. Cobb was defeated in his race for re-election by J. P. Bean. Bean received 110 more votes than Mr. Cobb. A. J. Davis received the Republican nomination for commissioner from the Second District, defeating Perry Gore. Davis polled 1,703 votes against Gore's 986.

Rains May Prevent Distribution Of Cows

Recent rainfall in the Northwest, where numerous herds of cattle have been starving because of a lack of water and pasture, may forestall the contemplated shipping of several carloads of these cattl into Alabama and other Southern states for relief purposes, according to information received by Thad Holt, state director of Alabama Relief Administration, Monday.

Plans were underway for the shipment of approximately 70,000 head of cattle into Alabama to be distributed among relief families, but since the recent rains will perhaps afford the much-needed water and pasture, Mr. Holt issued a statement, according to a news article in the daily press, to the effect that this transfer may be forestalled for the present at least.

Chilton County administration had made application for 275 milch cows for families on the county relief rolls, but early Wednesday no additional information had been received by this office in regard to the probability of favorable action on the application.

FISHERMEN WILL ENJOY RODEO SOON

Sixth Deep Sea Rodeo Will Contain Thrills Galore For Three Days

A corps of 50 "salesmen" have set out to sell Alabama's sixth annual deep sea fishing rodeo to the city of Mobile before calling upon other cities to participate in the big fishing contest.

Under the guidance of Harry Crawford, Mobile business man, 13 teams have been dispatched to raise $2,000 in Mobile through the sale of rodeo memberships which will go to defray the expenses of advertising the rodeo to the outside world.

A part of the broad advertising program will be the mailing of 10,000 rodeo folders describing by word and picture the great sport in store for American anglers on Aug. 27, 28 and 29 in the gulf waters surrounding Dauphin Island, which is 30 miles southwest of Mobile.

L. G. Adams, president of the rodeo association, said that, other than the new finance committee, the rodeo would function under the same committee chairmen as in the past. He reported numerous parties already have made boat reservation, both at Bayou

Code Of Fair Competition

Newspaper publishers and printers of the United States are now under authority of the Graphic Arts Code, wherein prices for printing service are fixed for each state. Adherence to these prices is compulsory, and the printing concern ignoring or violating the code provisions is liable to punishment at the hands of the law.

Within the past year we have seen practically all phases of commercial and industrial activities placed under one or another of the various codes, and we have seen the prices of all necessities of life advance sharply with the increase in wages. For many months newspaper publishers and printers have cheerfully conformed to NRA wage scales and shorter hours, but until recently had not benefited by any arrangement for advance in the prices of their products.

What the ultimate effects of increased prices will be can only be conjectured. However, it is believed that those purchasing printed matter are on the whole as fair-minded and as liberal as other purchasers, and that while it may be that some of these may find it necessary to curtail their customary allotment of printed matter from time to time, the new scale of printer's prices will quickly be accepted as on an equality with the provisions of all other codes of fair competiton, and the printing industry will be in position to carry on its part of the recovery program without going into the "red."—Andalusia Star.

The Guarantee Of Democracy

"The freedom of the press is the sole hope of freedom for the people. A dictatorship cannot endure a free press, for with one it cannot maintain itself continuously. A dictatorship—be it Communist, Facist, or Nazi—always puts the press under its heel. Then the people know nothing because they can hear only what the dictator chooses to let them. A free press is the sole guarante of a free democracy."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Flag 157 Years Old

Flag Day, on June 14, commemorates the anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as the national emblem, by an act of Congress 157 years ago.

During the Revolutionary War a number of unofficial flags of various designs appeared among the regiments of the Continental Army. A flag adopted in 1775 had 13 alternate red and white stripes, representinng the 13 colonies, but carried the British crosses of St. George and St. Andrew in a blue canton, to indicate that allegiance to the King had not been renounced. Even after the Declaration of Independence in 1776 this flag was displayed by forts and ships for several months.

But on June 14, 1777, Congress offically adopted a new flag, in the following resolution:

"Resolved that the flag of the 13 United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be 13 stars white in a blue field, representing a new constellaton."

When Vermon and Kentucky were admitted to the Union two stripes were added to the flag, making 15. But it was seen that the addition of a stripe for each new state would spoil the symmetry of the flag, so in 1818 Congress provided that in future there should be only the original 13 stripes, but that a star should be added for each new state.

The pretty tradition that Betsy Ross made the first flag according to a design suggested by Washington has been popularly accepted, but historians doubt its authenticity.

Since its establishment in 1896, the observance of Flag Day has become widespread, and is the occasion for patriotic exercises, in which reverence for the flag and all it stands for its inculcated. The Order of Elks has adopted a most inspiring ritual for its Flag Day ceremonies.

Farm Insurance For The Future

"The good cooperator accomplishes more by his action than by endless talking about cooperation," says the Washcoegg, a cooperative publication.

There's a valuable thought in that for many farmers. One of the great obstacles faced by the cooperatives has been lack of aggressive support on the part of members. It isn't enough to pay one's dues and glance over the bulletins the organization sends out, and attend an occasional district meeting. The cooperatives that have really made headway during these past difficult years are those whose members, by and large, have worked for and with them, and have labored constantly to bring in new recruits to the cause. Passive support is almost as bad as no support at all.

This year cooperative leaders feel that the black clouds are breaking at last. They are working intensively in an effort to improve prices and markets, and to educate the publice in understanding cooperative ideals and motives. They are wrestling with great problems—tariffs, monetary standards, federa lfarm legislation, international exchange— that greatly affect the farmer's earning capacity. The success they achieve will be largely measured by the support of their members. ,

The farmer who throws his full weight behind his cooperative is doing his part to secure a stable and prosperous future.

Neighborly Spirit

The Watchman, published in Greensboro, Ala., has in its columns a card of thanks from citizens whose crops and farm animals had been destroyed by a severe storm. It seems that the neighbors, after viewing the damage, brought their work teams and farm machinery and replanted the crops destroyed. They then replanted the crops of the negroes in the neighborhood, ruined by the same storm.

That kind of thing is really much more common than is supposed. It seldom, however, gets into the newspapers. Farming folk are proverbially good neighbors and are always ready to help one another in time of need. This is true also in urban centers. The poor are regularly kindly to the poorer and share their meager food supplies with those nearer starvation.

We hear much of crime and the cruelty of man to man. But the great mass of humanity are filled with the milk of human kindness and have written in their hearts the law that we should bear one another's burdens. —Dallas (Texas) News.

Century Of Progress

The innumerable labor troubles of the day make dismal reading. Now and then, however, it is instructive to compare them with the labor troubles of a century ago. The following story, printed in the London Times of May 2, 1834, makes interesting reading:

"So great is the prevalence of the spirit promulgated by the unions as to wages that all classes appear to be actuated by a spirit of opposition to their employers. Even the washerwomen have not escaped the system.

"No fewer than 70 of this useful class of females struck at Kensington for higher wages. It appears that 2 shillings, 6 pence per diem and two half-pints of beer has been the regular scale of wages, but a revolt was agreed upon and the price to be demanded fixed at 3 shillings per diem and the usual beer allowance.

"After a considerable time had been occupied in parleying, the washerwomen gained their point, and after taking copious libations of gin returned the following day to their tubs as usual."

That little story presents a striking picture of the labor movement a century ago. The improvement since then is too obivious to need comment.—Pensacola Journal.

Three-Hundred-Fifteen Thousand People Killed

Between now and 1940, 190,000 people will be killed in automobile accidents.

The total of fatalities for the entire decade that began with 1930 will be 315,000, and the injury record will touch 10,000,000. The fatalites will be greater than the total of the soldiers killed in battle in the entire history of this country—and will surpass the battle casualties of the A. E. F. soldiers wounded non-fatally in action.

That is what it is estimated will occur if the automoble accident record during the next six years follows the experience of the past four. As a matter of fact, there is an excellent chance that the number of fatalities and injuries will be greater still—the accident curve is tendng upward, largely because of increased driving speeds.

There is one way in which this ghasty forecast can be proven wrong. That is by an aggressive campaign on the part of responsible motorists to modernize and strengthen traffic laws, eliminate cars which are defective in brakes, lights, steering and other essential parts, and to pass legislation which enforces adequate examination for drivers So long as the lives and property of all other motorists are in constant danger.

Mining Outlook Bright

Hre's an encouraging paragraph, taken from the Mining Review of Salt Lake City: "Increasing activity in the metal mining industry, augmented by $35 gold, and a more favorable outlook for the other metals, is the gladsome refrain now growing in volume and strength from all sections of the West. A recent survey among more than four thousand companies from Arizona to the Canadian border gives defnite evidence of a return to activity . . . . Assayers are busy again, old mills are turning wheels that haven't moved in more than three years and many new ore treating plants are c ontemplated, smelter receipts show a substantial increase in ore shipments, and equipment and supply houses are awakenng, after a long nap, to realize that there is growing interest in their merchandise."

Workers, farmers, storekeepers, professional men, industrialists of all kinds, will smile happily on reading that. It means thousands of potential jobs a vast jump in Western purchasing power, a tremendous field for selling services and commodties of every kind and shape—from legal knowledge to groceries. And it likewise means revived tax income for government.

The outlooke for mining is better than it has been for many years. That, in turn, considerably improves the outlook for recovery in general.

DEVELOPMENT OF MANUAL SKILL IMPORTANT MATTER

Simple amusements possible through the development of manual skill are of as much importance to the human race as preventative medicine and even the food we eat in the opinion of Anna Roosevelt Dall, daughter of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

She makes this assertion in an article appearing in the May issue of "The Guildsman", official magazine of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild. The message was inspired by an exhibition of model Napoleonic coaches that have won university scholarships for their builders in the annual competitions sponsored by the educational foundation.

"As I watch young people engaged in making creative things with their hands, I am always impressed with the actual fun they get," she declares. "The fun is not confined to the process of making these objects, but is amplified by the sense of accomplishment any one experiences when he has completed some self-appointed task.

"In my opinion, fun is as important for all of us as the more pedantic vitamins, calories, and innoculations about which we have become so serious.

"Handicrafts of all kinds are a wonderful balance for children in this age of rush and excitement. A person who cannot sit still for 10 minutes under any pretext has little chance to develop the necessary qualities of concentration and inner resourcefulness which contribute to a successful adult life."

Mrs. Dall speaks with regret concerning the fact that such a large proportion of the adult population is unable to obtain the satisfaction of constructing things with their own hands, due to a lack of instruction in the various forms of craftsmanship.

"It's fascinating to note the growth of handicraft in the school curriculum today," she states. "So many of my generation of children, who didn't have a natural talent for some form of handicraft, never had the satisfaction of creating things with their own hands and minds.

"Who can tell—with the expansion and stressing of handicrafts in our schools and homes, maybe the neurologists of the next generation won't have a chance to come into their own!"

The magazine also contains a message from Daniel C. Beard, honorary president of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild and national Boy Scout commissioner.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

Edward E. Brodie, Publisher of the Oregon City (Ore.) Enterprise, says:

"The merchant who consistently carries on in the columns of his newspaper is the merchant who stays in business.

"The merchant who, in times of depression, cuts his advertising appropriation first of all is in the worst possible position to take advantage of restoration.

"The wise merchant is he does not permit the buying public to forget him.

"The period of quiet business is the period when the careful buyers—the women—read advertising and follow it!

"But there are merchants who will not advertise when it rains.

"There are others who are discouraged over a snow fall.

"And there are some who are just naturally timid and who will always be in the 2x4 business class.

"The opportunity for individualism in business has not left us.

"The cross-road town, where people pass but do not stop, is the place for stagnant business."

That pessimism is the word some merchants have been living on. They can't make expenses on that word. Now is the time to be an optimist and improve business by advertising.

Advertising helps to make a successful business.

Some concerns have thought they could do a big business without advertising—but they didn't.

You will never have the public wearing a beaten path to your place of business until you persistently and consistently advertise.

Advertising speeds up sales.

Advertising gives prominence to your business and quickens the interest of shoppers.

In these modern days when people contemplate buying anything, they look at the ads to see where to buy.

The public knows that consistent advertisers take pride in the fact that at all times their prices represent REAL savings.

You can go to the stores of the consistent advertisers at any time with the assurance that you will be charged reasonable prices and still purchase quality and service of a high degree.

THE ROGERS RAILROAD

Will Rogers is known the world over as a comedian, but few know that he was once a railroad magnate. A story to that effect is told, however, and for all we know it may be true.

It is said that in the early days of Claremore, Will's home town in Oklahoma, that flourishing village was five miles from a railroad. Will and his brothers built a branch railroad to connect Claremore with the main line, also got up some nifty letterheads, on which the names of the brothers were listed as high officials of the road. They also had some good-looking courtesy passes printed, which they freely exchanged with officials of other railroads. By this means they were enabled to do quite a bit of traveling wthout transportation expense.

When one inquisitive railroad president took it upon himself to investigate the status of the Rogers line, and found that it was only five miles long, he wrote to protest that it was not fair to exchange passes with such an insignificant road.

Will Rogers replied by admitting that the Rogers line was not very long in length, but that was "as wide as anybody's old railroad."

A NOBLE REQUEST

Another fine example of the growing tendency toward benevolence on the part of wealthy men is seen in the will of the late S. Davies Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line Railway and official in numerous other large enterprises.

Mr. Warfield left his residuary estate, estimated to be between five and ten million dollars, for the founding of a home for dependent aged women. It will be called "Anna Emory Warfield Home," in memory of his mother.

Beginning as a clerk, Mr. Warfield rose to high eminence in the industrial and banking world. He was one of the leaders in the amazing development which has taken place in the South during the last two decades. His high characted and humanitarian impulses may be judged by the noble bequest he made for the care of unfortunate aged women.

The home which has beneficence will establish will stand as a monument to his useful life and as a memorial to the devoted mother who gave him birth.

HUETT FAMIL REUNION WAS HELD LAST SUNDAY, JUNE 10TH

The annual family reunion was held at the home of C. B. Huett, of Enterprise community, last Sunday, June 10th. Half a hundred children, grandchildren and other relatives and close friends gathered at the old country home early in the day, and enjoyed festivities of different kinds until past the middle of the afternoon.

At noon a large table underneath a large mulberry tree in the yard was loaded with an abundance of the finest grub imaginable, and in a few minutes was unloaded by the host of hungry men and women and children gathered about it. The rest of the day was spent in conversation and the activities usually indulged in on such occasions.

All of the children of Mr. and Mrs Huett were present, including a daughter from Birmingham, and a daughter and son from Montgomery. A complete list of those present follows:

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Huett; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cagle, of Mitchell Dam; Mr and Mrs. F. J. Huett and children, Judson, Forestt, Marjorie, Delores, Estelle and Norma, of Montgomery; Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Eiland and children, Ruby, Oscar, Jr., Hubert and Herbert, of Montgomery; Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Huett and children, Willis, Dawson and Willie Mae, of Cooper; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Patterson and children, Arthur, Jr., Clarice, Charles, Jimmie Mae and Dewey Ann, of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Morris and children, Virgil, Mabel, Amos, and Harold, of Verbena; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Billingsley and daughter, Edna, of Enterprise; Marvin Huett, of Clanton; Mrs. A. D. Huett and daughter, Lorene, of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Wyatt and daughter, Inez, of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Boockholdt and grandson, Joe Earl Williams, of Enterprise; Mrs. N. D. Dees and granddaughters, Mable and Havana, of Sylacauga; Mrs. Jim Patterson, of Verbena; Mrs. G. J. Swanson, of Kansas City, Mo.

All of the family were present except Ethel Cagle of Mitchell Dam; Rudolph Eiland of Montgomery, and Mr. and Mrs. Grady Jones of Syacauga.

In the afternoon pictures were taken of the entire gathering. One picture was made of members of the family representing four generations. They were: Mrs. Julia Huett, Mrs. Bell Cagle, Mrs. Alphia Wyatt and Eugenia Inez Wyatt.

Lower Prices Will Increase Chev. Sales

Increased automotive sales, prolonging factory employment and proving a potent factor in the national recovery program, are expected by W. E. Holler, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, as a result of the price reduction now in effect on all Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks.

The reduction, announced June 1, and effective the followng day, not only brings all Chevrolet trucks and Chevrolet Master knee-action models to the lowest prices since the introduction of the 1934 line, but applies also to the new Standard passenger cars formally introduced on June 2 at 62 General Motors exhibits throughout the country. These models were already the lowest-priced cars of six or more cylinders on the market.

No changes whatever, Mr. Holler pointed out, have been made either in the puroduct or in the equipment included in its price. The reduction reflects Chevrolet's success in reaching high-volume production with its 1934 line, and maintaining it consistently by reason of a strong public demand. It is also, a frank bid for continuation of that demand.

"The immediate effect of the price reduction," Mr. Holler said, "will naturally be the stimulation of retail sales which are already at a high peak. This follows as a natural sequence to the fact that Chevrolet performance, economy, comfort, dependability and safety are now obtainable at the lowest outlay since the new cars came out. Thousands of prospective buyers, we confidently believe, will take advantage of this opportunity.

"Soon the result will make itself felt over a very broad front. It will not only stimulate business in the local community where each sale is made, but, in the aggregate, will help to maintain factory employment at a high level, benefiting thousands, in factory, field and mine, from which raw materials come, as well as the very large number directly engaged in building cars.' '

CLANTON BASEBALL TEAM WINS FIRST TWO GAMES

The Clanton Baseball Club of 1934 has been organized, with Marvin Marcus as manager. Several good baseball players are on the roster, and prospects for a winning team are good.

Manager Marcus has stated that the baseball fans in Clanton may look forward to a game at Clanton every Thursday afternoon this summer, and, if possible, every Saturday afternoon. He will arrange for all of the games the team plays away from home to be on other days.

Clanton-Prattville

Clanton opened the season last Thursday afternoon against Prattville, defeating them 7 to 0. Both teams banged out 8 hits each, but Watkins bore down in the pinches, and backed perfectly afield, never allowed a man to reach third base. Clanton's 8 hits included 3 doubles, one each by Simms, Hayes and Eubanks. Eubanks led the Clanton attack with a double and a single, and Mayo led for Prattville with three singles.

Clanton-Jemison

On Saturday afternoon Clanton conquered Jemison, 8 to 2. Langston, a youngster, was on the mound for Jemison, giving a creditable performance, but received rotten support. Beasley, a new comer, pitched for Clanton, and although a bit wild at first, settled down to pitch a good game. In this game Hayes and Blood led with the stick for Clanton with three hits each, one of Hayes' being a double.

Shavings Lead As Nesting Material

Shavings in the nests, straw on the floor, and wire netting over the dropping boards—such materials and equipment lead to the production of clean eggs.

These are the results of tests at Cornell University, as reported by H. R. Baily, extension specialist in poultry husbandry for the Alabama Polytechnc Institute.

Under such conditions only 23 per cent of the eggs produced were dirty. When straw was used for nesting material in place of shavings the proportion of dirty eggs rose to 49 per cent. When no nesting material was used, the percentage of dirty eggs was 77.

Consumers want eggs that are free from stain and dirt, but they do not want washed eggs. Washing not only takes time; it also removes the protecting "bloom," which detracts from the appearance of the egg.

It was found that one nest is required for each five birds in the house. Gathering two or three times each day was recommended by the investigators.

Chestnut Grove News

We are glad to state that the health is very good here at present.

Brother A. B. Canant of Wilton preached a good sermon here Sunday. His subject "Resist Temptation and Satan Will Flee from You." If we would all resist temptation we would have a fine place to live here in this world.

Miss Nina Mae Haywood of Ensley spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Margaret Nabors.

Mr. W. J. Langston of Center Hill is spending a few days with his daughter, Mrs. J. R. Hall.

Mr. J. R. Hall was in Montevallo Saturday afternoon on business.

We will hold a few days meeting here in the near future. We have not set the date yet, so let's all work to that point. We can all attend a few days meeting if we will only try. So, let us do good and get good.

Texas Lady Tells How Black-Draught Laxative Helps All Her Family

Here's how Black-Draught fills the needs of a family laxative in the home of Mrs. J. S. Stoker, Fort Worth, Texas: "The grown-ups in my family," she writes, "have always taken powdered Thedford's Black-Draught for biliousness, headaches and other ailments (due to constipation) and found it a reliable remedy. I was very pleased when I saw Syrup of Black-Draught advertised. I bought it and gave it to my little daughters, ages 6 and 4. They needed something to cleanse their systems and Syrup of Black-Draught acted well." . . . Your druggist sells this reliable laxative in both forms. "Children like the Syrup."

"DOUGH BOY DOUGH"

When you have a puncture or blowout you know, from experience, that running on the flat will ruin the casing.
Dou you realize that cuts and breaks in a casing will shorten its life almost as much as running flat, unless they are attended to at once?
When cuts from glass, stones, nails, and other causes make a small or large hole in your casings two thing occur—the holes become larger due to the pressure from the air inflation and water and dirt accumulate in the holes and rot, cut and deteriorate both the rubber and the cord fabric with the result that your casings only give you about half the mileage you should get.

Get More Tire Mileage With "DOUGH BOY DOUGH"

It is forced into cuts and holes in your casing with a "Dough Boy Dough" gun, under high pressure and immediately becomes an intregal part of the casing. It only takes a short time to fill all the cuts in your casings and you may drive away in a few minutes after the application with the assurance that many miles have been added to the life of your tires.
Positively successful whether the cut is slight or clear through the casing. Only authorized Bowes "Seal Fast" dealers are equipped with the Dough Boy Dough gun without which successful application of the self vulcanizing rubber compound is impossible.
Give your tires a chance to give you the mileage that was built into them—keep them properly inflated and have your dealer keep the cuts and holes filled with Dough Boy Dough.

Policeman Loses 62 Pounds Of Fat

Mr. J. W. Frost writes: "I've used 7 bottles of Kruschen and reduced from 272 to 210 lbs. with no ill effects whatever. In fact I feel much better than I have for some years. As a police officer I recommend Kruschen to brother officers to keep in regulation weight and health."

Kruschen is the safe, healthy, sensible way to lose unhealthy, surplus fat —simply take a half teaspoonful every morning in a glas of warm water—you'll feel so good—so energetic. You'll gain in strength and ambition—you feel years younger and look it. By reducing excess fat you'll be apt to live years longer.

One bottle lasts 4 weeks. You can get Kruschen Salts at any drug store in the world.

Mims, Miss Orea Hull, Miss Getalene Mims, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Rushing, Reuben and Doris Rushing, Glennis Rushing, Miss Elnora Hull, Otis Coggins, J. A. Dobbs, Miss Elizabeth Arant, Barney Hull, Ramon Cox, Ray Arant, John Bryant, Mrs. Elva Mims, Mrs. Zora Dobbs, Mozelle Dobbs, Harlon Dobbs, Mrs. Carnelia Coggins, James Coggins, Grady Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Nelson, Kermit Gray, Lee Nelson, Miss Marie Cox, Silas Nelson, Miss Emily Jones, Lewis Bankston, and Gettie Mae Dennis. She was presented with a beautiful dress by the Ladies Aid Society, and one by Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Williamson of the Mt. Springs church. She also received several other gifts. Several beautiful cakes were brought by the ladies of the community and after playing some interesting games cake and lemonade were served.

Mrs. Nelson wishes to express her highest appreciation for this friendship.

The services at church were well attended Sunday and Sunday night. One addition was made to the church at the night service.

Mrs. Maggie Pitts of Atlanta is visiting relatives here.

Miss Emily Jones was the Sunday dinner guest of Miss Maudie Ree Traywick.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Nelson had for their Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nelson.

The Christian Endeavor is planning to give the Mt. Spring Endeavor society a visit next Sunday night and put on a Missonary play, and there will be no service at the church here Sunday night.

Mrs. Sallie Strength had for her Sunday dinner guest Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Rushing, Mrs. Clara Rushing and family, Mrs. Maggie Pitts, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Coggins and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gulledge.

The Ladies Aid voted Saturday to give $10 out of their treasury to Missions. This makes a total of $20 given by them this year to Missions. They have heard the call "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel." They are making a beautiful quilt which they will give to our college at Wadley, Ala.

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Nelson were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dobbs.

Our Sunday school is beginning to grow again, but we need more father and mothers to attend and bring their children. Let your light so shine that the world may see your good works and glorify your father which is in heaven.

Liberty Hill News

The singing society of this place met Sunday afternoon. A large crowd was present and we had good singing. We had several visitors and invite them to come again.

The directors for the afternoon were Hiram Littlejohn, Fonzie Coe, Amie Boswell, Johnnie Miner, Vester Miller, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Powell, Mr. Culp, Houston Melton, Leonard Culp, Chester Wyatt, Gresham Lowery. The Liberty Hill Quartet sang several songs which were enjoyed by all. The mixed quartet from Pleasant Grove sang one song, which was enjoyed.

Pianists for the afternoon were Miss Olene Mims, Mrs. Zella Scott and Amie Boswell.

We had the best singing we've had for a long time. We want the singers to come back and help us, for we need your help. Remember, our singing society meets every second Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. All visitors and lovers of music are cordially invited.

Kept Taking Cardui Until She Got Rid of the Severe Pains

When Mrs. Ida Hege, of Edinburg, Ind., was in a painful, run-down condition, she took Cardui, with the results she describes below: "I had just been what one might say dragging around, feeling miserable and all out of sorts. I remembered how Cardui helped my aunt. I sent for six bottles of Cardui and when I had taken them, I was much better and stronger. I did not suffer so much pain. I continued taking Cardui until I had taken nine bottles. I do not have the severe pains." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Johnson-Grant Wedding Solemnized 7th

The marriage of Prof. Robert B. Johnson of Jemison to Miss Bertie Grant of Coopers, at Chestnut Creek Baptist church, Thursday night, June 7, was of unusual interest, because of the prominence of the two young people. The arrangements for the nuptial rites were very cartfully and artistically made.

The large altar was centered with an embankment of ferns, topped with twenty-one lighted candles. Mrs. Percy Pitts of Clanton took her place at the piano, and promptly at 8:00 o'clock produced the accompaniment for Mr. Pitts to sing "Roses" and "All For You." The ushers, Philip Nelson and Grady Miner, carried out their parts very fittingly. First flower girl was a sister of the bride, Miss Marjorie Grant, who carried a pretty bouquet of white lilies. The second was little Miss Louise Grant, niece of the bride, who strewed rose petals in the path. By this time the minister, the Rev. Ellisor, of Verbena, had entered from the rear and occupied his stand in the center of the altar.

The bride, dressed in lovely white net, entered on the arm of her brother, Lee Grant, who gave her in marriage. The groom entered with his brother, Mr. Jack Johnson. The Rev Ellisor very impressively administered the sacred rites, using the ring ceremony, and dismissed the gathering with prayer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther T. Grant of Coopers, and has been teaching in Chilton County for the past two years. Mr. Johnson is also a teacher of prominence, having been principal of some of the leading junior high schools of the county.

After a brief wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will make their home at Jemison. During the summer they will be attending college in Birmingham.

Chilton Veterans Set For Big Day Friday, 22

To The Ex-Service Men of Chilton County:

At the last meeting of the Chilton County Post No. 6 a committee was appointed to make arrangements to have a chicken barbecue on some future date and the committee was authorized to secure a speaker to discuss Veteran's Legislation in all of its phases pertaining to, especially, the new change in the laws affecting ex-service men's compensation and benefits.

As chairman of this committee, I have received a reply of my letter from Major W. M. Wesson, our State Service Commissioner, stating that he will be with us on this occasion on Friday, 22nd day of June.

While the Chilton County Post No. 6, is sponsoring this meeting every ex-service man, regardless of whether he is a member of the American Legion or not, is cordially invited to meet with us at Gore's Pond on Lock 12 road about two and one-half miles east of Clanton at five p.m. The only requirements and expenses will be that each man is requested, either on Thursday, June 21, or up until two p.m. on Friday 22, to deliver one dressd, frying size chicken at Wades Ice Plant in the town of Clanton. At this time, getting a receipt for your chicken at the ice plant and this will be your admission to partake of that and other good eats that will be furnished after the speaking. We have decided that this will be purely a stag affair and earnestly hope that all of the ex-service men will be present on this occasion.

The chickens will be taken from Wade's Ice Plant at two p.m. on the date of the meeting, Friday 22nd day of this month out to the pond and barbecued.

This is a wonderful opportunity not only to get first hand information pertaining to the legal rights of all World War Veterans, but it is also, a wonderful opportunity to learn and know one another as buddies. It is the committee's sincere desire that every ex-service man appoint himself as a committee of one to see that every ex-service man is advised of this occasion and avail himself of the opportunity to enjoy the good time in store for us.

Talk it up, buddies, in your community and meet us at five p.m. at Gore's Pond on Lock 12 highway. Remember the date.

Respectfully yours,
PERCY M. PITTS,
Chairman of Committee.

SINGING AT CENTER HILL

There will be an all-day singing at Center Hill, two miles west of Jemison, on the fourth Sunday in June. All singers and lovers of music are invited to come and spend the day with us. Bring your 1934 books and lunch, and spend the day with us.

FATHER OF MISS JENKINS DIED

A telegram was received here Thursday from Miss Helen C. Jenkins from LaGrange, Ga., announcing the death of her father, Dr. Frank E. Jenkins. For almost half a century Dr. Jenkins has been actively and prominently identified with the religious and the educational work of his church, the Congregational, in the Southeast. He was for a time pastor of a church at Decatur, Ala. While pastor for several years of Central Church, Atlanta, he became much interested in the organization of what is now well known as Piedmont college and later he served that college for many years as its president. He was active in the organization of Atlanta Theological Seminary, and was for many years president of its Board of Trustees. For twenty-five years he has been president of the Board of Trustees of Thorsby Institute. His last visit to Thorsby was to attend the funeral of Rev. Joseph E. Each, who was vice-president of the same board.

Dr. Jenkins death leaves the board without either a president or vice-president. (Rev. J. W. Jones is vice-president elect). Dr. Jenkins has devoted himself recently to work in behalf of two educational institutions, one at Wadley, Ala., and one at Bowden, Ga. To Dr. Jenkins whole-hearted devotion to his work may be attributed his death. He died "in the harness." He would have preferred it so. If he had been content to quit work five years ago when he was seventy-five he might easily have lived to be ninety, but he preferred five years of hard work to fifteen years in an arm chair. Thousands rise up to call him blessed.

He was buried in LaGrange, Ga., last Friday afternoon. Many ministers had a part in the burial service, among them President Newell of Piedmont College, Dr. Ensminger of Birmingham, and Mr. Butler of Thorsby. Mr. M. J. Soberg and Mr. H. R. Maddox of Thorsby attended the services.

Dr. Jenkins was in his eightieth year. He leaves surviving his wife and his only child, Miss Helen C. Jenkins, principal of Thorsby Institute. Miss Jenkins' many Thorsby friends extend to her their sympathy.

Mr. Cecil Each of Birmingham spent Sunday in Thorsby.

Mrs. E. W. Butler and Dorothy, and Miss Lois Leech are occupying the Boys' Dormitory during the summer months.

Miss Elizabeth Butler returned to her home in Montgomery last Thursday after spending several days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Butler.

Mrs. Lena Love and daughter, Christine, left Friday for Red Springs, North Carolina, to join Mr. Love.

Mr. Ed Simms of Atlanta, Ga., spent the week end in Thorsby with his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Coleman left Monday for their home in Gary, Ind., after spending ten days with Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hanson. Misses Edith and Esther Johnson went home with them to spend several weeks visiting relatives and friends, and attending the World's Fair.

Mrs. C. R. Foss, Edith and Ruth, Mrs. A. E. Reagan, Mrs. Carl Peterson spent Friday in Calera.

Mrs. J. H. Bean and Mrs. F. E. Davenport and children spent Tuesday with Mrs. Cecil Cleckler.

Mr. and Mrs. Rascoe Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Hayes and daughter, Mr. Alex Maddox, Hazel and S. E. Maddox, and Cecil Each had Sunday dinner with Mrs. Elizabeth Merchant.

Mr. and Mrs. Manly Thigpen of Clanton spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Edwards.

Mr. George Nix of Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga., arrived in Thorsby early Sunday morning due to the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Jim Nix, who passed away early Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Robinson of Hartselle spent Tuesday at home with Mrs. A. P. Villadsen.

Mrs. Herbert Peterson and daughter, Imogene, returned to their home in Sheffield after a two week visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Goodgame and other relatives in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bialas and children of Birmingham called on Mrs. J. H. Goddard Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mack Gray of Montgomery is visiting Mrs. R. R. Franklin.

The Thorsby Ladies' Aid is making improvements on the grounds of the Thorsby Congregational church.

500 TVA Refrigerators Sold In Two Days

Birmingham, Ala., June 8—After being granted the right to sell Electric Home and Farm Authority appliances because its rates were found by TVA to be "reasonable enough to make the use of the appliances feasible for the family of modest income," Alabama Power Company today announced that it had sold its available supply of 500 TVA model refrigerators within two days.

The Company began selling the refrigerators, which are priced at $79.75, and may be financed at low terms on the EHFA finance plan, on June 6th. These TVA model appliances may be sold only in communities where electric rates are sufficiently low as to have won the approval of the Tennessee Valley Authority. The rates of Alabama Power Company have been granted this official approval, and the appliances may be sold by it, or other dealers authorized by EHFA anywhere in Alabama where the Company provides retail electric service.

Ranges and water heaters will be sold in the same way and the rapid movement of the refrigerators indicates that the low cost and easy terms of these EHFA appliances, along with the low state-wide promotional rates of Alabama Power Company, will result in the electrification of many homes in the state not heretofore enjoying electric service.

The Dollar Store reports an unusual increase in the sale of dreses during recent months. This store specializes in a complete line of dresses and now have on hand an assorted line of summer materials.

Gulf Assures Protection For Oil-Heated Homes

Facilities Provided for Prompt Fuel Deliveries Even In Sub-Zero Weather

Home-owners can face another winter of frigid temperatures without the slightest worry as to their fuel supply, announces R. M. Bartlett, Manager of Fuel & Furnace Oils, Gulf Refining Company, today. The sole provision to assure this freedom from heating troubles is a prompt signing of tht furnace oil conracts now being issued.

According to letters being mailed and telephone calls being made in this city at the present time, the Gulf Refining Company has made special arrangements in the matter of delivery of fuel to protect every customer. It is being pointed out, however, that the same protection can not be offered to home-owners who plan t buy their furnace oil only when they need it.

R. M. Bartlett also states: "Although we proved to our customers last winter that we are thoroughly equipped to serve them promptly, we are taking extra steps to prepare for the coming winter which some authorities claim will be as sub-zero as last winter. We have added to our large fleet of tank trucks. And we are giving our delivery men special training in serving oor clientele quietly, cleanly, and courteously."

Enterprise News

The Enterprise P. T. A. will meet Friday night, June 15th, at 7:45 o'clock All members and patrons are cordially invited. We have prepared for your entertainment a burlesque debate: Resolved: "That Halitosis Is a Greater Menace to Our Country Than Dandruff."

Probably you have turned this question over in your mind: Which is the greater menace, the dandruff-laden shoulder of your best friend, or that deadly gas attack (bad breath) of your next best.

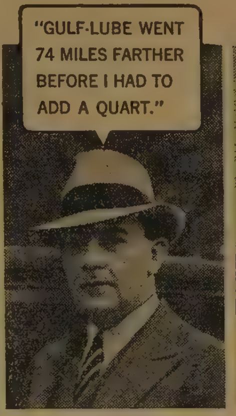
Come out Friday night and hear this very important question ably discussed by: Mr. Bernard Stroud and Mr. Clarence Billingsley.

WHICH IS THE BEST 25c* MOTOR OIL?
HERE ARE 3 ANSWERS!

Each of these motorists tested Gulf-lube against well known 25¢ oils—Read what they discovered!

"GULF-LUBE TOOK ME 157 MILES FARTHER BEFORE A QUART WAS CONSUMED."

Mr. J. P. Cochrane, Waban, Mass. —Chevrolet owner.



"GULF-LUBE WENT 74 MILES FARTHER BEFORE I HAD TO ADD A QUART."

Mr. L. T. Law, Atlanta, Ga. —Plymouth owner.

"GULF-LUBE TOOK ME 226 MILES FARTHER BEFORE MY OIL-LEVEL DROPPED A QUART."

Mr. T. W. Davis, Winston-Salem, N.C. —Ford owner.

Each of these motorists made two trips to some distant point

FIRST TRIP—each used one of the well-known 25c motor oils.

SECOND TRIP—each used Gulf-lube. And Gulf-lube took each of them miles farther before a quart was consumed!

Want to use less oil between changes? Switch to Gulf-lube—the oil that also beat 3 other famous 25c oils in AAA "high-mileage" tests at Indianapolis. Watch it cut your oil costs. 25c* a quart. Plus tax.*

TAXES

LAST year the Total Taxes and licenses paid by Alabama Power Company amounted to $2,144,881.44 or an average of $21.51 for each customer being served with electricity at the end of the year.

36,500 customers, or 36.6% of the total served, paid less than $21.51 for their total electric service, thus failing to pay to the company an amount equal to the average tax bill per customer for 1933.

PLEASANT GROVE
Jemison

Another Sunday has passed here and happily because of the services here. The singing was a grand success. There was a great host of people present and everyone seemed to enjoy the day. There were a great many from other places, among whom were Mr. Charley Oden, Mr. Devann, who formerly taught a singing school here a few years ago, the Rev. Goodgame and the Rev. George Threadgill, a student of Howard, who preached here Sunday evening, and a wonderful sermon it was, coming from so young a man, but the young can serve the Lord just the same as the old.

We certainly thank the people for their wonderful conduct here Sunday, and we also thank the Oak Grove quartet for their services. We think they are wonderful boys. May God bless them in their wonderful work.

Mrs. Cower's grandchildren of Birmingham spent last week with her.

Mrs. Philip Franklin had as her guests last week her step-mother and sister and little children from Florida, and as her week end guest her sister, Mrs. Cox of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davenport spent Sunday with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Cat Dawson and little son, Jimmy, and Mr. Dalton Champion spent a while with their aunts, the Misses Champions, Sunday p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Algie Compton had as their week end guests their cousin, Miss Eloise Lucas and a friend, Miss Gladys Sebert of Dry Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Champion and little sons, Alfred and Albert, of Cedar Grove, visited their uncle and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Champion and sons, Dalton and Sanders.

Mrs. Etherage (formerly Miss Nellie Ward) was among our crowd Sunday

A shower was given in honor of Mrs. Erskin Martin at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wright, Saturday p. m.

The decorations were carried out in pink and white, with white cake and pink lemonade as refreshments. The guests were: Mrs. Daton Chapman, Miss Grace Wells, Mrs. Luther Ward, Mrs. Astro Wright, Mrs. Clarence Marcus, Misses Dulcie, Delia and Effie Champion. Miss Effie Champion presided over the bride's book. There were many nice presents. They were drawn to the bride by her little nephew, Aldene Marcus, in a little wagon beautirully decorated with white and pink.

Little Raymon Waldrop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hughen Waldrop, happened to a very sad accident late Sunday p. m. He was playing with an old feed cutter and almost cut three of his fingers off. He was carried to the hospital but at this writing we do not know the results.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Woodley are feeble these days and also Mrs. Emmett Miskelley. We hope by next writing that we can write more favorable about them.

Start Work Soil Tillage Station

Auburn, Ala—Work has started here on the construction of a soil tillage experiment station which is to be the only one of its kind in the United States.

It is being constructed by the bureau of agricultural engineering of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and is located on the grounds of the experiment station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. John W. Randolph is in charge of the work which is being done in close cooperation with Professor M. L. Nichols, head of the department of agricultural engineering here. The project is being financed by Federal money and was made possible through approval recently of an expenditure of $110,000 of public works money by President Roosevelt.

The purpose of this station is to discover new facts about plows and plowing, planters and planting, cultivators and cultivating, and other farm machinery.

Crops will be grown on several soil types which will be shipped to Auburn from this and other states. Crops will be grown on the soil and engineers will text existing tillage machinery and new machnery developed to meet specific conditions.

Parallel plots 20 feet wide and 250 feet long will have at least 9 representative soils of the Southwest, ranging from sand to tight clay.

Information obtained will be used by farmers and in aidng manufacturers in improving machinery for the severe soil conditions existing in the black belt and other similar areas.

Back of the decision to locate this unique experiment station at Auburn lies 12 years of limited tillage studies at Auburn. As a result of the new work here farm implement dealers a generation hence may be selling equipment far different from that now on the market and farm tillage practices may be radically changed.

Tires Bore Brunt Of 500-Mile Race

The story of how tires made possible ew speeds and eliminated pit stops in he 500-miles International Sweepstakes t Indianapolis May 30 was told today y Curtis Billingsley, Firestone dealer in his city. It was the 15th consecutive ear Firestone Tires have equipped the inning cars, but this year tires were ore vital than ever before.

"The new fuel limit of 45 gallons eant that the drivers had to elminate orced pit stops," Mr. Billingsley said. They had to have tires that could stand ours of terrific pounding. No other 0 miles of race or road test puts such strain or responsibility on tires.

"Lap speeds up to 120 miles an hour his year meant 150 miles per hour or aster on the straightaway. There is rrific outward thrust on the tires in egotiating the curves. The momenum of the cars as they dive into the urns brings an uncontrallable action at is called 'drifting,' by which the car ough headed in the right direction, ends to sweep over the embankments. takes supreme skill and utmost rength of steel and rubber to avoid aster.

At such speeds one would expect the res to be almost entirely worn away. ut inspection of a Fireston Tire after had gone the full 500 miles showed mazing fact that there was very little n of wear. The engineers have perted tread stocks that withstand high eeds and friction at almost fire heat used by the tread grinding on the ick track.

"But even more important is an enineering feature embodied within the e. It is the patented gum-dipping ocess by whch the high stretch cords e soaked in liquid rubber, protecting em against internal friction which ould cause destructive heat and deteriation. It also safety-locks the cords d gives greater adhesion and flexilty to the tire. At 120 miles an hour e centrfugal force in the tire increasits circumference at least ten per cent d often much more, and the tread ould be thrown off were it not for s vital gum-dipping process which lds the tire into one strong cohesive it.

The same process is a protection for motorists whose cars we equip with estone Tires," Mr. Billingsley conded. "It means longer weae because minimizes internal heat. It gives the w High Speed Tire for 1934 the eatest blowout protection of any tire ade."

Farm Land Prices Show Nice Gain

Prices on farm lands advanced during the first three months of this year compared with a similar period of 1933, according to a statement issued by the Farm Credit Adminstration. The average sale price of farms sold by the Federal land banks throughout the United States increased from $17.02 per acre to $19.40 During the same period the amount of cash paid at the date of the sale increased somewhat.

The amount of cash being paid down is slightly more than a year ago, taking the United States as a whole, but in some areas it is very much greater. In the south and far west it is nearly twice as large.

Antioch News

Health of this community is very good at present. All farmers seem to have the right farming spirit and are busy trying to kill the grass.

Our Sunday school seems to be on the drag. Wake up, folks! Come on, let's go to Sunday school every Sunday morning at ten o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Mims were the guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. N. L. Owens, Sunday.

Misses L. E. Adams and Mattie Bell White were the week end guests of little Sarah Traywick.

Miss Claudell Ratliff spent Saturday night with Miss Mattie Ratliff.

Mr. Bill Turner, Miss Clara Dell Sims and Mr. Jim Traywick spent a while with Miss Mary Owens Sunday afternoon.

Misses Mary and Myrtis Owen were the spend-the-day guests of Miss Audrea Ratliff of Pletcher Wednesday.

Misses Lillie and Lucile Kendrick were the Sunday dinner guests of Misses Edna and Dell Sims Sunday.

Mr. Clene Owen and Mr. J. P. Adams spent Saturday night with Mr. Austin and Junior Clinner.

"Listen to the Mocking Bird" he is singing praises to his Creator, so let us not be behind him in our praises to our great King. So next Sunday afternoon is our regular singing afternoon, June 17th. Come on, let's show our thanks for His many blessings by singing praises to Him. We cordially invite all singers and lovers of music to come. We are expecting to have the Gaines Quartet with us. We extend a special invitation to all quartets. Everyone is invited. Remember the date, and place. Everybody come!

Funeral Services For Mrs. Ellen Cox Sun.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellen Cox, 76, who died Saturday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. S. F. Partridge, Coopers, following a lingering illness, were held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock from the Chestnut Creek Baptist church. The Rev. Joe Kelly and the Rev. J. D. Hughes officiated. Burial was in the churchyard cemetery with Spigener in charge.

Mrs. Cox is survived by three daughters, Mrs. E. A. DeLoach, and Mrs. B. M. Jones, of Cooper, and Mrs. J. C. Davis, of Wetumpka; two sons, J. B. Cox, of Deatsville, and W. A. Cox, of Cooper. She is also survived by twenty grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Alcohol Will Not Harm New Ford Body Pain

A radically different type of automobile body paint, which is impervious to alcohol and is baked for four hours at a temperature of 250 degrees has been developed by the engineers of the Ford Motor Company and is now being used on the new Ford V-eights, according to Mr. E. D. Bottom, manager of the Ford Motor Company plant at Atlanta, Ga.

" "Ths new body finish has nothing in common with other finishes," Mr. Bottom explained. "You can pour alcohol over it, light a match to the alcohol and although the surface will be terribly hot it will remain unimpaired. Alcohol, which is a solvent for most body finishes, will exercise no hamful effects on the new V-eights' body finish

"Moreover, this paint is eminently satisfactory in any climate and under all conditions of weather. It is an enamel that is elastic. An exclusive Ford product, it base is a combination of the rare earths of Titanium and Antimony with the necessary color pigments.

"Heretofore, motorists have had to be very careful when using alcohol around the car. A drop or two spilled on the surface marredd the finish. This is a thing of the past so far as we are concerned. This finish will last indefinitely. The motorist who would keep his car nice and shiny may do so by the simple process of running a cloth over it now and then and giving it a polishing once in a while."

After being hurt three times in auto smashups, George Kedzie of Palatine, Ill., sold his motor car and now walks three miles to the railway station.

THE WORLD'S FINEST TYPE OF MOTOR powers the Car
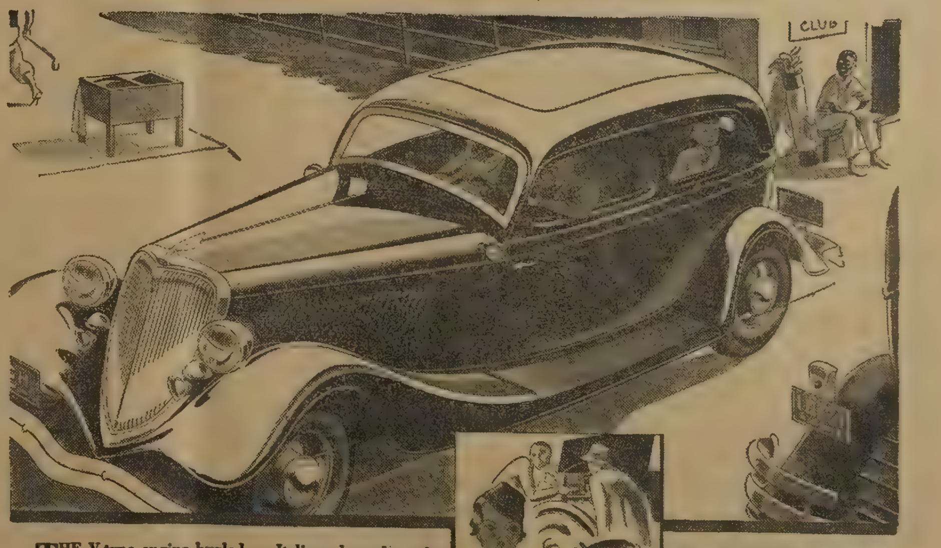
without a Price Class



THE V-type engine hurled an Italian plane through the air at seven miles a minute. It swept a racing car down a Florida beach to the world's land speed record . . . 270 miles per hour.

Only Ford has been able to put the V-type 8-cylinder engine in an inexpensive car. The next lowest priced V-8 cylinder car sells for $2545.

At 55 this Ford V-8 is just loafing along—effortlessly. Yet despite performance that lifts it out of the low price class, the new Ford V-8 is the most economical Ford ever built.

The Ford V-8 is the only car that offers you the riding ease of free action for all four wheels—plus the priceless safety of strong axle construction.

Before you buy any car at any price, drive the Ford V-8.

FISHING RODEO

LaBatre and in Mobile, and that all signs point to a record attendance this summer.

Tarpon, the prize game fish of the rodeo, already have been sighted in Mobile Bay and one Mobile angler lost an 80-pounder after a 30-minute tussle. Large schools of tarpon visit the feeding grounds near Mobile each August and the rodeo is timed to meet the invasion at its height.

The rodeo association is a non-profit organization and was created for the purpose of informing the anglers of America that the advantage of Alabama's coastal waters for fishing are usurpassed anywhere on the American coast. The rodeo annually attracts between 300 and 500 persons from every part of the country.

TWO KILLED

an argument at the Henderson store in Mountain Creek late Tuesday afternoon. For sometime the two brothers had been on unfriendly terms, according to neighbors, and the shooting is said to have occurred when Charley went into the store where his brother was working to discuss a misunderstanding which Charlie's wife and William were said to have had Monday. William, who is several years older than Charlie, said that his brother advanced toward him with an open knife during the argument. He said that he retreated into a backroom of the store and after his brother kept advancing that he shot him.

Another version of the tragedy as given by a sister, Miss Mary Henderson, who was present and witnessed the difficulty, said that following an argument in the store Charlie walked from the building and was standing in the street near the store, when his brother, William, went into a back room and got a gun and shot Charlie as he backed away.

Following the shot, which took effect in Charlie's chest in the region of the heart, he is said to have run about fifteen steps before falling dead on the front porch of the store. Friends of the family stated that for sometime William's mind had not been normal. He was recently released from Bryce's Hospital in Tuscaloosa, and it is said that he has had ill feeling toward his brother since that time because he believed Charlie was responsible for him being sent to the Tuscaloosa institution.

Both Varden and William Henderson are being held in the county jail in Clanton, awaiting investigation.

Varden came into Clanton and surrendered to Sheriff W. H. Gillespie several hours after the cutting of Glass. It was not learned whether he made any statement in regard to the matter. Henderson was arrested by V.B. Champion, special deputy at Verbena.

Glass is survived by his mother, Mrs. Ada Glass, and one sister, Miss Verlie Glass.

Henderson is survived by his widow; three sisters, Miss Mary Henderson, Miss Jettylene Henderson, of Mountain Creek, and Mrs. Irma Woodley, of Montgomery; three brothers, William, Oliver, and Tom, all of Mountain Creek, and his mother, Mrs. T. J. Henderson, also of Mountain Creek. The Henderson family has operated a mercantile business in Mountain Creek for more than twenty years.

Glass was brought into Clanton by Martin Gore, Clyde Ellison, and J. B. Sammons. They said that he was unable to talk from the time they picked him up until he died between Clanton and the hospital. Glass was the sole support of his widowed mother and sister, according to neighbors of the family.

Varden has been married about four months.

Funeral services for Glass were held Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock from the Mineral Springs Baptist church. Burial was in the Robinson cemetery, near the church, with Martin & Sons in charge.

Spigener had charge of the Henderson funeral, which was held Wednesday.

stated.

The city election will be held on the first Monday in September, according to C. L. Pipes, town clerk, when a mayor and five members of the town council will be elected. The names of Grady Heflin and J. Mell Martin have also been mentioned as prospective candidates for the office of mayor, but no definite statement has been received from either.

Mr. Jones is one of the most widely known men in the entire county, having been engaged in business in Clanton for more than twenty-nine years, during which time he became known as an able executive and business man. His friends in urging his candidacy declare that no more able man could be elected to the office of mayor than Mr. Jones. For many years, he operated the Clanton Building & Supply Company, selling his interest to its present operators a few years ago.

Mr. Jones has always been a leader in progressive movements that tended toward the improvement of his community. As a business man, his friends aver that he never lost interest in a piece of merchandise after he sold it, but was intent on seeing that his customer received the maximum amount of services from it.

It was through his and other progressive citizens' efforts that the town was given one of the best water-works system of any small town in the state. He was also instrumental in the installation of electric lighting in Clanton, we understand.

Winter Legume Planting Has Grown Rapidly

By J. W. Fant, County Agent

Since 1918 the farmers have been planting more winter legumes each year. The amount has increased from 1535 pounds in 1918 to 6,030,733 pounds in 1933.

The amount planted in Chilton County has increased from 8,000 pounds in 1928 to 153,966 pounds in 1932. In 1933 Chilton County farmers planted only 82,200 pounds, so far as we are able to learn. The dry weather during planting season last fall probably had lots to do with this decrease.

With all the increase in planting there was only about 3% of the cultivated land planted to winter legumes last fall in the State. This means that we have lots of land still starving and leaching away due to a lack of winter cover crops.

Every farmer should be thinking about and planning his cover crop program for this fall. Don't wait until planting time to do your planning.

This is a good time of the year to begin checking on the results of winter legumes. Ask your neighbor who planted some oats and vetch last fall how he likes his hay crop. Check up on the corn and cotton planted after vetch and peas. Keep your eye on the results. Watch this crop and see how it compares with the crops planted where no winter legume was turned under.

Large Number From Out Of Town Attend Funeral Of W.W. Fox

Among the large number of persons paying last respects to one of Clanton's most beloved citizens, Col. W.W. Fox, Tuesday morning of last week, were many from out of town.

The funeral, conducted by the Rev. R. P. Cochran and the Rev. C. C. Wilkinson was most impressive. The memory of the fruitful life of Col. Fox will live in the minds of those who knew him for years to come.

Relatives and friends from out of town who attended the funeral of Mr. W. W. Fox last week were: Mrs. Pearl Dixon of Knoxville, Tenn., niece of Mr. Fox, Mr. John Meehan and Mr. Pat Meehan of Pell City, Ala., nephews of Mr. Fox, Mrs. Minnie Renegan and Mrs. Horace Renegan of Pell City, Ala., nieces of Mr. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meehan and Miss Mary Meehan of Pell City, Ala, grand nephew and niece of Mr. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roper of Selma, Ala., niece of Mr. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bray of Maplesville, Ala., niece of Mr. Fox, Mr. Harry Fox and Mr. Tommy Fox of Maplesville, Ala., nephews of Mr. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fox of Mapesville, brother of Mr. Fox, Mr. John R. Lodge of Maplesville, a cousin of Mr. Fox, Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Tucker and John Tucker, Jr., of Centerville, niece of Mrs. Fox, Mr. J. E. Ware of Centerville, brother of Mrs. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Eddings of Birmingham, sister of Mrs. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Styphens of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hammack of Springville, Ala., niece of Mrs. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Box of Birmingham and Mr. Hoyt Reynolds of Tuskegee, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Wells of Jemison.

HENDERSON AND VARDEN HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Preliminary Hearing Set For Next Week In Case Of Wm. Henderson

Both Arthur Varden, 22, and William Henderson, 43, are being held in the Chilton County jail without bail in charges of murder in connection with the two killings, which occurred in this county last Tuesday afternoon.

Preliminary hearing for Henderson, who is charged with shooting his brother, Charley Henderson, 32, during a family quarrel at the Henderson store in Mt. Creek, was scheduled for Tuesday morning, but it is understood that the hearing was postponed until next week.

Varden, who stabbed Charley Glass to death during an altercation at the voting place at Mineral Springs late last Tuesday afternoon, has not asked for preliminary trial, according to information from the office of Sheriff W. H. Gillespie.

The two slayings, in opposite ends of the county, occurred within two hours of each other. Information given officers shortly after the Glass-Varden altercation gave politics as the reason for the trouble, but witnesses are said to aver that the quarrel was regarding liquor and politics played no part in it.

Glass, who was 28 years of age, was stabbed five times in his mid-section, two of the wounds taking effect in the region of his heart. J. Mell Martin, coroner, who investigated both cases, said that he believed that the knife struck the man's heart.

Charley Henderson met his death at the hands of his brother, William Henderson, following an argument at the Henderson store in Mt. Creek. Witnesses told officers that Charley went into the store where his brother was working to discuss a misunderstanding that had occurred between his wife and his brother. An argument ensued and William is said to have grabbed a pistol and fired a bullet into his brother's chest as he backed away. Sheriff Gillespie declared that William's mind had not been normal for sometime and said that he was recently at patient at Bryce's hospital.

Funeral services for Glass were held the following day from the Mineral Springs Baptist church. Funeral services for Henderson were held from the home and burial was in the Greenwood cemetery in Montgomery.

SELMA ROAD PAVING TO BE CONTRACTED

Sealed Bids Are Asked For By State Highway Dept. To Be In June 27

Work on the paving of three miles or more of the Selma highway, beginning at the intersection with the Birmingham-Montgomery highway in Clanton, is expected to begin within a short time, according to information from officials of the state highway department

Sealed bids from contractors will be received for the project by the state highway commission at the office in Montgomery until 10 o'clock June 27, when the bids will be opened and the contract will be let. It is expected that work will begin shortly after the letting of the contract, and it is specified that the work must be completed in 120 working days.

Thirty-five thousand dollars are available for the work, according to information from Langdon G. Smith, highway director, who stated that the surface will be of bituminous paving.

Since most of this highway is in the city limits of Clanton, the completion of this project will give the town additional miles of hard surface streets and will be a great relief in minimizing dust in this section of town. It is understood that citizens who live on at least one of the intersecting streets are planning to cooperate and pave at least one block of the street leading on to the Selma rad.

Only local labor will be used in the construction, where local labor is available, it was stated.

THE TEAMS ARE PAIRED OFF AND SPECTATORS READY TO SPECTATE

By Victor Norris

Summer scrimmaging is over. The two regulation preliminary games have been played and the two Chilton County political elevens are measuring each other for the big game of the year, which is scheduled for November.

Last Tuesday's primary completed the selection of the varsities and the line-up has been selected. Both parties are claiming the best teams in many seasons. With the elimination of the scrubs in last Tuesday's trial game, interest in the November meet is expected to command wide-spread enthusiasm.

Already political fans in Chilton County are laying bets on their favorites, both on teams and individual players The line-up for the November game, which will close the season, is as follows:

Democrats		Republicans
L. Lee Smith	probate judge	J. Z. Mims
J. C. Pattillo	circuit clerk	H. A. Harris
T. L. McKee	tax collector	W. G. Culp
A. D. Martin	tax assessor	Akin Collins
J. R. Hardy	sheriff	Dewey Hughes
Luther Little	co. supt. ed.	W. T. Bean
W. R. Clement	com. 1st. dist.	J. P. Bean
Howard Oden	com. 2nd dist.	A. J. Davis
C. B. Cox	representative	Percy M. Pitts
J. Polk Paynes	m. bd. ed.	D.S. Robinson
A. C. Nelson	m. bd. ed.	J. L. Smith

Both Coach P. D. Wilson and Coach J. N. Dennis are optimistic, declaring that they are confident of victory when the approximately 5,000 fans in the county register their reaction to the game in the November finals. The Republicans outweigh the Democrats considerably, but Coach Wilson declares that the Democratic pep he is sure his team will show will overbalance any little advantages weight may give the elephant herders.

According to official weights shown by the bulletin board data posted on the teams following last Tuesday's final scrimmage, the elephant herders weigh about sixty-four votes more to the player than the Demmies, or the Republican eleven stacks up approximately 700 votes extra tonnage over the donkey riders.

However, it is understood that Coach Wilson has placed a large order for some textbooks on political etiquette, and is urging the boys not to forget to go strong on the old handshaking racket and baby-kissing idea. Coach Wilson declares that he has never known a candidate to lose if he consistently shook hands with all the people who didn't want to shake hands with him, and kissed every baby he saw, regardless of the baby's protest.

There is considerable conjecture regarding the Republican team work since the change of quarter-backs. For more than a score of years, Judge Reynolds has been calling signals for the elephant herders—and in spite of the wide-spread objection to the plays he called, Captain Reynolds has always been successful in chalking up victories. Zeb Mims, the new quarter-back, has a high record at which to shoot, if he expects to win the wide acclamation accorded Quarter-back Reynolds by every political team in the state.

Thus the outcome is in the balance and just which way Lady Luck or the gods of fate will tip the scales will be a matter of conjecture until the echoes of the applause fades away and the curtain is dropped on the final play.

WOMAN'S DEMOCRATIC CLUB HAS ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING TUESDAY

Planning Huge Social Affair For Members And Husbands To Be Held In Near Future; Special Drive For Membership To Be Opened

Perhaps the most enthusiastic meeting of the Woman's Democratic Club of Chilton County was held Tuesday afternoon of this week at the Wilson Hotel in Clanton.

The meeting, presided over by Mrs. P. T. Hinkle, chairman, was attended by many of the women social and civic leaders of the county. This meeting was the first to be held since the recent primary elections and those in attendance voiced firm opinions of a Democratice victory for Chilton County in the November election and expressd hope that this county would then be placd in accord with State and National governments.

A special drive for memberships is being planned and the meeting went on record Tuesday extending a warm invitation to every woman in Chilton County to become a member and share in the advantages of the club. "We may not be able to see all the women we would like to, but we want them all to feel perfectly free to attend the meetings of the club," Mrs. Hinkle stated.

A huge social gathering is also being planned for the near future, according to Mrs. Billy Smith, secretary of the club. All members and their husbands will be guests of the club at this affair. The next meeting is scheduled to be held next month and will be announced, Mrs. Smith stated.

Expense Of National Recovery Program Far Less Than War

U. S. NATIONAL DEBT NOT NEAR FORMER PEAK

Recovery Program Is Costing America Relatively Small Amount Of Money

While the Government is engaged in what is described as the greatest spending orgy of all time, figures provide an interesting study not only of as to where the money is going but whether it is in reality such a great amount that is going places.

It is interesting to find that the Government has on previous occasions spent a great deal more money. Of course, revenues, too, may have been greater. But the fact remains that the nation's war on recovery is not costing it nearly as much as did the nation's participation in the World War.

Interesting Picture

Despite the fact that America is emerging from the greatest depression of all time and has a greater population than at any previous time in its history, government expenditures are for from being at their highest level. That is just as true of the public debt.

The picture is an extremely interesting one.

The final allotment of emergency relief money has been requested by President Roosevelt in his message to Congress when he asked for the final $1,322,000,000 for relief funds That amount will exhaust the spending campaign which provided for $3,166,000,000 worth of "special" expenditures between July 1, 1933, and June 30, 1935, at which date the Government budget will have reached its "balance."

Final Appropriation

After this last appropriation "that's all there is—there ain't no more."

The President hopes to balance the budget by using no further funds for relief. The budget for normal Government expenses has already been balanc-

Evan Parrish Attends Seedmen's Convention

Evan Parrish, operator of the Southern Seed & Plant Company, is attending the Southern Seedman convention, which is being held in Memphis, Tenn., this week, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Mr. Parrish reports a very pleasing spring business declaring that the seed business has been better this year than during any season since he has been connected with the Southern Seed & Plant Company.

The firm, dealers in all kinds of seeds, feeds, and insecticides, announces that a carload of Austrian peas and vetch seed are expected to arrive within the next few days and urges its customers to place their orders early.

Four Slightly Injured In Automobile Mishaps

Four persons were slightly injured in automobile accidents in Chilton County during the week-end, according to information from the Central Alabama Hospital, Clanton, where they were taken for treatment.

They were: R. E. Higgins, Thorsby route 3; Leonard Hayes, Thorsby; and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rozrer, Memphis, Tenn. None of the four suffered any serious injury and following treatment were released.

Higgins and Hayes suffered minor injuries Saturday afternoon when their car left the road near Thorsby and crashed into a post. Higgins suffered lacerations on the right leg and on his chin, while Hayes sustained a severe cut on his left arm.

Mr. and Mrs. Rozrer were injured when their automobile overturned on the highway near Jemison about noon Sunday. Mrs. Rozrer suffered a sprained left ankle and her husband received several lacerations about the face and neck.

VETERANS TO HAVE OUTING TOMORROW

Every Ex - Service Man Is Invited By Chilton County Post No. 6

Friday evening, the ex-service men of Chilton County will be soldiers again; just buddies swapping yarns and dreaming again of those days when they wore the khaki. Many will be the stories that will be recounted out at Gore's Pond Friday evening, when most of the ex-service men in the county will congregate for a few hours comradeship.

It'll be: "How's for a fag, buddy?—or do you remember . . ." While the Chilton County Post No. 6 of the American Legion is sponsoring this meeting, every ex-service man in the county is cordially invited to attend and participate, according to Percy M. Pitts, chairman of the arrangements committee, who said the only requirements and expenses will be that each man is requested, either on Thursday, June 21, to deliver one dressed, frying size chicken at Wade's Ice Plant in the town of Clanton. At this time, getting a receipt for your chicken at the ice plant and this will be your admission to partake of that and other good eats that will be furnished after the speaking. We have decided that this will be purely a stag affair and earnestly hope that all of the ex-service men will be present on this occasion.

THE LEADER BEING GIVEN NEW FRONT AND ENLARGED SPACE

When Completed It Will Greatly Add To The Appearance Of Clanton's Main Business Street; Work Is Now Well Underway On Project

The extensive remodeling of The Leader, one of Clanton's most popular mercantile establishments, is indicative of the vast improvement which business in general throughout the country is undergoing; and will be quite an addition to the improvement program that is being conducted by several of the Clanton firms to beautify the town.

New and more modern show windows are being installed. M. Lande, owner and operator of The Leader, explained that the remodeling of the front of the store will provide much better window display of merchandise and, too, will be of vast improvement in providing light in the interior of the store. Work has just been completed on the rearrangement of the rear entrance to the establishment and the installation of several new display counters in the rear of the store.

The plans, as explained by Mr. Lande, call for the installation of an arcade entrance to the store on Main Street, which will greatly add to the beauty of the store and lend charm to the whole street. Several other firms are rennovating and the tearing away of several sheds over the streets in front of stores has done much toward the improvement of the town's appearance.

The Leader has been one of Clanton's leading mercantile firms now for several years, and its patrons and friends will learn with a great deal of pleasure that its success makes necessary more space. Mr. Lande is one of the town's outstanding business men and is always found lending a hand in any movement for the civic improvement of the Chilton County metropolis and surrounding territory. It was largely through Mr. Lande's efforts that clerks and business men in Clanton are given a half-holiday each week during the heat of summer. For sometime Mr. Lande has fought for a half-holiday on Thursday afternoons in order that his clerks might have more leisure during the hot summer months.

Demented Negro Assaults G.T. Willbanks

G. T. Willbanks, 70, of West End, Clanton, is said to be in a serious condition at the Clanton hospital, where he is being treated for severe cuts and bruises about his head and body, suffered when he was severely beaten by John Bell, crazy negro.

Witnesses said that the negro assaulted Mr. Willanks when he attempted to intervene in a fight between the negro and his wife. Mr. Willbanks is the father of Mrs. J. Mell Martin, of Clanton, and is well known in this section.

Bell, who recently figured in a seven mile race in the Collins Chapel community when he was mistaken for an escaped convict, was arrested by Policeman J. R. Hardy and placed in jail.

R.R. Engineer Takes Life In Montgomery

D. J. Dunn, 62, brother of Mrs. Sally J. Kicker of West End Clanton, ended his own life Monday night at his home in Montgomery by shooting himself.

Despondency was given by members of the family and his friends as the reason for the 62-year old railroad engineer taking his life. For sometime it was stated he had been in failing health and had grown despondent over his condition.

Besides his sister in Clanton, he is survived by two daughters, one son, and two brothers.

Mrs. Kicker is very ill at her home in Clanton and is not expected to live throughout the week, according to information given the News.

Diefenderfer Named Member City Council

At a regular meeting of the Town Council of Clanton Tuesday night, L. E. Diefenderfer was appointed to fill the vacancy on the council created by the resignation of Grady Broadhead, who has moved to Montgomery.

Mr. Diefenderfer, more familiarly known over the state as "Dief" is operator of the famous Dief's Service Station. Being one of Clanton's most civic and progressive minded citizens, Mr. Diefenderfer will make a splendid councilman and the News extends congratulations to him.

Will Inoculate Dogs In Near Future Here

The annual innoculation of dogs in Clanton will take place in the very near future, according to Mayor J. Lee Smith following the meeting of the Town Council Tuesday night.

This safety measure inaugurated by the town some time ago is one of the most important health steps to be made and the Mayor and Councilmen are to be commended for their efforts. The serum is furnished without charge by the Town of Clanton and Dr. W. L. Parrish and Dr. P. T. Hinkle give their services without cost. The dates for the inoculation are to be announced later, Mayor Smith stated.

Alleged Kidnaper Is Taken From Freight

A man believed by officers to be a kidnaper was taken off a southbound freight train here last night by Night Policemen J. A. Nivens and John W. Browder and returned to Calera, where he is being held in jail pending investigation of charges made by two Birmingham youths that he had kidnaped them and forced them to leave Birmingham on the freight with him.

The youths, James Argo, 11, and Starling Argo, 9, told Night Marshall A. F. Beale after they had been rescued by hoboes on the train, that the man, who gave his name as Arthur Maxwell, had forced them to get into a box car with him at the L & N yards early Tuesday night, where they were waiting to meet a brother who was coming from Atlanta. They gave their Birmingham address as Steiner Avenue, West End, and said that their father, Lige Argo, worked at night.

Early Wednesday morning, Officer Beale said that he had not been able to get in touch with Mr. Argo. Maxwell denied that he had forced the boys to accompany him and said that he was enroute to Mobile. George Bradfield and Theodore Jarrett, who gave their addresses as Chattanooga, told Marshall Beale that the boys had constantly begged to be put off the train and when they made a stop at Calera they said they had forced Maxwell to allow them to get off with the youths.

They turned them over to Beale, who wired Clanton officers to apprehend the man. Officers Louis Gillespie and Ellis Ellison returned the man to Calera.

CHILTON GIRLS SELECTED TO COMPETE FOR COVETED HONOR

Misses Lucile Edwards, Josephine Adams And Mildred Caldwell Will Meet Winners From Other Counties For W. B. Oliver Award

Selected to represent Chilton County, Miss Lucile Edwards, of the Isabella High School, Miss Josephine Adams and Miss Mildred Caldwell, of the Jemison High School, will have the distinction of competing with representatives from every county in the sixth congressional district for the W. B. Oliver award, given annually for the outstanding accomplishments of two boys and two girls in the district, who excel in vocational school activities.

Three contestants are selected from each county to compete with a like number from every other county in the district. Misses Edwards, Adams, and Caldwell have been selected as the outstanding home economics in the two county vocational schools. Three boys will be selected later in the year. The district selection is to be made in December, according to J. W. Fant, county agent, when the contestants from the entire district compete for two high awards of $25 cash and a trip to Washington, with a second prize of a trip to Washington. Each county contestant is required to write a paper dealing with vocational work, the final selection being made on the merit of these papers.

Miss Ruth Pardue, county home demonstration agent, and L. C. Warr, principal of the Chilton County High School were judges in the county selection of the girls. It is not known just when the selection of the boys to represent Chilton County will be made.

For A Newsprint Industry In Alabama

Ever since Dr. Charles H. Herty, of Georgia, developed his process of making newsprint from Southern pine, there has been no doubt that some day there will be a vast newsprint industry in the South. The only question has been whether such an industry could be developed right away, or whether it would have to await more favorable conditions. But whether it comes soon, or whether it comes later, a newsprint industry is bound to grow up in this section. Its development cannot be stopped, because the project has too many obvious advantages.

Everything is in its favor. Dr. Herty's experiments have been highly successful. Editions of Southern newspapers have already actually been printed on paper made from Southern pine. There is a plentiful supply of Southern pine, and new crops can be grown in much shorter time than in the case of the trees in the other parts of the world from which newsprint is made at present. The power, transportation and other facilities of the South are adequate for the needs of the industry. And Southern newsprint, which can be made at less cost than the newsprint which is produced elsewhere, will mean a great saving to the users of the product at the same time that it provides a large new industry for Southern workers and a vast new market for the owners of pine forests in the South.

When this industry is developed in the South, Alabama as a matter of course should have its newsprint plant, or plants. A timely move in that direction was started in Birmingham Thursday, with the organzaton of the Alabama Conference on Paper Products from Alabama Pine, at a meeting of manufacturers, chemists, economists and others interested in the project. The resources for an Alabama newsprint industry are here. With the organization of the conference, the leadership necessary to its advancement has been provided. The only remaining need is for capital, and surely Alabama can provide that.—Birmingham News.

After Many Days

Cast the bread upon the waters, for thou shalt find it after many days, said the Preacher.

Four years ago the farmers of South Dakota were moved by accounts of a devastating drouth in Arkansas. They not only sympathized; they did something about it. They sent to Arkansas car-loads and truck-loads of food for people and feed for animals.

Today shipments of hay and other provender are on their way to South Dakota from Arkansas. A score of car-loads of hay and cottonseed meal have been pledged by Arkansas farmers to be sent northward.

The Arkansas farmers didn't forget. Their governor, Futrell, gave them a chance to show that "the people of this state never forget a friend."

And the bread which the South Dakota farmers cast upon the waters in 1930 is returning to them after four years. So long as such things happen, we know that gratitude, and sympathy, and neighborliness are not dead, but need only a tragedy like the seared crops of the northwest to bring them forth.—Selma Times-Journal.

Travel And Learning

Soon the vacation season will be here, and many thousands of persons will visit various interesting places for the first time, some in our own country and others abroad. While recreation will be the principal aim of many, a majority will expect to learn something of permanent value during their travels.

In order that one may derive the most benefit from his travel experiences, it would be well to find out as much as possible about the places to be visited ahead of time Then, when he actually sees the places and objects of which he has studied, he will get a more lasting impression of their signifiance.

Information gained from guides and handbooks during one's travels is valuable, of course, but it is generally superficial, and lacking in the historical background which is necessary for a full understanding, and appreciation of the famous places where history has been made.

The educational value of travel depends largely upon knowing beforehand what one wants to see, and why.

Lower Your Fire Bill

Every fire permanently removes material wealth from the economic ledger.

The effects of fire can never be undone.

Those two axioms deserve remembering. A good many people think that insurance covers the loss caused by fire. No policy can do that. Insurance simply pays for a part of the direct loss, leaving unpaid the greatest loss of all—the indirect loss.

Indirect loss can be measured in employment—men thrown out of their jobs because the factory where they worked burned. It can be measured in taxes—whenever a fire removes property from the asessment rolls, the share of the cost of government it paid must be passed on to other property. It can be measured, over a period of time in insurance based on the past fire experience of the community. It can be measured in a town's lack of progress—cases are on record where one great fire has literally brought a community development to an end.

Fire prevention is a civic duty—and it rests on the shoulders of every property owner to do his part to discharge it. You help pay for every fire—and every fire that is prevented actually means money in your pocket. Help make your town "fire-free.'

Close The Ranks

"Agriculture's cause can only be won with united, closed ranks," said Mrs. Mabel D. Ahart of the California Farm Bureau, recently. "No great battle has yet been won by a mob. Dsciplined, organized action alone wins wars."

The comparison of agriculture's present fight, to a war, is a happy one. It is a war—against chaotic markets, profitless prices, disorganized and outmoded methods and economic weapons. The farmer is battling for his financial salvation—for his place in the sun.

In the last few years the farm cooperatives have done much to close the farmers' ranks. They have made progress in doing away with sectional feeling and jealousy, in bringing before the farmer the fact that all producers, everywhere, have the same fundamental problems, the same motives, the same hopes. They have worked in the face of great odds, and they have not despaired.

The cooperative movement must continue to gather strength and momentum. There are openings still left in the ranks—and they must be closed. There are misunderstandings that must be cleared away. And it is pleasant to report that every new bulletin from the cooperative front shows further battles won.

A Martyr To Science

Another distinguished name was added to the long list of martyrs to science when Henry T. Koenig, a Denver chemist, died recently as a result of research work with radium. He was the last survivor of 20 scientists who aided Mme. Curie, co-discoverer of radium, in her early experiments with that powerful and mysterious mineral.

Like those other heroes of the laboratory, Koenig continued to work as long as possible, although he knew he was doomed by a malignant infection which caused cancer of the lip, from which he finally died. But the discoveries made by him and his brave companions have made possible relief from suffering for thousands now living, and will benefit millions yet unborn.

Koenig's improved method of extracting radium at less cost from the ores in which it is found in infintesimal quantities is recoginzed as one of the greatest contributions of the present century to medical science.

Truly, as Milton says, "peace hath her victories no less renowned than war," but the world still showers greater honors on heroes of war than on heroes of peace. Perhaps when man becomes more civilized those who save life may be esteemed at least equally with those who destroy it.

How Cheap Is Household Electricity?

On the theory that a penny saved is a penny earned, electricity in the home is a money-maker—a fact that a great many of its users don't realize.

That is the argument of Frederick W. Crone, in an article in Public Utilities Fortnightly. He backs it up with illustrations of the savings that accrue when electricity is used for ordinary household tasks in the place of older, less efficient agents.

Experiments show that fifty good-sized candles have the same illumnating value as one 50-watt Mazda lamp. At five cents each, burning for five and three-quarters hours, they cost $2.50. The 50-watt lamp, burning the same length of time, at six cents per kilowatt hour, costs one and three-quarters cents.

Another test demonstrated that it took two hours and ten minutes to sweep certain rooms with a broom, and at the finish the sweeper was exhausted. A vacuum cleaner did the same work more efficiently in 40 minutes, at a cost of less than a cent, with little exertion on the part of the operator. Figure the price of household labor in your locality, and you have the saving effected there.

A quantity of clothes were washed by hand, in three hours and fifteen minutes. A washing machine did the same job better in one hour, at a current cost of slightly more than a cent. Figuring labor at 40 cents an hour, at a current cost of slightly more than a cent a saving of nearly a dollar is made in that common instance.

Other examples will come to the mind of the housekeeper. Electricity isn't only a tiny item in the family budget—it really saves and makes money.

Women At Work

The girl at the typewriter, the girl behind the sales counter, and the woman engaged in skilled professional work are so much a part of the economic picture in the United States that it is hard to imagine a great city without its women workers.

Yet Herbert S. Mills, professor emeritus of economics at Vassar College, reminded alumnae of that institution the other day that woman's freedom in choosing a career in the home, business or professional life has been definitely curtailed in three great countries, and warned that if they value this freedom they must be prepared to defend it.

In Germany women once more are taking the Victorian role of home-maker—and giving up all work outside the home. In Italy they are honored only as mothers of men In Russia, on the contrary, home life is ignored and the wife who spends her days toiling in the factory or fields must forego her heritage of home-making and rearing a family.

No matter how one may feel about the desirability of women confining their activities to the home or working outside it, young women in this country who have definite learnings toward one or the other—or wish to combine both—should give thanks for the privilege. For others, this particular phase of the German, Italian, and Russian innovations in government remains one of the most interesting to watch.—Selma Times-Journal.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

We are told of an Astronomer who built a telescope in the attic of his home. Night after night he would climb the stairway and for hours he would study closely the stars that filled the sky. One night his wife asked for the privilege of using the telescope and the professor gladly left it with her. thinking that she too, had become interested in the stars. Two hours later the wife joined him in the library with many thrilling stories to tell. She had pulled the telescope down from the view of the heavens and had set it on her neighbor's homes. She had solved many a problem that had worried her concerning her neighbors, close and far. She told of seeing one family gathered into the kitchen while they peeled apples. She told of another family as they spanked the children and put them to bed. She saw all that was to be seen in her neighbor's homes, but nothing at all in the sky. There are many folks with, and without telescopes who observe but little that is high and fine. They take their eyes from the upward look and train them on their neighbors and on their neighbor's homes.

During the battle of Waterloo a British officer rode up to the duke of Wellington and said, "Your honor ,sir. I have a distinct view of Napoleon attended by his staff. My guns are well pointed in that direction. Shall I fire?" The Duke replied, "Certainly not, I refuse to allow you to do so, it is not the business of Commanders to fire upon each other." That is what makes war unfair and unjust. Those who are responsible for war rarely ever take part in its bloody struggle. If war is fair and right those who declare war should lead every charge. When politicians and law makers are willing to shoulder the gun and die in the ditches, then the ordinary soldier will be willing to follow. "The rich man's war and the poor man's fight," has often been as true as a verse from Holy Writ. When will the body of the "common people" refuse to fight and die in answer to the call of those who stay at home and send soldiers away to endure hell to satisfy their passion for blood.

In China the Missionaries have to be very careful about the pictures that they show in the literature that they use. Not long since a Chrisian worker showed a picture of Joseph clad in garments that allowed his knees to be seen. The class was shocked and the next Sunday not a pupil reported for study in that class. The teacher inquired why her pupils had struck on her and in Chinese they said, "Knee show—bad picture." Over here in America we allow just any kind of a picture to go into our literature and when it comes to our moving picture shows, some of the pictures are too awful to describe. I am wondering if China should not send missionaries over to us. May I not ask, "What has become of America's timidity, and where is the blush of an American maid?"

The queer Chinese turn their pigeons into song birds by fastening whistles under their wings and beneath their breasts. The speed that the pigeons make in their flight causes a weird and plaintive music that is seldom silent in such cities as Peking and Canton. In the early days of the Christian church, all believers were known to be a peculiar people. They had something added to their way of living that put a song into their souls. Like the pigeon with its musical instrument attached to its breast making music on its flight, so every child of God should have a new song put into his heart that would make him sing as he travels toward the Eternal City. We should fill the world with our music as we travel toward heaven.

While my car was making forty miles an hour I looked ahead and saw a battered and broken mother hen in the middle of the road with her brood standing about her dead body. A car had struck her and left her dead in the road. I knew how it happened. Her brood was on each side of the road and this feathered mother, true to all motherly instinct, had tried to protect her little one as they called for her in alarm and she lost her life. She was caught by the speeding car as she tried to protect her brood on both sides of the highway. How pathetic to see the little ones hovering near her dead body and trying still to find protection where the heart had ceased to beat. Our mothers may be cold in death but somehow we never lose the inclination to draw near to her for protection and life.

How Blue Flame Engine Originated

How W. S. Knudsen's desire to possess a phenomenally powerful but compact engine for a small racing boat resulted in the discovery of new principles of combustion control that are now reflected in improved automobile performance has been told finally by Alex Taub, internationally known as an authority on internal combustion engine He related the story at Detroit recently in an address outlining 1934 automotive developments, as an illustration of how engineers meet demands for th seemingly impossible.

"In 1931," said Mr. Taub, a member of the Chevrolet experimental engineering staff, "William S. Knudsen, then president of Chevrolet, requested the engineering department to design an engine of only 150 cubic inches that would develop 85 horsepower, for installation in a 17-foot racing boat. The order was a tall one, since at that time the standard Chevrolet engine was 194 cubic inches displacement and delivered 55 horsepower. To obtain 54 per cent more horsepower with 22 per ce less displacement looked like an almo impossible job.

"However, Mr. Knudsen insisted that nothing but an engine designed by h own engineering staff would suit hi but he added one of his characteris remarks: 'You fellows go ahead, and remember that you are dealing with man accustomed to disappointmen Do what you can.'

"We got busy seeking to find out how we could get what Mr. Knudsen wanted, and out of our efforts came a new principle of cylinder-head design and fuel combustion control. Instead of the horsepower requested, 88 horsepowe was obtained. Based on its cubic inc displacement, that little motor was th equal of any non-supercharged aviatio engine in use today."

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. Headley Mon.

Funeral services for Mrs. Travis Headley, who died Sunday night at her home in Clanton, following an illness of long duration, were held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Liberty Hill Baptist church. Dr. S. J. Ezell, pastor of the Clanton Baptist church, officiated. Burial was in the churchyard cemetery with Spigener in charge.

Mrs. Headley is survived by one daughter, Mrs. J. C. Headley, of Clanton; twelve grand-children and a number of great-grandchildren. She had been a resident of Chilton County most of her life and was well known throughout this section.

WOULD LIKE TO SEE BOXING AND WRESTLING

Dear Editor:

Writing in regard to the sports that are in Chilton County. I, of course, know that they are very few, and I wonder why they can't be increased.

What's wrong with a few wrestling and boxing bouts? Chilton County has just plenty of boxers and wrestlers and why can't some one who is interested organize a club to this effect?

A mat and ring combined would cost a few dollars, and by doing this it would give everyone a chance for something different, and would help brighten up prosperity to a certain extent.

Hoping that everyone who is interested will cooperate with me, I am,

Yours,

Ford Motor Company Reduces Car Prices

Detroit, Mich.—Reductions of $10 to $15 in list prices of 1934 Ford V-8 passenger cars and $10 to $20 in list prices of Ford V-9 commercial cars and trucks were announced last week by the Ford Motor Company effective Friday, June 15.

Ford prices had remained unchanged since the introduction of the 1934 V-8 last December, the Ford Motor Company not having participate din the recent general automotive price increase. The reductions announced are, therefore, a decrease in the original prices.

The price reduction on the standard and de luxe Tudor Sedans, most popular individual models in point of sales, is $15. Prices of other standard and de luxe body types were reduced $10, except prices of the Roadster, Phaeton and Cabriolet, de luxe types, which remained unchanged. Both standard and de luxe passenger cars have the same V-8 engine and 112 inch wheelbase chassis. Body types for both are identical except for the de luxe equipment.

HIGHLAND

Last Sunday evening was our regular singing evening. We had a good singing. The opening song was led by the chairman, Mr. E. T. Weldon, after which prayer was led by the Rev. Harve Culp. Directors for the afternoon were: Messrs. Fonzie Coe, Harve Culp, Clint Billingsley, Sovereign Dickey, Albert Headley, T. W. Billingsley; Misses Ruby Weldon Gladys Wyatt. Pianist for the afternoon was Miss Dessie Wyatt. Closing prayer was led by the Rev. Harve Culp.

Everybody come back next third Sunday afternoon and bring someone with you and let's try to make it the best singing we have ever had.

INAUGURATE PROGRAM FOR CANNING HERE

Farm Women Are At Work On Canning; Interest Is Growing Says Agent

Plans for a most extensive canning season are already underway in Chilton County, according to Miss Ruth Pardue, county home demonstration agent, who says that canning enthusiasm is running high.

"Everywhere I turn", says Miss Pardue, I find the farm women at work on their spring and summer canning. As fast as each garden product is ready on vine, bush, or whatnot, they are waiting to pop into cans or jars all that is not needed for current use and so have them ready against the off-seasons The use of improved equipment for home canning is largely responsible for the great increase in the number of quarts put up in the county during the past year. As soon as a woman knows she may can in complete safety from any danger of botulism and without discouraging, expensive spoilage, she is more anxious to invest her time and products this way. "The days of the messy, uncertain, and unsafe canning are rapidly being left behind. Nowadays there is hardly anything edible which cannot be successfully canned."

Demonstrations will be given during the season on every type of vegetable available in this county. Along with the demonstrations the use of the pressure cooker and tin can seaer will be explained and an opportunity given for anyone present to bring up her own particular canning difficulty or problem. These demonstartions will be open to all interested women of the community

The following is June Itenary. All demonstrations will be held at 2 p. m

June 21, Sardis, Mrs. E. W. Clinner; June 22, Verbena, Schoolhouse; June 23, Office; June 25, Office; June 26 Poplar Springs, Mrs. Mattie L. Crew; June 27, Mineral Springs, to be decided; June 28, Minooka, Mrs. Donald Williams; June 29, Office; June 30, Office.

Anyone who needs help with their canning will please get in touch with Miss Pardue at her office.

FARM LOANS BENEFICIAL SAYS REPORT

A Total Of $110,000 Covering Mortgages Made In The County Past Year

A total of $110,000 of Federal land bank and Land Bank Commissioner's farm mortgage loans was made in Chilton County, Alabama (state), from June 1, 1933, to May 1, 1934, according to the Farm Credit Administration.

Of this total farmers in Chilton County used approximately $85,700, or 77.9 per cent to refinance their indebtedness. By refinancing, farmers obtained new mortgage loans which they used to repay their old debts. They generally reduced their annual interest charges in doing so. In a number of cases, scale-downs of indebtedness occured in connection with the new loans. These and other advantages benefited farmers primarily. Secondarily, creditors benefited from the receipt of cash or bonds in exchange for obligations they held.

Of the loan money used by farmers in Chilton County for refinancing their debts, about $12,300, it was estimated, repaid their debts to banks; $1,400, their taxes; $4.000 their debts to merchants; $68,00, their debts to "others", or creditors not separately classified, including private mortgage lenders, mortgage loan companies, retired farmers and many others to whom farmers were in debt.

A total of about $24,300 of loans in the county was used for purposes other than the refinancing of borrowers' debts. Of this sum, $19,600 was used for the purchase of land and equipment the construction or improvement of buildings, and for general agricultural uses, including the provision of capital, while $4,700, the balance, was used for the purchase of stock in national farm loan associations, for loan fees, etc.

Most Amazing Proof

OF EXTRA STRENGTH, SAFETY AND DEPENDABILITY Ever Known!

WORLD RECORD BROKEN!

IT IS almost inconceivable that human ingenuity could build tires that would withstand the terrific punishment of the 500-mile grind at Indianapolis, May 30.

'Round and 'round the blistering track they streaked, hour after hour, under the blazing sun . . . the low moan of powerful motors rose to a terrific roar as they hit the straightaways at 150 miles or better—grinding, pulling, pounding around treacherous tire-destroying curves faster than they ever dared before. Sliding into the turns at these terrific speeds, there was nothing to hold the car to the track except the tire.

Mile after mile, lap after lap, greater and greater heat and increased centrifugal force developed to separate the tread from the body of the tire. Every conceivable force known was working to tear the tires to pieces—yet Firestone High Speed Tires, with Gum-Dipped High Stretch Cords, withstood this most gruelling test.

Thirty-three demons of speed—thirty-three cars equipped with Firestone High Speed Tires—all protected by Gum-Dipped High Stretch Cords—entered the Annual Speed Classic. Every tire was bought by the driver or owner of the car.

In all the heat—in all the grinding—in all the straining and pulling — not one cotton strand loosened — not one life was endangered by tire failure—not one car was forced out of the race by tire trouble. Six of the winners finished without a tire change.

What a tribute to the Extra Strength—Safety and Durability built into Firestone High Speed Tires.

THIS MEANS ENDURANCE

WHAT THIS MEANS TO YOU

The amazing record of Firestone dependability at Indianapolis was made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping. Every fiber of every cord in every ply of the tire is saturated and coated with pure liquid rubber; there are eight extra pounds of rubber to every 100 pounds of cotton cords.

There is greater adhesion between the plies of the Gum-Dipped Cord body and between the body and the tread. As a result of this patented process of Gum-Dipping Firestone engineers have been able to build a wider tread of flatter contour, with more and tougher rubber and deeper non-skid, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

Don't delay! Call on the Firestone Service Dealer or Service Store in your community today and equip your car with the new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934. Drive with security and peace of mind.

McKEE THANKS VOTERS

To the Voters of Chilton County:

I wish to take this method of expressing my sincere appreciation for the confidence you have shown in me by honoring me with the Democratic nomination for the office of tax-collector of our county.

I assure you that if I am successful in November, you will never have reason to regret this vote of confidence. As I have often stated during my campaign, I will always stand for a square deal to every tax payer in the county and will always remember that I am a servant of all the people in the county.

Respectively,
T. L. McKEE.

POPWELL THANKS VOTERS

Editor, Chilton County News:

Please allow me space in your paper to express my sincere appreciation to my many friends who voted for me in the June primary. I also want to say should I have been known better over the county I believe I would have received many more votes, although I am very much pleased with the outcome.

I will assure you, even though I lost, none of the winners appreciated the support any more than I did. I feel like the fight has just begun for the nominees and they will have plenty to do between now and November. We will all work together and try to win this Fall. Again I wish to thank each and every one of my supporters for the splendid vote I received.

Yours truly,
NEWTON A. POPWELL

Mt. Springs

The Mt. Springs Ladies' Aid wishes to thank everyone that made the sale of their quilt possible. We also wish to thank each contributor as well as those that had charge of the sales. We wish to congratulate the winner, Mrs. A. C. Williamson.

Mt. Springs had the pleasure of having the Eastview Christian Endeavor as their guest Sunday night, bringing their very interesting play "Something Big", which was enjoyed by a large audience. The Hull sisters sang several beautiful songs that was greatly enjoyed by all present. The Rev. Hull bringing the message, a very interesting message on Missions.

We wish to thank everyone and wish them to know that they have a cordial invitation to come back any time.

Mt. Springs is taking this method of sending greetings to the absent members. Though they may be absent, we want them to know they are not forgotten.

Our revival starts the Saturday night before the third Sunday in July. We hope as many as can will arrange to be with us.

The Ladies' Aid will meet at the church July 27th. We hope all members will be present. Ladies that are not members are invited to meet with us also.

Black-Draught For Dizziness, Headache Due To Constipation

"I have used Thedford's Black-Draught several years and find it splendid," writes Mr. G. W. Holley, of St. Paul, Va. "I take it for dizziness or headache (due to constipation). I have never found anything better. A short while ago, we began giving our children Syrup of Black-Draught as a laxative for colds and little stomach ailments, and have found it very satisfactory." . . . Millions of packages of Thedford's Black-Draught are required to satisfy the demand for this popular, old reliable, purely vegetable laxative. 25¢ a package. "Children like the Syrup."

RE-ROOF for all time

DON'T take chances with an old roof when it is so easy to have Careystone applied right over it. Made of asbestos and cement formed into shingle-shaped units, these roofs have all the advantages of slate or tile without the heavy weight, high cost and tendency to crack.

Permanent and Fireproof

Careystone is a permanent roof—first cost is last cost. And it is as fireproof as stone.

Roof Beauty

Careystone is made in five attractive colors. And at no extra cost you can have the "Weather-Age" finish—made only by Carey.

Low Cost...Free Estimate

Careystone costs much less than many roofs which do not approach it in appearance or durability. Let us give you a free estimate on reroofing your home. Call, phone or write.

Services Saturday and Sunday were very well attended. Brother Gordon Sorrell delivered two wonderful messages, which everybody enjoyed. If you missed either of these sermons you missed a lot. Brother Sorrell, we beg you to come again.

The date for our revival meeting has been set for the third Sunday in July. Now is the time to begin praying for our revival and don't wait until July.

We had several visitors with us both Sunday and Sunday night. We were very glad to have you with us, and invite you back any time.

Mr. Ottis Glenn visited in Cooper Sunday afternoon.

Several from here attended the sing- at Collins Chapel. They reported a good singing and a nice time.

Mrs. W. F. Glenn and daughter, Lera, spent a while Sunday afternoon with Mrs. R. J. Downs and daughters.

Mr. W. F. Glenn and family had as their dinner guest last Thursday Mr. Jasper Glenn from Cooper.

Mrs. Wallace Watkins had as her week end guest Mrs. Elbert Yates from near Cooper.

Mr. Charlie Sandlin spent a while Saturday afternoon with Messrs. Ottis and Oliver Glenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dennis had as their week end guests Mr. and Mrs. Ander Dennis from West Clanton.

Mr. Aaron Guy spent a while Saturday morning with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mims.

Little Betty Jene Watkins had as her week end guests little Misses Louise and La Verne Yates from Cooper.

Mr. Arthur Mims had as his guest a while Saturday afternoon Mr. Farley Mims from the Clanton cotton mill.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Downs and baby, Mrs. Arnold Downs, daughter and son, are spending a few days this week with Mr. R. J. Downs and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Martin spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Downs and family.

Miss Alma Blalock spent the week end with Mrs. Charlie Mims.

Messrs. Arnold and Phillip Brown were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. Ottis Glenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Newt Mims had as their week end guests Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yates from Cooper.

Mrs. Arthur Mims had as her guests Sunday her sister, Miss Bonnie Guy, and Miss Elva Kelley.

Mr. Tom Mims spent a few hours Sunday morning with Mr. Ottis Glenn.

Miss Jettie May Dennis spent a few hours Monday with her aunt, Mrs. Nellie Driver.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Downs and family had as their guests Monday Mr. and Mrs. Claud Downs and children from near Verbena.

Unity-Chilton Institute Set For July 10, 11, 12

It is not too early to turn to the calendar and mark July 10, 11, and 12 as special dates to be held open for the Mission Institute which is to be at Clanton Baptist church on those days. This is a joint affair, Chilton and Unity associations should be represented.

It is also a family affair. Classes and entertainment will be provided for every age. Every preacher pastoring a church in either association is urged to be present. Both men and women—boys and girls—children from the age of three to grandparents of any age, are cordially invited. Splendid speakers and teachers have already been secured. Later the complete program will be printed . This article is to remind you to make ready.

Pastors, do not arrange to be holding a revival those days; church officers, plan to come; W.M.S. presidents, and members of the Executive of W. M.U., be certain to attend the Joint Executive Board to be held for both associations at Clanton, Friday, June 22, that plans may be made together This is very important. The meeting opens at 10:30, each one bring her own box lunch. We will probably close by 2:00 or 2:30.

Plan to make this Institute your family treat for the summer. You and your family will be better and happier Christians if you attend the whole three days. Plan to do that.

DEALER ADVERTISEMENT

CHEVROLET Chevrolet proudly presents the new Sport Sedan as the most beautiful model ever built by any manufacturer of low-priced cars. On a long chassis embodying Chevrolet's combination of exclusive features — enclosed Knee-Action, an 80-mile-an-hour, 80-horsepower engine, cable-controlled brakes, and all the rest—is mounted a body that combines five-passenger capacity, exceptional luggage space, and more de luxe touches than we have space to tell about. If appearance and convenience come first with you, and you wish to stay in the low-price field—here, beyond a doubt, is your car.

Most Amazing Proof

OF EXTRA STRENGTH • SAFETY AND DEPENDABILITY Ever Known!

WORLD RECORD BROKEN!

IT IS almost inconceivable that human ingenuity could build tires that would withstand the terrific punishment of the 500-mile grind at Indianapolis, May 30.

'Round and 'round the blistering track they streaked, hour after hour, under the blazing sun . . . the low moan of powerful motors rose to a terrific roar as they hit the straightaways at 150 miles or better—grinding, pulling, pounding around treacherous tire-destroying curves faster than they ever dared before. Sliding into the turns at these terrific speeds, there was nothing to hold the car to the track except the tire.

Mile after mile, lap after lap, greater and greater heat and increased centrifugal force developed to separate the tread from the body of the tire. Every conceivable force known was working to tear the tires to pieces—yet Firestone High Speed Tires, with Gum-Dipped High Stretch Cords, withstood this most gruelling test.

Thirty-three demons of speed—thirty-three cars equipped with Firestone High Speed Tires—all protected by Gum-Dipped High Stretch Cords—entered the Annual Speed Classic. Every tire was bought by the driver or owner of the car.

In all the heat—in all the grinding—in all the straining and pulling — not one cotton strand loosened — not one life was endangered by tire failure—not one car was forced out of the race by tire trouble. Six of the winners finished without a tire change.

What a tribute to the Extra Strength—Safety and Durability built into Firestone High Speed Tires.

WHAT THIS MEANS TO YOU

The amazing record of Firestone dependability at Indianapolis was made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping. Every fiber of every cord in every ply of the tire is saturated and coated with pure liquid rubber; there are eight extra pounds of rubber to every 100 pounds of cotton cords.

There is greater adhesion between the plies of the Gum-Dipped Cord body and between the body and the tread. As a result of this patented process of Gum-Dipping Firestone engineers have been able to build a wider tread of flatter contour, with more and tougher rubber and deeper non-skid, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

Don't delay! Call on the Firestone Service Dealer or Service Store in your community today and equip your car with the new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934. Drive with security and peace of mind.

COST OF RECOVERY PROGRAM

ed, it was revealed.

In his message to Congress upon asking for the last appropriation the President somewhat apologetically explained that although Government emergency expenditures have been slower than expected he still hopes to spend $16,530,000,000 during the 1934 and 1935 fiscal years since the total revenues during those years will be only $7,235,000,000 leaving a deficit of about $9,295,000,000.

After all the money has been spent the President proposes that the budget will be brought into permanent balance by making the expenditures equal the income.

Huge Publice Debt

Thus if there is any disposition upon the Congress to authorize expenditures in excess of the $16,530,000,000 in the 1934 and 1935 fiscal years that amount will have to be raised by some form of taxation.

Just as a sort of an inventory it may interest you to know that at the end of the 1934-35 Government spending period this nation will have a public debt amounting to about $32,000,000,000 plus contingent Farm Credit and Home Owners Loan Corporation bond liabilities amounting to $4,000,000,000!

It might be well to suggest to your grandchildren that they invoke a second national day of Thanksgiving when the United States of America is once again free of all debt.

U.S. in Debt Before

But then the United States has been in debt before. It has not always been fortunate enough to have been able to boast of the fact that its per capita debt stood at but $2.83 as was the case in 1861.

Then the national debt amounted to but $90,582,417. For, in 1919, when the national debt was at its peak the per capita assessment amounted to $246.09. At that time, the national debt was $25,482,034,419. In 1933 the per capita assessment was but $179.32 while the total national debt was $22,538,672,164.

Debt Not So High

Similarly the nation has also had periods when it owed more interest on public debts. For example, in 1923 there was an interest bill of $1,055,923,690 while three years previous there was one amounting to $1,020,251,622. In 1933, however, the amount was but $689,365,106. Similarly Congressional appropriations were not at their highest level during 1934 when they amounted to but $7,648,703,029. The year previous they had been but $4,840,809,476. But in 1918 those appropriations amounted to $18,144,861,745 while in 1919 they rose to the staggering sum of $25,598,967,518!

Thus the President's accounting for the $3,166,000,000 relief monies does not seem at all unreasonable despite the fact that it is a comparatively huge peace-time expenditure.

VETS TO MEET

Major W. M. Wesson, states service commissioner, will address the boys on veteran legislation and many other things of paramount interest to the boys of '17 and '18 will be discussed, Mr. Pitts stated. "This is a wonderful opportunity not only to get first hand information pertaining to the legal rights of all World War Veterans, but it is also a wonderful opportunity to learn and know one another as buddies," Legionaire Pitts said, in urging as many ex-service men as possible to attend.

Barbecue chicken will be another interesting feature of the program. The chickens will be barbecued at Gore's Pond on the Lay Dam road and will be ready for serving when the boys arrive at 5 p. m., Mr. Pitts said.

COUNTY AGENT FANT CAUTIONS FARMERS ABOUT COTTON TAX

County Agent J. W. Fant is mailing this week 3,400 cards to farmers in this county, reminding them that they must secure bale tags with which to tag cotton produced last year to avoid the payment of a fifty cent tax which will be levied on all cotton ginned after June 1, 1934.

Mr. Fant stated that he will soon have a number of these tags and urges farmers to make application for them before the coming ginning season.

VICTORY FOR DEMOCRATS IS PREDICTED

Nominees Are Of Highest Calibre And Receive Hearty Approval

By Victor Norris

For the first time in more than a quarter of a century, political pronostigators throughout Chilton County are conceding that the Democratic Party has above a fifty per cent chance at victory in the general election in November when eleven candidates on each ticket will vie for various posts in the county government.

On every hand is heard predictions of Democratic victory this fall. Never before have those familiar with county politics been so unanimous in forecasting the election of the Democratic ticket.

Various reasons are cited for these increased chances at election of Democratic officials in Chilton County, which has been numbered in the Republican columns for so long. Among these are: the fact that the party has one of the best tickets ever nominated in this county; the wide-spread acceptance of the national administration as a boon in a time of great trouble; the general trend toward change which has been evident throughout the world for the past two years ;and a higher appreciation and understanding of the principles underlying the doctrine of the party.

Not only in Chilton County, but throughout the nation the people have been exhibiting complete confidence in the officials in Washington and marching hand in hand with the great leaders in that long trek back to prosperity. Chilton County has shared in the funds and programs created by the national administration to help this country back to normalcy in the same degree of generosity as have those other states and counties more friendly to the administration. Many Republicans feel that it would be unfair to have shared in these programs without lending support to perpetuate the ideals of the Democratic Party, which made them possible.

Four years of depression awakened a desire in the hearts of the people of the entire world for a change. This is another reason given in favor of a Democratic victory in this county in the coming election. A glance over the votes in the various sections of the state indicates a tendency to replace the old.

During recent years, the people of Chilton County, both Democrats and Republicans, have gained a better understanding of the ideals of Democracy and have thus acquired a much higher appreciation of its principles.

But perhaps the outstanding reason for the numerous forecasts for victory in November is the calibre of the nominees. Never before, according to persons who have been closely in touch with county politics and government, has either party been able to select an equally outstanding group of men who merit the enthusiastic endorsement being accorded the eleven men selected to carry the banners of the Democratic Party in Chilton County.

BASEBALL, BARBECUE, RACES, ETC., AT CLANTON 4TH OF JULY

A crowded program of amusement has been prepared for the Fourth of July celebration to be staged in Clanton next Wednesday, sponsored by the Clanton Baseball Team and the Clanton Pilot Club.

Featuring a doubleheader baseball contest; a wide selection of music by both local and outside talent; foot races; comic acts by clowns dressed in regular circus regalia; barbecue and refreshments, those in charge of planning the amusement for the day are enthusiastically expecting a large attendance.

Twice, once in the forenoon and again in the afternoon, the Clanton team and the Maxwell Field nine will meet on the field of battle. The morning game is scheduled for 10 o'clock and the afternoon game begins at 3:15. Women and children will be admitted to the morning game without charge, it was stated.

Three prizes will be given in the musical contest, which will include all types of stringed instruments, both solos and with accompaniment. The foot races will feature the 50 and 100 yard dash and other contests.

The Clanton team has been doing some big-time playing this season and those who fail to see the games next Wednesday will be cheating themselves of some real entertainment, according to Marvin Marcus, manager of the Clanton boys.

STORES WILL CLOSE JULY 4TH

While there has been no unified agreement, it appears that the business men of Clanton are unanimous in their intentions to close places of business on next Wednesday, July the Fourth.

Several places were asked about the matter Wednesday morning, and every one interviewed expressed intentions of closing for the Fourth.

Concerning the half holiday on Thursday of next week, which will be the day after the Fourth, it was decided by those interviewed that it should be left optional with each place as to whether they would close or stay open Thursday afternoon.

WITNESSES SAY VARDEN STRUCK FOR DEFENSE

The Preliminary Hearing For Henderson Is Put Off Until Later Date

Arthur Varden, who has been held in jail since June 12 for the knife-slaying of Charley Glass, was released last Thursday on a $500 bail following a preliminary hearing, in which only two witnesses, both State witnesses, gave testimony before Justice of the Peace J. L. Wilson.

Preliminary hearing for William Henderson, who is being held on murder charges for the shooting of his brother, Charley Henderson, on the same afternoon that Glass met his death, was continued Tuesday at the request of defense attorneys. The hearing was scheduled for Tuesday morning, but defense attorneys requested a continuance, according to County Solicitor G. C. Walker, who said that it is not known when the hearing will be held.

Both J. D. Sammons and Clyde Ellison, witnesses to the Varden-Glass tragedy, testified that Glass assaulted Varden, knocking him into a ditch and that Varden did not use his knife until he had repeatedly called for help to stop Glass from beating him. Varden is said to weigh less than 150 pounds while Glass was said to have weighed near 200.

The fight occurred at the voting place at Mineral Springs, but is said that politics played no part in the altercation. Henderson was shot at the Henderson store in Mt. Creek during a family argument, according to witnesses.

Plymouth Announces Special Six This Week

The Plymouth continues to hold its place in the limelight in the field of low-priced cars, featuring many outstanding improvements that cannot be had in its competitors, according to an enthusiastic announcement this week by Polk Bros. Motor Co., Inc., local dealers for the Plymouth automobiles, who are urging every prospective car purchaser to visit their show rooms and see the new Special Six.

"Not only is Plymouth offering the greatest values ever known with its super-low prices, but this new Special Six is a revelation in modern mechanism, featuring at least five improvements that cannot be had in any other low-priced car.

"Its hydraulic brakes afford the greatest possible safety in driving and saves frequent relining; its steel body is the best safety insurance that the motorist can have; its floating power reduces vibration and insures comfort; its individual wheel springing is the same that is used in more expensive automobiles; and the price is within the range of almost everyone."

Pastors To Meet In Clanton Monday a.m.

Members of the Chilton County-Unity Pastors association will meet Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the Clanton Baptist church for the final meeting during the summer months, according to information from the Rev. J. W. Jones, pastor of the Thorsby Baptist church.

The Reverend Jones stated that all pastors are urged to be present at the meeting.

SCHOOL CENSUS WILL BE TAKEN DURING JULY

Public Asked To Cooperate When Census Begins In This County

During the month of July, a census will be taken of all the residents in the county between the ages of six and twenty-one, according to an announcement this week by Luther E. Little, county superintendent of education.

"This census is required by law and is used for the basis of appropriating the state's school funds to the various counties. The public is requested to give accurate information to the enumerators when the work begins," Mr. Little stated.

The census taken two years ago showed that there are 7,030 white and 1,421 negro children between the ages of six and twenty-one in the county. Of this number 3,724 were boys and 3,306 girls.

FOR ERECTING NEW CITY HALL IN CLANTON

GOV'T APPROVES LOAN OF $32.000.00

The next question on which the voters of Clanton will voice their opinion will be the advisability of borrowing $32,000 from the Public Works Administration for the construction of a new two-story brick city hall and the extension of the town's water mains, according to information released this week by Mayor J. Lee Smith, who stated that a referendum to determine the desires of the people regarding the loan will be held Monday, July 30.

A letter from Congressman W. B. Oliver was received by Mayor Smith a few days ago informing him that the application filed several months ago, asking for a $32,000 loan for the purpose of constructing a much-needed city hall and making necessary extension of the water mains, had been approved by the PWA authorities in Washington and the money will soon be available. Mayor Smith stated, however, that he wants to make sure that the loan will meet the approval of the majority of the town's citizenship and has decided to submit it to a vote to permit their decision.

Thirty per cent of the loan will be an outright grant from the federal govern-

EDITORIAL

JUDGE L. H. REYNOLDS

When his present term ends Judge L. H. Reynolds will have served Chilton County as Probate Judge for twenty-four years. For the second time in his long career he was defeated in the primary of June 12, 1934, in his race for re-election to this office. Few men have such a long record of public service to their county. We have no direct information on the subject, but we imagine that his political ambitions have closed with this chapter in his life.

The News has consistently opposed Judge Reynolds in politics thruout the years. We have failed to agree with many of his policies, and we would have opposed him for re-election had he been the Republican nominee.

But in spite of this opposition, we have and do recognize certain things about him which all of us can commend. His record of service is one which may well be commended by Chilton County citizens. That he has ability far above the average even his most bitter enemies must admit. That he has had the welfare of his county and his people close to heart is a fact the records verify. Yes, Judge Reynolds has much to look back upon with pride. We have opposed him, we would oppose him again under like circumstances, but at the same time we would be the last to deny him the glory which is rightfully his as he comes to the close of a political career which has seen many battles, and in the fighting of which he has demonstrated a leadership and personality to awake the admiration of both friend and foe.

CLANTON IS A GROWING TOWN

That same stride of progress which has characterized the growth of Clanton, from a little country hamlet to one of the most outstanding small towns in the entire State of Alabama in less than a quarter of a century, is visualized again in the two most recent strides in the Town's march of progress

Two new public buildings, which will be monuments to Clanton for many years to come, apparently are within the grasp of its citizenship. Assurance has been received of a modern Post Office building for Clanton, and without a doubt the voters of Clanton will endorse the effort that is being put forth by the administration to secure funds from the Public Works Administration to erect a new up-to-date city hall here.

Our leaders in Washington, especially Congressman W. B. Oliver, have been untiring in their efforts to secure these improvements for Clanton and it is our duty to do our part by lending every possible ounce of cooperation.

Thirty per cent of the funds that will be advanced the Town of Clanton in the form of a PWA loan, if the voters give their endorsement to the movement, will be an outright grant—and the remaining 70 per cent will be spread over a period of thirty years, leaving annual bonds of approximately $1,000, toward building a city hall and extending water mains.

The News urges its readers to lend their cooperation that the march to bigger and better things for Clanton will not be interrupted, but will be perpetuated with dreams of accomplishments that is only merited by the best.

FOR A SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

When the News goes to press again we will have celebrated one of our most popular national holidays—July Fourth. Programs for picnics in the county are already practically complete. Nearly all of us have some trip, some plan in mind which will be our part in commemoration of this day. It could be very easy for us to forget, to lay aside our usual caution—be careless for a day—and perhaps invite a tragedy that would make us sorry for many days to come. Let us swim, but not beyond our depth; let us drive, but not faster than safety will permit; let us be joyous, but confine it within the limits of our better judgment.

Funeral Held Sunday For Mrs. S. J. Kicker

Funeral services for Mrs. Sallie J. Kicker, 66, wife of the late N. J. Kicker, who died Saturday morning at her residence in West End following an illness of several weeks duration, were held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Clanton Methodist church. Dr. S. J. Ezell, pastor of the Clanton Baptist church, and the Rev. R. P. Cochran, pastor of the Clanton Methodist church, officiated. Burial was in the Clanton cemetery with Spigener in charge.

Mrs. Kicker had been seriously ill for several weeks, and for more than a week she had been expected to die every day. She had lived in Clanton for many years and was well known throughout this section.

Surviving her are: two brothers, W. S. Dunn, McComb, Miss., and T. R. Dunn, of Georgiana; and one sister, Mrs. Bolling Herbert, of Evergreen.

The following friends served as pallbearers: Ira Crowe, Dave Boyett, Dr. Vincent J. Ward, Raymond Mims, J.B. Atkinson and W. H. Sartor.

KIWANIS CLUB TO LEND AID FOR PROJECTS

Large Group Business Men To Attend Club Lunch Here Tonight

In keeping with that spirit which has characterized the Clanton Kiwanis club in its constant fights for things that lend improvement to Clanton and Chilton County, a large group of local busiess men have been invited to attend the regular session of the club at the Exchange Hotel Thursday evening, when a general discussion of the two most recent improvements which seem to be within the grasp of the citizenship of Clanton will be held. These improvements are the erection of a new city hall and the extension of the water mains, also the new post office building which has been allocated to Clanton.

Both of these projects have the enthusiastic endorsement of the club, according to a statement from Luther E. Little, president of the club, who declared that it will be the aim of the Clanton Kiwanis club to lend every effort toward the realization of these two projects.

"The Clanton Kiwanis club realizes the advantages of these two projects to Clanton and surrounding territory and will lend every possible cooperation toward securing these improvements for Clanton," President Little declared.

Mr. Little stated that if the committee in charge of inviting local business men to attend Thursday evening's session failed to see all the business men, they are urged to feel free to attend and are requested to notify J. Mell Martin sometime Thursday to allow him to place orders with the hotel chef.

Oliver Says Work Will Be Hastened On The New Structure

$55.000.00 PLANNED FOR SITE, BUILDING

It became definitely known here in the past few days that Clanton would be the location of a new post office building to be erected by the United States government.

Public announcement of this was made Monday through the daily newspapers and was verified here by Billy Smith, acting postmaster at Clanton who stated he had been informed that the government had allocated an amount for the purchase of a suitable location for the building and funds for its construction. When asked when work would begin, Billy Smith stated that he did not know at this time, but understood no time would be lost in securing a site and starting the work.

It is understood the building will cost several thousands of dollars, to be constructed of brick with stone or marble trimmings. Congressman W. B. Oliver whose interest in his district which includes Chilton County, shows keenly in all his acton, advises that the work will be carried out as soon as possible so as to do its part in relieving any unemployment situation which might be confronting our county.

In an article by Russell Kent, Associated Press writer in Washington, which appeared Monday in the daily papers had the following to say:

Fairfield and five other Alabama cities are to have new postoffices out of the $65,000,000 public buildings fund in the final deficiency appropriations bill, it was announced Sunday by the postmaster general and the secretary of the treasury.

Th amount involved in each of these contemplated contracts is not stated, but will remain to be worked out, the total will be several million dollars.

Sites and postoffice buildings are listed for Alabama at Fairfield, Brewton, Tuskegee, Marion, Clanton, and Russelville, while the federal building at Anniston is to be extended and remodeled and the postoffice building at Gadsden is to be extended and remodeled and additional land is to be purchased for the purpose.

Act Guides Selection

In selecting the list of projects the secretary of the treasury and the postmaster general were guided by the wording of the appropriation act which provided that "with a view to relieving country-wide unemployment" they "shall endeavor to distribute the projects equitably throughout the country so far as may be consistent with the needs of public service."

WOMANLESS WEDDING ON TUESD'Y NIGHT

Baptist Circle Number Three Will Present Hilarious Entertainment

A treat such as no Chilton County audience has ever had the privilege and pleasure of enjoying awaits those who will attend the "Womanless Wedding," which will be presented at the High School auditorium next Tuesday night, sponsored by Missionary Circle Number 3 of the Clanton Baptist church.

Such nationally-known artists as Kate Smith, Rudy Vallee, the Boswell Sisters, Mae West, Baby Rose Marie and others will be featured on the program—or their personalities will be thoroughly depicted by local talent, which will be even more entertaining, according to those in charge of the program. George McCain will do the part of Mae West and others promise equally as many laughs.

Singing At Courthouse Friday Night, June 29

There will be singing at the courthouse in Clanton Friday night, June 29, beginning at 8 o'clock. The singers of the county have a cordial invitation to attend and bring your new books.

Prof. B. F. Gilliland of Jasper, a famous composer and singer for the past twenty years, will be present and will have a supply of new books. However, everyone bring the books you are accustomed to use, because they will all likely be used. Singing will last for about two hours. Remember, it is Friday night of this week.

Prosperity Is Here

After the stock market crash of 1929 it was several months before people of Chilton County were thoroughly cognizant that the country was really entering the throes of a serious economic depression. We went about our daily tasks as usual, and apparently there was little to concern us as individuals for perhaps more than a year. But the trimming of salary checks, the draining of reserves, lay-offs, resulting unemployment, and loss of business had set in which was soon to sharply drive home the fact that a major calamity had hit us.

So it has been with recovery. Our dispositions are peculiar in that when it is cloudy we think the bad weather will continue. When the national recovery program began moving we were a bit slow to recognize a definite change in the economic order. We kept thinking too often in terms of the depression. We continued to wait expectantly for some magic that would restore to us the abnormal and over-inflated period of 1928 and 1929, plus all the glamour with which imagination can clothe the past. We forgot that even then not all of us were swimming in wealth, and that ingenuity and hard work were the factors most handsomely rewarded.

Conditions about us now strongly indicate the presence of economic factors which offer opportunity to wide-awake, aggressive individuals with skill or capital. Not so long ago vacant homes were a common sight in Clanton. Now, even with re-modeling of homes and the building of new structures going on, the housing problem here is becoming acute. Almost without exception business men report increased volume of trade over the same period last year. To illustrate: One man reports a thousand dollar increase in receipts over the same period last year. Another reports two thousand dollars worth of business against five hundred in the same time a year ago. And everywhere the same kind of reports come in. New places of business have been and are being established, indicating a trend toward expansion. A great deal of work is being done up and down our business streets in the way of new show widows, new awnings, the tearing away of old and unsightly sheds, and vacant business buildings are rapidly becoming a thing of the past in Clanton, not to mention new buildings under contemplation and practically assured in the near future.

These things demand a wider scope of employment. They are commercial and civic projects, not to be confused with CWA and government relief programs. They indicate as sound basis for business expansion as we have ever known.

Yes, we think prosperity is here. The rewards for effort again may be attained. We should remember, however, that it takes initiative, perspiration and ingenuity to reach the goal. We must not forget that businesses sometimes failed, that sometimes a man was out of employment, even in 1928-29. Recognize the opportunities which are now present with us, use the wits and muscles that nature gave us—that has been a standing recipe for success through the ages—for conditions are such right now that the results are largely up to us.

Johnston Stresses One Fact

In his slashing replies to critics of the NRA, Administrator Johnson makes one point that must be conceded by every fair observer, and this is that a sincere and profoundly earnest effort has been and is being made to improve conditions, and especially the conditions confronting those least able to help themselves.

If the president has demonstrated anything more conclusively than another, it is his concern for the elements of society that are most unfortunately placed, and if mistakes have been made—and no one will deny that such has been the case—the mistakes have been errors of judgment, or faults in administrative machinery, and not by wilful design.

Indeed, it is this profoundly sincere sympathy for the struggling that has given the president his tremendous hold upon the affections of the people, and it is from this angle that administrative endeavors must be viewed if the appraisal is to be fair.

Moreover, when honesty of purpose dominates any undertaking the chances are very largely in favor of ultimate success, for intentions of this nature are not easily frustrated, especially when backed by the undoubted courage that characterizes the president.

The self-opinionated individual may persist in errors, even after they have been exposed, but it is not so with the man of courage and vision, and all concede these qualities to the president. — Tuscaloosa News.

Dictatorship's Dread

A striking insight into the philosophy of a dictatorship is given by the contrasting speeches made in Germany recently by Franz von Papen and Paul Joseph Goebbels.

Von Papen, vice chancellor of the Nazo government, advocated that the right to criticize the government—a right which has been sternly suppressed under Hitlerism—be allowed again. But a projected broadcast of a recording of his speech was immediately canceled, and Goebbels, Hitler's minister of propaganda, asserted that the suppression of criticism would be continued.

That it will be Goebbels' view, and not von Papen's, which will prevail is hardly to be doubted. Nothing is so dangerous to a dictatorship as freedom of discussion.

A Hitler, a Mussolini, or a Stalin—they do not fear armed revolt, for that is a thing they can cope with. Plain, unhampered talk is the one menace they cannot endure.—Selma Times-Journal.

"The Way Of Getting Along"

Sooner or later, a man if he is wise, dscovers that business life is a mixture of good days and bad, victory and defeat, give and take.

He learns that it doesn't pay to be a sensitive soul—that he should let some things go over his head like water off a duck's back.

He learns that all men have burnt toast for breakfast now and then and that he shouldn't take the other fellow too seriously.

He learns that he who loses his temper usually loses.

He learns that carrying a chip on his shouder is the easiest way to get into a fight.

He learns that the quickest way to become unpopular is to carry tales and gossip about others.

He learns that it doesn't matter so much who gets the credit so long as the business shows a profit.

He learns that buck passing always turns out to be a boomerang and that it never pays.

He comes to realize that the business could run along perfectly well without him.

He learns that even the janitor is human and that it doesn't do any harm to smile and say, "Good Morning" even if it is raining.

He learns that most of the other fellows are as ambitious as he is, that they have brains that are as good or better and that hard work and cleverness is the secret of success.

He learns to sympathize with the youngster coming into business, because he remembers how bewilderd he was when he first started out.

He learns that the gang is not any harder to get along with in one place than another and that "getting along" after all, depends about 98 per cent on his own behavior. —Wilfred Peterson in the Friendly Adventurer.

The Immortal Fifty-Six

Fifty-six members of the Continental Congress signed the Declaration of Independence after its adoption on July 4, 1776, and of these daring patriots it has been said that "not one of the signers ever fell from the high estate to which that great act had elevated him."

Among the 56 were many of the notable figures of the early history of the United States. Two of them, Adams and Jefferson, reached the presidency. Benjamin Harrison became the father of one President and the great-grandfather of another. The bold signature of John Hancock, who signed first as President of the Congress, is the most conspicuous feature of the original document. Other exceptionally prominent signers were Benjamin Franklin, Robert Morris, Dr. Benjamin Rush, Samuel Adams, Richard Henry Lee, and Charles Carroll. Carroll was the last survivor and lived 60 years after the adoption of the Declaration reaching the age of 95.

The signers included 34 lawyers, 13 farmers, nine merchants, five physicians, two mechanics, one clergyman, one mason and one surveyor. All except eight were born on American soil.

To the wisdom courage and patriotism of these immortal 56, who declared our independence and made heroic sacrifices in its behalf, the existence of the nation is largely due. They will ever be held in grateful remembrance.

Early Crime News

By many the apparent tendency of daily newspapers to give undue prominence to stories of crime is greatly deplored, but looking backward we may find a similar tendency in all history and literature, as well as in current news. The Old Testament contains the records of many crimes of every kind, beginning with Cain's murder of his brother, Abel, though without the minute details which accompany modern newspaper narratives.

Before newspapers were of general circulation, several important financial and business houses of Europe arranged with certain agencies for "news letters," which were primarily for the purpose of keeping informed on commercial matters.

An interesting collection of these letters, from the correspondence of the House of Fugger, international bankers, is still preserved, and show a decided trend toward news of crime as well as that of business.

One of these letters, dated at Augsburg, December 2, 1585, contains accounts of three murders, one suicide, one attempted suicide and one accidental drowning.

In another letter there is an account of a scandal, with a spicy recital of details such as no modern newspaper of general circulation would think of publishing.

Still another letter from Moscow, depicts the horrible atrocities being perpertrated in Russia. It says: "The folks are pitilessly and cruelly killed in their thousands. They freeze to death and perish by violent means. Corn, cattle and all else which is needed for man's sustenance is burnt and altogether much wanton damage is wrought."

Crimes and disasters loom large in history and in the news of the day, forming an inevitable part of the record of humanity. No to know about them would mean ignorance regarding the realities of life. But many of the offensive particulars might well be omitted from our newspapers.—Pickens County Herald.

How To Please The Burglar

While everyone else is on vacation, the burglar has his busiest season. L. A. Sawyer, burglary expert of the National Bufeau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, says there are certain signs that always gladden his heart.

He likes to see an accumulation of milk bottles and newspapers at doors, and always is pleased to note that mail boxes are full to running over with letters and circulars.

He approves of windows that have shades pulled down.

He becomes much more confident when he sees the garage door open, and notes that the car is gone.

The burglar, continues Mr. Sawyer, is delighted to find doors fastened with fragile locks that give way to the slightest pressure. He has praise for the householder who depends upon simple catches for windows which are accessible from the ground, the roof, fire-escape or from broad copings along which he can climb. He does not like such things as thumb screw catches which hold the window firm; he cannot get at them with a jimmy.

Inside the house the burglar likes to find that the housewife has placed all of her silver in a compartment of the sideboard. He likes to find the furs in a moth bag with opera cloaks and special dinner gowns.

If there is one thing that adds zest to the search of the visitor it is the practice of some housewives in hiding jewelry and money under carpets, rugs, in carelessly hung clothing, or in mattresses, pollows or the davenport. It is a game to him and he knows all the plays. It does not take long for him to win.

What the burglar does not like, Mr. Sawyer concludes, is to find strong locks on doors, special protection on windows, extra catches on dumbwaiters, and after entering, to dscover that all the movable valuables have been stored elsewhere.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

I saw a lady all dolled up. On her head she wore a hat of the most recent make; on her body she carried a dress made of the finest fabric, while her dainty feet were shod in the nicest shoes made. So far as I could see this woman was faultless in her dressing, but she had neglected the most important thing in her make-up and that was her expression. I saw another lady who was neatly dressed but her array was not of the finest. She wore no hat on her head, she had a calico dress upon her body and her feet were clad in common shoes, but she had made special preparation in her expression. A smile wreathed her face and happiness was catching from her soul. Whether we be men or women, of all the things that we wear, our expression is of the morst important. The finest clothes on the body and a snarl on the face and we ars shunned by all. In all they putting on, be sure that you put on a smile.

I saw two dogs go together for a tough and tumble fight. One of the dogs was tremendous in size and when he opened his mouth it seemed that he had power to kill. The other dog was very small in size but he carried wire and fire in his body. He seemed to be on top and on each side of the big dog all at the same time, and his teeth were doing damage on every muscle of the monster. With nothing but yelps coming from his big mouth the big dog was soon hustling from the fight. The little dog won. That caused me to philosophy thus: "It is not so much the size of the dog in the fight as it is the size of the fight in the dog that counts." It is not your size that will win for you in the contests of this life, but it is the size of the fight that you carry along with you.

In my rounds I passed a home where the lady of the house was watering the flowers in her yard. She told me that the dry weather was parching her flowers and that she was trying to keep them fresh and green with water that she sprinkled upon them. Oliver Wendell Holmes said, "There is a little corner in my heart called Reverence which needs watering every Sabbath." If this great man felt the need of the refreshing showers of God's Sanctuary, how much more should we feel that need. Your business contacts, you social fellowship and your family duties, never fail in producing a drouth in your soul life, and every Sunday you should be in your church and have the refreshing showers to fall upon your heart and keep it fresh and growing. Many have stayed away from God's house until all spiritual life has died out of the soul.

As a boy I sat at my desk in a country school and watched a grasshopper as he beat his body against the pane of the glass in a hopeless effort to find his liberty. I noticed that a hungry bird saw this hopper through the glass and he made an effort to claim him for his empty craw. The bird and the hopper alike failed to see the clear glass that was between them and yet each one knw that there was something there that kept them apart. Often in this life we are face to face with danger but there is something that we cannot see that protects us. God is all about us but we cannot see Him, and still, like that window pane, He is near with His providences and with His-protecting power. Lord, we cannot see Thee, but we know that Thou art near.

* * *

I saw a man in his front yard planting flowers. He did not have an easy task. The soil had to be pulverized, the grass roots had to be removed and the seed had to be put into the soil. Perspiration stood out on his brow as the man went quietly and yet dilligently about his task. In the coming months that man had a profusion of flowers about his premises and all because he planted and cultivated them. I attended a funeral not many days ago where there were many flowers. A loved doctor had released his working tools. Do you know why there were so many flowers at this man's funeral? I can tell you, it was because he had been planting and cultivating them in the hearts of his friends for many years. We produce the flowers at our funeral by our love and service to our fellowman. Blessed is that man or woman who produces many flowers for the day of his funeral.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By
Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

Wm. Southern, Jr., editor of the Independence (Mo.) Examiner, says:

"Newspapers are not only the best medium of advertising and pay the largest and promptest returns for the money expended, but are entitled to the support of the citizens of the community, because of the actual value of a newspaper to the community. By newspapers I mean just that I do not mean handbills or circulars scattered free where they are not wanted and where they have not been invited. The Missouri statute defines a newspaper as a publication issued at regular and stated intervals, entitled to second class rates in the Federal postoffice with a bona fide list of voluntary subscribers who have paid or agreed to pay a stated sum for subscription service.

"While there are few, if any, who will deny that a well conducted newspaper is a valuable asset for any community, yet there are few again who realize that the work of the local newspaper is eighty-five per cent defensive and therefore eighty-five per cent greater than the benefits which are obvious. This is also true of the local Chamber of Commerce. Eighty-five per cent of the value of a live Chamber of Commerce lies in the prevention and protective measures. There is never a day when the Chamber of Commerce officials are not called on to protect the citizens and business men from wild-cat schemes, from highbinders who would exploit the citizens, from fake schemes labeled advertising, from sideshows and all kinds of rackets which would soon take any city not prepared to resist. In this work the newspaper is continually engaged. It not only backs up the Chamber of Commerce, but more often brings to the public attention and action knowledge of threats to the public and private pocketbook. The newspaper helps the police maintain order and the courts and all civic machinery created for the public benefit and protection is strengthened by the local newspaper. These efforts and accomplishments are what I call defensive accomplishments and are often worth more than actual fights which the public sees and understands. It is a lot easier to prevent than it is to cure. One of the difficulties our courts face is the fact that a criminal must have accomplished his crime before he can be locked up, even if he is a known criminal.

"The newspaper not only gives the advertiser a dollar's worth of actual return value for the money expended for advertising, but by its functions as a newspaper makes possible the peaceful and profitable operation of every business in the community."

"2 TRIP" TESTS SHOW GULF-LUBE CUTS OIL CONSUMPTION AS MUCH AS 51%!

"I MADE 2 TRIPS FROM ATLANTA TO JACKSONVILLE . . . AND GULF-LUBE TOOK ME 24% FURTHER BEFORE MY OIL LEVEL DROPPED A QUART."

MR. J. D. BOWDEN
868 Myrtle St., Atlanta, Ga.

Do you doubt that you can cut your oil costs from 10% to 55% and get better lubrication? Then listen to this . . .

Fact No. 1—Last year the American Automobile Association tested Gulf-lube against 3 other famous 25c oils in 6 borrowed cars. Gulf-lube went 28½% more miles per quart than the average of all other oils! It outlasted every oil in every car.

Fact No. 2—This year, motorists in various parts of the country made the "two-trip" test. They made two trips to some distant point, using a well-known 25c oil on the first trip, and Gulf-lube on the second. In every one of these tests made thus far, Gulf-lube has showed the lowest oil consumption!

Drain old, worn oil, refill with Gulf-lube—and start saving! 25c a quart! Plus Tax

. . . .

NEW OIL TEST detects motor dirt. Ask about it at any Gulf station.

Teel-Willis Wedding Solemnized Recently

Of much interest over this section of the state was the marriage of Miss Gladys Willis of Dadeville to Durwood Teel of Clanton, which was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock, June 20, at the home of the bride's parents, in the presence of close friends and relatives, with Rev. L. M. Jones, pastor of the First Baptist church of Dadeville performing the ceremony.

The large living room of the home was beautiful with an improvised altar, banked with a profusion of ferns. Tall baskets of pink gladioli were at either end of the altar. Placed near the top of the altar were two candelabra, each holding five large white candles which shed a soft glow. Roses and dahlias were used elsewhere as decorations.

Preceding the ceremony was a program of music rendered by Mrs. Orum Willis, sister-in-law of the bride and Mrs. Paul Page, soloist, with Mrs. John Henry Saxon accompanying at the piano. Mrs. Willis sang "At Dawning" and Mrs. Page sang "Because".

Soft music was played by Mrs. Saxon as Mr. John Samuel Willis, brother of the bride, entered the room and lighted the candles.

The maid of honor, Miss Carrie Mae Willis, sister of the bride, entered wearing a ping silk crepe gown and carrying an arm bouquet of pink rose buds and baby breath.

The groom had as his best man his brother, Mr. J. L. Teel, of Clanton.

The bride and groom entered together as the wedding march was played. She wore a costume of combination blues of triple sheer and chiffon with navy accessories to match. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of pink rose buds and lily of the valley.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Willis of Dadeville, Ala., and has a host of friends in this county having at one time made her home here with her family for several years, where she attended grammar school and high school in Clanton.

Mr. Teel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Teel and one of the most promising young business men of the town. He, with his brother, J.L. Teel, are operators of the popular Teel Service Station in Clanton. Both are widely known over the county.

Following a brief wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Teel are at home on Second Avenue South, Clanton.

Street-Bates

Marked by beauty and simplicity, the wedding of Miss Mary Louise Bates and Mr. S. T. Street was solemnized Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the Baptist Church in Thorsby before a large assemblage of friends and reliatives.

The altar and rostrum of the church were banked with ferns and pink hydrangeas, with southern smilax festooned over the arch outlining the altar and floor baskets containing yellow gladioli placed amid the greens. Fourteen burning tapers of pink and green cast a soft glow over the wedding party. Throughout the decorations the wedding colors of pastel were carried out. Preceeding the wedding ceremony a program of nuptual music was rendered by Miss Lois Thompson, who sang "All for You" and Miss Katherine Foss, who sang "O Promise Me" accompanied at the piano by Miss Marie Jackson. The bridal party entered to the strains of "Lohengrin" wedding march.

The bridal party passed down the aisles of the church, taking places in an effective proup at the altar. The bridesmaid were Miss Linnie Belle Reinhardt, Miss Mary Sue Porter, Miss Conradine Pate and Miss Hilma Collins. The groomsmen were Mr. Kendall Franklin, Mr. Phares Raybon, Mr. Leo Spivey and Mr. Preston Shaw. Mrs. Hubert Reinhardt and Miss Edith Foss as bridesmaid. The candles were lighted by Miss Catherine Bates, a cousin of the bride. Emogene Gentry and Elizabeth Jean Collins served as flower girls and Erskin Jackson as ring bearer.

The bride was lovely in a gown of lustrous white crepe. A veil of silk net was worn with a bandeau blossoms. The bouquet was of brides lilies.

The bride entered with her cousin, Mr. Sidney Gentry. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Grady Street, where Rev. J. W. Jones, pastor of the church, gave the wedding vows that pronounced them husband and wife.

Immediately following the wedding Mrs. J. H. Goddard gave the bridal party a reception.

The LOW PRICE of the FORD V-8 GOES STILL LOWER!

Ford V-8 prices were not raised this year. Now they have been lowered. The Ford V-8 was a great value at the first of the year. It is still a 112-inch wheelbase car—and the new low price makes it a greater value than ever.

The Ford V-8 offers you the only V-8 engine in a car selling for less than $2500. It offers you the Torque Tube Drive . . . welded steel spoke wheels . . . an all-steel body . . . aluminum cylinder head . . . and free action for all four wheels with the safety of strong axle construction. It is decidedly "The Car Without A Price Class."

Inspect the Ford V-8. Look at higher-priced cars. The more of them you look at . . . the more Ford V-8 features you will see. Drive the Ford V-8. And while you thrill to its V-8 performance . . . remember that it is the most economical car to operate that Ford has ever built !

ALL passenger car models have 85 horsepower V-8 engines and 112-inch WHEELBASE

Ford V-8 Trucks and commercial cars have also been reduced in price. More than ever before Ford offers you "America's Great Truck Value."

MRS. MILTON SMITH HOSTESS TO SEWING CLUB WEDNESDAY

Last Wednesday afternoon at her home Mrs. Milton Smith was the gracious hostess to the members of the Young Matrons Sewing Club and invited guest. The afternoon was delightfully spent in sewing and other entertainment, delicious ice cream and cake being served at the conclusion. Those enjoying the hospitality of the hostess were Mesdames Loren Smith, Joe Higgins, Billy Smith and guest, Flem Higgins.

A BLIND TEACHER

Few men have contributed more to practical education than the late Sir Frederick Fraser, for many years superintendent of the School for the Blind at Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Himself blind, having suffered an injury to his eyes in childhood and losing his vision entirely at the age of 16, he completed his eduaction at the Perkins Institute in Boston in 1873, since which time he labored for fifty years as superintendent of the Halifax school, retiring in 1923.

Throughout this half century of service, he was the promoter of better school facilities for the blind, establishing courses of instruction designed to make them useful citizens and educating the public to use their services and products, so that they might be self-supporting.

He took pains to see that his pupils might learn to go about without guides and all were encouraged to learn their way around the city unaided. Hundreds of sightless men and women owe to Prof. Frazer their ability to stand upon their own merits and skill, instead of being helpless charges upon society.

Outdoor Picnic Planned By Fidelis S. S. Class

Members of the Clanton Fidelis Sunday School class of the Clanton Baptist church are planning a picnic and swimming party to be held at the Blue Creek Fishing camp Friday evening, according to information given the News.

Final plans for the event were made at their regular meeting, which was held last Friday night at the Baptist church. It is expected that approximately twenty couples will enjoy the event, which will include swimming, an outdoor lunch, and other entertainments.

The following were present at last Friday's meeting: Misses Wilma Harris, Doris Lawrence, Dorothy Sessions, Mable Harris, Margaret Johnston, Gertie Fiquette, Lucile Dickinson, Janie Beth Johnston, Juanita Welch, Tina Hyman, Julia Ruth Hester, Carrie Foshee, Gladys Williams and Mrs. Mullins.

Don't fail to see the baseball game Thursday afternoon, when the Young Men's Sunday School class and the Men's Bible class of the Clanton Baptist church will meet on the High School diamond.

In recognition of his outstanding accomplishments and beneficent services, he was the recipient of many honors, including knighthood, university degrees, demonstrations of esteem on the part of his fellow citizens, and above all the lasting love and gratitude of those whom he had practically, if not literally, led from darkness to light.

U. S. Plans To Buy Cotton Mattresses

The bed of the Alabama family on relief will be made easier to lie on. Thad Holt, director of the Alabama Relief Administration, announced yesterday that 10,000 bales of cotton would be purchased by the Federal surplus Relief Corporation to be made into 100,000 mattreses for Alabama families now on relief.

The mattresses will be made by relief workers and the project is expected to furnish employment to 10,000 women in this State.

The ticking will be furnished by the government and the mattresses will be made up at relief centers scattered over the State, with 50 pounds of cotton going into every mattress.

Mr. Holt announced today that the first shipment of the 40,000 cattle allocated to Alabama relief families would arrive later this week.

He said the first shipment would consist of yearlings that will be fattened butchered and canned for use in feeding families on relief this Winter.

Later, milk cows will be sent here for distribution to families under the rural rehabilitation plan.

Mr. Julian Evans visited in Birmingham Sunday and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bloodworth of Prattville visited their daughter, Mrs. Welch, Sunday.

"CAN EARLY, CAN OFTEN," ADVISES HOME DEM. AGENT

Far from slowing up canning time. The hot weather which has been generally prevalent so far this season has of course, had its effect on produce for canning as well as on major crops. The heat has tended to ripen fruits and vegetables rapidly. The progress of all these foods should be carefully watched, so that they may be picked and canned when just at their best.

There never was a year when it was more important to can for the future and to see that nothing is wasted. But any woman who wants to get her storage shelves filled this season will have to keep a close tab on what is going on in her garden, or she is going to be sadly disappointed. Early summer vegetables such as beans, carrots, beets, peas, etc., and such fruits as berries and peaches must be gathered the instant they are ready. It is not safe to let them stand an hour longer than necessary.

This means that the enterprising home canner will have to have everything ready in advance, so as to be able to can on short notice. The pressure cooker should be absolutely clean and in good working order, the tin can sealer should be washed and boiled and a few empty cans sealed in order to test the perfection of the seal. All previously used cans should be well washed and reflanged for use again, and a supply of new lids must be obtained. Glass jars should be washed and examined for cracks and new tops and canners should be arranged for. When rubber rings purchased. Hot water-bath all this has been done, the thrifty home canner is ready for work just as soon as vegetables and fruits are ready.

Demonstration on scientific home canning will be given during the month of July at the following places. The canning of various fruits and vegetables will be demonstrated. All women and girls of the communities are invited. Demonstrations will begin at 2:00 p. m.

July 3, Mt. Pleasant, home to be decided; July 6, Poplar Springs, place to be decided; July 11, Enterprise, home of Mrs. C. L. Wilkins; July 12, Shoults, place to be decided; July 13, Pletcher, home of Mrs .George Chandler; July 16, Baker, place to be decided; July 17, Fairview, home of Mrs. Leo Billingsley; July 18, Thorsby, home of Mrs. S. THE PASSION PLAY

Many thousands of tourists will flock to Oberammergau, Germany, this summer to witness the world famous Passion Play, which has been performed in that humble mountain vilalge at intervals for 300 years. This year's season began on May 21, and the last performance will be given on September 23.

According to tradition, when the town was menaced by the plague in 1634 the village made a vow to give a play every 10 years depicting scenes pertaining to the life and death of Christ if they were spared. Believing that they were saved from the plague through divine intervention, the vow has been kept throughout the succeeding three centuries.

Usually the Pasion Play is presented on years whose number is divisible by 10—1900, 1910, 1920, 1930, and so on—but an exception is made this year in order to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the villagers' vow.

Each performance is given in daytime, from 8 in the morning until 6 in the afternoon, with an intermission of two hours at noon. This year 28 performances will be given.

Considerable interest on the part of Americans is manifested in the person of Fraulein Klara Mayr, who plays the role of Mary Magdalene this year, because she has lived in the United States and expects to marry and make her permanent home in Washington this fall, after the close of the Passion Play season.

Through its Passion Play the little town of Oberammergau, with a normal population of little more than 2,00 has become known throughout the entire civilized world.

Canning Project Is Under Way

The organization of the Relief summer canning program has been completed. The work of the whole county is sponsored by the Relief Administration in cooperation with Miss Ruth Pardue, Home Demonstration agent. Fourteen centers, chosen because of the largest number of people on relief, will be operated. Furnaces for outdoor canning purposes are being constructed by the Work Division of the Relief Administration under the direction of Mr. W. A. Cone. Five centers are starting work immediately for both white and colored families on relief rolls. Announcement of days for white and days for colored people will be made to the interested families. The Clanton center is located at Mrs. Lindsey's with Miss Elizabeth Stanley, supervisor; Verbena, with Mrs. Lila Shepherd, supervisor; Cooper, with Miss Bertha Barrett, supervisor; Mt. Creek, with Mrs. Ed. Jordan, supervisor; Jemison, with Mrs. George Adams, supervisor; Mineral Springs, at Mrs. C. A. Rutherford's, Mrs. C. A. Rutherford, supervisor; Beat 16, at Mrs. Rosa Adams', Mrs. Rosa Adams, supervisor; Beat 13, to be decided; Stanton, Mrs. Lucinde Miller, Mrs. Bertha Dyer, supervisor; Riderville, Miss Willie Barnes, with Miss Willie Barnes, supervisor; Pletcher, Mrs. I. A. Dennis, Mrs. Maggie Cobern, supervisor; Negro Training School, with Mrs. Gertrude Driver, supervisor; Thorsby, to be decided.

Relief families are to bring their own vegetables to be canned. All kinds of vegetables will be canned under supervision. Cans will be given relief families at the centers. It is hoped that all families on relief, which numbers around 400, will be supplied with canned vegetables for the coming winter.

Anyone having vegetables will please notify the relief department, supervisors of canning centers or bring vegetables to nearest canning centers on canning days. They will appreciate getting these to can for their relief families this winter.

SUGGESTS SEWERAGE DISPOSAL PLANT AS HEALTH PROTECTION

Local Resident Points Out Interesting Facts About Needed Improvement In Methods Of Disposing Of Sewerage Of Town And Mill Village

One of the much needed improvements to safeguard the health of the residents of Clanton and outlying sections is a sewerage disposal plant, according to T. J. Arledge, county engineer. In an article prepared by Mr. Arledge, he has the following to say:

"Our National Government has spent $20,555.15, and our County the sum of $3,819.05, for the purpose of providing a more healthful and sanitary place for us to live by the great drainage program now in operation and nearing completion, the drainage of the swamps and marshy conditions surrounding our town. We are continuing this work, and we expect to have the whole completed in the early fall, providing complete drainage of that marshy and swampy condition we have tolerated for these many years. This is being done at an additional cost to our county of around $90 per week, and our National Government is contributing around $220.00 per week in men and man-power for this work, making a total weekly expenditure of $310.00 since the first day of April, the date of beginning operations under the new Relief Program. This work will be completed about the first of October, this year, which means that an additional sum of around $8,060.00 will have been expended on this work—a total of $32,434.20, for the purpose of providing a better place to live.

We have cleared up our swamps in an effort to rid ourselves of the mosquito pest and its attendant disease, malaria, but, what are we going to do about the attendant dangers of improper sewerage disposal? Are we going to continue tolerating a condition which eventually pollutes and contaminates the running water of our creeks and streams from which our cattle and other livestock have to get their water, to say nothing about the bad odors and fumes we must endure from the decomposition of animal, vegetable and other matter from our open sewers?

"It is a well known fact that the stream, into which the seweage from the cotton mill is openly dumped goes dry during the summer months, and stays dry until late in the fall; that this waste matter from the sewer accumulates in the open ditch along the side of the railroad for a considerable distance from the bridge over the creek north of town, and towards the cotton mill, and in a territory where quite a lot of people live, and who must endure a condition everyday that the most of us would not tolerate overnight. This condition can be overcome through some method of sewage disposal.

"Also, east of town, we have almost the same condition. Open sewers are dumped into the creek just below the High School, and is allowed to run along the side of the Higgins Ferry Road for some little distance, to stand and accumulate in the ditches along this road where the traveling public must endure the fumes and bad odors on their way to and from our town. The condition now existing along this road and in the vicinity of our High School is not very creditable to our town and county, and the same applies to that condition along the side of the railroad where strangers passing through on the trains may view and breathe an unsightly and noisome condition so close to our homes. All of this can be removed and overcome through the construction of a proper plant from which all waste matter has been properly disposed and the affluent or water therefrom almost as pure as the water we drink.

"It is a plant consisting of various facilities for chemically treating sewage so as to remove all or so alter its objectionable constituents as to render it less offensive or dangerous. There are many types of disposal plants but practically the same method of disposition of waste matter.

"To summarize briefly, it has been pointed out that: Sewage treatment plants are constructed for the purpose of changing the organic content of sewage to an inoffensive condition as rapidly as possible, with a minimum of odor and other nuisances, and to prevent pollution of the water-courses into which the treated sewages are discharged.

"The writer will be glad to prepare estimates of costs and other data and do all in his power to assist in getting a disposal plant for our town.'

Union Springs

Farmers here are getting along fine with their work. Some are laying by corn.

We are sorry that Mrs. J. N. Ervin is very sick this week. We hope for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Honeycutt of Birmingham spent Saturday and Sunday with his sister, Mrs. W. T. Robinson. Miss Edith Robinson went to Birmingham with them to spend a few days with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Robinson and daughter, Myrna Edith, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Clanton spent the week in South Alabama visiting Mrs. Robinson's sister, Mrs. A. W. Harrell of Foley. They went from there to Jackson, Miss., and spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Thompson, a sister of Mrs. W. T. Robinson. They report a very nice time while on the Gulf, and also Jackson, Miss.

It is announced that there will be an all day singing at Union Springs church the third Sunday in July, also a protracting meeting will begin on that date. We are hoping to have a great meeting. Everybody come and join us in the singing and meeting and let's worship God together and try to have a glorious time to the honor of Jehovah God.

Ford Breaks War-Time Construction Record

Although getting a late start, Ford smashed even war-time construction records in doing the biggest job ever done by a single exhibitor for any world's fair.

The Ford project covers eleven acres. It employs more than seven hundred employees. The main building itself covers 5 acres. The industrial hall, a single wing, is the size of three football fields placed together.

Exhibits totaling more than 2500 tons in weight and including more than a thousand separate machines are now in place to tell the story of the manufacturing of automobile parts from raw materials to finished products.

Sixty-nine historic vehicles comprising the Ford "Drama of Transportation,' tracing the development of vehicular transportation from prehistoric times to the present, are in place.

The Ford Museum containing priceless relics of Ford and his lifelong friend Edison, and showing the evolution of the machine-shop during the last century, is completed and with its ancient machines humming.

The Ford Industrialized Barn built in 1863 on Henry Ford's father's farm and transported board by board and shingle from Dearborn, stands in striking contrast in the lee of the main building, demonstrating Hery Ford's ideas on how the farmer may improve his status by adopting industrial methods.

A battery of twenty-four thirty-six inch projector searchlights sends a 600,000,000 candle power "Torch of Light" 200 feet broad and a mile in height from the Ford rotunda. A batery of twenty-four loud speakers capable of amplifying the chime of the smallest clock so tremendously that it can be heard a distance of two miles, tolls off the time hourly.

A force of 700 employees have been uniformed, trained and rehearsed to handle 200,000 visitors daily, to see these and other unparalleled feats in engineering and construction.

Such is the record accomplished by an army of workmen, and in the whole job at breakneck pace not one man was badly injured and nobody was killed.

Chilton Farm Relief Is Progressing Nicely

Montgomery, Ala., June 26.—Chilton County which boasts of one of the most progressive farm populations of any county in the state has made good progress in the Rural Rehabilitation Program of the Alabama Relief Administration, R. K. Greene, State Rehabilitation Director, announced here today.

The crops on rehabilitation farms in Chilton County are in good shape, the reports reveal and the prospects for a high percentage of success in the program in Chilton County are very encouraging, he said.

The Chilton County Rural Rehabilitation Committee has manifested a strong interest in the program by which the relief administration hopes to permanently remove families from the relief roll and restore their earning power and self-confidence. To do this, Mr. Greene said, the cooperation of the people of the county generally is required and Chilton County, from the start, has given excellent cooperation in this work.

The Chilton County Program is under the supervision of Will Cone, Works Director, who has selected a staff of capable foremen.

Big Order Placed For Legume Seed

Montgomery, Ala.—Organized cooperative purchasing will reach a high point in Alabama this fall.

Recently representatives of all the county farmers' coopartive purchasing organizations in the state met in Montgomery and placed the biggest order ever placed by any group anywhere—more than 3,000,000 pounds—for seed of winter legumes, hairy vetch and Austrian winter peas. With one or two exceptions all counties participated in the purchase.

Several representatives including in most cases the president, secretary, manager, and one or two directors were present from each county.

This was generally conceded to be the finest exhibition of cooperative purchasing efforts ever staged in Alabama, said J. L. Edwards, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation. Delegates to the meeting were presented with facts on the winter legume seed situation in this country and in foreign countries by Executive C. W. Ashcraft, vice president, and A. N. Culver, secretary-treasurer, of the Farmers Marketing and Exchange Association, through which organization the buying is being done.

They stated that the big purchase insures Alabama farmers that they will get winter legume seed for soil building at a price low enough to enable them to purchase and plant the seed.

Alabama is the leader among the states in soil building with other states combined. This is attributed to the fact that the Alabama farmers have a strong organization which enables them to purchase the seed at a reasonable price, and one which makes planting of the seed a profitable activity.

Brief Farm Items

Be on the lookout for rabies is a warning issued by Dr. J. N. Baker, state health officer, who said that this disease has become widespread in some localities with large numbers of dogs and other livestock reported to be infected.

Between five hundred thousand and one million dollars is expected to be spent in Alabama to aid farmers who desire to leave submarginal land, and in working out problems involved in land utilization. Submarginal land is not suitable for profitabe agricultural purposes.

Feels a Lot Better When Black-Draught Relieves Constipation

From many states come reports like the following from Mr. W. M. Henderson, of Jasper, Fla: "I have been taking Thedford's Black-Draught twenty years. I take it for constipation that gives me a dull, tired, aching feeling, and I have headache, too. Black-Draught relieves me of this trouble. After a few doses, I feel as good as new. I keep it in my home. I have a big family. When one of us is ailing (from constipation), we take Black-Draught and almost always feel a lot better. It has been worth its weight in gold to my family." . . . Sold in 25¢ packages. "Children like the Syrup."

PLYMOUTH ANNOUNCES THE SPECIAL SIX

LAST WEEK, you read about important reductions in Plymouth prices. This week Plymouth again makes news.

Today, thousands of people, the country over, who have never been in a Plymouth showroom in their lives before, will go to see the new PLYMOUTH SPECIAL SIX! We urge you to take a few minutes of your time and join them.

There are two things that will make it worth your while to do this. One of them is the car itself—an automobile built to bring a new idea of luxury to the low-priced field; and; and the other is the PRICE of this new car.

Here is a big, beautiful Plymouth . . . with all the major engineering features that made Plymouth's reputation so great . . . yet it actually costs less than comparable models of the very lowest-priced cars on the market WITHOUT THESE FEATURES!

Consider that statement carefully. Realize what it means.

It means that without spending a single extra penny, you can own this new Special Six with Hydraulic Brakes . . . the safest kind made . . . instead of a car with ordinary brakes.

It means that your family can ride surrounded and protected by a BODY OF SAFETY STEEL.

It means that you can have the comfort of Individual Wheel Springing and patented Floating Power engine mountings for dollars LESS than cars without these modern improvements.

Here is a stylish automobile . . . with the luxury features that people want today. And the 4-door Sedan is priced at $620 f.o.b. factory—actually less in price than the comparable models of Plymouth's two biggest competitors.

You owe it to yourself to see this car . . . Look at it . . . ride in it. Don't make the mistake of putting a deposit on any other car until you do.

PRICES AND FEATURES OF THE NEW PLYMOUTH SPECIAL SIX

SEE WHAT YOU PAY

Four Door Sedan $620 —

—Two-Door Sedan $580

Town Sedan $655 —

—Rumble Seat Coupe $590

Business Coupe $560

SEE WHAT YOU GET

HYDRAULIC BRAKES. The safest brakes ever perfected for an automobile. Always equalized. Eliminate dangerous swerving. Save frequent relining jobs. Ask any Plymouth owner if he would go back to mechanical brakes!

SAFETY-STEEL BODY. The best safety insurance that you can have on today's crowded highways.

FLOATING POWER Engine Mountings. They keep vibration away from you. You ride fully relaxed.

INDIVIDUAL WHEEL SPRINGING. The best of the so-called "knee-type" springs, used on the most expensixe cars, which insure a more comfortable back-seat ride.

T-Slot Pistons with four rings instead of the usual three. Four-Bearing Crankshaft—Valve-Seat Inserts—Oil Filter and Air Cleaner—Temperature and Oil Pressure Indicators on Instrument Panel—Dual Trumpet Horns—Two Combination Tail and Stop Lights—Steel Artillery Wheels.

PLEASANT GROVE

Jemison

It seems that summer has at last arrived, but it is all God's weather. Thanks to Him.

We had our regular church services Sunday and some very impressive sermons by our pastor. We like his mood. We say, speed on, Maurice, and God bless you.

A great number of our people went to Center Hill Sunday afternoon to the singing.

Miss Willie C Clements had as her guest last week end Miss Mildred Yarbrough of Jemison.

Miss Mary Clements is visiting Miss Leacy Newell of Clanton, Ala.

Mrs. J.B. Franklin and children spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Emma Waldrop.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miskelley and Mr. Charley Miskelley went to York, Ala., last Thursday on business.

Mr. Guy Hatcher of Union Grove visited relatives here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Champion had as their dinner guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Bill Davenport and daughter, Miss Lucile, Miss Alvis Davenport, Mr. Peoples, Mr. Milton Crowson, Miss Willodene Dawson and Miss Dulcie Champion.

Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Carroll had as their dinner guests Mr. Jasper Smitherman, Mrs. Isaac Waldrop and daughter, Emogene, and Miss Lucile Compton.

Miss Melba Carroll is visiting her grandparents Carroll.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatcher and son, Henry, visited their son and brother, Mr. Guy Hatcher, of Union Grove Saturday afternoon,

FAIRVIEW

The many friends of Mr. Osmond Culp will regret to learn that he is back in the Norwood Hospital in Birmingham. He was operated on for acute appendicitis Friday. At this writing he is improving slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Warren of the Magic City were the guests of Mrs. Ola Edwards Saturday night. They were on their way to Mobile to visit their mother, Mrs. Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Billingsley attended the Keen reunion at Pletcher Sunday.

Mrs. J. D. Williams and daughter, Betty Jo, dined with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. J. T. Cox, last Tuesday.

Misses Mildred, Edna and Marie Durbin spent a short while with Miss Inez McKee Sunday night.

Quite a number from this place attended the singing at Mt. Pisgah Sunday and all reported a good time, and singing. We hope to have the pleasure of attending another one like this soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Williams and three daughters spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. V. C. McKee and little daughter, Martha Evelyn, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Woodley had as their Sunday guests his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Woodley, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Woodley and little sons, Raymond and Erskine, Mr. and Mrs. Wood and daughter, Mary Elizabeth, Mr. and Mrs. Hughey Waldrop and son, Raymond, and Miss Dulcie Champion.

The Misses Champion had as their guests Sunday afternoon their niece, Miss Ruth Champion, of the Baptist Hospital off West End, Birmingham.

Unity-Chilton Institute Set For July 10, 11, 12

It is not too early to turn to the calendar and mark July 10, 11, and 12 as special dates to be held open for the Mission Institute which is to be at Clanton Baptist church on those days. This is a joint affair, Chilton and Unity associations should be represented.

It is also a family affair. Classes and entertainment will be provided for every age. Every preacher pastoring a church in either association is urged to be present. Both men and women—boys and girls—children from the age of three to grandparents of any age, are cordially invited. Splendid speakers and teachers have already been secured. Later the complete program will be printed . This article is to remind you to make ready.

Pastors, do not arrange to be holding a revival those days; church officers, plan to come; W.M.S. presidents, and members of the Executive of W. M.U., be certain to attend the Joint Executive Board to be held for both associations at Clanton, Friday, June 22, that plans may be made together This is very important. The meeting opens at 10:30, each one bring her own box lunch. We will probably close by 2:00 or 2:30.

Plan to make this Institute your family treat for the summer. You and your family will be better and happier Christians if you attend the whole three days. Plan to do that.

All The New Cars Are "Racing Cars"

Firestone Engineers Find Same Principles Of Safety Apply

It is amost breath-taking to realize that the cars of today, large and small, conceal a power plant that will hurtle them through space at racing speeds—speeds at which a slip means wreckage and disaster. They do 85 miles an hour or more. Some have speedometers to show two-miles-a-minute.

"Sixty" is common highway speed—which means 88 feet per second—literally flying. Yet today's cars give you the thrill of motoring, the saving of time, the ease of travel and opportunity to "go places."

In racing and on the highway the most dangerous equipment is an unsafe tire. Traveling over the hot, hard surfaced roads—that under the sun reach temperatures hot enough to actually fry an egg—the tires become hot inside and out—and heat is the greatest enemy of tire safety and life. Firestone engineers 15 years ago anticipated the needs of today and have years of experience meeting the most trying conditions of racing—with such success that all the leading racing drivers buy Firestone Tires. These men who risk their lives and stake their fortunes can't be induced, under any circumstances, to use other tires. Every one of the 33 cars in the recent Indianapolis 500-Mile Race was equipped with these tires, and they have been on the winning cars for 15 consecutive years. New records were set up this year under the sizzling sun—but not a single tire failed.

The important thing in tires is not how many plies they have, but how strongly they are held together. To do this job, Firestone uses the patented Gum-Dipping process, which soaks every cord in liquid rubber to protect every fiber against internal friction and to bind the tire into one strong and inseparable unit.

Rubber has advanced 442% and cotton 190%, but fortunately for the motorist, tire safety can be obtained today at very low cost, for prices have not advanced in proportion to the advance of materials.

Special Notice

There wil lbe an ice cream supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. or Henry Scott's Saturday night, June 30. The proceeds will go for the benefit of Pleasant Grove M. P. church. Everybody has a special invitation to come and bring someone with you.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Health of this community is good just now, which we are hoping will continue.

Everybody is busy laying-by their crops. The farmers have been having some fine weather for the last week or so to finish killing the grass.

We elected new B. Y. P. U. officers Sunday night. They are: Leader, Mrs. Alma Wilson; chorister, Pete Wilson; pianist, Marie Devaughn; secretary, Christine Driver; Bible quiz leader, Mrs. Bertha Mitchell; group captain No. 1, Eura Sandlin; group captain No. 2, Lera Glenn; junior-intermediate leader, Mrs. Arthur Mims. We are hoping to get started again and bring our B. Y. P. U. back up to where it once was, and in order to do this we must have your help. So, why not lend us your helping hand? Come on out next Sunday night and let us enroll you.

Several from here attended the singing at Rockford in Coosa County Sunday. They reported a fine singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mims had as their guests last Friday afternoon Mrs. Frank Guy, Miss Bonnie Guy and Mr. Aaron Guy.

Mr. W. F. Glenn had as his guest a while last Thursday morning his brother, Mr. Jasper Glenn, from Cooper.

Mr. Arthur Mitchell spent a while Friday with Mr. Arnold Glenn.

Mr. Lee Mitchell and Ernest Wilson spent a while Thursday with Messrs. Virdie and Virgil Glenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mims spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guy.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Sandlin had as their week end guests Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Sandlin.

Messrs. Virdie and Virgil Glenn had as their guests a while Sunday morning Messrs. James and Eugene Kelly.

Miss Ruth Wise from Cooper is spending a few days this week with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wise.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mims had as their guests a while Sunday afternoon Misses Bonnie Guy, Jewell Culver and Mr. Aaron Guy.

Mrs. Pete Wilson visited her mother, Mrs. Walter Patterson, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. W. H. Wilson and son, Bonnie, visited in Friendship community Sunday night.

Messrs. Clifton Parrish and J.B. Wilson spent a few hours Sunday morning with Messrs. Ottis and Oliver Glenn.

Mrs. Alma Wilson had as her dinner guests Sunday Mrs. W. F. Glenn and daughter, Lera.

Mr. John Wilson had as his guest Sunday afternoon Messrs. Reedie Patterson and Pete Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Kern Sandlin are the proud parents of a fine baby girl. Both mother and baby are doing nicely.

MT. PISGAH

The all-day singing at this place last Sunday was a great success. There was a large crowd and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves.

The opening song was led by the Chairman Cecil Yeargan, after which we were led in prayer by Bro. J. H. Limbrick, our pastor. The chairman for the day was Mr. William Cox.

The directors for the morning were: O. L. Devaughn, Hiram Littlejohn, Cornelius Hand, Leonard Culp, Melvin Devaughn, Mr. Cagle and Lee Grant.

At 11:15 Bro. Limbrick delivered a wonderful sermon which everyone enjoyed. At noon a bountiful table was set with all kinds of delicious food. Some of the members were on their job and had plenty of ice water there.

The singing was called to order at 1:15 by the Chairman. The directors for the afternoon were J. R. Robinson, Lee Grant, S. A. Henley, Melvin Devaughn, Mack Durbin, Rev. H. J. Culp, Bill Coggins, Jake Henley, Prof. Clarence Billingsley, Leonard Culp, Mr. Boockholdt, Mr. Williams and Cecil Yeargan.

Pianists for the day were Leonard Culp, Lee Grant, Mrs. Scott, Clarence Billingsley and Mrs. Eula Culp.

The Liberty Hill Quartet sang several selections. We thank them and invite them back.

The closing song was led by S. A. Henley. Dismissed by Rev. Harvey Culp. We invite everybody back every first Sunday. Our singing society will meet with Bethsalem next Sunday.

Lady Says She Took CARDUI for Cramps; Was Soon Relieved

Women who suffer as she did will be interested in the experience of Mrs. Maude Crafton, of Belleville, Ill., who writes: "For several years, I suffered from irregular trouble and cramping. There would be days when I would have to stay in bed. I would get so nervous, I was miserable. My aunt told me to try Cardui. She believed it would build me up, regulate me and help the nervous trouble. I knew after taking half a bottle of Cardui that I was better. I kept on taking Cardui and found it was doing me a world of good. I am in good health, which means a lot to me." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. . . . Price $1.

BOND ELECTION

ment, it was explained, and the balance of 70 per cent will be spread over a period of thirty years. Following is Congressman Oliver's letter to Mayor Smith:

House of Representatives
Washington

"June 19, 1934.

"Hon. J. Lee Smith, Mayor
Clanton, Alabama.

Dear Mr. Smith:

"The P.W.A. has approved your application for a loan of $32,000 and I have urged the officials to hasten final action in closing the loan so that there will be no longer delay. Keep me advised if I can be of further service.

"With all good wishes, I am
Yours sincerely,
W. B. OLIVER."

For many years, it was explained, Clanton has been in dire need of an up-to-date city hall building, having been forced to rent space for city offices and to use the county jail for the incarceration of prisoners—with a two-dollar turnkey fee for every prisoner going to the county. Rents on the several offices used will pay much of the cost of constructing the new building.

Plans call for a two-story brick structure, outside dimensions of which would be approximately 50 by 65 feet, affording adequate space for all city offices, a court room, jail, fire house, library, and an auditorium with a seating capacity of 300 to 400 persons. The mayor's office clerk's office, fire department headquarters, city attorney's office, court room, jail, and fire house are to be located on the first floor, while the second floor will house a library, an ample waiting room, and an auditorium which is to be used for the convenience of civic and religious organizations as well as for the transaction of the city meetings.

If the majority of the voters are in favor of borrowing the necessary funds for its construction from the PWA, Mayor Smith announced that efforts will be made for work to begin immediately on clearing the lot between the Woco Pep Station and Dr. Arthur Johnson's office preparatory for the erection of the new building.

ALABAMA MAY RECEIVE INCREASED RELIEF BUDGET

Washington, July 25—Harry L. Hopkins, Federal relief administrator, said today any increase in the relief budget for Alabama would be based on that State's disposition toward solving its own relief problems.

Bibb Graves, chosen as Alabama's next governor, assured him last week Alabama would cooperate, Hopkins said.

Graves and Thad Holt, Alabama relief director, called on Hopkins to receive an increase in its quota, possibly to the full amount requested.

Holt emphasized while in Washington the need of additional Federal aid, especially in Birmingham.

Newton Popwell Now With Polk Brothers

o

Newton Popwell, popular young man of South Clanton, is now selling Plymouth and Chrysler cars for Polk Bros. Motor Co.

Mr. Popwell for the past several years has been connected with Reuben Lowe in the general merchandising business where he made a host of friends with his pleasant smile and courteous greetings to customers.

Newton says that when he decided to get in the automobile selling game, that he thoroughly investigated the merits of "all three cars", and then he found that the Plymouth was by far the greatest value of all, so naturally that is the car he chose to sell.

He states that he, of course, will sell all lines of merchandise handled by the Polk Bros. Motor Co., such as, International Motor trucks, McCormick-Deering farming implements, Weber wagons, Atwater Kent radios and Norge refrigerators.

We congratulate the Polk Bros. Motor Co. on being able to secure such a popular salesman as Newton Popwell and we predict that you will see the popular Plymouth cars in greatly increased numbers on the roads of Chilton County.

Gragg Clarifies The Records

o

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all who voted for me; and at the same time I desire to say to those who did not vote for me that I have no ill-will for them. It was their right and privilege to vote as they chose.

I also assure you here and now that I will support the entire Democratic ticket in the November election regardless of anyone's statement to the contrary.

In the last issue, before the primary, of the several papers in this district; and to which I had no opportunity to reply, there appeared a statement over the signature of my opponent containing many false statements or, if you please, lies. At the risk of seeming a poor loser, I feel that it is my duty to my friends to take this opportunity to reply thereto in one respect. Referring to me, he says, "Dr. Gragg ran four years ago on the Klux Klux or Polly-wog ticket—No one knew what his affiliations were going to be in the present election until about eight months ago—He supported the Republicans in 1928; prior to then his political affiliations had always been uncertain and inconsistent."

I did in 1928 as I had always done in my lifetime—supported the Democratic ticket to the limit of my ability, fully and without reservation.

As evidence of this fact I am attaching a statement of Dr. P. T. Hinkle, who headed the Democratic ticket in Chilton County as nominee for Probate Judge in 1928.

My only transgression was in 1930 when I was a candidate on the Jeffersonian Democratic ticket. This I have never denied or tried to conceal. Whether it was worse to do this than to vote and support that ticket and deny it, is for others to judge.

I want to keep the record straight as to this feature and have no desire to engage in any controversy as to the many other malicious falsehoods appearing in that letter.

I was also censured for speaking of the large vote that was given me in my home county, and especially in my home town. I am still proud of that vote and still say that it was an honor by the people who knew me best that could hardly be equalled in any other way, in my estimation.

Again thanking you and assuring you that I am very grateful, I am
Sincerely yours,
V. J. GRAGG.

STATEMENT FROM DR. HINKLE

To Whom It May Concern:

I have known Dr. V. J. Gragg since his high school days and it gives me pleasure to state he has been a consistent regular Democrat the entire time with the exception of the Heflin-Locke ticket in 1930.

I was Democratic nominee for Probate Judge in Chilton County in 1928 and positively know that he supported the Democratic ticket with his vote, time, and money; he probably having contributed more time and money for the Democratic ticket than any other Chilton County man not on the ticket.

Yours respectfully,
P. T. HINKLE.

SINGING SCHOOL WILL BEGIN AT ENTERPRISE ON JULY 9TH

o

O. L. Devaughn will begin an 18-day singing school at Enterprise school building Monday, July 9th. This will be his second term at this place, having taught a very successful school here last summer. The people of the community think this one will be even larger and better than the one last year.

The teacher and people of the immediate community extend an invitation and a welcome to others of adjoining communities who may wish to attend. The teacher requests and insists that all patrons if possible and others who may be interested to be present on the morning of opening day at 9 o'clock, and be in the opening exercises whether you enroll or not.

The A. J. Showalter textbooks will be used and the latest Stamps-Baxter song books (Leading Light) will be used in the class practice.

We believe that it will be time well spent for anyone to make arrangements and attend this school.

Limestone To Be Fertilizer Filler

o

Montgomery, Ala.,—Dolomite or dolomitic limestone is to be substituted for the sand which is at present being used as a filler for fertilizer sold in Alabama. Fertilizer manufacturers have decided to do this, following a suggestion, based on research data, from the Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The fertilizer manufacturers recently met with the State Board of Agriculture and gave assurance that they will gladly cooperate in producing fertilizers which will not make the soils acid. The use of limestone instead of sand as a filler is for the purpose of making a non-acid-forming fertilizer.

Under regulations passed by the Board of Agriculture each sack of fertilizer sold in the United States will contain a tag labeled "acid-forming" or "non-acid forming." This will apply to mixed fertilizers and to superphosphate and other fertilizers applied direct to crops.

This is a progressive step and should be beneficial to to all farmers, declared board members and fertilizer manufacturers.

"It is estimated that in 1933 approximately 40,000 tons of filler were used in Alabama," said the Experiment Station.

"This means that approximately 30,000 tons of sand as a filler must have been placed in the fertilizers of the State, since about 10,000 tons of limestone or its equivalent were used."

o-o-o

Don't fail to see the baseball game Thursday afternoon, when the Young Men's Sunday School class and the Men's Bible class of the Clanton Baptist church will meet on the High School diamond.

In spite of the fact that home demstration agency work is comparaely new in Chilton County, the unty having employed an agent for ly a little more than a year, Miss rdue is sure that the fifteen clubs, hich have been organized in the coun in that brief time, will make a credble showing.

An extensive program of wide vacty has been prepared for the day, d everyone is cordially invited to atnd, she stated, and see for themlves just what is being accomplished the work in this section.

The two outstanding features of the ogram will be an address by Miss anche Tousel, of the Home Econics department of Alabama Colge, Montevallo, and the organization a county council by Miss Ruth Done, of the Auburn staff.

The program will be opened by an troduction by Miss Lena Downs, esident of the local organization of me demonstration work; Judge L.H. ynolds will deliver a short address in e forenoon, which is expected to be interest to those present. Judge ynolds was one of the first officials the county government to recoge the advisability of securing a home monstration agent for this county.

In the afternoon, Luther E. Little, unty superintendent of education, is heduled to address the audience of b women and others interested in e work. A speaker will also be prest under the auspices of the Wom's Federated clubs, but Miss Pardue ted early Wednesday morning that e had not learned her name.

Another feature of wide interest will a report of what has been accomhed by the work in the county dur the past year. During the lunch ur, an exhibition of clothing will be nducted by Miss Dorothy Dean, thing specialist of Auburn. Certifies will be awarded to several outding leaders in the various leaderp schools that have been conducted the county.

At the close of the session, a County uncil of women will be organized, ich serve in a business advisory carity to the clubs in the county, it was plained.

COUNTY PICNIC WILL BE HELD ON JULY 26TH

Ben Simms Grove Is Spot Selected As The Place For This Year

The county-wide picnic, which became an annual celebration under the leadership of former County Agent C. E. Stapp, will be held this year at the Ben Simms grove, two miles north of Clanton on the Montgomery-Birmingham highway, according to information from the office of County Agent J. W. Fant.

Although the program for the day has not been completed, it is understood that the celebration, in which several thousand persons are expected to participate, has been scheduled for Thursday, July 26.

Because Mr. Fant was out of town this week, the News was unable to learn any details regarding the program, but it is understood that the program calls for several interesting speakers. Many anticipate that this will be the most widely attended of the several annual affairs which have been held in the county for several years.

Every person in the county is urged to attend and is promised an enjoyable day. The grove selected for the picnic is one of the most desirable locations in the county, being located where it is accessible to good roads, and is densely shaded, promising relief from the scorching July sun. Complete details of the program will be carried in next week's issue of the News.

IWANIANS AND OTHER CITIZENS ENDORSE PROPOSED BUILDINGS

ty Hall And Water Main Extensions Receive Approval By Gathering Of Business Men; Congressman Oliver Assured Of Cooperative Spirit

he Kiwanis Club of Clanton held a ting of much interest and great imance last Thursday night at the Exge Hotel. A large number of busi men of the community, not mem of the club, attended the meeting, joined in a wide discussion of sev important public questions that are urrent interest in Clanton.

resident Luther Little called upon yor J. Lee Smith to state to the ting the high spots of the movet to erect a city hall in Clanton and xtend the water mains. After May Smith had done this a general dision of the two subjects was ened in by several of the business men sent.

nanimous agreement was given to pressing need of water main exion, indicating that approval of this ect will be almost unanimous in the tion of July 30th. One or two exsions indicated that there may be doubt as to the need of a city ; but the fact that the interest rate ed will be so low seems to sofwhat might be opposition to the on.

ll things considered, it may be said the sentiment of the meeting rsday night was predominantly in r of supporting the two proposi, the city hall and waterworks, in election to be held July 30th.

avor Smith made it clear in preng the matters that the city ofls are not disposed to take either the argument. They have made ation for the loan from P.W.A., the application has been approved.

Now it will be up to the people to say whether or nbt they want the city to carry the propositions through.

The question of a swimming pool in Clanton brought forth a lengthy discussion, which never did get anywhere in particular. The comment finally centered in the airport development, and rested with the hope that some plan may be worked out to include a swimming pool in the possible projects that may go to make up a community center of the airport development. A committee went to Montgomery Tuesday to hold a conference with Thad Holt and Major Hawkins concerning this matter.

At the request of President Little, Postmaster Billy Smith stated to the meeting some facts relative to the proposed postoffice building which the government now offers to build in Clanton. After presentation by Mr. Smith the question was discussed by a number of other leading citizens. It was determined positively to put all the local support possible behind the postoffice movement. The meeting authorized Secretary Dan Waite to wire Congressman Oliver the approval and hearty support of every person at the meeting, assuring him that Clanton stands ready to do everything possible to expedite action by the government in erecting the federal building here.

ALABAMA WILL GET MILLIONS IN FEW MONTHS

A Huge Public Building Program Will Soon Be Launched In State

Geo. Davis in Montgomery Advertiser

Alabama within the next 60 to 90 days will witness the greatest public buildings and construction program in the history of the commonwealth with the release of millions of Federal funds into the State.

Aside from the millions appropriated by the 73rd Congres for road construction, new postoffices, and funds for a score of other purposes, the program of construction by the Public Works Administration is expected to be in full swing within the next 60 days, according to Dr. George J. Davis, Jr., State engineer and inspector of the PWA.

The Public Works Administration funds were only recently released following an opinion by the Alabama Supreme court clarifying the legal authority of certain municipalities to borrow funds.

Following is a summary of a few of

SCHOOL CENSUS TO BEGIN HERE NEXT MONDAY

Enumerators for The Various Beats In Chilton County Are Selected

Enumeration of children of school age in Chilton County will begin on next Monday. Completion of the work is expected during the month of July. At the meeting of the County Board of Education last week complete plans were made for carrying out the census. Enumerators for the different beats of the county were named, as follows:

Beat 1. W. Z. Hodges.
Beat2. Hugh T. Shaw and Mrs. Jim Cobb.
Beat 3. H. R. Oden.
Beat 4. Paul C. Mims, S. W. Collins, Ewart Corley, J. L. Smith.
Beat 5. W. C. DuBose.
Beat 6. L. C. Keen, Stanley Davis.
Beat 7. J. B. Hicks.
Beat 8. Miss Leslie Parnell.
Beat 9. Earl Leary, V. J. Littlejohn.
Beat 10. Lee Yates.
Beat 11. H. A. Harris.
Beat 12. Marvin Martin, Horace Nabors.
Beat 13. W. G. Shaw.
Beat 14. T. L. Lenoir.
Beat 15. H. L. Traywick, O. H. Scott.
Beat 16. Irvin P. Kennedy.

A meeting of the above named census enumerators will be held at the office of County Superintendent Little, at two o'clock Friday afternoon of this week, in order to fully instruct the workers as to their duties.

Superintendent Little urges upon the public the importance of this enumeration. He points out that it is upon the basis of this census that Chilton County will be allotted school funds for the next two years. Every child listed means that the county will secure four to five dollars of public school money. If any child, is missed by the enumerators, the office of the County Superintendent should be notified so that enlistment may be made before the report is closed finally.

Jars For Orphan Home Food At Thorsby Store

According to Rev. J. W. Jones of Thorsby, a plentiful supply of jars is on hand at the store of Donald Merchant in Thorsby, which may be had free of cost by those interested in canning food of any kind for the Baptist Orphan Home at Troy.

It will be recalled that last year a wide variety of fruits, vegetables, etc. was canned and shipped to Troy for these children, and the jars now available are a part of these which have been returned to save expense to those who would like to can some of their surplus produce for a donation to this most worthy cause. The Rev. Jones urges those who wish to help to call by Donald Merchant's store and get as many of the jars as needed.

Mrs. Gaines is survived by her husband; one son, the Rev. James L. Gaines of Centerville; three daughters, Mrs. S. P. Peavy, of Alabama City, Mrs. Catherine Daniel, Birmingham, and Miss Lanella Gaines, of Haynes.

4-H CLUB GIRLS EXHIBIT WORK LAST SATURD'Y

Miss Lucille Edwards Of Isabella Wins First Prize For Good Work

The annual contest of 4-H club girls of Chilton County was held last Saturdayday morning at the court house in Clanton, when twenty-two girls, representatives from each of the eleven clubs in the county, exhibited examples of their handicraft before the critical eyes of three judges and the admiring gaze of a crowded courtroom of women from all sections of the county.

Twenty-two girls, selected for the outstanding merit of their work, explained in minute detail the work of their art. Various projects in sewing were submitted. From this group, four winners were selected to represent Chilton County in a state-wide contest to be held at the close of the State Short Course at Auburn, which they will attend from August 21-25.

Lucille Edwards, of the Isabella club, was winner of first place; second place

UNITY-CHILTON INSTITUTE TO CONVENE HERE

Begins July 10th With Three Days Of Splendid Items On The Program

A three-days session of the Unity-Chilton County Mission Institute will be convened at the Clanton Baptist church Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, July 10, 11, and 12 according to Mrs. Grady Heflin, superintendent of the Unity Mission, and Mrs. L. D. Hughes, superintendent of the Chilton Mission.

A most unusual group of teachers and speakers have been secured. Mrs. T. M. Floyd, State W. M. U. Mission Study chairman, teaches adults, with interesting curios and charts prepared by a Missionary on the South China field, where the scenes of the study book are laid. Miss Eunice Long, Eastern District's talented scholarship girl, teaches Y. W. A. Mrs. Troy Hopkins, resident of Mexico and the Canal Zone, will be intensely interesting in teaching a book on Mexico. The Rev. Collis Cunningham, charming teacher and returned Missionary from Japan, will be teacher for young men. The Rev. J. L. Moye, one time Missionary to Chile, is also a popular teacher. Those at the Institute last year will rejoice that the Rev. F. P. Dennison is to be there all the time. Dennison has had many and strange experiences, having been a Catholic priest for many years, a soldier in the Crimean War and a visitor to many countries, he is an intensely interesting speaker.

The devotionals will be so worthwhile that every person is requested to be in seat ten minutes before ten o'clock each day, so as to have that half-hour undisturbed. The Rev. Luther Gaines as song leader, will make a real feature of the music, both the specials and the congregational singing.

The public is cordiall invited. Sponsored by the W. M. U. of Unity and

NAPOLEON COKER REPORTS FIRST BLOOM OF SEASON

Credit for the first cotton bloom in Chilton County is claimed this year by Napoleon Coker, of Clanton route 6. Mr. Coker reported to the News last week that he discovered the first cotton bloom in his field on June 23 this year, but through oversight it was not mentioned in last week's issue. He also reported the first bloom last year.

Mr. Bill Mullins visited his mother, Mrs. W. I. Mullins last week end. Miss Helen Moore and Mis Sara Beth Mullins returned to Mobile with him.

Mr. M. Lande and Mr. Bill Simpson are spending this week at the coast.

Miss Celia Baldwin of Mt. Creek and Dr. Sutton Baldwin of Arizona, who is visiting in the Baldwin home, were ivsitors in Clanton Monday.

Three Chilton Men Are Killed Over Week-End

ONE DROWNED TWO KILLED BY SHOOTING

Abb Martin, A Well Known Farmer, Meets Death While Fishing

Three Chilton County men met accidental deaths during the past week, when one man was drowned, a second took his own life during a fit of jealousy and the other met his death when he snapped "an empty gun" while pointing it at his head.

In a fit of morbid jealousy, Jimmy Lee Cox, 23, a former Chilton County youth, ended his own life Sunday morning, when he fired a load from a 12-guage shotgun into his left side at his home in Sylacauga, following a quarrel with his wife.

Seated in a chair, the youth placed the muzzle of the shotgun against his chest and pulled the trigger with a forked stick. The load took effect just above his heart, ranging upward and striking the artery in the left side of his neck.

Young Cox and his wife had quarreled Saturday night, according to witnesses, and Sunday morning he declared that he intended to kill himself. Friends who were with him attempted to wrest the gun from his hands, but he pulled the trigger before they could reach him. His wife was at a nearby neighbor's home when the tragedy occurred.

For sometime, it was stated, the couple had been having trouble and following a heated quarrel Saturday night, when Cox had become jealous because his wife rode from the show with another man, he declared that he was going to end his life.

He was born and reared in Chilton County and was recently employed at the Alabama Mills. At the time of his death he was working at a cotton mill in Sylacauga.

Besides his widow, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Cox, of West End Clanton, and several brothers and sisters. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the Macedonia church and burial was in the churchyard cemetery.

Abb J. Martin, 50-year-old farmer and sawmill operator of Jemison, was drowned about 7 o'clock last Thursday evening, when the boat in which he and Leo Ellison, a nephew, were running a trotline capsized, throwing them into about 20 feet of water at the mouth of Waxahatchie creek several miles above Lay Dam.

His body was recovered within an hour, but attempts at artificial respiration failed. The boat overturned when

Congressman Oliver Will Be Here Today

Congressman W. B. Oliver is expected to arrive in Chilton County this week according to information received by the News Tuesday night. His plans were to visit in Maplesville enroute from his home in Tuscaloosa, and then spend today in Clanton and vicinity.

Mr. Oliver has just returned to his home from Washington. His last few days spent in Washington were very busy, having spent considerable time in behalf of his district which includes this county. He stated he hoped to see as many people as he could while here, but that his time would be limited, due to the fact that he also had other places to visit while in Alabama.

GOVERNMENT ASKING FOR BIDS ON SITES

To Be In Not Later Than Nine O'Clock On Monday, July 16th

Definite confirmation that a new postoffice building will be constructed was received this week, when the United States Postal Department authorized an advertisement in the Chilton County News, asking for bids on a site for the new $55,000 building.

The bids are to be submitted immediately on proper forms, which can be secured at the postoffice, to Acting Postmaster Billy Smith, who stated that they will be opened at the postoffice on Monday, July 16, at 9 o'clock a. m.

The advertisement calls for a corner lot approximate dimensions to be 80 feet frontage, with 140 feet depth, or interior lot with 100 feet frontage and 140 feet depth, however, lots of different street frontage will be considered, provided the area is approximately the same, it was stated. Documentary evidence of the agent's authority must accompany each bid, where the owner of the property does not submit the bid.

It was definitely made known about ten days ago that $55,000 had been allocated for the purpose of constructing a new postoffice building in Clanton. Details regarding the building have not been received by the Clanton office, according to a statement from Billy Smith, acting postmaster.

100-HOUR ENDURANCE DRIVE IS GOING ON IN CLANTON THIS WEEK

Sensational Drive Began Tuesday, July 3rd, With Driver Handcuffed To The Steering Wheel Of A New 1934 Chevrolet Six Sedan

Scores of curious persons gathered at the Hayes Chevrolet Company's place on the highway in Clanton Tuesday morning to watch the start of the 100-hour non-stop Chevrolet endurance drive, which will be a vigorous test not only of the mechanism of the new 1934 Chevrolet four-door sedan, but also of the driver, who will sit underneath the steering wheel for 100 hours of solid driving.

The drive began at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning and will continue until Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, according to a statement from Ocie D Retherford and Alec Callen, promoters of the non-stop drive.

Retherford, the driver of the car, was handcuffed to the wheel by Chief of Police J. R. Hardy, not to be released until the drive is completed in front of the Hayes Chevrolet Company after four days and nights of grueling punishment. Under only two conditions will the machine stop motion, it was explained, and those are in case of tire trouble, or to avoid an accident.

Traversing the entirety of Chilton County, thousands of persons will view this test of man and machine, which is being sponsored by a dozen Clanton business firms. The car will not even stop for gas and oil, but will be refueled twice daily on the run by the staff of the Teel Service Station, of Clanton. The driver will face the daredevil risk of being shaved as he drives through traffic on the streets of Clanton. Dick Bean will be the first Clanton barber to wield a razor over the face of a man while he manipulates an automobile through the streets of Clanton. The Dixie Cafe will serve his meals regularly on the run.

At the close of the drive, after the driver has been given an examination by physicians, he will retire on a bed in the show windows of the E. L. Klinner Furniture Company to regain some much-needed sleep.

MISS BOSWELL TO TEACH SINGING SCHOOL JACKSON CHAPEL

Miss Annie Boswell will teach a singing school at Jackson Chapel, beginning Monday, July 9, according to an announcement given the News this week.

Miss Boswell is a well-known music and singing instructor and declares that she anticipates a successful term at Jackson Chapel, where a keen interest in singing has been manifested for many years.

Through courses in class singing, voice culture, sight reading, the rudiments of music and advanced courses in harmony will be among the features taught, she stated.

"UNCLE BUD AND HIS BOLL WEEVILS" TO BE AT VERMONT

The popular troupe, "Uncle Bud and His Boll Weevils," will give a performance at the Vermont Junior High School Wednesday night, July 11, beginning at 8 o'clock.

The program will feature string music, singing, rube comedy, and buck dancing. The program is being sponsored by the Vermont school. The public is cordially invited to attend, it was announced.

The Test Is Succeeding

"I am convinced," said President Roosevelt to the 4,500 business executives at the first great code conference of NRA, "that, with your help, the test is succeeding." Intimately familiar to him are statistics, week by week, of steadily advancing sales and production, conservatively based on forward orders. He knows that industry in the main has been immensely pleased with the codes. So to the point:

"The purchasing power of the people," he said, "can be increased and sustained only by striving for the lowest schedule of prices on which higher wages and increasing employment can be maintained. . . . It is the immediate task of industry to reemploy more people at purchasing wages and to do it now."

In the five big group sessions, which started immediately where the President left off, there were industrialists who regarded lessening of hours to provide more work as desirable and infinitely preferable to a flat 30-hour week, as provided in a bill that had been that same day favorably reported in Congress. But "to do it now" would be, many said, in varying degrees of emphasis, at least premature. Investment in labor, rather than in more factories and bonuses to management, had proved profitable under NRA. But to move precipitately, at the instance of Government as umpire under the agreed terms of the codes, would set still another precedent. There was considerable of the old-time spirit present, notwithstanding the President had expressly said he favored resiliency in any rule for reemployment.

However, Mr. Elwood Kisor, of the code committee for automotive maintenance, was one of many who began stoutly asserting that NRA "is the greatest thing that ever happened to the American people." Members of code authorities related that already they had absorbed all unemployed in their respective trades, and there was described an actual scarcity of skilled and semi-skilled workmen in many lines and localities. Gradually there were indications that the President had definite ideas as to how and where a great many more men and women could be put back to work immediately without harm to industry except the element that ignores volume of sales for immediate profits. These belong to the unfortunate minority which, the President said, do not "think things thru."

Finally it developed that the Government, through coordination of many hitherto unrelated bureaus, had on display in the great Commerce Building an amazing wealth of statistical data such as never was before made available. With a blend of current reports from the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce and the Bureau of Labor Statistics from the Department of Labor as to the details of 51 American industries, all superimposed, as it were, upon current reports from the great Bureau of the Census and various other independent governmental sources that in previous years were specialized services, there appeared to be little room for argument as to what some industries could do in the true spirit of NRA, and "do it now."

Recapturing Lost Values

There seems to be some justification for the theory that the South of today lacks some of the graces for which the South of an earlier period became distinguished, after making due allowance for the proverbial fact that each generation of oldsters takes it for granted that its generation was the best.

The backsliding, to adopt an expressive phrase from the vocabulary of the Methodists, appears to relate particularly to the fine art of being courteous—an art in which the South at one time was preeminent. Whether this is due to the increased tempo of the age or to the the development of an unconscious negligance, does not appear.

Times have changed, of course, the slow and comfortable pace of a purely agrcultural era has been quickened by th introduction of a high-speed industrialism, but this does not tell the whole story. The let-down has been too widespread and general to be accounted for upon so simple a hypothesis. There are many other factors.

One of these factors unquestionably is the waning influence of the home. Parents used to rear their children with rather exact notions of social conduct. Today the processes of child training have been largely transferred to kindergartens and schools, with the finishing touches to be applied to a small minority by colleges and universities.

The schools, colleges and universities do a good job with the material they receive, but too often the material has not been properly handled in the home. Bents have been permitted to develop that are difficult if not impossible of correction.

Thus if there is to be a renaisance of culture in the South it must have its inception in the home, and surely the end is worth striving for.—Tuscaloosa News.

The Brain Trust

A great deal is being said in some newspapers about the "brain trust." ~~In reality~~ this effort to belittle certain leaders in the administration of President Roosevelt is nothing less than an underhand effort to discredit the President himself.

Secretary Ickes took the opportunity in a recent address to pay his respects to the critics of the "brain trust" when he said, "What they (the critics) fear is not brains as such, but brains that are being used for the benefit of the masses of our people, instead of for a privileged few."—Shelby County Reporter.

An Editorial For Factory Employees

First of all, let us remind you that the codes under which various manufacturing concerns are now operating are as much labor's codes as they are manufacturers' codes—and under them the Administration at Washington expects labor to co-operate.

Under the various codes promulgated and accepted it is not going to be all smooth sailing for your employer. Unless the management of a concern can make both ends meet under the New Deal any agreement is likely to prove purely ephemeral.

When he addressed the country over the air from the White House, President Roosevelt recognized that, to the extent that workers are beneficiaries from the New Deal, they should "play ball" with management and agree to conditions which will enable them to earn the better treatment.

The President called upon all workers to "go along with us in a spirit of understanding and helpfulness."

And since the Federal government took the initiative in insisting on better social standards Mr. Roosevelt saw no occasion for pugnacity on the part of labor at this time, pointing out that "No aggression is now necessary to attain those rights."

By implication the President called for a re-orientation in respect to the mode of procedure and the philosophy of organized labor.

If concrete meaning may be attached to the Presidential plea to labor to "go along with us in a spirit of understanding and helpfulness," he evidently meant that labor was to co-operate with management in the elimination of wasteful practices which make all of us poorer.

Management can afford higher pay for a shorter week only if it is permitted to inspire workers to a higher degree of productivity.

No manufacturer in any industry can possibly limit production, increase the cost of production and still make enough profit to pay high wages and allow short hours.

The New Deal can only be made effective thru reasonable co-operation between employers and employees, thru the effort to supply good work in return for good wages and thru increased productivity as an offset to increased cost of production. "Sweating" employers is as unwise as "sweating" labor, and extortion from employers is as dangerous as oppression by employers.

President Roosevelt has accepted the challenge to induce workers to walk hand in hand with employers toward better living standards. Therefore, it is to be hoped that organized and unorganized workers will recoginze the important contribution which they can make to national recovery.—Selected.

Too Much Theory

Approving the idea that our system of edcation, even professional education, is encumbered with superfluous theory and non-essentials, an eminent English engineer, C. B. Gordon-Sale, expresses doubt concerning the value of such an amount of higher mathematics as must be mastered by young engineers.

He declares that "many of the involved theories, embodying yards of calculations, are out of place and liable to warp the mental outlook to such an extent that it takes years of experience to attain a reasonable view of engineering problems."

He further asserts that he has never had to use much that he learned during his technical training but, that he constantly needed knowledge of cost estimating and other practical matters not taught in school, but which had to be picked up through corrected mistakes.

Referring to the plea that higher mathematics and an accompanying host of algebraic symbols are necessary for the formation of logical modes of thought, Mr. Gordon-Sale thinks the idea does not work out, because he believes that "cramming" is hard for anyone, and adds:

"The amount of matter that one has to get through is so great that there is no time for basic principles; the sole aim of college days is to get the numerical problems right."

Mr. Gordon-Sale merely expresses what a good many thoughtful persons, ncluding leading educators, have suspected for quite a while. And the fault he points out is by no means confined to engineering courses.—Pickens County Herald.

The Principle Of Transport Regulation

The report of the Transportation Conference of 1933-34 lays down two vital general principles, among others. These are: That there should be unified regulation of the interstate carrying services which are subjected to rate and service regulations; and that self-regulation as exemplified by the industrial codes is not an effective substituate for public regulation.

The Conference represents the entire transportation industry, and it is a testimonial to its work that where representatives of the various carriers concerned found themselves in violent disagreement at the beginning, they eventually reached almost unanimous accord in making recommendations. All substantial bus and truck companies as well as the railroads , favor equalized, centralized regulation—they are as interested as anyone else in eliminating fly-by-nights from their busines.s

At present, regulation of transportation is almost farcial. Only one branch of the industry, the railroads, is really regulated. Other carriers are subject to state regulation only, or to none at all. In many cases, there is no curb whatsoever on their policies as to rates, schedules, wage and labor standards, etc. In some states anyone who owns an old truck may set himself up as a stage company—at the expense of established and responsible carriers which are seeking to serve the public honestly and well.

The Conference's recommendations should be given the most careful attention in preparing future transportation legislation. In a matter of this kind, which concerns all the people, there is o tim to waste.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

I saw a grown man come across the school campus of the school building in front of my home and he made the entire distance hopping on one foot. As I watched his great effort in travel I said to myself: "Poor fellow, he has a croppled foot and yet he is trying so hard to make his way to town." My sympathy ran up to high pitch just as he reached the sidewalk, and to my astonishment the man put down his other foot and walked on his way as any other man would have done. There was nothing at all wrong with his foot. This man, like a lot of other men, was making his travel very difficult because he was not using the limb that God had given him. We see people every day who are hopping and hobbling along the way of life with great effort and in great misery and all because they fail to use some of their God given endowments. Many people struggle through life, having a hard time and all because they are too lazy to get out and hustle for a living. Put down your other foot of energy and economy and walk in ease.

I stood on the street corner where there was much traffic and noise. Across the street I saw a man working at the foot of a telephone pole. He was sending up tools and material to a man who was at the top of the pole. I noticed that the man never made a mistake and I wondered how he could understand the words spoken in such a bedlum of noise. On close inspection I observed that he had a small phone bound to his ear and that the man on the top of the pole would speak to him over the wire. One of the ears of the man at the foot of the pole was listening to the sounds that were around him, while the other ear listened to the voice that was above hime. We are living in a very busy and a very noisy world and it is necessary that we have connection with the voice of God that speaks to us from above. If we hear nothing but the voices of the world we are certain to do wrong. To listen to God's voice is necessary that we may know how to handle the tools of life and to do the real work of living. Can you hear God speaking to you?

I saw an old negro going to town in his mule wagon. He was constantly urging his mule along with his whip. When the mule would feel the lash on his back he would step up for a few paces and then he would slow down to his old gait. The old negro with his patience exausted gave the old mule a vigorous jerk and lash saying, "Get on here, you good for nothing beast, you is so forgetful." The sin of forgetting is a crime of man and beast. We are lashed with experiences and for a few hours we are mindful, but we soon forget. We see the mistakes of others but we are not warned. Like a mule that is being driven, "We is so forgetful."

Did you know that the home life of the beautiful little wren is a scandal; In the early Spring Mr. and Mrs. Wren will set up house-keeping. First a nest must be built and there is a domestic squabble. The male and the female disagree on the limb, but finally the female settles the family row and sets the male to work on the task. She flies away and the father of the home carries sticks and grass until he thinks that the nest is about done. About the time all the twigs are in place the lady bird comes flying up and darts into the nest and there she sets up a bitter strife. She jerks straw with her bill and chatters with her tongue and it is supposed that she is reading the riot act to her husband. She flings twig after twig out and then flies away. The humble, hard working old dad again goes to work and builds again. This act of domestic trouble goes on for days, but when the nest is done and the eggs are being deposited there are two birds in one love nest. How like folks the wren family must be.

I am not a doctor but I would like to prescribe a sure remedy to cure a family quarrel. Here it is: When you feel inclined to quarrel with one of your family take a glass of water and fill your mouth with it and hold for thirty minutes. If you feel the same symptom on swallowing the water refill at once and hold for another thirty minutes. Keep this up without saying a word between doses until the feeling to quarrel is gone. Blessed is the husband, or the wife, who has learned the art of silence when a quarrel is brewing. It is not the water but the silence that counts.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By
Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

G. B. Williams, Editor of the Dunkirk (N. Y.) Observer, says:

"Did you ever stop to think that people read newspapers because they want them? The newspaper is not forced on anyone. People pay for it regularly. Whole families await it eagerly and quarrel good-naturedly over their individual turns to read it. Each praises and criticizes it as one is prone to praise and criticize the other members of the famly. The newspaper is a definite part of the family. That is why its sales force is immeasurable.

"Door to door salesmen use all kinds of ingenious devices to get inside the home. But the newspaper is a welcome guest. One type of selling is forced, the other type is received cordially. Door to door hand-bills are an intrusion upon the privacy of the home, but the newspaper is invited in. Its messages are read avidly and its advertisements are considered a part of these messages.

"The newspaper is so definitely a part of the people, so much an accepted member of the family, that its pages constitute the finest advertising medium yet devised.' '

Th world is more populated than it ever has been. Humanity needs as much as it ever did. In fact today we consider as necessities what were formerly regarded as luxuries. What is the cause of there now being a decreased demand when the natural tendency would seem to be exactly the opposite? More people require more supplies and the education of the people to a higher standard of living introduces a demand for more expensive goods. The cause is the reduced buying power of the people, and there seems to be a thousand schemes floating around to remedy that.

The two things which will do the most is to restore confidence and to give capital a square deal, so it will come out of hiding and go to work. In spite of what we may think of capital, it takes money to make the wheels of business go round. The fellows who have money are scared and won't put it to work until they are satisfied that it won't be taken away from them by taxes and they will have a chance to reasonable profit.

Employment Increase 33% Under New Codes

Washington — Average increase of employment made possible through approval of eight new codes is 33 pereent. This brings the total number of approvals to 323. These varied from payroll increase of 15 percent and reemployment estimated at 16 percent under the wholesale coal code to as high as 50 percent increase in wages of women, who predominate in the punch-board manufacturing industry. The vacuum-cleaner manufacturing industry sustains an increased pay roll of $875,000, amounting to 15 percent in operating costs, but the industry has been able to absorb added overhead expenses through "constantly increasing volume of sales." Other codes approved were for the following industries and trades: Industrial safety equipment, wrecking and salvage, newspaper printing press, rock and slag, wool manufacturing, and hide and leather working machine.

Alabama Homes Use More Power For Less Money

New Rate Plan Receives Enthusiastic Reception Thru Entire State

How Alabama's new electric rate schedule, which has been adopted as a model by the states of Tennessee and Georgia, is making possible increased use of electricity and at the same time is actually reducing electric bills is graphically illustrated in the records of your company for May.

During May residential customers of your company used 646,163 kilowatt hours MORE electricity than during May, 1933. Yet their electric bills for this larger amount of electricity were $12,000 LESS than they paid for the smaller amount in the same month last year. These are not estimated savings. They are actual figures on money paid in and electricity put out. As a result our customers received—

15% MORE electricity for 5.9% LESS money!

The average price paid by our customers for their electric service dropped from 4.87 cents to 3.97 cents a kilowatt hour, a decrease of more than 18 per cent.

Are you getting your share of these electrical bargains? Remember, there's a package of Free Electricity for you in any month of 1934 that you use more electricity than you used the same month last year. Thousands of our customers are already using theirs and the number is growing every month.

From windmills, a horsepower costs 5 cents. From large electric power companies, the average horsepower-hour costs the farmer 5 cents—the same as from windmills. And wind is free! The average rating of a windmill is a half horsepower. Imagine a farm with 40 windmills.—C. M. Ripley, G. E. Co.

TAXES

Taxes paid by Alabama Power Company in 1933 amounted to $6,052.26 for every day in the year, including Sundays and holidays.

Range-Water Heater Sales Set 4-Year Record

Lower Prices and Lower Rates Combine To Boost Sales

Happy days are here again in Alabama, if electric range and water heater sales are any indication. Both of these appliances are selling at a faster rate today than anytime within the past four years.

And there's a reason—in fact four good ones. First, of course, is the pick-up in the general business situation. What with folks on the farm getting higher prices for their crops, and folks in the cities going back to work, the sky is unquestionably getting just a little bluer every day in Alabama.

But right along with the general business build-up is the fact that never in the history of the Alabama Power Company, have ranges and water heaters of such outstanding merit, been available at such low prices as they are this season. New low prices have made it possible for many more customers to own them. And new low rates have made it possible to operate them far more economically than ever before. Customers, who in the past have been using only lighting and small appliances, can now add "large appliances", like the electric range and water heater, for surprising little additional expense. In fact, it is now actually possible to enjoy the cleanliness, convenience, and comfort of electric cooking for as little as 3-1/3 cents a meal!

Latest models of electric ranges and water heaters are now on display at our stores throughout the state. Our customers are cordially invited to inspect them, and discuss with our representatives prices, terms, and operating costs.

DIVIDEND CHECKS MAILED JULY 1ST

Dividend checks aggregating more than $585,000 were mailed July 1st by Alabama Power Company to more than 15,000 stockholders.

Shelby County Area Made Into State Park

Montgomery—Shelby County recently broke into the list of Alabama counties in which State Parks have been established, according to deeds on file with the Alabama Commission of Forestry which is ex-officio State Park Board. Tracts aggregating 440 acres located on Oak Mountain in the northwestern part of the county are comprised in the new scenic and recreational area established by the Commission. The lands were purchased at a low figure from owners who were very largely influenced by the public character of the project in making liberal terms.

Oak Mountain Park offers some of the most picturesque views in Alabama. A waterfall in a clear running mountain stream is one of the most conspicious features. A large spring exists in another part of the area, and bold rock cliffs add sterner elements to the landscape.

The park is but twenty miles from the center of the city of Birmingham. Of this distance seventeen miles lie along the paved Birmingham-Montgomery highway. The development of the park will include the improvement of the road from the main highway to the park area, a distance of approximately three miles.

The Commission of Forestry is recommending to the National Park Service the establishment of a C. C. C. camp on Oak Mountain State Park to develop the tract in accordance with plans drawn up by the Commission's engineers and landscape architects and approved by the Federal Government. Should such a camp be established it will probably be located on the ground shortly after October 1. In the event that a C. C. C. camp may not be available, an atempt will be made to obtain the necessary labor from the Alabama Transient Bureau, probably from the Birmingham center. In any event comparatively early development of the park is assured.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of thanking the people of this community and vicinity for the help, kindness, and sympathy shown us during the sickness and death of our darling little twin girls who died June 15, and 18 respectively. We thank everyone for the beautiful floral offering. Thanks to Brother Culp for his comforting words. We also thank the good men who helped with the field work. May the Lord bless each and every one is our prayer.

Two Verbena Youths In Marine Corps

Macon, Ga.—Until Congress passed the Naval appropriation bill providing funds to maintain the U. S. Marine Corps at its normal strength, the Marine Corps did not have the funds to keep its ranks filled. The new appropriations will enable the Marine Corps to fill the vacancies which occurred during the period of enforced economy.

Lieutenant Colonel H. W. Stone in charge of the Marine Corps District of Macon with office and examining rooms in the Municipal Auditorium, announces that two hundred of these vacancies have been assigned to his district which includes Georgia, Alabama, and Tennessee.

Most of these vacancies will be filled from waiting lists of applicants who have already submitted evidence of their qualifications. Under the new appropriations, however, vacancies will be regularly fille dso that the opportunity to serve in the Marine Corps which has been practically closed during the last year will be reopened to qualified young men.

Applicants must be graduates of high schools or have equivalent or superior education, must be over 18 years old and over 66 inches tall. Evidence of educational and physical qualifications and also of character and standing in home community must be submitted by mail before applicants are admitted to the examining offices.

Verbena High School is represented in the Marine Corps by two graduates who were able to meet the rigid requirements for soldiers of the sea and have completed preliminary training at Marine Corps Schools, Parris Island, S. C. which receives all successful applicants from states east of the Rocky Mountains.

Milton T. Sharp graduated 1931 and was accepted at Macon, Ga., September 25, 1933 and Otis U. Gulledge, class of 1932, was accepted at Macon, October 16, 1933.

The Marine Corps is the soldier corps of the navy and serves principally aboard battleships and cruisers, and ashore beyond the seas. Its training and its habits acquired by service afloat and ashore give it a distinctive character and adapts it to act promptly and efficiently in any variety of situations requiring treatment by forces accustomed to meeting emergencies at home and abroad.

468 Chevrolets Produced At World's Fair

First month's production of Chevrolet cars at the Chicago World's Fair, General Motors building assembly line totaled 468 units, according to information released by Dudley Fraser, assembly line manager.

By actual count, 646,107 people have visited the exhibit to watch the building of Chevrolet cars, an increase over the first 30 days last year.

Retail sales of Chevrolet cars in the General Motors building are materially higher than last year also, it was reported.

The Chevrolet World's Fair assembly line employs 175 workmen selected by merit from the Janesville, Kansas City, Norwood and Flint assembly plants. They work six hours a day, six days a week, according to the NRA automotive code. The line operates from 1:30 in the afternoon till 9:30 at night, except Sunday.

"Pains Gone," Says Lady, After She Had Taken CARDUI

In describing how her health improved after she had taken Cardui, Mrs. Ralph R. Courtney, of Wytheville, Va., said: "I was run-down and suffered from pain in my side. I wanted to feel well and get rid of the pain in my side, so I sent for Cardui and began taking it. By the time I had taken three bottles of Cardui, I was feeling much better. The pains had gone. I am very glad to recommend Cardui to other young women." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

MUSIC SCHOOL AT THOMAS JR. HIGH BEGINS MON., JULY 9TH

Prof. W. M. Devaughn will begin a singing school at Thomas Junior High school buildng on Monday morning of next week, July 9th. The school will continue for a term of eighteen days, or longer if deemed necessary.

Prof. Devaughn anticipates one of the best schools of the season, and says that if necessity demands it, he will employ another teacher to help him in the school. He will teach everything in the music line, including advanced harmony, voice culture, etc., and his tuition charges will be very reasonable.

Everybody anywhere around Clanton knows W. M. Devaughn and what he means as a music teacher, but to those outside the county who are not acquainted with him personally, we will say that if you want to really learn the principles of sacred music, you can do no better than study under him.

When the school is finished, if you want to get a diploma to teach, he will gladly give you the required examination, and if you pass, a diploma will be issued to you. Prof. Devaughn will be pleased to have you get in touch with him by letter or otherwise, if you are interested in furthering your study of music.

GENERAL CLEANING AT NEW HARMONY CHURCH

On Thursday before the third Sunday, July 12, all the people who have an interest in this place are invited to come and help clean off the cemetery, clean off the yards around the church and help scrub the church floor. Now, people, when the cemetery is cleaned off that don't mean the work is finished, the yard is to be cleaned and the floor is to be scrubbed. Heretofore, when the cemetery was finished all would leave except a few. That is not right to leave until the work is finished. Bring your lunch and help all day.

I am sure there will be plenty to do all day. Surely you can spare one day to help work around a church. Come early and bring proper tools to work with.

Remember, our three-day meeting begins at this place Friday before next fourth Sunday. Everybody has a special invitation to come and be with us.

CENTURY PROGRESS

As millions of World's Fair visitors saw tires made in the Firestone Factory and Exhibition Building, we asked thousands this question: "What do you value most in a tire?" Car owners from every state in the Union were interviewed—drivers of automobiles, trucks, busses, and tractors—and out of it all came one composite answer: "Give us Blowout Protection, Non-Skid Safety, and Long Wear, at moderate price."

Firestone engineers used every conceivable resource in developing a tire embodying all these qualifications and selling to the public at a price within the reach of every car owner. The answer is the new Firestone Century Progress Tire.

High School Elective Courses For Students Not Going To College

By L. C. Warr

This article is intended for the student who likely will never go to college. Will you please read it carefully?

Eective courses are offered in high schools which are adapted not only to the needs of those who are to attend college, but also to those who will not attend college.

A recent survey, results of which reveal that two-thirds of Alabama's high school graduates do not enter college.

By an elective course is meant that pupils are offered the opportunity of electing such immediately practical subjects as manual arts, an extra year of home economics, or a choice between some of the foreign languages or some of the commercial subjects. The above courses will offset the traditional subjects of higher mathematics and the classical languages more frequently selected by the professional group. In other words, if you are of the opinion your boy or girl might not succeed in college, or if you are financially unable to send him to college, it is a wise idea for him not to take the traditional courses offered in our high schools.

Through proper guidance the elective features of the high school curriculum attempt to take care of natural differences between individuals and to prepare the young citizen for community service as well as to promote the type of standardship required as preparation for college work.

In 1922 the number of pupils graduating from the white high schools of Alabama was 4,196. Ten years later, 1932, there were 9,939 in the white high schools, or an increase of 137%.

During the same period the number of these graduates entering Alabama colleges increased from 1680 to 2,067, or 21%. However, in 1928 the number of graduates entering colleges within the State was 2,735, an increase over the year 1922 of 62%. Since 1928 the number entering college annually has gradually diminished while the number of graduates has increased by approximately 2,000 students.

In 11 years the number of graduates from Alabama white high schools has amounted to 79,480, a number greater by several thousand than the population of either Mobile or Montgomery according to the latest Federal census. Of this number 24,638 or 31% enrolled as freshmen in the 16 higher institutions of the State. A few, possibly 2%, enrolled outside the State in other colleges. It is evident that the other 50,000 or more of these high school graduates have not attended college at all. In other words, two out of every three students graduating from high school disappear from school life. That the tendency is still smaller is evidenced by the fact that only one out of every five in the 1932 graduating classes enrolled in Alabama colleges and higher institutions.

The school exists for all the children of all the parents, and not for the type altogether who might succeed in college perhaps better than some others. We therefore, want you to counsel and advise with us any time about the best interests of your boys and girls.

Local Legion Post Elects New Officers

The regular monthly meeting of Chilton County Post No. 6 of the American Legion was held at the courthouse Monday night. Post Commander Reuben Lowe, presided.

The most important phase of business transacted at the meeting was the election of officers for the next year.

Reuben Lowe was elected Post Commander. Mr. Lowe has been commander for the past few months, serving the unexpired term of Grver A. Bice, resigned. He was accorded a fine expression of appreciation for his services by members of the Post upon his election to the office for a full term.

Vaughn C. McKee, Post Adjutant for the past year, was elected vice-commander for the coming year. Kin M. Vinson was elected Post Adjutant, to succeed Mr. McKee.

A full quota of nine delegates and nine alternates were elected to represent Chilton County Post at the Alabama Department Convention to be held in Birmingham July 23, 24 and 25.

The report of Chilton County Post at the Department convention this month will show that the membership for this year exceeds that of last year by a considerable number.

Percy Pitts rendered a report on the soldiers barbecue which was held last week at Mims Lake. A variety of expressions indicated that this meeting was very important to all ex-service men who attended. The visiting speaker, Maj. W. M. Weston, state service commissioner, brought a mesage of explanation of legislation that was of much interest to all of the soldiers.

The newly elected officers of the Post will assume their official duties at the next regular meeting the first Monday night in August, at the court house.

HOW MUCH MILEAGE PER DOLLAR?

THAT IS THE QUESTION

LET US ANSWER IT!

How many miles per gallon — isn't the point. A Gallon of Standard or Crown Ethyl gas costs no more — yet takes you more miles than an inferior, cheaper grade. COME HERE FOR THE GAS THAT GIVES YOU THE MOST MILEAGE PER DOLLAR.

Fourteen Youths Leave For C. C. Camps Mon.

Fourteen youths, Chilton County's quota of recruits that are being enrolled to replace several hundred members of the reforestration army, left Clanton Monday morning for Montgomery, where they will be transferred directly to work camps, according to information from the local relief offices.

These recruits, it was explained, will not be sent to a conditioning camp as has been the practice before, but will be transferred directly to a work camp and will soon be engaged in doing their bit of cooperation to swing this country back to prosperity—and to earn the $25 per month which will be sent to members of their families back home.

Since the first enlistment, Chilton County has been well represented in several of the reforestration camps throughout the South. Many of the county's boys have won outstanding promotions and the esteem of their officers in these camps.

Those who enlisted Monday are: Curtis Huett, Verbena route 1; Billy Gray, Thorsby route 1; Oscar Edwards, Verbena route 1; Oda Kelly, Lawley route 1; John T. Honeycutt, Thorsby; Eddison Barron, Mt. Creek route 2; Bruce Barnett, Calera route 1; Sammy Arledge, Calera route 1; Edgar Langston, Clanton route 5; Sammy Coker, Clanton route 5; Jewell Glenn, Mt. Creek route 2; Leo Deason, Clanton route 3; Clarence Smith, Maplesville route 3; and Thomas Marcus, Clanton route 5.

COOPER-BLACKMON MARRIAGE

Of interest to the people over the state was the marriage on Saturday afternoon, June 30, of Miss Mary Sue Blackmon of Samaria community and Phillip Cooper of Coopers.

The Rev. Daniels read the nuptial vows.

Mrs. Cooper is the charming daughter of Mr. I. O. Blackmon and will be greatly missed by her friends, as she will make her home in Coopers.

Mr. Cooper is a young man of splendid qxalities, and is a former graduate of Verbena High School.

Cemetery Cleaning At Liberty Hill July 6th

Members of the Liberty Hill church and community are urged to meet at the church early next Friday morning, July 6, when a morning will be spent in cleaning the cemetery and churchyards. Everyone is requested to bring necessary tools and it is hoped the work can be finished by noon to avoid the heat prevalent in the early part of the afternoon.

Because of the fact that the Rev. B. F. Dykes, who was to assist the Rev. J. S. Holland in the revival meeting, which was to begin the second Sunday in July, cannot be present on that date, the meeting has been postponed indefinitely. Announcement of the date will be made later.

COFFINS FOR SALE

To you who die, if you want to sleep in a first classed coffin, made by hand and of first classed material, you may obtain such a casket at the Verbena One-Man Casket Manufacturing Emporium.

Why pay a large price for a showy coffin when you can put your loved one decently away in a coffin for fifteen dollars. This price does not include a box but it does include a plank top.

These coffins are painted inside and out and are lined with white cloth. They have a white pad in the bottom and a white pillow. They also have handles and there is not a single nail-hole showng. Bring your truck or wagon to Verbena and your cheap coffin is on hand.

There is no reason for a child to die, but there are eight small coffins at Verbena for eight dollars per coffin. Let's be sensible. This is a recovery act and for the benefit of those whose income is meager.

NRA at Verbena means No More Robbers Around. God bless Franklin Roosevelt. 7-5-3tcG.

BIG TIME CELEBRATION TO BE STAGED AT BILLINGSLEY 12TH

People of the Billingsley community are planning a big-time outdoor celebration for Thusday, July 12, when hundreds of persons from all sections of Chilton and adjoining counties are expected to congregate at the Billingsley High School grounds for a full day of festivities.

The program as planned calls for plenty of old fashion pit barbecue, ball games, and various other forms of entertainment. The program is being sponsored by the Billingsley schools and the public is cordially invited to attend, accordng to the announcement given the News.

In the forenoon, the Billingsley baseball nine will meet on the field of battle with two visiting teams for two nine-inning games that are expected to be of keen interest to all sports fans. Throughout the day, a generous supply of old fashion pit barbecue will be served to the throngs that are expected to attend, it was stated.

Cash Farm Income Up 41% During Year

Washington — American farmers received a cash income of $484,000,000 in January, which included $424,000,000 from farm products marketed and $60,000,000 in rental and all benefit payments, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in the first of a new series of monthly reports on cash income from farm products. Total cash income in January 1934 was 41 percent greater than in January 1933. Income from products marketed in January, not including benefit payments, was 4 percent higher than in December 1933 and 23 percent higher than in January, 1934, principal increases in January over December being income from fruits, vegetables, and meat animals, which more than offset declines from cotton, cottonseed, dairy products, poultry and eggs. Income from marketing of farm products usually reaches a peak in October, declines each month to April or May and then increases. Taking into account usual seasonal declines in farm income from December to January, the increase of 4 percent is very significant, the Bureau says. When adjusted for seasonal variation, the index income increased from 46.5 in December to 52.5 in January, an increase of 13 percent.

INFANT DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. JESSE PATTERSON DIED

Funeral services for little Alice Nell Patterson, six-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Patterson, of the Eastview community, who died late Tuesday night at a Montgomery hospital, were held Wednesday afternoon from the Bethel church. Burial was in the churchyard cemetery with Martin & Sons in charge.

PLEASANT GROVE

Jemison

Rev. Maurice Hodgens asked us to make this announcement for him: That he will preach at this place next Sunday night, God willing, on the subject of "Love." This is the greatest theme that the world knows. He says for everybody who feels like it to please come, but for all means sake do not contrary your feelings.

There will be an ice cream supper, musical entertainment and games at the home of Mr. Clyde Champion next Saturday night for the benefit of the church here. Please, everybody, come and enjoy yourself and help us.

Mrs. Sam Woodley and sons, Raymond and Erskine, spent Tuesday night with relatives in Birmingham.

There was a family reunion at Mr. Jasper Smitherman's Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hatcher and son, Henry, and her aunt, Mrs. Thula Gibson, visited their son, Mr. Howard Hatcher, of Montevallo Sunday.

Mrs. Gibson is going to spend a while in Montevallo.

Mrs. Clyde Cofer had as her week end guests her sister and children, Mrs. Nellie Davis of Gadsden.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dawson have moved back inthis community from Thorsby. We are glad to have them back.

Mr. Ivey Childress of near Center Hill suffered the loss of his house by fire Sunday.

Mr. Clarence Marcus spent the week end here with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Martin spent a few days last week with her parents and brothers, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wright and James and Maurice.

Miss Gail Gletty entertained quite a number of her friends Saturday night with a party.

A number of our people went to Oak Grove Sunday and enjoyed the singing and hospitality of the people there immensely.

Many Farm Products Higher In Mid-March

Washington — Many of the leading farm products shared the moderate price gains to mid-March, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Economics. Grain, mill feeds, livestock, butter, cheese, dressed poultry, potatoes and apples sold higher. Cotton in March seems to shift with crop-control measures, but with upward trend. Corn markets are independently firm, influenced by sharp reduction in country offerings. Oats strengthened with corn, and barley is firm to higher. Feed markets maintained a generally steady tone. Average of feed prices for February was 4 percent higher than in January and 30 percent above a year ago. Livestock prices are still trending upward. A stronger cattle market, for heavies as well as light steers and yearlings, put the yearling top at $7.50 at Chicago, highest of the year to date.

Will Make Cotton Allotments Soon

Auburn, Ala.—Within the next few days Alabama farmers will receive application blanks to fill out for allotments under the Bankhead Bill. The blanks are at present being printed by The Agricultural Adjustment Administration, and will be ready for distribution soon.

Individual producers will be required to submit applications for their individual allotments to the county commttee in each county. Farmers are being advised to keep in touch with their county agents on this matter.

State and county allotments have been made and announced by officials in Washington. The number of bales per state are: Alabama 884,375; Virginia, 31,823; North Carolina, 528,693; South Carolina 602,209; Georgia, 874,654; Florida, 24,683; Illinois, 687; Kansas, 378; Kentucky, 6,396; Tennessee, 337,125; Mississippi, 1,098,728; Louisana. 525,028; Texas, 3,237,530; Oklahoma, 782,631; Arkansas, 952,669; New Mexico, 63,695; Arizona, 90,537.

This makes a total of 10,000,000 bales that may be ginned and sold tax-free this year.

The total of the county quotas is 90 per cent of the total state quota, the remaining 10 per cent being held in reserve for allotment to individual producers who have no previous cotton history or for some reason cannot qualifyfor an allotment n regular order.

Summer Driving Stresses Need For Safety

The peak of the 1934 driving season has brought higher speeds than ever before-faster acceleration, quicker stopping. Safety is a leading topic of the day. What are the causes of accidents under these new conditions? What can a motorist do to eliminate the most common causes?

The first thing to do is find out how quickly you can stop. If your brakes are working well, and you'll want to see that they are, it will take you about 240 ft. to stop when you are going at the rate of 60 miles an hour. Of this total distance, 45 ft. is thinking time and 195 ft. is actual braking distance. When you travel 70 miles an hour, it will take you 301 feet to stop. If you are just moving along slowly, at say 30 miles an hour, you may think that you can stop almost instantly. Not so —it will take about 66 feet for a very alert driver.

Quick stopping ability will do much toward avoiding accidents at signal lights, on slippery pavements and when unforeseen circumstances arise. Safety equipment is one thing that you can be sure of, and it helps to overcome the uncertain human element—yourself and the other driver. Lights, horns, steering mechanism, rear view mirrors, windshield wipers, parts affecting pickup such as spark plugs, are all important, but the most important single factor in safety at modern speeds is your tire equipment. Don't drive on thin, worn out tires and don't buy cheap and inferior new tires.

The recognized speed an endurance contests where men battle for fame, fortune and world records will give you a definite idea of the importance of tire safety. When professionals buy tires on which they will risk their lives and stake their fortunes, they act upon definite observation and experience. They choose the tire that will stand the utmost punishment and nothing can induce them to use any other tire. It is not a matter of chance or guesswork that for the past seven years Firestone tires have equipped the winning cars in the Pike's Peak Contest and for the past fifteen years have equipped the winning cars in the Indianapolis Race.

These drivers know all about construction, for example, the Firestone patented construction process of Gum-Dipping which coats each fiber within the cord body of the tire with liquid rubber. It is this process which makes possible a number of major improvements for safety in the High Speed Tire for 1934, including wider tread, deeper non-skid, and more and tougher rubber.

SINGING SCHOOL AT COLLINS CHAPEL AND UNION GROVE

Two cooperative singing schools will be taught at Collins Chapel and Union Grove, beginning July 9 and continuing for eighteen days, according to Ralph D. Grant, the instructor.

The Collins Chapel school will be taught in the forenoon, beginning at 8 o'clock and continuing until 2 o'clock, and the Union Grove school will begin at 2:30 p.m. and run until 6 p.m., Mr Grant stated.

Rudiments, harmony, class voice, and sight reading will be among the features taught, he stated.

A reader asks where the country's population is most dense. In most cases, we suspect, it is from the neck up.

CENTURY PROGRESS TIRE

Beyond Comparison

IN QUALITY AND PRICE
WITH ANY FIRST QUALITY TIRE MADE

As millions of World's Fair visitors saw tires made in the Firestone Factory and Exhibition Building, we asked thousands this question: "What do you value most in a tire?" Car owners from every state in the Union were interviewed —drivers of automobiles, trucks, busses, and tractors—and out of it all came one composite answer: "Give us Blowout Protection, Non-Skid Safety, and Long Wear, at moderate price."

Firestone engineers used every conceivable resource in developing a tire embodying all these qualifications and selling to the public at a price within the reach of every car owner. The answer is the new Firestone Century Progress Tire.

COMPARE
QUALITY—CONSTRUCTION—PRICE

This rugged new tire is in EVERY way the equal or superior of any other first quality tire built, regardless of brand—name—or by whom manufactured or at what price offered for sale. Call on the Firestone Service Dealer or Service Store and examine it. We know you will be sold on the rugged quality and you will want to equip your car with these marvelous new tires.

REMEMBER — you save money buying today, as rubber is up 442% and cotton 190% and tire prices cannot remain at these low levels.

Alabama Legionnaires Are All Set For Big Convention In Birmingham July 23-24-25

Birmingham, Ala. — As Alabama is observing Independence Week, members of the General Convention Committee of the Alabama Department of the American Legion are busy with plans for the Sixteenth annual convention to be held in Birmingham, July 23-24-25.

Indications point to the largest crowd in the history of the department and plans call for one of the most elaborate rounds of entertainment that has ever been offered outside of a national convention.

State Commander Abramson, Wm. S. Pritchard, head of the Jefferson County Council, hosts to the convention, Mrs. C. L. Salter, President of the state auxiliary and members of the general convention met in Birmingham last week and completed plans for the convention. A tentative program lists a parade, grand ball, aeroplane show, wrestling match, golf tournament and other activities for the entertainment of the visitors.

Reservations are now being received at the Convention Headquarters, 218 Tutwiler Hotel and John D. Higgins, housing chairman, is busy completing all arrangements so that all legionnaires will be cared for during the session.

A number of persons high in Legion circles and also a number of national auxiliary figures will also be on hand to address the convention.

Another feature of the convention will be the election of officers scheduled for the final day's session. Two legionnaires, Wm. S. Pritchard and Monroe Holley, Jr., Wetumpka, have already been prominently mentioned for the office and other candidates may develop.

The convention proper opens Monday, July 23, but registration will begin Sunday afternoon and memorial services will be held at Legion Field, at 7:30 P.M. Sunday.

State commander Abramson will call the opening session to order in the Municipal Auditorium at 9:30 A.M. Monday. The opening session will be featured by addreses by Sen. Hugo Black and Governor-elect Bibb Graves. An invitation has also been extended to Past National Commander Paul McNutt to address this meeting and he has indicated he will be here if possible.

During the afternoon an aeroplane show will be held at Municipal Airport and a number of notable fliers have been invited to attend. The show is being sponsored by the Legion, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the City of Birmingham. The airshow, which promises to be one of the most elaborate in the history of Alabama, will be open to the public as well as the visiting legionnaires and will be free of charge to all.

A special wrestling show will be held at the auditorium Monday afternoon and registered delegates will be admitted free of charge. There are between 1075 and 1095 registered delegates in Alabama. Between 3,000 and 5,000 legionnaires are expected to attend the convention and the total attendance will probably exceed 10,000.

John Thomas Taylor, chairman of the National Legislative Committee of the American Legion will be the principal speaker at the Tuesday morning session.

During Tuesday afternoon the Junior Baseball tournament will be started and division champions will compete for the state title, the championship to be decided Wednesday afternoon.

The general parade will be held at 4:30 P.M. Tuesday with Gen. J. C. Persons, the parade marshall. All of the armed forces of the Alabama National Guard will march in this procession which will be viewed by legion officials from the balcony of the Tutwiler Hotel, convention headquarters.

Tuesday evening will be the scene of the Grand Ball at the Municipal Auditorium. Mrs. Salter and Commander Abramson will lead the grand march. The dance will be preceded by an old time fiddlers convention with Luther Patrick, widely known Birmingham attorney and radio favorite, as the master of ceremonies.

The election of officers and naming of the 1935 meeting place will feature the concluding session, Wednesday morning. The finals in the baseball tournament and the golf tournament under the direction of Edgar Bowron will be the concluding events Wednesday afternoon.

In addition to the general sessions, banquets and dances, there will be sessions of the Auxiliary at the Thomas Jefferson Hotel, auxiliary headquarters.

Reunions of the various units that served in the World War will also be held as will the annual meeting of the 40 and 8 and 8 and 40, fun units of the Legion and Auxiliary.

Another feature of the convention will be the retreat ceremony to be held at Woodrow Wilson Park at 6 P.M. daily under the direction of Boy Scouts and supervision of the Legionnaires.

IN MEMORY OF MARTHA JANE HUDSON

On June 28 at eleven o'clock an angel came down and took away our darling to Jesus to dwell with Him in our Father's house of many mansions.

She was borned November 9, 1933, only 19 months old. She leaves at her going her father and mother, and one brother, her grandparents, seven uncles and aunts and a host of relatives to mourn her going.

Death calls to youth as well as age
To pay the debt we all must pay.
He calls the poet, the Lord, the sage
God gives his Saints a better day.
Precious ones are safely gathered
Of a home of life and beauty ne'er to die,
Trusting in our Great Redeemer,
We shall be reunited by and by.

—Written by her grandmother, Mrs. S. R. Hudson.

Graves Not To Consider Applications

Governor Designate, Bibb Graves, authorizes the following statement relative to his policies in the matter of applications:

First, it is his opinion that Section 585 of the Code of 1923, commonly known as the Corrupt Practice Act, applies to the general election as well as to the primary election. This being true, the Governor will consider no applications and make no commitments for positions with the incoming administration prior to the general election in November.
